INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

[Ex Parte No. MC 28]

NOTICE OF INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE EXTENT OF COMMISSION'S JURISDICTION OVER EMPLOYEES OF COMMON, CONTRACT, AND PRIVATE MOTOR CARRIERS UNDER SECTION 204 (A) OF MOTOR CARRIER ACT, 1935

The Commission has instituted a proceeding to determine the extent of its jurisdiction over the hours of service of employees, other than drivers, of motor carriers (including private carriers). One of the reasons for this proceeding is the existing confusion among motor carriers and their employees due to the recent enactment of the Fair Labor Standards Act approved June 25, 1938, and commonly known as the Wage and Hour Law, which became effective on October 24. Section 13 (b) of that act reads as follows:

The provisions of section 7 shall not apply with respect to (1) any employee with respect to whom the Interstate Commerce Commission has power to establish qualifications and maximum hours of service pursuant to the provisions of section 204 of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935; or (2) any employee of an employer subject to the provisions of Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Section 7 of the Fair Labor Standards Act relates to maximum hours.

Many inquiries have been and are being received as to what employees of motor carriers are subject to the "power" of the Commission referred to in the section of the Fair Labor Standards Act quoted above.

Section 204 (a) (1) of the Motor Carrier Act reads as follows:

To regulate common carriers by motor vehicle as provided in this part, and to that end the Commission may establish reasonable requirements with respect to continuous and adequate service, transportation of baggage and express, uniform systems of accounts, records, and reports, preservation of records, qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees, and safety of operation and equipment.

Section 204 (a) (2) is identical with subdivision (1) except that it relates to contract instead of to common carriers.

Section 204 (a) (3) relates to private carriers and as it differs from the provisions of subdivision (1), it is here quoted:

To establish for private carriers of property by motor vehicle, if need therefor is found, reasonable requirements to promote safety of operation, and to that end prescribe qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees, and standards of equipment. In the event such requirements are established, the term "motor carrier" shall be construed to include private carriers of property by motor vehicle in the administration of sections 204 (d) and (e); 205; 220; 221; 222 (a), (b), (d), (f), and (g); and 224.

While the question here presented was considered in Ex Parte No. MC 2, 6 M. C. C. 557, to the extent there necessary for action, it was not fully and completely answered, and hence this proceeding. As it is primarily a question of law, and not of fact, no public hearing will be held and no evidence taken at this time, but the Commission will receive briefs on or before December 10, 1938, from such interested parties as may care to file them, and will hear arguments on December 16, 1938. As the order of investigation indicates, it may be necessary later, after this question of law is determined, to hold public hearings for the purpose of determining certain questions of fact.

The Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor, who is charged with the administration of the Fair Labor Standards Act, will be invited by the Commission to consider the briefs filed, to attend the argument and, if he wishes, to participate in the proceeding.

Secretary.

ORDER RELATIVE TO INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE EXTENT OF COMMISSION'S JURISDICTION OVER EMPLOYEES OF COMMON, CONTRACT, AND PRIVATE MOTOR CARRIERS UNDER SECTION 204 (A) OF MOTOR CARRIER ACT, 1935

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1938.

It appearing, That it is necessary for the proper administration, execution, and enforcement of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, that a determination be made of the extent of the Commission's jurisdiction under section 204 (a) of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, over employees of common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle, engaged in interstate or foreign commerce;

It further appearing, That by order dated July 12, 1938, the Commission determined its jurisdiction over, and prescribed maximum hours of service for, drivers of motor vehicles operated by common and contract carriers in interstate or foreign commerce:

It is ordered, That an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted by the Commission on its own motion, into and concerning the extent of the Commission's jurisdiction to prescribe reasonable requirements with respect to qualifications and maximum hours of service of employees, other than drivers, of common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle under section 204 (a), sub-paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935, and particularly to determine whether the Commission has jurisdiction to prescribe such requirements with respect to all employees of common and contract carriers or only with respect to those employees of such carriers whose activities affect the safety of operation of motor vehicles and, if it be determined that the jurisdiction of the Commission is limited to prescribing such requirements with respect only to those employees, other than drivers, whose activities affect the safety of operation of motor vehicles, the class or classes of such employees.

It is further ordered, That this proceeding, except as to the determination of the class or classes of employees, other than drivers, whose activities affect the safety of operation of motor vehicles, be, and it is hereby, assigned for oral argument before the Commission at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on December 16, 1938.

It is further ordered, That briefs in this proceeding may be filed by any interested party on or before December 10, 1938.

And it is further ordered, That in the event it be determined by the Commission that the Commission's jurisdiction is limited to prescribing such requirements with respect only to those employees, other than drivers, whose activities affect the safety of operation of motor vehicles, that this proceeding be assigned for hearing at a time and place hereafter to be fixed by the Commission for the sole purpose of determining such class or classes of employees.

By the Commission.

IN THE MATTER OF COLUMBIA GAS & ELECTRIC CORPORATION

NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

A declaration pursuant to section 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, having been duly filed with this Commission by the above-named party;

It is ordered, That a hearing on such matter be held on November 21, 1938, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Securities and Exchange Building, 1778 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, D. C. On such day the hearing-room clerk in room 1102 will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held. At such hearing, if in respect of any declaration, cause shall be shown why such declaration shall become effective.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said Act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's Rules of Practice to continue or postpone said hearings from time to time.

It is requested that any person desiring to be heard or to be admitted as a party to such proceeding shall file a notice to that effect with the Commission on or before November 16, 1938.

The matter concerned herewith is in regard to a declaration filed by Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, a registered holding company, regarding the reduction of the capital represented by its shares of common stock from $194,349,005.62 to $12,304,282, without reducing the number of shares outstanding.

The declaration states that the reduction will be effected in the manner prescribed by Section 28 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, the state under the laws of which the declarant is organized, by a resolution adopted by the holders of record of a majority of the common shares and the shares of 5% Cumulative Preference stock of the declarant at a special meeting called for that purpose.

It is further stated that the surplus so created by such reduction, in the amount of $182,044,723.62, will be segregated in a surplus account to be designated "Special Capital Surplus", which will be used primarily for the absorption of such writedowns of assets as may be ordered by regulatory bodies or may be deemed advisable by the management. It appears from the declaration that Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation has outstanding the following securities:

PART II—ESTABLISHMENT OF QUOTAS FOR OLD FARMS

SECTION 1. Determination of normal marketings for old farms.—The normal marketings for an old farm will be the normal past marketings computed pursuant to section 2 below, adjusted, if necessary, pursuant to section 3 below; provided, that the normal marketings shall in no event exceed the base 1938 production for the farm.

SEC. 2. Determination of normal past marketings.—(a) The normal past marketings for an old farm on which tobacco was produced in one of the three years 1935–37, shall be whichever of items (i), (ii), (iii), or (iv) below is the highest for the farm, plus any addition thereto which may be made pursuant to subsection (c) below.

(i) The three-year average;

(ii) 33⅓% of the total harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in the three years, 1935–37, multiplied by the farm yield;

(iii) 40% of the total harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in the two years of the three years, 1935–37, in which such acreage was the highest, multiplied by the farm yield;

(iv) 60% of the harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in that one of the three years, 1935–37, in which such acreage was the highest, multiplied by the farm yield.

(b) The normal past marketings for an old farm on which tobacco was produced in 1934, but was not produced in any of the three years 1935–37, shall be 50% of the harvested and diverted tobacco acreage for the farm for the year 1934, multiplied by the farm yield plus any addition thereto which may be made pursuant to subsection (c) below.

(c) The amount determined for the farm, pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) above, shall be increased, if, because of drought, flood, hail, other abnormal weather conditions, plant bed and other diseases, such amount is substantially less than the amount which otherwise would be determined for the farm. The increase shall be in such an amount as the local and State committees find will cause the normal past marketing for the farm to equal the amount which would have been determined for the farm pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) above in the absence of such abnormal conditions of production.

SEC. 3. Adjustment of normal past marketings for production capacity.—(a) The normal past marketings determined for any farm shall be increased if the capacity of the farm for the production of tobacco as indicated by the land (taking into account the crop-rotation practices customarily carried out on the farm), labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm in 1938, is substantially greater than the tobacco production capacity of other farms in the county having similar normal past marketings, and shall be decreased if the farm's capacity for tobacco production is substantially less than that of other farms in the county having similar normal past marketings.

(b) Any increase or decrease in the normal past marketings of a farm, pursuant to subsection (a) above, shall be in such amount as the local committee finds will cause the normal marketings for the farm (i. e., normal past marketings, as adjusted pursuant to this subsection) to reflect adequately the difference in the capacity of the farm for the production of tobacco as compared with the tobacco production capacity of other farms in the county having similar normal past marketings; provided, That—

(i) the amount of increase shall not exceed 25 percent of the normal past marketings;

(ii) the amount of decrease shall not exceed the smaller of (A) 25 percent of the normal past marketings, or (B) the amount by which the normal past marketings exceeds the smallest of the three-year average, 2400 pounds, or 85 percent of the base 1938 production; and

(iii) the sum of the increases for all farms in a county shall not exceed the sum of the decreases for all farms in the county.

(c) In appraising the land (taking into account the crop-rotation practices customarily carried out on the farm), labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco for the purpose of determining the capacity of a farm for the production of tobacco, the local committee shall proceed in the following manner:

(i) Land.—The land available for the production of tobacco on the farm shall be determined by taking into consideration the total acreage of cropland in the farm, the crop-rotation practices customarily carried out on the farm, the 1938 acreage of tobacco on the farm, and the acreage of other soil-depleting crops normally grown on the farm.

(ii) Labor.—The labor available for the production of tobacco on the farm in 1938 shall be determined by taking into consideration the number of farm workers, whether such workers had prior experience in growing tobacco and the extent to which they are required for work on the farm other than in connection with the production of tobacco.

(iii) Equipment.—Equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm shall be determined by taking into consideration the acreage capacity of the tobacco-curing space available for the farm in 1938. Curing space shall include the total space available for curing tobacco in tobacco curing barns or in sheds, rooms, barn lofts, or other spaces suitable for curing tobacco, which are located on the farm and are in condition and available for the curing of tobacco for the farm in 1938. Curing space shall also include that part of a tobacco curing barn which is in condition for curing use in 1938 but is located on a different farm which is owned or operated by the same operator, and which is customarily used for curing tobacco grown on the farm; but in considering any such barn allowance shall be made for the fact that such barn serves more than one farm, and the capacity allowed for any farm shall not exceed the proportionate use of such barn by the farm, and the capacity for all farms shall not exceed the total capacity of such barn.

SEC. 4. Determination of farm yield, marketings, harvested acreage, diverted acreage and diversion.—(a) Farm yield.—The farm yield shall be the average yield per acre for the farm computed pursuant to paragraph (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) below, adjusted, if necessary, pursuant to paragraph (v) below.

(i) If tobacco was produced on the farm in each of the three years, 1935–37, the average yield per acre shall be the simple average of the tobacco yields per acre for the farm for each of such years. The tobacco yield per acre for a farm for any year shall be computed by dividing the harvested acreage into the marketings for such year.

(ii) If tobacco was produced on the farm in two of the three years, 1935–37, the average yield per acre shall be the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the simple average of the tobacco yields per acre for the farm for each of such two years by that percentage which the county average tobacco yield for the three years, 1935–37, is of the county average yield for the two years in which tobacco was produced on the farm.

(iii) If tobacco was produced on the farm in only one of the three years 1935–37, the average yield per acre shall be the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the tobacco yield per acre for such year by that percentage which the county average yield for the three years, 1935–37, is of the county average yield for the year in which tobacco was produced on the farm.

(iv) If tobacco was produced on the farm in 1934, but not in any of the three years 1935–37, the average yield per acre shall be the county average yield for the three years 1935–37.

(v) The local committee shall adjust the average yield per acre for any farm if it determines that such average yield is substantially lower or higher than a yield which reasonably could be expected from the farm. In making its determination the committee shall take into consideration the average yields per acre for other farms in the county which are similar with respect to type of soil, topography and production facilities and the effect of flood, drought, hail, other abnormal weather conditions, fire, plant-bed, and other diseases upon the extent of marketing of tobacco from the farm during any of the years used in computing the average yield per acre for the farm. Any adjustment pursuant to this paragraph shall be such as will result in a farm yield which the committee finds, upon consideration of such factors, could reasonably be expected to be obtained from the farm; provided, that in no event shall the weighted farm yields for all farms in the county exceed the weighted average yield per acre for all farms in the county. The weighted farm yield and the weighted average yield per acre for old farms on which tobacco was produced in one or more of the three years, 1935–37, shall be computed by multiplying the farm yield and the average yield per acre for the farm, respectively, by whichever of the following is the highest for the farm:

A. 33⅓ percent of the total harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in the three years 1935–37.

B. 40 percent of the total harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in the two of the three years 1935–37 in which such acreage was the highest, or

C. 60 percent of the harvested and diverted tobacco acreage in that one of the three years, 1935–37, in which such acreage was the highest.

The weighted farm yield and the weighted average yield per acre for old farms on which tobacco was produced in 1934 but not in any of the three years, 1935–37, shall be computed by multiplying the farm yield and the average yield per acre for the farm, respectively, by 50 percent of the harvested and diverted acreage of tobacco for the farm for the year 1934.

(b) Marketings.—The marketings for any year shall be the number of pounds of tobacco marketed from the farm during such year. The total marketings for any year for all farms in a county shall not exceed the total number of pounds of tobacco produced in the county in such year. The marketings for any year, as reported by the operator, shall be adjusted by the local committee if it determines that the amount of such marketings as shown by the records submitted by the operator, or as estimated by him, is larger than the amount of tobacco which reasonably could have been marketed from the farm in such year. In making its determination, the committee shall take into consideration the acreage planted to tobacco on the farm in such year, the yields obtained in such year on other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to soil, topography, and production facilities, the community average yield for such year, and the yield on the farm in years for which records acceptable to the committee are available. The adjusted marketings for any year shall be the amount of tobacco which the committee finds, upon consideration of such factors, could reasonably have been marketed from the farm in such year.

(c) Harvested acreage.—The harvested acreage for any year shall be the number of acres actually harvested on the farm. If the county records do not show the harvested acreage for any year, the acreage reported by the operator as having been harvested in such year shall be adjusted if the local committee determines that such reported acreage is larger than the number of acres which could reasonably have been grown in such year. In making its determination, the committee shall take into consideration the curing space available, the cropland, the acres of other crops grown on the farm and the labor on the farm in such year. The adjusted harvested acreage for any year shall be an acreage which the committee finds, upon consideration of such factors, could reasonably have been grown on the farm in such year.

(d) Diverted acreage.—The diverted acreage for any year will be the base acreage determined for the farm in connection with the agricultural adjustment or conservation program for such year, minus the harvested acreage for such year; provided, that (i) the diverted acreage for 1935 shall not exceed 20 percent of the base acreage for such year, (ii) the diverted acreage for 1936 or 1937 shall not exceed 30 percent of the base acreage for such year, and (iii) the diverted acreage for 1934 shall not exceed 25 percent of the base acreage for such year.

(e) Diversion.—Diversion for any year shall be the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the diverted acreage for such year by the farm yield.

(f) Subdivided farm.—If land operated as a single farm in 1934, 1935, 1936, or 1937 has been subdivided into two or more tracts, the base acreage, harvested acreage, and marketings of tobacco for the farm for such year shall be apportioned among the tracts in the proportion which the acres of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco on each such tract in such year bore to the total number of acres of cropland suitable for the production of tobacco on the entire farm in such year; provided, that if the local committee finds that such apportionment would not be equitable in view of the subsequent production on the farms which include such tracts, it shall make such other apportionment as it determines to be fair and equitable.

SEC. 5. Allotment of state marketing quota—Marketing quotas for old farms.—The State marketing quota will be allotted, and marketing quotas for old farms will be established, as follows:

(a) An amount will be reserved from the State marketing quota for the purpose of making adjustments as provided in subsections (f) and (h) of this section. The amount to be reserved will be determined by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in an amount not to exceed 5 percent of the State marketing quota, but such amount shall in no event be less than the amount necessary for making the adjustments required in subsection (f) below.

(b) The Agricultural Adjustment Administration will determine the percentage which the State quota is of the normal marketings of all old farms in the State.

(c) A minimum allotment will be made to every old farm in the State for which there would be obtained, by taking the percentage determined pursuant to (b) above of the normal marketings for the farm, a number of pounds equal to or less than the smallest of (i) 2400 pounds, or (ii) the farm's three-year average, or (iii) 85 percent of the farm's base 1938 production. The minimum allotment for any such farm will be the smallest of (i) 2400 pounds, or (ii) the farm's three-year average, or (iii) 85 percent of the farm's base 1938 production, and such allotment, unless increased pursuant to subsection (h) shall constitute the farm marketing quota.

(d) The total of the normal marketings for all farms to which minimum allotments are so made will be deducted from the total of the normal marketings for all old farms in the State; and the total of such minimum allotments will be deducted from the State marketing quota.

(e) After such deductions, the balance of the normal marketings will be reduced to the amount of the balance of the State marketing quota. This reduction will be made by reducing the normal marketings for all old farms, to which a minimum allotment has not been made pursuant to subsection (c), by the percentage which the balance of the State marketing quota determined pursuant to subsection (d) is of the balance of the normal marketings. The amount of the normal marketings for each such old farm as so reduced will be allotted to the farm, and, unless increased pursuant to subsections (f), (g), or (h) of this section, shall constitute the farm marketing quota.

(f) If the amount allotted to any farm pursuant to (e) above is less than the minimum allotment which would have been established for the farm pursuant to (c) above, then the amount so allotted shall be increased by an amount sufficient to provide such a minimum. The total of all such increases for all old farms in the State will be deducted from the amount reserved pursuant to (a) above.

(g) There will be computed for each old farm in the State the difference by which the amount allotted pursuant to the foregoing subsections is less than the smaller of (i) 80 percent of the farm's three-year average, or (ii) 85 percent of the base 1938 production. The total of all such differences for all old farms in the State will be reduced to an amount equal to 2 percent of the State marketing quota. This reduction will be made by reducing the difference for each farm by the percentage which 2 percent of the State marketing quota is of the total of the differences for all farms. The amount of the farm's difference as so reduced will be added to the farm's allotment and the sum thereof will be the amount of the farm marketing quota unless further increased pursuant to subsection (h) below.

(h) The amount reserved pursuant to subsection (a), less the amount deducted therefrom pursuant to subsection (f), will be allocated by the State committee among the counties of the State upon the basis of (i) the relationship of the balance of the normal marketings (found under (d) above) for old farms in the county to the balance of the normal marketings for old farms in all counties in the State, and (ii) the relative needs of the counties for adjustments of the quotas established for old farms therein. The amount so allocated to a county shall be allotted upon the recommendation of the local committee among those old farms in the county whose marketing quotas, as compared with the marketing quotas for other similar farms in the county, are determined by the local committee to require adjustment in order to take into adequate account past marketings of tobacco, making due allowance for abnormal weather conditions, plant bed and other diseases; land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

PART III—ESTABLISHMENT OF QUOTAS FOR NEW FARMS

SECTION 1. Allotment of new farm reserve—Marketing quotas for new farms.—The marketing quota for a new farm will be that percentage of the normal marketings for such farm which the new farm reserve is of total normal marketings for all new farms in the United States.

SEC. 2. Determination of normal marketings for new farms.—(a) The normal marketings for a new farm shall, unless adjusted pursuant to subsection (b) below, be 75 percent of the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the community average yield by whichever of the following is the smaller:

(i) The 1938 tobacco acreage for the farm;

(ii) The county average tobacco acreage for old farms.

The community average yield shall be the simple average of the farm yields for a representative sample of old farms in the community. A representative sample shall include 20 percent or more of the old farms in the community and shall consist, as far as practicable, of alternate farms (i. e., every third, fourth, or fifth farm listed on the State listing sheet) in the community. If the local committee and State committee find that the number of old farms in the community is too small to provide a reasonable representative sample, the average yield for the nearest community which the State committee finds to be most similar with respect to type of soil, topography, and productivity shall be used as the community average yield.

The county average tobacco acreage for old farms shall be the number of acres obtained by dividing the total of the 1938 tobacco acreage of all the old farms in the county by the number of such farms; provided, that if the number of old farms in any county is less than the number of new farms in the county, the county average tobacco acreage for old farms in such county shall be the county average tobacco acreage for old farms in the nearest county (as determined by the State committee) in which the total number of old farms exceeds the total number of new farms.

(b) The number of pounds determined for a farm pursuant to subsection (a) above shall be increased if the capacity of the farm for the production of tobacco as indicated by the land (taking into account the crop-rotation practices customarily carried out on the farm), labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm in 1938, is substantially greater than the tobacco production capacity of other farms in the county for which a similar number of pounds were determined pursuant to said subsection (a), and shall be decreased if the farm's capacity for tobacco production is substantially less than that of other farms in the county for which a similar number of pounds were determined pursuant to said subsection.

Any adustment pursuant to this subsection (b) shall be in such amount as the local committee finds will cause the normal marketings for the farm to reflect adequately the difference in the capacity of the farm for the production of tobacco as compared with the tobacco production capacity of other farms in the county for which a similar number of pounds were determined pursuant to subsection (a) above; provided that the adjustment shall in no event cause the normal marketings to exceed the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the community average yield by the 1938 tobacco acreage for the farm.

In appraising the land (taking into account the crop-rotation practices customarily carried out on the farm), labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco for the purpose of determining the capacity of a farm for the production of tobacco, the local committee shall proceed in the same manner as provided in section 3 (c) of Part II with respect to old farms.

(b) The provisions of the 1939 program are necessarily subject to such legislation affecting said program as the Congress of the United States may hereafter enact; the making of the payments and grants of aid herein provided are contingent upon such appropriation as the Congress may hereafter provide for such purpose; and the amounts of such payments and grants of aid will necessarily be within the limits finally determined by such appropriation, the apportionment of such appropriation under the provisions of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, and the extent of national participation. As an adjustment for participation the rates of payment and deductions with respect to any commodity or item of payment may be increased or decreased by as much as 10 percent.

The soil-depleting acreage allotments established for the farms in a county shall not exceed the applicable county acreage allotments established for the county by the Secretary, and the sum of the acreage allotments for farms with respect to which allotments are established shall not exceed their proportionate share of the county acreage allotments.

(a) Total soil-depleting acreage allotment.—The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be determined on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, degree of erosion, the acreage of all soil-depleting crops customarily grown on the farm, and the acreage of food and feed crops needed for home consumption on the farm, taking into consideration special crop acreage allotments determined for the farm. The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors. Total soil-depleting allotments will be determined for all farms on which general crops or livestock is produced for market, except those for which a special crop acreage allotment is not established.

to the other special crop acreage allotments established for the farm. The allotment for any farm shall be comparable to the allotments determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

(c) Tobacco allotment. — Acreage allotments for flue-cured tobacco shall be determined on the basis of past acreage and production of flue-cured tobacco with due allowance for the effects of abnormal weather conditions and plant bed and other diseases; land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. The tobacco acreage allotment for any farm on which tobacco was grown in one or more of the years 1935 to 1938, inclusive, shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors: Provided, That special consideration shall be given to farms for which acreage allotments are small. The allotment for any farm on which tobacco is to be produced in 1939 for the first time since 1934 shall not exceed 75 percent of the allotment for other farms in the same community on which tobacco was produced since 1934 which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

(d) Potato allotment.—In counties included in the commercial potato-producing areas, potato acreage allotments shall be established for each farm on which the acreage normally planted to potatoes for market is determined to be three acres or more. Potato acreage allotments shall be established on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and the acreage of potatoes customarily grown on the farm. The potato acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

(e) Commercial vegetables.—Acreage allotments of commercial vegetables shall be established for each farm on which the average acreage of land planted to commercial vegetables in 1936 and 1937 was three acres or more. The acreage allotments shall be the average acreage for 1936 and 1937 with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and taking into consideration the tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, and production facilities. The sum of the allotments of commercial vegetables established for such farms in a county shall not exceed the sum of the average annual acreages of land planted to commercial vegetables on such farms in 1936 and 1937, except upon approval of the Administrator where it is found that the acreages grown in 1936 and 1937 were substantially reduced because of abnormal weather conditions.

(f) Soil-building goal.—The soil-building goal for any farm shall be one unit of soil-building practices for each $1.50 of the payment computed for the farm under Sec. V (e).

SEC. III. Normal yields.—The county committee with the assistance of other local committees in the county shall determine for each farm for which a tobacco, celery, or potato acreage allotment is established a normal yield for each such crop in accordance with the provisions of this section and instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The normal yield of tobacco, celery, or potatoes, as the case may be, for any farms shall be the yield which may reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of the crop in 1939 with due consideration for type of soil, production practices, general fertility of the land, and the yield of such crop customarily made on the farm. The average yield for all farms in any county with respect to any such crop shall not exceed the county average yield for the crop established by the Secretary.

SEC. IV. Soil-building practices.—Such of the soil-building practices listed in the following schedule as are carried out in accordance with specifications issued by the State committee with the approval of the Director of the Southern Division shall count toward the achievement of the soil-building goal to the extent indicated therein. The specifications issued shall be such as to assure that the soil-building practice will be performed in workmanlike manner and in accordance with good farming practice for the locality.

Practices carried out with labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished entirely by any State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal. If a portion of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in carrying out any practice is furnished by a State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and such portion represents one-half or more of the total cost of carrying out such practice, such practice shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal; if such portion represents less than half of the total cost of carrying out such practice, one-half of such practice shall be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal: Provided, That labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished to a State, a political subdivision of a State, or an agency thereof by an agency of the same State shall not be deemed to have been furnished by "a State or Federal agency" within the meaning of this paragraph.

Trees purchased from a Clark-McNary Cooperative State Nursery shall not be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency.

(5) Application of 1500 pounds of ground limestone or its equivalent.

(b) Unit equivalents per acre—one unit.—Each acre of the following shall be counted as one unit:

(1) Seeding biennial legumes, perennial legumes, perennial grasses, or mixtures containing perennial grasses, perennial legumes, or biennial legumes (except any of such crops qualifying at a higher rate of credit under any other practice listed in this Sec. IV.

(2) Seeding winter legumes, annual lespedeza, annual ryegrass, crotalaria, sesbania, or annual sweet clover.

(3) Green manure crops and cover crops (excluding (1) lespedeza and (2) any crop for which credit is given in 1939 under any other practice, of which a good stand and good growth is (1) plowed or disced under on land not subject to erosion, or if subject to erosion, such crop is followed by a winter cover crop, or (2) left on land subject to erosion or in orchards or on commercial vegetable or potato land.

(c) Unit equivalents per acre—two units.—Each acre of the following shall be counted as two units:

1. Seeding permanent grasses or pasture mixtures containing a full seeding of legumes or grasses, or both.

(d) Unit equivalents per acre—three units.—Each acre of the following shall be counted as three units:

1. Establishment of a permanent vegetative cover by planting sod pieces of perennial grasses.

(e) Unit equivalents per acre—four units.—Each acre of the following shall be counted as four units:

1. Establishment of a permanent vegetative cover by planting crowns of kudzu.

(h) Acre equivalents per unit—four acres.—Each four acres of the following shall be counted as one unit:

1. Contour listing or furrowing non-crop land (the acreage of this practice shall be computed on the basis of the area so handled, each furrow or strip being considered to occupy an area not in excess of 8¼ feet in width).

SEC. V. Payment for full performance.—Payment will be made with respect to any farm for not exceeding soil-depleting acreage allotments, and for achieving soil-building goals in an amount which shall be the sum of the following:

(a) Flue-cured tobacco.—0.8 cent per pound of the normal yield per acre of tobacco for the farm for each acre in the tobacco acreage allotment.

(b) Potatoes.—3 cents per bushel of the normal yield per acre of potatoes for the farm for each acre in the potato acreage allotment; or, if the acreage planted to potatoes is less than 80 percent of the potato acreage allotment, payment will be computed on the normal yield of an acreage equal to 125 percent of the acreage planted to potatoes unless the county committee finds that failure to plant 80 percent of such potato acreage allotment was due to flood or drought.

(c) Commercial vegetables.—$1.50 per acre for each acre of the acreage allotment of commercial vegetables established for the farm, or, if the acreage planted to commercial vegetables is less than 80 percent of the commercial vegetable acreage allotment, payment will be computed on an acreage equal to 125 percent of the acreage planted to commercial vegetables unless the county committee finds that failure to plant 80 percent of such acreage allotment was due to flood or drought.

(d) Celery.—2½ cents a crate of the normal yield per acre of celery for the farm for each acre in celery acreage allotment, or, if the acreage planted to celery is less than 80 percent of the celery acreage allotment, payment will be computed on the normal yield of an acreage equal to 125 percent of the acreage planted to celery unless the county committee finds that failure to plant 80 percent of such celery acreage allotment was due to flood or drought: Provided, That the acreage on which payment is made shall not exceed the acreage on which an approved green manure crop is plowed or disced under. Such acreage of the green manure crop shall not count toward meeting the soil-building goal for the farm.

(e) Payments in connection with soil-building practices.—(1) $1.50 per acre of commercial orchards on the farm January 1, 1939.

(2) 70 cents per acre of cropland in any farm in excess of the sum of (1) the acreages used in computing payments with respect to the tobacco, celery, or potato acreage allotments established for the farm, and (2) the acreage of sugarcane for sugar grown on the farm in 1939.

(3) 25 cents per acre of fenced non-crop open pasture land in excess of one-half of the number of acres of cropland in the farm which is capable of maintaining during the normal pasture season at least one animal unit for each five acres of such pasture land.

SEC. VI. Payments for partial performance.—Payments computed for any farm under the provisions of Sec. V shall be subject to all the following deductions which are applicable to the farm.

(a) Flue-cured tobacco.—8 cents per pound of the normal yield for the farm for each acre of flue-cured tobacco in excess of the tobacco acreage allotment established for the farm.

(b) Potatoes.—(i) (Farms for which potato acreage allotments are established) 30 cents per bushel of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to potatoes in excess of the potato acreage allotment.

(ii) (Farms for which potato acreage allotments are not established in commercial potato-producing areas which are not also commercial vegetable-producing areas) 30 cents per bushel of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to potatoes for market in excess of three acres.

(c) Celery.—20 cents per crate of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to celery in excess of the celery acreage allotment established for the farm.

(d) Commercial vegetables.—(Farms in commercial vegetable areas) $20.00 per acre for each acre of land planted to commercial vegetables in excess of the usual acreage of commercial vegetables established for the farm or three acres, whichever is greater.

(e) General soil-depleting crops.—(Farms for which a total soil-depleting acreage allotment is established) $5.00 for each acre classified as soil-depleting in excess of (1) the total soil-depleting acreage allotment established for the farm plus the acreages with respect to which deductions are computed under paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, of this Sec. VI, or (2) the acreage of tobacco on the farm plus 20 acres, whichever is greater.

(f) Soil-building goal.—$1.50 for each unit by which the soil-building goal is not reached.

SEC. VII. Division of payments and deductions.—(a) Payments and deductions in connection with acreage allotments.—(1) The net payment or net deduction computed for any farm with respect to the tobacco, celery, commercial vegetable, or potato acreage allotment or general soil-depleting crops shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the proportion (as indicated by their acreage shares expressed in terms of either proportionate acreages or percentages) that such persons are entitled, at the time the crop is harvested, to share in the proceeds (other than a fixed commodity payment) of the tobacco, potatoes, general crops, celery, or commercial vegetables, respectively, grown on the farm in 1939: Provided, That in the event tobacco, potatoes, general crops, celery, or commercial vegetables are not harvested in 1939 on the farm, or in the event the county committee, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, finds that due to crop failure the acreage of such crop(s) was reduced sufficiently to affect materially the division of payments or deductions, the net payment or net deduction, if any, with respect to the acreage allotment or usual acreage for such crop(s) shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the same proportion that the county committee determines that such persons would have shared in the proceeds of such crop(s) if such crop(s) had been harvested on the farm in 1939 or if the acreage of such crop(s) had not been so reduced.

(2) In computing such payments and such net deductions with respect to acreage allotments and general crops, the deduction with respect to total soil-depleting crops shall be regarded as pro rata deductions with respect to the payments computed under Sec. V in connection with crop acreage allotments: Provided, That on any farm for which no payment is computed under Sec. V in connection with crop acreage allotments, such deductions shall be divided equally among the landlords and tenants on such farm.

(b) Payments with respect to soil-building practices.—The amount of payment earned in connection with the soil-building goal for the farm shall be paid to the landlord, tenant, or sharecropper who carried out the soil-building practices. If the county committee determines that more than one such person contributed to the carrying out of soil-building practices on the farm in 1939, such payment shall be divided in the proportion that the units contributed by each such person to such practices bears to the total units of such practices carried out on the farm in 1939. All persons contributing to the practice carried out on a particular acreage shall be deemed to have contributed equally to the units of such practice unless such persons establish to the satisfaction of the county committee that their respective contributions thereto were not in equal proportion, in which event such units shall be divided in the proportion which the county committee determines each such person contributed thereto.

(c) Proration of net deductions.—If with respect to any farm the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm exceeds the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm, the net deduction computed for any person on the farm shall be prorated among the persons on the farm for whom a net payment is computed in the proportion in which the net payment computed for any person is of the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm. If, with respect to any farm the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm equals or exceeds the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on the farm, no payment will be made with respect to such farm and the amount of such net deductions in excess of the net payments shall be prorated among the persons on the farm in the proportion which the net deduction computed for any person is of the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on the farm.

SEC. VIII. Increase in small payments.—The total payment computed under Sec. V to VII, inclusive, for any person with respect to any farm shall be increased as follows:

(1) Any payment amounting to 71 cents or less shall be increased to $1.00;

(2) Any payment amounting to more than 71 cents but less than $1.00 shall be increased by 40 percent;

(3) Any payment amounting to $1.00 or more shall be increased in accordance with the following schedule:

SEC. IX. Payments limited to $10,000.—The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms and turpentine places located within a single State, territory, or possession, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000. The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any person other than an individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

All or any part of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 program may be withheld or required to be returned if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device, including the dissolution, reorganization, or formation of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or by any other means, which was designed to evade, or would have the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.

Sec. X. Deductions incurred on other farms.—(a) Other farms in the same county.—If the deductions computed under Sec. VI with respect to any farm in a county exceed the payment for full performance on such farm computed under Sec. V, a landlord's or tenant's share of the amount by which such deduction exceeds such payments shall be deducted from such landlord's or tenant's share of the payment which would otherwise be made to him with respect to any other farms in such county.

(b) Other farms in Florida.—If the deductions computed for a landlord or tenant with respect to one or more farms in a county exceed the payments computed for such landlord or tenant on other farms in such county, the amount of such excess deductions shall be deducted from the payments computed for such landlord or tenant with respect to any other farms in Florida if the Florida State committee finds that the crops grown and practices adopted on the farm with respect to which such deductions are computed substantially offset the contribution to the program made on such other farms.

SEC. XI.—Deduction for assocation expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments with respect to any farm all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by the county agricultural conservation association in the county in which the farm is located.

SEC. XII. Materials furnished as grants of aid.—Wherever it it found practicable, limestone, superphosphate, trees, seeds, and other materials, upon request of the producer, may be furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as grants of aid to be used in carrying out approved soil-building practices which shall be counted toward meeting the soil-building goal for the farm. Wherever such materials are furnished, a deduction from the payment for the farm shall be made in the amount of the approximate average cost of such material to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in any county, State, or other areas. Such deduction shall be applied first to the payment computed for the person to whom such materials are furnished, and the balance, if any, of such deduction shall be prorated among the payments to other persons sharing in the payment with respect to the farm on which such materials were used.

In making a request for materials pursuant to this section, the producer to whom such materials are furnished shall agree that in the event the amount of the deduction for the materials exceeds the amount of the payment with respect to the farm the amount of such difference shall be repaid by him to the Secretary.

SEC. XIII. General provisions relating to payments.—(a) Payment restricted to effectuation of purposes of the program.—(1) All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 program may be withheld (a) if he has adopted any practice which the Secretary determines tends to defeat any of the purposes of the 1939 or previous agricultural conservation programs, (b) if, by means of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other device, or in any manner whatsoever, he has offset, or has participated in offsetting, in whole or in part, the performance for which such payment is otherwise authorized, or (c) if, with respect to forest land or woodland owned or controlled by him, he has adopted any practice which the Director of the Southern Division finds is contrary to sound conservation practices.

(2) No payments other than payments in connection with soil-building practices shall be computed with respect to any farm which is idle in 1939.

(b) Payment computed and made without regard to claims.—Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in paragraph (d) of this Sec. XIII) and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

(c) Changes in leasing and cropping agreements, reduction in number of tenants, and other devices.—If on any farm in 1939 any change of the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1938 is made between the landlord and the tenants or sharecroppers and such change would cause a greater proportion of the payments to be made to the landlord under the 1939 program than would have been made to the landlord for performance on the farm under the 1938 program, payments to the landlord under the 1939 program with respect to the farm shall not be greater than the amount that would have been paid to the landlord if the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1938 had been continued in 1939, if the county committee certifies that the change is not justified and disapproves such change.

If on any farm the number of sharecroppers or share tenants in 1939 is less than the average number on the farm during the years 1936 to 1938, inclusive, and such reduction would increase the payments that would otherwise be made to the landlord, such payments to the landlord shall not be greater than the amount that would otherwise be made if the county committee certifies that the reduction is not justified and disapproves such reduction.

If the State committee finds that any person who files an application for payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1939 program has employed any other scheme or device, the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment under any agricultural conservation program to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold in whole or in part from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund in whole or in part the amount of any payment which has been or would otherwise be made to such person in connection with the 1939 program.

(d) Assignments.—Any person who may be entitled to any payment in connection with the 1939 program may assign his interest in such payment as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1939. No such assignment will be recognized unless the assignment is made in writing on Form ACP–69 in accordance with instructions (ACP–70) issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Nothing contained in this Sec. XIII shall be construed to give an assignee a right to any payment other than that to which the farmer is entitled nor shall the Secretary or any disbursing agent be subject to any suit or liability if payment is made to the farmer without regard to the existence of any such assignment.

(e) Excess cotton acreage.—Any person who knowingly plants cotton on his farm in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for 1939 shall not be eligible for any payment under the provisions of the 1939 program. Any person having an interest in the cotton crop on a farm on which cotton is planted in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment for the farm for 1939 shall be presumed to have knowingly planted cotton on his farm on acreage in excess of such farm cotton acreage allotment if notice of the farm allotment is mailed to him prior to the completion of the planting of cotton on the farm, unless the farmer establishes the fact that the excess acreage was planted to cotton due to his lack of knowledge of the number of acres in the tract(s) planted to cotton. Such notice, if mailed to the operator of the farm, shall be deemed to be notice to all persons sharing in the production of cotton on the farm in 1939.

SEC. XIV. Application for payment.—(a) Persons eligible to file applications.—An application for payment with respect to a farm may be made by any person for whom, under the provisions of Sec. VII a share in the payment with respect to the farm may be computed and (1) who at the time of harvest is entitled to share in the crops grown on the farm under a lease or operating agreement, or (2) who is owner or operator of such farm and participates thereon in 1939 in carrying out approved soil-building practices.

(b) Time and manner of filing application and information required.—Payment will be made only upon application submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right (1) to withhold payment from any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm which such person is operating or renting to another person for a share of the crops grown thereon, and (2) to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the Director of the Southern Division. At least two weeks' notice to the public shall be given of the expiration of a time limit for filing prescribed forms. Such notice shall be given by mailing the same to the office of each county committee and making copies of the same available to the press.

(c) Applications for other farms.—If a person has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops, or proceeds therefrom, produced on more than one farm in a county and makes application for payment with respect to one of such farms, such person must make application for payment with respect to all such farms which he operates or rents to other persons. Upon request by the State committee any person shall file with the committee such information as it may request regarding any other farm in the State with respect to which he has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops or proceeds thereof.

SEC. XV. Appeals.—Any person may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or available to him, request the county committee in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination with respect to any of the following matters affecting any farm in which he has an interest: (a) eligibility to file an application for payment; (b) any soil-depleting acreage allotment or soil-building goal; (c) the division of payment; or (d) any other matter affecting the right to or the amount of his payment with respect to the farm. The county committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 15 days after receipt of such written request for reconsideration. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee, he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, appeal in writing to the State committee. The State committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 30 days after the receipt of the appeal. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the State committee, he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the Director of the Southern Division to review the decision of the State committee.

NOVEMBER 3, 1938.

Section 4 of the Printed Instructions, 1938–39 CCC Cotton Form 1, provides for acceptance of a form 1 Classification Memorandum of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as evidence of the grade and staple of cotton pledged as security to loans on 1938–39 CCC Cotton Form A.

Because of the provisions as to sampling as provided in the Warehouseman's Certificate and Waiver contained in the Loan Agreement, producers have not been in position to avail themselves of the benefits of cotton classed under the Smith-Doxey Act except in those instances where the warehouseman sampled the cotton.

In order to permit producers to make use of the Form 1 Classification Memorandum of the U. S. Department of Agriculture issued on cotton classed from gin samples, Commodity Credit Corporation will accept such Form 1 Classification Memorandum of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in those instances where the cotton may be identified by the name of the gin and by gin tag number as shown in the following certificate of the warehouseman which must accompany the Note and Loan Agreement:

The cotton securing the attached note of

SEC. 706.0 Authority and availability of funds.—Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, and in connection with the effectuation of the purposes of section 7 (a) of the said Act in 1939, payments and grants of aid will be made for participation in the 1939 Naval Stores Conservation Program in accordance with the provisions of this bulletin and such modifications thereof or other provisions as may hereafter be made.

The provisions of the 1939 Naval Stores Conservation Program are subject to such legislation relating to said program as the Congress of the United States may hereafter enact, and the making of the payments herein provided for is contingent upon such appropriation as the Congress may hereafter provide for such purpose; the amounts of such payments and grants of aid will be finally determined by such appropriation and by the extent of participation in the program. Any increase or decrease in rates of payments and deductions because of the extent of participation in the program will not be in excess of 10 percent.* #

SEC. 706.1 Definition of Terms.—(a) Turpentine farm.—The land and turpentine timber owned or leased, or operated on a share-crop basis, and under one management and in one general locality, which is being operated for the production of gum naval stores, and generally referred to as a "turpentine place."

(b) Gum naval stores.—Crude gum (oleoresin), gum turpentine, and gum rosin produced from living trees. Gum naval stores does not include naval stores produced from dead timber, stumps, knots, etc.

(c) Producer.—Any person or persons, firm, partnership or corporation doing business as a single legal entity and producing gum naval stores from timber under fee ownership, cash lease, percentage lease or other form of control.

(d) Face.—The whole wound or aggregate of streaks made by chipping, streaking, or pulling live trees to stimulate the flow of gum.

(e) Cup.—A metal, clay, or other container hung on or below the face to accumulate the flow of gum.

(f) Tins.—The gutters or aprons, made of sheet metal or other material, used to aid in conducting the crude gum (oleoresin) from a face into a cup.

(g) Crop.—10,000 turpentine faces.

(h) Drift or tract.—A portion or subdivision of a "crop" set apart for convenience of operation.

(i) D. b. h.—Diameter breast height, i. e., diameter of tree measured at breast height or 4½ feet from the ground.

(j) Turpentine season.—The entire calendar year or, if a farm is operated less than the full calendar year, that period within the calendar year during which a producer is operating his turpentine farm for the production of gum naval stores.

(k) Application.—The prescribed form of application for payment for cooperating in the 1939 Naval Stores Conservation Program (hereinafter referred to as the 1939 program).* #

SEC. 706.2 Duration of program.—The period during which this program is to be in effect is the period January 1 to December 31, 1939, inclusive.* #

SEC. 706.3 Kind of payments.—Payment will be made to producers who in 1939 carry out the following approved practices with respect to turpentine farms currently being worked in 1939, beginning such cooperation on or within time limits to be established by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, (hereinafter referred to as Forest Service) as appropriate and practicable time limits necessary to afford full opportunity to producers to cooperate in the program and to obtain a full measure of compliance with the objectives of the program.* #

SEC. 706.4 Conditions of payment—performance required.—In order to qualify for payment, producers shall meet the following requirements:

(a) No new (virgin) faces shall be operated during the 1939 turpentine season on trees less than 9 inches d. b. h. on any turpentine farm owned or leased by the applicant producer, whether or not such farm is covered by a work sheet and an application.

(b) No faces (either old or new) shall be operated during the 1939 turpentine season on trees less than 9 inches d. b. h. on any turpentine farm which is covered by a worksheet and an application.

(c) A reduction in payment to the producer will be made at ½ cent per face for all virgin faces worked by him in 1939 if any such virgin faces are on trees less than 10 inches d. b. h. No such reduction in payment will be made if all such virgin faces are on trees 10 inches d. b. h. or larger.

(d) On any turpentine farm which is covered by a work sheet and an application no tree that is less than 14 inches d. b. h. shall have more than one face worked during the 1939 turpentine season.

(e) Each participating producer shall make a net reduction in the number of operating faces in 1939 to the extent and in the manner as hereinafter prescribed, using as 100 percent the number of faces operated by him in 1938; provided that where a producer has acquired by lease, purchase or other form of control, prior to the filing of a work sheet, an additional turpentine farm or portion thereof, which had been worked in 1938, he shall use as his base (i. e., 100%) the number of faces represented by such acquisition, in addition to the number of faces which he worked in 1938 for the purpose of determining the percentage of reduction required under paragraph (g) of this section. In such cases, the producer who operated such turpentine farm or portion thereof in 1938 will have to deduct a corresponding number of faces in computing his base.

(f) The producer shall discontinue working on all faces which measure more than 90 inches in height, averaged by drifts or tracts, at the beginning of the 1939 season, provided that work need not be discontinued on such faces (more than 90 inches in height) to an extent exceeding 30 percent of the number of faces which he operated in 1938.

If the number of his faces operated in 1938 that are more than 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season, in relation to the total number operated in 1938 ranges from:	Then the producer shall discontinue operation on a net number of faces operated in 1938, that are less than 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season, that shall not be less than the following corresponding proportion of the total number of faces operated in 1938:
Faces more than 90 inches high	Faces less than 90 inches high
0 percent to 10 percent	15 percent
10.1 percent to 20 percent	10 percent
20.1 percent to 30 percent	5 percent
30.1 percent or more	0 percent

The producer shall be permitted to discontinue operation on a larger net proportion, than is indicated above, of the total of those of his 1938 working faces that are less than 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season but will not receive payment for such net proportion of discontinued faces in excess of 40 per cent of his total of all 1938 working faces: provided, that payment shall be restricted to such discontinued faces on which the producer retains ownership, lease or other control throughout the period of the 1939 program.

(h) Faces discontinued by new participants in the 1939 program on trees under 9 inches d. b. h. and on trees between 9 and 14 inches d. b. h., as required by paragraphs (b) and (d) of this section shall apply as part of the percentage of reduction required and permitted under paragraph (g) of this section.

(i) The requirement in paragraphs (e) (f) and (g) of this section for a "net reduction" means that the participating producer shall have a reduction in the number of faces worked in 1939, including new (virgin) faces, as compared to the number of faces worked in 1938.

(j) All faces discontinued under this program shall be discontinued by drifts or tracts with the exception of faces discontinued on trees under 9 inches d. b. h. and on trees between 9 and 14 inches as required by paragraphs (b) and (d) of this section.

(k) Cups and tins must be removed from discontinued faces on trees under 9 inches d. b. h. and on trees between 9 and 14 inches d. b. h., but need not be removed from the area. Cups must be removed from all other discontinued faces unless all three of the following conditions are met, namely, such faces must be discontinued by drifts or tracts, the boundaries of the areas containing such discontinued faces must be clearly marked by blazed or painted lines and such discontinued faces must remain under the producer's control throughout the period of the 1939 season.

(l) Total streaks per face made during the period of the 1939 program, averaged by drifts or tracts, shall not exceed 18 inches in vertical measurement (average of measurements between shoulders of first streak and shoulders of last streak).

(m) Payment shall not be made on faces in production which do not average, by drifts or tracts, at least 12 streaks for the 1939 season and such streaks shall have been made at no greater frequency than two streaks per week.

(n) Payment shall not be made on faces either retained in production or taken out of production in any drift or tract where the average height of faces exceeds 90 inches at the beginning of the 1939 turpentine season, in average vertical measurement between shoulders of first streak and shoulders of last streak, including jump streaks.

(o) Payment shall not be made on faces taken out, or remaining out, of production in any drift or tract (1) unless such faces were in operation for two or more months during the 1938 turpentine season, (2) unless such faces were discontinued under the 1938 program, or (3) unless such faces were discontinued under the 1937 program and kept out of production under the 1938 program, and (4) unless the cups on all such faces were first installed during or after the season of 1935.

(p) No tree shall have any new (first-year) back face unless a bark-bar on each side of the back face is provided and maintained throughout the 1939 season, the total of the two being not less than 7 inches in width, measured horizontally along the bark surface; provided, however, that the restriction with respect to the width of bark-bar shall not apply to any tree which has on it two or more old faces.

(q) Any person having part ownership and control of more than one turpentine farm shall have the right and privilege of consolidating two or more such farms for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this program.

(r) In the event of a loan program being set up for producers during 1939 only those producers who are participating in the program will be eligible for loans except as provided in paragraph (s) of this section; furthermore, loans shall not be made to any producer whose entire operation consists of more than 75 percent of new (virgin) faces.

(s) The provisions of the 1939 Naval Stores Conservation Program as contained in this bulletin are not applicable to producers on such portion of their operations as may be within the public domain of the United States, including land owned by the United States and administered by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and other lands in which the beneficial ownership is in the United States; provided, however, that such producers shall have the privilege of borrowing under any loan program which may be set up for naval stores producers during 1939.

(t) The applicant producer shall protect from fire all forest land of any kind within the turpentine farm owned, leased, or otherwise controlled by him during the 1939 turpentine season to the best of his ability, and in doing so shall cooperate with the State and Federal Governments in any cooperative forest fire protective system that exists contiguous to his turpentine farm or within the area within which such farm is situated; provided, that the producer shall not be required to pay the cost of fire protection on land not owned by him unless so stipulated in the terms of his lease. He shall be required, however, to so conduct his operations in all cases in such manner as will prevent fires escaping to adjoining forest land whether protected or not.

(u) The applicant producer, in order to provide for restocking and to promote continued production of timber upon which the naval stores, pulp and paper, lumber, and other wood-using industries are dependent, shall, in any and all cutting of timber under his ownership or control during the 1939 season, meet or exceed the following minimum requirements:

In cutting operations on turpentine areas

(1) all worked-out turpentine, defective, and non-turpentine trees may be cut, provided at least 6 thrifty seed trees 8 inches or more in diameter at the stump (12 inches above the ground) outside bark, per acre, are left uncut or provided sufficient young growth (at least 150 trees per acre 6 to 8 feet high) is left uncut: no round or one-faced turpentine trees, except such as are defective or where thinnings are needed, shall be cut, thinnings may be made but in such case there shall be left

*Sections 706.0 of 706.7 were issued under the authority contained in Sections 7 to 17, as amended, 49 Stat. 1148, 1915; 50 Stat. 329; 52 Stat. 31, 204; 16 U. S. C., Sup. III, 590g–590q.

The source of Sections 706.0 to 706.7 is NSCP–301, A. A. A., November 9, 1938.

not less than 50 trees per acre 6 to 9 inches in diameter, outside bark, at the stump (12 inches above the ground).

(2) In all other cutting operations at least 4 thrifty seed trees per acre 8 inches or more in diameter, outside bark, at the stump (12 inches above the ground) shall be left uncut unless sufficient young growth (at least 150 trees per acre 6 to 8 feet high) is left standing.

Such standards have been adopted by members of the American Pulpwood Association in the southern and southeastern United States, who have committed themselves to cooperate with the naval stores industry in the salvage and cutting of worked-out turpentine timber.

(v) Each applicant producer in measuring his trees to determine those on which operation shall respectively be continued or discontinued under the 1939 program shall make an accurate count, by drifts, lots, or other suitable units, of all faces separately as to those that are to remain in operation and those which are not; and he shall make and keep a written record thereof; and such record shall be made available to any field inspector who is responsible for inspecting his operations under the program. Each producer who files a work sheet shall assist the representatives of the Forest Service in the administration of the 1939 program by giving them free access to his turpentine farm, indicating the location of trees and faces recorded on the work sheet, and otherwise facilitating the work of the inspectors in checking compliance with the terms and conditions of the program.* #

SEC. 706.5 Rates of payment.—In connection with the utilization, during the period of the 1939 program, of land devoted to growing trees suitable for and used in the production of gum naval stores, on all turpentine farms operated in accordance with the conditions hereinabove set forth, payment will be made to each participating producer at the following rates:

(a) One-half (½) cent per face for each face in continuous operation during the 1939 turpentine season except new (virgin) faces (front or back), and except faces in drifts or tracts which, by drifts or tracts, average more than 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season.

(b) Five (5) cents per face:

(1) For any one face of one or more faces on trees less than 9 inches d. b. h., and for any one face of two or more faces on trees 9 to 14 inches d. b h., on which work is discontinued during the 1939 season;

(2) For each face which was taken out of operation during the 1938 season and kept out of operation in 1939, for which payment was made in 1938, and which was first installed during or after the 1935 season;

(3) For each face which was taken out of operation under the 1937 program, remained out of operation during the 1938 season, and is kept out of operation in 1939 for which payment was made in 1937 and 1938 provided such face was first installed during or after the 1935 season: and

(4) For each face under 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season for all such faces, up to 40 percent (in excess of the virgin faces worked in 1939) of the total number of all faces operated in 1938, which are taken out of operation during the 1939 season provided, that the producer shall retain control of such discontinued faces throughout the period of the 1939 program.

(c) One-half (½) cent per face will be deducted from the payment to any producer for each virgin face worked by him in 1939 if any such virgin faces are on trees under 10 inches d. b. h. No such deduction will be made if all such virgin faces are on trees 10 inches d. b. h. or larger.

(d) Payments limited to $10,000. The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places located within a single State, territory, or possession, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000. The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under Section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any person other than an individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

All or any part of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to any person under said Act may be withheld or required to be returned if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device, including the formation of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or by any other means, which was designed to evade, or had the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.

(e) The total payment computed for any producer with respect to his turpentine farm shall be increased as follows:

(1) Any payment amounting to 71 cents or less shall be increased to $1.00;

(2) Any payment amounting to more than 71 cents but less than $1.00 shall be increased by 40 percent;

NATIONAL ALLOTMENT OF COTTON FOR CALENDAR YEAR BEGINNING JANUARY 1, 1939

BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides:

SEC. 342. Not later than November 15 of each year the Secretary [of Agriculture] shall find and proclaim (a) the total supply, the normal supply, and the carry-over of cotton as of August 1 of such year, (b) the probable domestic consumption of American cotton during the marketing year commencing August 1 of such year, (c) the probable exports of American cotton during such marketing year, and (d) the estimated carry-over of cotton as of the next succeeding August 1.

SEC. 345. Whenever the Secretary determines that the total supply of cotton for any marketing year exceeds by more than 7 per centum the normal supply thereof for such marketing year, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact not later than November 15 of such marketing year * * *, and marketing quotas shall be in effect during the next succeeding marketing year with respect to the marketing of cotton. Cotton produced in the calendar year in which such marketing year begins shall be subject to the quotas in effect for such marketing year notwithstanding that it may be marketed prior to August 1.

SEC. 348. (a) Not later than November 15 of each year the Secretary shall find and proclaim the amount of the national allotment of cotton for the succeeding calendar year in terms of standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight. The national allotment shall be the number of bales of cotton adequate, together with the estimated carry-over as of August 1 of such succeeding calendar year, to make available a supply of cotton, for the marketing year beginning on such August 1, equal to the normal supply. * * *.

(b) If the national allotment for 1938 or 1939 is determined to be less than ten million bales, the national allotment for such year shall be ten million bales for such year, as the case may be. If the national allotment for 1938 or 1939 is determined to be more than eleven million five hundred thousand bales, it shall be eleven million five hundred thousand bales for such year, as the case may be.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, the national allotment for any year shall be increased by a number of bales equal to the production of the acres allotted under section 344 (e) for such year.

SEC. 344. (a) The national allotment for cotton for each year (excluding that portion of the national allotment provided for in section 343 (c)) shall be apportioned by the Secretary among the several States on the basis of the average, for the five years preceding the year in which the national allotment is determined, of the normal production of cotton in each State. The normal production of a State for a year shall be (1) the quantity produced therein plus (2) the normal yield of the acres diverted in each county in the State under the previous agricultural adjustment or conservation programs. The normal yield of the acres diverted in any county in any year shall be the average yield per acre of the planted acres in such county in such year times the number of acres diverted in such county in such year.

(b) The Secretary shall ascertain, on the basis of the average yield per acre in each State, a number of acres in such State which will produce a number of bales equal to the allotment made to the State under subsection (a). Such number of acres plus the number of acres allotted to the State pursuant to subsection (e) (2) is referred to as the "State acreage allotment." The average yield per acre for any State shall be determined on the basis of the average of the normal production for the State for the years used in computing the allotment to the State, and the average, for the same period, of the acres planted and the acres diverted in the State.

(c) (1) The State acreage allotment (less the amount required for apportionment under paragraph (2)) shall be apportioned annually by the Secretary to the counties in the State. The apportionment to the counties shall be made on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the State allotment is apportioned (plus, in applicable years, the acreage diverted under previous agricultural adjustment and conservation programs), with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage during such five-year period.

(2) Not more than 2 percentum of the State acreage allotment shall be apportioned to farms in such State which were not used for cotton production during any of the three calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the allotment is made, on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton.

* * * * * * *

(e) (1) For 1938 and 1939, the Secretary shall allot to the several counties, to which an apportionment is made under subsection (c), a number of acres required to provide a total acreage for allotment under this section to such counties of not less than 60 per centum of the sum of (1) the acreage planted to cotton in such counties in 1937, plus (2) the acreage therein diverted from cotton production in 1937 under the agricultural adjustment and conservation program. The acreage so diverted shall be estimated in case data are not available at the time of making such allotment.

(2) The Secretary shall allot to each State to which an allotment is made under subsection (b), and in which at least three thousand five hundred bales were produced in any of the five years immediately preceding the year for which the allotment is made, a number of acres sufficient to provide a total State acreage allotment for such State of not less than five thousand acres.

* * * * * * *

(g) For each of the years 1938 and 1939 an acreage equal to 4 per centum of the State acreage allotment shall be apportioned by the Secretary, to counties and farms in the State receiving allotments under this Part, * * *.

(h) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, the cotton acreage allotment for any farm for each of the years 1938 and 1939, after making the allotments provided in subsection (g), shall be increased in such amount as may be necessary to provide an allotment of not less than 50 per centum of the sum of the acreage planted in cotton in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton production in 1937 under the agricultural conservation program, as determined for each farm in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary * * * Provided, That this subsection shall not operate to raise the cotton acreage of any farm above 40 per centum of the acreage on such farm which is tilled annually or in regular rotation, as determined under regulations prescribed by the Secretary.

(i) The acreage required for apportionment under subsection (g) and (h) shall be in addition to the State acreage allotment, and the production of such acreage shall be in addition to the national allotment.

Whereas said Act contains, in section 301 (b), the following definitions of terms here pertinent:

"Carry-over" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the quantity of cotton on hand either within or without the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, which was produced in the United States prior to the beginning of the calendar year then current.

"Marketing year" means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second date specified below:

Cotton, August 1—July 31; * * *.

"Normal supply" in the case of * * * cotton * * * shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports of the commodity, plus * * * 40 per centum in the case of cotton * * * of a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

"Normal year's domestic consumption," in the case of cotton * * *, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

"Total supply" of * * * cotton * * * for any marketing year shall be the carry-over of the commodity for such marketing year plus the estimated production of the commodity in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins.;

Whereas said Act provides, in section 301 (c), that "The latest available statistics of the Federal Government shall be used by the Secretary [of Agriculture] in making the determinations required to be made by the Secretary under this Act."; and

Whereas said Act provides, in section 350, that the provisions of Part IV (Marketing Quotas—Cotton) of subtitle B of Title III thereof shall not apply to cotton the staple of which is 1 1/2 inches or more in lenth;

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Act of Congress known as the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, upon the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, do hereby find, determine, and proclaim under sections 342, 343, and 345 of said Act:

(1) That the "total supply" of cotton as of August 1, 1938, was 25,250,000 running bales;

(2) That the "total supply" of cotton for the marketing year commencing August 1, 1938, is 25,702,000 running bales;

(3) That the "normal supply" of cotton as of August 1, 1938, was 18,200,000 running bales;

(4) That the "carry-over" of cotton as of August 1, 1938, was 13,652,000 running bales;

(5) That the "probable domestic consumption of American cotton" during the marketing year commencing August 1, 1938, is 6,500,000 running bales;

(6) That the "probable exports of American cotton" during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, is 5,000,000 running bales;

(7) That the estimated "carry-over" of cotton as of August 1, 1939, is 14,200,000 running bales;

(8) That the "total supply" of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, exceeds by more than 7 per centum the "normal supply" of cotton for such marketing year; and

(9) That the national allotment of cotton for the calendar year beginning on January 1, 1939, shall be 10,000,000 standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight, increased by that number of standard bales of five hundred pounds gross weight equal to the production in the calendar year 1939 of that number of acres required to be allotted for 1939 under the terms of subsections (e), (g), and (h) of section 344 of said Act.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY AND PLANT QUARANTINE

[B. E. P. Q.—482]

TREATMENT REQUIREMENT OF NONINFESTED HOLLAND NARCISSUS BULBS AS A CONDITION OF ENTRY REVOKED

NOVEMBER 10, 1938.

On January 14, 1935, as authorized in regulation 3, as revised on said date, of the Rules and Regulations Supplemental to Notice of Quarantine No. 37, the announcement was made that on and after December 15, 1936, narcissus bulbs would be authorized entry under permit in unlimited numbers for any purpose, subject to inspection and certification in the country of origin and reinspection at the port of entry in the United States with the understanding that any shipments found to be infested would be rejected. At the same time, revocation of the domestic Narcissus Bulb Quarantine No. 62 was announced, effective April 1, 1935.

On August 1, 1936, in accordance with the authority contained in regulation 9 of said Notice of Quarantine No. 37, it was further announced that, as a condition of entry, the treatment of narcissus bulbs would be required since external examination of these bulbs could not be relied upon to determine their freedom from infestation by the bulb nematode, Ditylenchus dipsaci. Those in interest were informed in a circular issued September 16, 1936, of the "latest approved treatment" to be employed with respect to all entries of narcissus bulbs.

Since it was a matter of record that imported and domestic bulbs other than narcissus were known hosts of the bulb nematode, a conference was held in Washington on December 15, 1936, to consider the desirability of treating all known hosts of the bulb nematode enterable under the Nursery Stock, Plant, and Seed Quarantine No. 37. The following day, December 16, 1936, a hearing was held [1] to consider the advisability of establishing a domestic plant quarantine for the purpose of requiring the treatment of narcissus bulbs and other known hosts of the bulb nematode as a prerequisite to interstate shipment. On February 15, 1937, it was announced that the evidence presented at the conference in question indicated that the bulb nematode risk which accompanies the importation of most ornamental bulbs which have been inspected in the country of origin, supplemented by inspection at the port of entry in the United States, does not justify the requirement that all known hosts of this nematode be treated as a condition of entry. No change in the requirements as to importation of narcissus bulbs was announced at that time. While no public announcement has been made with reference to the conclusion reached as the result of the hearing on December 16, 1936, no Federal domestic quarantine has been promulgated requiring the treatment of narcissus bulbs and other known hosts of the bulb nematode as a condition of interstate shipment.

At the request of the Netherlands Government, a committee of technical experts representing the governments of the Netherlands and of this country was appointed for the purpose of considering on the ground, in Holland, the necessity of requiring the hot-water treatment of Holland narcissus bulbs as a condition of entry into the United States. This committee held a series of meetings in Holland, during the month of April 1938, most of which took place in the narcissus bulb fields where every opportunity was afforded to inspect the bulbs as to foliage or by lifting them, and to observe the cultural practices and sanitary measures employed in an effort to reduce the bulb nematode infestation to the minimum. The field examinations revealed an almost complete absence of bulb nematode infestations in the narcissus plantings. In view of this condition and the sanitary measures practiced, which involve repeated field examinations during the growing season, supplemented by inspection and certification of the bulbs at the time of shipment, it is evident, so long as the above conditions exist, that the bulb nematodes risk incident to the importation of Holland narcissus bulbs does not justify the continuation of the requirement that all importations of these bulbs be given the hot-water treatment as a condition of entry. This requirement, therefore, will not be in effect on and after August 15, 1939. On and after that date, all such importations, in accordance with the provisions of regulation 7 of the Nursery Stock, Plant, and Seed Quarantine No. 37, shall be accompanied by a certificate certifying that the bulbs have been thoroughly inspected at the time of packing and found or believed to be free of injurious plant diseases and insect pests. Finally, upon arrival at the American ports of entry, all shipments will be examined by inspectors of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine and this examination will include the cutting of suspicious-looking bulbs when necessary to determine their freedom from infestation by the bulb nematode. Any shipments found to be infested will be given the latest approved treatment or rejected.

Chief.

AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ADMINISTRATION

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING REFERENDUM ON COTTON MARKETING QUOTAS ON THE 1939 CROP

In view of the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture has determined and proclaimed,[1] pursuant to the provisions of section 345 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, that the total supply of cotton for the 1938-39 marketing year exceeds by more than 7 percent the normal supply thereof for such marketing year, a referendum, by secret ballot, of farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1938 will be held on December 10, 1938, pursuant to section 347 of said Act and in accordance with the regulations herein set forth, to determine whether they favor or oppose cotton marketing quotas on the 1939 cotton crop. Such quotas will be in effect unless more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose them.

[1] 3 F. R. 2669 DI.

A. VOTING ELIGIBILITY

All farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1938 are eligible to vote in the referendum (except as provided in the following paragraph). Any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1938 cotton crop as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper shall be considered as having been engaged in the production of cotton in 1938. Farmers who planted cotton in 1938 but produced no cotton on such acreage for any reason except willful neglect to farm the planted acreage, or who made arrangements to plant cotton in 1938 but were prevented from planting by flood, excessive rainfall, or drought, shall be regarded as having been engaged in the production of cotton in 1938 and therefore eligible to vote.

Since marketing quotas are not applicable to cotton the staple of which is 1½ inches or more in length, a person who was engaged in the production of such cotton in 1938 is not eligible to vote, unless in 1938 he was also engaged in the production of cotton the staple of which was less than 1½ inches in length.

No farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in the referendum, even though he may have been engaged in the production of cotton in two or more communities, counties, or States in 1938.

In the event several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of cotton in 1938 under a single rental or cropping agreement or lease, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the rental or cropping agreement or lease shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing cotton in 1938 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person is entitled to vote.

There shall be no voting by mail, proxy, or agent, but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity or a duly authorized member of a partnership may cast its vote.

If a community referendum committee determines that a farmer residing within the jurisdiction of such committee at the time of the referendum is eligible to vote by reason of his having engaged in producing cotton in another community in 1938, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to vote, provided the committee also satisfies itself that such farmer has not previously voted in the referendum in another community. If the committee cannot so satisfy itself and the farmer insists upon voting, it shall challenge the ballot in the manner hereinafter outlined.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEE

The County Agricultural Conservation Committee (hereinafter referred to as the county committee) shall be responsible for the proper holding of the referendum in the county and it shall:

1. Designate one readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting a notice on form Cotton 301, "Notice—Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum", at one or more places open to the public within each community at least 5 days in advance of the date of the referendum.

2. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including newspapers and radio, to give cotton farmers in the county full and accurate public notice of the day and hours of voting, the location of polling places, and the rules governing eligibility to vote. Such notice should be given as soon as practicable after the plans for holding the referendum in the county have been made, but must be given at least 5 days in advance of the date of the referendum.

3. Designate three cotton farmers residing in each community as members of the community referendum committee to conduct the referendum in such community and name one of the members chairman of the committee.

4. In counties with less than 100 cotton farms the county committee may treat the county as one community for the purpose of the referendum and hold the referendum and perform the duties both of county committee and community referendum committee.

5. See that each community referendum committee is provided with a suitable ballot box.

6. Execute form Cotton 303, "Register of Eligible Voters and Ballots Cast—1939 Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum", for each community in the county, listing thereon the names and addresses of all persons who were engaged in the production of cotton in such community during 1938. If lists of such persons by communities are already available to the county committee, they may be turned over to the community referendum committee for its own preparation of form Cotton 303.

7. Deliver a supply of form Cotton 302, "1939 Cotton Marketing Quota Referendum Ballot", and form Cotton 304, "Community Summary of 1939 Cotton Marketing Quota Ballots", as well as the executed copies of Cotton 303 (or a supply of blank forms Cotton 303 and the required list of cotton farmers in the community), to the chairman of the respective community referendum committee.

8. See to it that the community referendum committees understand their duties as to (a) issuing ballot forms, (b) recording votes, (c) tabulating ballots, and (d) certifying results of the referendum in the community.

9. See that appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

10. Notify the State committee by telephone, telegraph, or in person, as soon as possible after the closing of the polls, as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in the county.

11. Meet not later than 8:30 o'clock a. m., Monday, December 12, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from forms Cotton 304 on form Cotton 305, "County Summary of 1939 Cotton Marketing Quota Ballots." Such meeting shall be open to the public. Cotton 305, showing the results in the county, shall be prepared and certified in quadruplicate, two copies of which shall be sent to the State Agricultural Conservation Committee (hereinafter referred to as State committee) not later than four calendar days after the date of the referendum, one copy posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the office of the county committee (hereinafter referred to as the county office), and one copy permanently filed in the county office. One copy of each executed form Cotton 304 shall be posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the county office.

12. Notify the State committee as soon as possible by mail (on form Cotton 305) as to the final outcome of the referendum in the county.

13. Make an investigation in each case of controversy or dispute regarding eligibility of a voter to vote in the referendum. In each case where a ballot is found in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the community referendum committee and bearing the voter's name and a statement of the reason for the challenge, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined. If it is determined that such person is eligible, the ballot shall be placed with the challenged ballot of every other person found to be eligible, and when all the challenged ballots shall have been passed upon by the committee those ballots found to be valid shall be opened and tabulated in the county summary. If it is determined that such person is not eligible, the envelope shall not be opened but shall be preserved with the ballots, as provided in paragraph 15 of this section B.

14. Make an investigation in each case of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of the referendum in a community. No dispute shall be investigated by the county committee unless it is brought to its attention within three calendar days after the date on which the referendum was held. The county committee shall promptly decide the dispute and immediately report its findings to the State committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms, and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

15. Seal the voted ballots, challenged ballots found ineligible, register sheets, and community summary sheets for the county in one or more envelopes or packages (marked "Cotton Referendum 1939", followed by the name of the county) and place them under lock and key in a safe place under the custody of the secretary of the county agricultural conservation association for a period of 60 calendar days from the date of the referendum. If no notice to the contrary is received by the end of such time, the ballots shall be destroyed and the register and community summary sheets permanently filed in the county office.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

Each community referendum committee designated by the county committee shall:

1. Arrange, with the assistance of the county committee, for conducting the referendum by secret ballot.

2. Assist the county committee in giving adequate public notice of the time and place for casting ballots at least five days in advance of the date on which the referendum will be held.

3. Provide a place where each eligible farmer can prepare and cast a ballot in secret and without interference.

4. Provide a ballot box. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen and cannot be removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks and show that the seal has been tampered with.

5. Open the polls not later than 9 o'clock a. m., local standard time, on Saturday, December 10, 1938.

6. Hold the referendum in a fair and unbiased manner and see that appropriate measures are taken to insure that it is conducted by secret ballot.

7. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except in the case of a challenged ballot), and instruct each voter as he is handed a ballot form as to the procedure to be followed in casting his ballot and to fold his ballot before he places it in the ballot box after he has marked it to show which way he votes.

8. Issue a ballot to each person who is eligible to vote and to each person who claims to be eligible to vote and insists upon voting even though his eligibility is challenged by the committee. Every unchallenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box by the person who voted it. In every case where the eligibility of the voter is challenged, his ballot, after being marked by the challenged person, shall be placed (by him, or by the committee if he refuses) in an envelope and shall be sealed and marked with his name, and the word "Challenged", and a statement of the reason for the challenge, and the envelope shall then be placed in the ballot box. The letter "C" shall be entered with a red pencil on form Cotton 303 immediately to the left of the name of each person whose vote is challenged.

9. Record on form Cotton 303 the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued if he is not already listed thereon prior to the time the ballot form is issued to him.

10. Enter an "X" in the designated column on form Cotton 303 beside the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued and who places his ballot in the ballot box (whether or not his ballot is challenged).

11. Close the polls and discontinue acceptance of ballots at 5 o'clock p. m., local standard time (unless a later hour is fixed by the State committee) on the date of the referendum.

12. Immediately after closing the polls, open the ballot box and canvass the ballots cast, which canvass shall be kept open to the public.

13. Tabulate and record the results of the referendum on form Cotton 304. The number of challenged ballots cast shall be entered on form Cotton 304 in the space provided and will not, of course, be shown as being either for or against the marketing quotas. If any ballot is found to be mutilated or marked in such a way so that it cannot be determined whether the voter approved or opposed the marketing quotas, it shall not be counted as a ballot cast but the number of such spoiled ballots shall be entered in the space provided, and such ballots placed in an envelope marked "Spoiled Ballots", followed by the designation of the community.

14. Certify to the accuracy of the executed forms Cotton 303 and Cotton 304 by signing in the spaces provided.

15. Notify the county committee by telephone or in person as soon as possible after the closing of the polls as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in the community.

16. Seal the voted ballots (including those challenged), the spoiled ballots, the register sheet, and the community summary in one or more envelopes appropriately identified by the designation of the community and deliver them to the county committee not later than 8:30 o'clock a. m., Monday, December 12, 1938, with the unused ballot and other forms. The chairman of the community referendum committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of such reports, ballots, and forms to the county committee.

17. Post an executed copy of form Cotton 304, as soon as it is executed, at a conspicuous place at the polling place and see that it remains posted and accessible to the public for at least three calendar days after the date of the holding of the referendum.

D. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEE

The State committee shall be in charge of and responsible for the conducting of the referendum in the State and shall:

1. Notify the applicable Regional Director by telegraph as to the preliminary count in the State of votes for and votes against marketing quotas.

2. Summarize on form Cotton 306, "State Tabulation of 1939 Cotton Marketing Quota Ballots", the information contained on the forms Cotton 305 reported to it and forward via air mail special delivery two fully executed forms Cotton 306 to the applicable Regional Director, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., not later than 7 calendar days after the date of the referendum. If one sheet proves insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional sheets properly numbered and identified and securely attached to the first sheet may be used for continuation, in which case totals and signatures should be entered only on the last sheet. One fully executed copy of each form Cotton 305 and form Cotton 306 shall be permanently filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

3. Complete the investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of summaries of the referendum, not later than 10 calendar days after the date of the referendum, and forward its findings in such cases to the applicable Regional Director.

E. RESULTS OF REFERENDUM

Final and official tabulation of the votes cast in the referendum will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the result of the referendum announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. The reports on Cotton 306 and related papers shall be permanently filed with such tabulation and shall remain available for public inspection.

Each county committee is authorized to give out unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in its county, to the public press and to other inquirers. The State committee is authorized to release to the press and other inquirers the unofficial results of the referendum for the respective State by counties as rapidly as the votes in the various counties are tabulated.

If the Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, the report of any community referendum committee, county committee, or State committee shall be reexamined and checked by such persons or agencies as may be designated.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 10th day of November, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. Instructions and forms.—The Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture shall cause to be prepared and issued with his approval such instructions and such forms as may be necessary or expedient for carrying out this procedure for determining farm quotas.

PART II—ESTABLISHMENT OF PRELIMINARY QUOTAS

SEC. 1. Preliminary quotas.—Preliminary 1939 quotas shall be established, as provided in this procedure, for all farms for which 1938 quotas were established. No preliminary quota shall be established for any farm for which a 1938 quota was not established. Quotas for such farms shall be established in accordance with such procedure as the Secretary of Agriculture may hereafter prescribe.

SEC. 2. Determination of preliminary quota.—The preliminary quota for a farm shall be determined, in accordance with the provisions of Section 4, from the "committee adjusted quota." The committee adjusted quota for the farm shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 3.

SEC. 3. Determination of committee adjusted quota.—The committee adjusted quota for a farm shall be determined by adjustment of the 1938 quota (prior to any adjustment thereof by a review committee) for the farm as provided below.

(a) Adjustment of data and farm yield.—If the committee finds that the data used in computing the 1938 quota requires adjustment or that the farm yield used in computing the 1938 quota was not a normal yield for the farm, the 1938 quota established for the farm shall be adjusted so as to equal the number of pounds which would have been computed for the farm as its 1938 quota upon the basis of the adjusted data and a farm yield which the committee finds is a normal yield for the farm. A normal farm yield shall be that yield which the committee determines could reasonably be obtained from the farm. In making the determination, the committee shall take into consideration the type of soil, topography and production facilities of the farm, the yields obtained on other farms in the locality, which are similar with respect to such factors, the yields obtained from the farm during years for which records indicating such yields acceptable to the committee are available, and the effect of flood, drought, hail, other abnormal weather conditions, fire, plant-bed and other diseases, upon the yields obtained from the farm in such years.

(b) Adjustment for estimated 1938 marketings.—In order to take into account the estimated marketings from the farm during the 1938–39 marketing year, the 1938 quota, as adjusted pursuant to subsection (a) above, shall be adjusted upward if such marketings exceed the 1938 quota and downward if such marketings are less than the 1938 quota. The amount of the upward or downward adjustment, as the case may be, shall be 20 percent of the difference between such marketings and the 1938 quota.

(c) Adjustment for past marketings, etc.—The committee shall adjust the 1938 quota (as adjusted pursuant to subsections (a) and (b) above) if they find, upon consideration of the data used in computing the 1938 quota and other information available to them, that adjustment is necessary in order to take into adequate account past marketings of tobacco, making due allowance for abnormal weather conditions, plant-bed and other diseases; land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop-rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

(d) Limit of adjustment.—The sum of the adjustments made, pursuant to subsections (b) and (c) of this section, for any farm shall not exceed 20 percent of the 1938 quota for the farm, as adjusted pursuant to subsection (a) of this section; provided that in the case of a farm, on which tobacco was produced in 1938 and on which tobacco was not produced in any of the years 1934, 1935, 1936 or 1937, the sum of such adjustments may be greater if recommended by the community and county committee, and approved by the State committee, in order to provide a committee adjusted quota which will adequately take into account the land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco on the farm.

(e) Minimum quota.—The committee adjusted quota shall in no case be less than the smaller of 3200 pounds or the three-year average for the farm.

(f) Adjustments to balance.—The sum of the upward adjustments for all farms in the county shall not exceed the sum of the downward adjustments for all farms in the county, except with the approval of the State committee.

(g) Statement of reasons for adjustment.—Where the adjustment made pursuant to this Section 3 exceeds 10 percent of the 1938 quota, the committee shall make a brief explanatory statement in writing of the reasons why such adjustment is necessary in order to take into adequate account the factors required to be taken into consideration in making such adjustment.

(h) Adjustments subject to approval by the State committee.—All adjustments made by the committee pursuant to this Section 3 shall be subject to approval by the State committee.

SEC. 4. Determination of preliminary quota from committee adjusted quota.—(a) To any farm which has a committee adjusted quota equal to the smaller of 3200 pounds or the farm's three year average, such quota will be assigned as its preliminary quota.

(b) The total of the preliminary quotas assigned pursuant to subsection (a) shall be deducted from an amount equal to 99 percent of the State marketing quota, to determine the balance of quota available.

(c) The total of the committee adjusted quotas for all farms to which preliminary quotas have not been assigned pursuant to subsection (a) shall be reduced to an amount equal to the balance of quota available, determined pursuant to subsection (b). This reduction will be made by reducing the committee adjusted quotas for all farms, to which a preliminary quota has not been assigned, by the percentage which the balance of quota available is of the total of such committee adjusted quotas. The amount of the committee adjusted quota for each such farm as so reduced shall be the farm's preliminary quota; provided that if the preliminary quota so determined for any farm is less than the smaller of 3200 pounds of the farm's three year average, the amount of the preliminary quota shall be increased by an amount sufficient to provide for such farm a preliminary quota equal to the smaller of 3200 pounds or the farm's three year average.

SEC. 5. Final quotas.—If the national marketing quota is effective for the 1939–40 marketing year, the preliminary quota established for a farm shall be the final 1939 quota, subject to adjustment as follows:

If there is any material change for the farm in 1939 with respect to (a) past marketings, or (b) land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco, or (c) crop-rotation practices, or (d) the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco, as compared with such factors in 1938, and such change was not given consideration in the establishment of the preliminary quota, the farm's quota shall be the preliminary quota adjusted to take such change into account; provided that the farm's 1939 quota shall not exceed (except in the case of a farm which is entitled to a quota of the smaller of 3200 pounds or the farm's three year average) the number of pounds obtained by multiplying 110 percent of the farm's 1939 tobacco acreage by the farm yield.

CANCELATION OF INDEBTEDNESS AND REDUCTION OF BASIS OF DEBTOR'S PROPERTY IN PROCEEDINGS UNDER BANKRUPTCY ACT OF 1898, AS AMENDED

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

PARAGRAPH A. The Bankruptcy Act of 1898, as amended by the Act of June 22, 1938 (Public, No. 696, Seventy-fifth Congress) provides in part as follows:

CHAPTER X—CORPORATE REORGANIZATIONS

SEC. 268. Except as provided in section 270 of this Act, no income or profit, taxable under any law of the United States or of any State now in force or which may hereafter be enacted, shall, in respect to the adjustment of the indebtedness of a debtor in a proceeding under this chapter, be deemed to have accrued to or to have been realized by a debtor, by a trustee provided for in a plan under this chapter, or by a corporation organized or made use of for effectuating a plan under this chapter by reason of a modification in or cancelation in whole or in part of any of the indebtedness of the debtor in a proceeding under this chapter.

SEC. 269. SEC. 521. Where it appears that an arrangement has for one of its principal purposes the evasion of taxes, objection to its confirmation may be made on that ground by the Secretary of the Treasury or, in the case of a State, by the corresponding official or other person so authorized. Such objections shall be heard and determined by the judge, independently of other objections which may be made to the confirmation of the arrangement, and, if the judge shall be satisfied that such purpose exists, he shall refuse to confirm the arrangement.

CHAPTER XIII—WAGE EARNERS' PLANS

SEC. 679. No income or profit, taxable under any law of the United States or of any State now in force or which may hereafter be enacted, shall, in respect to the adjustment of the indebtedness of a debtor in a proceeding under this chapter, be deemed to have accrued to or to have been realized by a debtor by reason of a modification in or cancelation in whole or in part of any such indebtedness in a proceeding under this chapter: Provided, however, That if it shall be made to appear that the plan had for one of its principal purposes the evasion of any income tax, the exemption provided by this section shall be disallowed.

SEC. 686. (4) section 679 of this Act shall apply to compositions and extensions confirmed under section 74 before the effective date of this amendatory Act and to compositions and extensions which may be confirmed under section 74 on and after such effective date:

Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 62 of the Revenue Acts of 1934 and 1936 and in the foregoing provisions of the Bankruptcy Act of 1898, as amended, the following regulations are promulgated:

Article 22 (a)-14 of Regulations 94[1] is amended to read as follows:

"ART. 22 (a)-14. Cancelation of indebtedness.—(a) In general.—The cancelation of indebtedness, in whole or in part, may result in the realization of income. If, for example, an individual performs services for a creditor, who in consideration thereof cancels the debt, income in the amount of the debt is realized by the debtor as compensation for his services. A taxpayer realizes income by the payment or purchase of his obligations at less than their face value. (See article 22 (a)-18.) If a shareholder in a corporation which is indebted to him gratuitously forgives the debt, the transaction amounts to a contribution to the capital of the corporation.

"(b) Proceedings under Bankruptcy Act.—Income is not realized by a taxpayer by virtue of the discharge, under section 14 of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, of his indebtedness as the result of an adjudication in bankruptcy, or by virtue of an agreement among his creditors not consummated under any provision of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, if immediately thereafter the taxpayer's liabilities exceed the value of his assets. Furthermore, income is not realized in any case by a taxpayer in the case of a cancelation or reduction of his indebtedness under—

"(1) a plan of corporate reorganization confirmed under either section 77B or Chapter X of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended;

"(2) a composition agreement confirmed under either section 12 or 74 of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended;

"(3) an 'arrangement' or a 'real property arrangement' confirmed under Chapter XI or XII, respectively, of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended; or

"(4) a 'wage earner's plan' confirmed under Chapter XIII of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended.

"If, however, such plan of corporate reorganization or agreement of composition referred to in (1) to (4) above had for one of its principal purposes the avoidance of income tax, the cancelation or reduction of indebtedness, under such plan or agreement confirmed under section 12, 74 or 77B or under Chapter X, XI, XII or XIII of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, may result in the realization of income.

"For adjustment of basis of certain property in the case of cancelation or reduction of indebtedness required by the Bankruptcy Act, as amended by the Act of June 22, 1938 (Public, No. 696, Seventy-fifth Congress), see article 113 (b)-2."

Article 22 (a)-14 of Regulations 86 is amended to read as follows:

"ART. 22 (a)-14. Cancelation of indebtedness.—(a) In general.—The cancelation of indebtedness, in whole or in part, may result in the realization of income. If, for example, an individual performs services for a creditor, who in consideration thereof cancels the debt, income in the amount of the debt is realized by the debtor as compensation for his services. A taxpayer realizes income by the payment or purchase of his obligations at less than their face value. (See article 22 (a)-18.) If a shareholder in a corporation which is indebted to him gratuitously forgives the debt, the transaction amounts to a contribution to the capital of the corporation.

"(b) Proceedings under Bankruptcy Act.—Income is not realized by a taxpayer by virtue of the discharge, under section 14 of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, of his indebtedness as the result of an adjudication in bankruptcy, or by virtue of an agreement among his creditors not consummated under any provision of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, if immediately thereafter the taxpayer's liabilities exceed the value of his assets. Furthermore, income is not realized in any case by a taxpayer in the case of a cancelation or reduction of his indebtedness under (1) a plan of corporate reorganization confirmed under section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, or (2) a composition agreement confirmed under either section 12 or 74 of such Act. If, however, such plan of corporate reorganization or agreement of composition had for one of its principal purposes the avoidance of income tax, the cancelation or reduction of indebtedness, under such plan or agreement confirmed under section 12, 74 or 77B of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, may result in the realization of income.

"For adjustment of basis of certain property in the case of cancelation or reduction of indebtedness required by the Bankruptcy Act, as amended by the Act of June 22, 1938 (Public, No. 696, Seventy-fifth Congress), see article 113 (b)-2."

Regulations 94 are amended by inserting after article 113 (b)-1 thereof the following new article:

"ART. 113 (b)-2. Adjusted basis: Cancelation of indebtedness.—In addition to the adjustments provided in section 113 (b) (1) and article 113 (b)-1 which are required to be made with respect to the cost or other basis of property, a further adjustment shall be made in any case in which there shall have been a cancelation or reduction of indebtedness in any proceeding under section 12, 74 (except in the case of a 'wage earner' as defined in the Bankruptcy Act, as amended), or 77B or under Chapter X, XI, or XII of the Bankruptcy Act of 1898, as amended. Such further adjustment shall be made in the following manner and order:

"(1) In the case of indebtedness incurred to purchase specific property (other than inventory or notes or accounts receivable), whether or not a lien is placed against such property securing the payment of all or part of such indebtedness, which indebtedness shall have been canceled or reduced in any such proceeding, the cost or other basis of such property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) by the amount by which the indebtedness so incurred with respect to such property shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(2) In the case of specific property (other than inventory or notes or accounts receivable) against which, at the time of the cancelation or reduction of the indebtedness, there is a lien (other than a lien securing indebtedness incurred to purchase such property) the cost or other basis of such property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) by the amount by which the indebtedness secured by such lien shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(3) Any excess of the total amount by which the indebtedness shall have been so canceled or reduced in such proceeding over the sum of the adjustments made under (1) and (2) shall next be applied to reduce the cost or other basis of the property of the debtor (other than inventory and notes and accounts receivable, but including property covered by (1) and (2)) as follows: The cost or other basis of each unit of property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) in an amount equal to such proportion of such excess as the adjusted basis (without reference to this article) of each such unit of property bears to the sum of the adjusted bases (without reference to this article) of all the property of the debtor other than inventory and notes and accounts receivable; and

"(4) Any excess of the total amount by which such indebtedness shall have been so canceled or reduced over the sum of the adjustments made under (1), (2) and (3) shall next be applied to reduce the cost or other basis of inventory and notes and accounts receivable, as follows: The cost or other basis of inventory or notes or accounts receivable, as the case may be, shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) in an amount equal to such proportion of such excess as the adjusted basis of inventory, notes receivable or accounts receivable, as the case may be, bears to the sum of the adjusted bases of such inventory and notes and accounts receivable.

"For the purposes of this article—

"(A) Basis shall be determined as of the date of confirmation of the plan, composition or arrangement under which such indebtedness shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(B) Except where the context otherwise requires, property means all of the debtor's property, other than money;

"(C) No adjustment shall be made by virtue of the cancelation or reduction of any accrued interest unpaid which shall not have resulted in a tax benefit in any income tax return; and

"(D) The phrase 'indebtedness incurred to purchase' includes (i) indebtedness for money borrowed and applied in the purchase of property and (ii) an existing indebtedness secured by a lien against the property which the debtor, as purchaser of such property, has assumed to pay.

"The basis of any of the debtor's property which shall have been transferred to a person required to use the debtor's basis in whole or in part shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this article."

Regulations 86 are amended by inserting after article 113 (b)–1 thereof the following new article:

"ART. 113 (b)–2. Adjusted basis: Cancelation of indebtedness.—In addition to the adjustments provided in section 113 (b) (1) and article 113 (b)–1 which are required to be made with respect to the cost or other basis of property, a further adjustment shall be made in any case in which there shall have been a cancelation or reduction of indebtedness in any proceeding under section 12, 74 (except in the case of a 'wage earner' as defined in the Bankruptcy Act, as amended), or 77B of the Bankruptcy Act of 1898, as amended. Such further adjustment shall be made in the following manner and order:

"(1) In the case of indebtedness incurred to purchase specific property (other than inventory or notes or accounts receivable), whether or not a lien is placed against such property securing the payment of all or part of such indebtedness, which indebtedness shall have been canceled or reduced in any such proceeding, the cost or other basis of such property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) by the amount by which the indebtedness so incurred with respect to such property shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(2) In the case of specific property (other than inventory or notes or accounts receivable) against which, at the time of the cancelation or reduction of the indebtedness, there is a lien (other than a lien securing indebtedness incurred to purchase such property) the cost or other basis of such property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) by the amount by which the indebtedness secured by such lien shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(3) Any excess of the total amount by which the indebtedness shall have been so canceled or reduced in such proceeding over the sum of the adjustments made under (1) and (2) shall next be applied to reduce the cost or other basis of the property of the debtor (other than inventory and notes and accounts receivable, but including property covered by (1) and (2)) as follows: The cost or other basis of each unit of property shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) in an amount equal to such proportion of such excess as the adjusted basis (without reference to this article) of each such unit of property bears to the sum of the adjusted bases (without reference to this article) of all the property of the debtor other than inventory and notes and accounts receivable; and

"(4) Any excess of the total amount by which such indebtedness shall have been so canceled or reduced over the sum of the adjustments made under (1), (2) and (3) shall next be applied to reduce the cost or other basis of inventory and notes and accounts receivable, as follows: The cost or other basis of inventory or notes or accounts receivable, as the case may be, shall be decreased (but the amount of the decrease shall not be more than the amount of the adjusted basis without reference to this article) in an amount equal to such proportion of such excess as the adjusted basis of inventory, notes receivable or accounts receivable, as the case may be, bears to the sum of the adjusted bases of such inventory and notes and accounts receivable.

"For the purposes of this article—

"(A) Basis shall be determined as of the date of confirmation of the plan, composition or arrangement under which such indebtedness shall have been canceled or reduced;

"(B) Except where the context otherwise requires, property means all of the debtor's property, other than money;

"(C) No adjustment shall be made by virtue of the cancelation or reduction of any accrued interest unpaid which shall not have resulted in a tax benefit in any income tax return; and

"(D) The phrase 'indebtedness incurred to purchase' includes (i) indebtedness for money borrowed and applied in the purchase of property and (ii) an existing indebtedness secured by a lien against the property which the debtor, as purchaser of such property, has assumed to pay.

"The basis of any of the debtor's property which shall have been transferred to a person required to use the debtor's basis in whole or in part shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this article."

Articles 113 (b)–2 of Regulations 86 and 94 are amended by striking out the first paragraph and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"ART. 113 (b)–3. Substituted basis.—Whenever it appears that the basis of property in the hands of the taxpayer is a substituted basis, as defined in section 113 (b) (2), the adjustments indicated in article 113 (b)–1 shall be made after first making in respect of such substituted basis proper adjustments of a similar nature in respect of the period during which the property was held by the transferor, donor, or grantor, or during which the other property was held by the person for whom the basis is to be determined. In addition, whenever it appears that the basis of property in the hands of the taxpayer is a substituted basis, as defined in section 113 (b) (2) (A), the adjustment indicated in article 113 (b)–2 shall also be made, whenever necessary, after first making in respect of such substituted basis a proper adjustment of a similar nature in respect of the period during which the property was held by the transferor, donor, or grantor. close the returned value of any item or the amount of any specific deduction, or other limited information, if such disclosure is necessary in order to verify the same or to arrive at a correct determination of the tax. This right of disclosure, however, is limited to the purposes of the investigation, and in no case extends to such information as the amount of the estate, the amount of tax, or other general data.

ART. 3. A return or notice may be exhibited, or information contained therein may be disclosed, to an officer of any State, for official use in connection with an estate, inheritance, legacy, succession, gift, or other tax of the State, provided a like cooperation is given by the State to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his representatives for use in the administration of the Federal tax laws. Such officer may also be permitted to inspect schedules, lists, and other statements designed to be supplemental to or to become a part of, the original return, and other records and reports which contain information included or required by statute to be included in the return.

ART. 4. If any other person has a material interest in ascertaining any fact disclosed by the return, or in obtaining information as to the payment of the tax, he may make a written application to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for such information, setting forth the nature of his interest and the purpose of the application. Thereupon, the Commissioner may permit an inspection of, or furnish a copy of the return, or may furnish such information as he deems advisable.

Part III

General Provisions

The following provisions, unless otherwise stated, are applicable to all returns referred to in Parts I and II of these regulations.

ARTICLE 1. Permission to inspect.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, upon written application setting forth fully the reason for the request, may grant permission for the inspection of returns in accordance with these regulations.

ART. 2. Treasury Department officials and employees.—The officers and employees of the Treasury Department whose official duties require inspection of returns may inspect any such returns without making such written application. If the head of a bureau or office in the Treasury Department, not a part of the Internal Revenue Bureau, desires to inspect, or to have an employee in his bureau or office inspect a return, in connection with some matter officially before him, for reasons other than tax administration purposes, the inspection may, in the discretion of the Secretary, be permitted upon written application to him by the head of such bureau or office, showing in detail why the inspection is desired.

ART. 3. Inspection by branch of Government other than Treasury Department.—Except as provided in article 4, if the head of an executive department (other than the Treasury Department), or of any other establishment of the United States Government, desires to inspect or to have some other officer or employee of his branch of the service inspect a return in connection with some matter officially before him, the inspection may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, be permitted upon written application to him by the head of such executive department or other Government establishment. The application shall be signed by such head and shall show in detail why the inspection is desired, the name and address of the taxpayer who made the return, and the name and official designation of the person it is desired shall inspect the return. The information obtained under this article and article 2 may be used as evidence in any proceeding, conducted by or before any department or establishment of the United States, or to which the United States is a party.

ART. 4. Inspection by Government attorneys.—Any return shall be open to inspection by a United States attorney or by an attorney of the Department of Justice where necessary in the performance of his official duties. The request for inspection shall be in writing and, except as provided in article 7, shall be addressed to the Commissioner, and shall state the purpose for which inspection is desired. It may be signed by the Attorney General, the Assistant to the Attorney General, an Assistant Attorney General, or a United States attorney.

ART. 5. Information returns.—Information returns, schedules, lists, and other statements designed to be supplemental to, or to become a part of, the returns shall be subject to the same rules and regulations as to inspection as are the returns themselves. In any case where inspection of the return is authorized by these regulations, the Commissioner may, in his discretion, permit inspection of other records and reports which contain information included or required by statute to be included in the return.

ART. 6. Place of inspection.—Generally, returns may be inspected only in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., unless such returns are in the custody of a collector of internal revenue or internal revenue agent in charge, in which event the returns may be inspected in the office of such collector or agent in charge, but only in the presence of an internal revenue officer, designated by the collector or agent for that purpose.

ART. 7. Applications for inspection.—Except as provided in article 3, and as hereinafter provided, all applications for permission to inspect returns must be made in writing to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. When a return is in the custody of a collector of internal revenue or internal revenue agent in charge, such collector or revenue agent in charge, upon written application to him, is authorized to permit the inspection of such return by a United States attorney, or an attorney in the Department of Justice, or by the taxpayer or his duly authorized attorney in fact, in accordance with these regulations.

ART. 8. Penalties.—Section 3167, Revised Statutes, as amended by the Revenue Act of 1918, and reenacted without change by section 1115 of the Revenue Act of 1926, makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine not exceeding $1,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, for any person to print or publish in any manner whatever not provided by law information contained in any income return, and further provides that if the offender be an officer or employee of the United States he shall be dismissed from office or discharged from employment. The penalties provided in section 3167, Revised Statutes, are applicable also to disclosure of information contained in excess-profits and capital stock tax returns and returns made under Title IX of the Social Security Act.

ART. 9. Former regulations revoked.—Former regulations issued with the approval of the President in respect of inspection of returns, except regulations relating to the inspection of returns by committees of Congress, regulations relating to overassessments contained in Treasury Decision 4583 (C. B. XIV–2, 318) and regulations governing the inspection of income tax returns, Form 1042B, by the Department of National Revenue, Ottawa, Canada (T. D. 4765, C. B. 1937–2, 121), are hereby revoked[1] to the extent that they are inconsistent with this Treasury Decision.

NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY TO PETITION FOR REVIEW OF DETERMINATION DENYING APPLICATIONS FOR PERMISSION TO EMPLOY MESSENGERS AT WAGES LOWER THAN APPLICABLE MINIMUM SPECIFIED

Whereas, the Western Union Telegraph Company, Postal Telegraph Landline System and All America Cables, Inc., pursuant to Part 523 (Regulations applicable to employment of messengers pursuant to Section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938)[1] made application for permission to employ messengers employed exclusively in delivering letters and messages at wages lower than the applicable minimum wage specified in Section 6 of the Act; and

Whereas, a hearing on said application[2] was held before William M. Leiserson, the representative of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, duly authorized to hear and determine whether it is necessary in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment to provide for the employment of such messengers at such lower wages, and, if such necessity were found to exist, to determine at what wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under Section 6 of the Act such employment shall be permitted and with what limitations as to time, number, proportion and length of service; and

Whereas, following such hearing, the said William M. Leiserson duly made his report and found and determined as follows

"(a) That it is not necessary, in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment, to provide for the employment of messengers, employed exclusively in delivering letters and messages, under special certificates at wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under Section 6; and

(b) That the Administrator is not authorized by Section 14 of the Act to issue such certificates for the messengers employed by the applicant companies."

and therefore, determined that the said applications be denied; and

Whereas, said Report and Findings was duly filed with the Administrator on November 12, 1938 and is now on file in his office, Room 5144, Department of Labor Building, Washington, D. C., and available for examination by all interested parties;

Now, Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of Section 523.9 of the aforesaid Regulations, notice is hereby given that any person aggrieved by the said determination may, within fifteen days after the date this notice appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file a petition with the Administrator requesting that he review the determination of the said representative.

County Committee means the group of persons elected for any county to assist in the administration of the Agricultural Conservation Programs and the Range Conservation Programs in such county.

Person means an individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate, or trust, and wherever applicable a State, a political sub-division of a State, or any agency thereof.

Range-building Payment means a payment for the carrying out of one or more approved range-building practices.

Range-building Allowance means the largest amount for any ranching unit which may be earned as a range-building payment on such ranching unit.

Ranch Operator means a person who as owner, cash tenant, or share tenant operates, or a person who acts in similar capacity in the operation of, a ranching unit in 1939.

Range Land means any land in which a ranch operator has such a legal estate or interest as to give him control thereof, which produces forage grazed by range livestock, without cultivation or general irrigation. Range land shall not include public domain of the United States including lands owned by the United States and administered under the Taylor Grazing Act or by the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and other lands in which the beneficial ownership is in the United States.

Ranching Unit means all range land which is used in 1939 by the ranch operator as a single unit in producing range livestock, with machinery, workstock, and labor substantially separate from that of any other range land. In order to facilitate the administration of the program the Regional Director may prescribe that for the purposes of this program tracts shall be deemed ranching units only if they contain more than the minimum acreage of range land fixed by him. A ranching unit shall be regarded as located in the county in which its principal dwelling is situated, or if there is no dwelling thereon it shall be regarded as located in the county in which the major portion of the ranching unit is located.

Animal Unit means one cow, one horse, five sheep, or five goats, or the equivalent thereof.

Grazing Capacity of Range Land means the number of animal units which such land will sustain, on a 12-month basis, over a period of years without decreasing the stand of grass or other grazing vegetation, and without injury to the forage, tree growth, or watershed.* #

SEC. 705.3 Rates or range-building payments.—Within the limits of the range-building allowance and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth, payment will be made for carrying out on range land in 1939 such of the following range-building practices as are recommended for the State by the State committee and aproved by the Regional Director, and as are approved by the county committee for the ranching unit prior to their institution:

Practices and Conditions of Payment—Rate of Payment

RESEEDING OF RANGE LAND

(a) Natural reseeding by deferred grazing.—For withholding 25 percent of the range land in the ranching unit from grazing for the normal period from the start of forage growth to seed maturity, established by the State committee and approved by the Regional Director: Provided, (1) if grazing is deferred on less than 25 percent of the range land in the ranching unit, or the area deferred is normally grazed for one month or more but not all the months in the period approved for deferred grazing, a proportionate payment will be made; (2) on ranching units on which cattle or horses are grazed the area to be kept free of grazing is fenced and the fence is maintained sufficiently to prevent the entry of livestock; (3) on ranching units used exclusively for grazing sheep either the area to be kept free of grazing is fenced and the fence is maintained sufficiently to prevent entry of livestock or the entry of livestock on the non-grazed acreage is prevented by herding; (4) the remaining range land in such ranching unit is not pastured to such an extent as will decrease the stand of grass or injure the forage, tree growth, or watershed; (5) such practice shall not be applicable to range land in the ranching unit which normally is not used for grazing during the period for which payment is claimed; (6) the ranch operator has submitted to the county committee in writing the designation of the nongrazing range area of the ranching unit previous to the initiation of such practice; and (7) the ranch operator complies with such other conditions or specifications as may be established by the county committee with the approval of the State committee, where the county committee determines such additional conditions or specifications are needed in the interest of range conservation: 60 percent of that part of the range-building allowance which is computed under Section 705.4 (a): Provided, That if the ranch operator fails to comply with any conditions or specifications established by the county committee under subparagraph (7) of this paragraph (a) the rate shall be 40 percent of that part of the range building allowance computed under Section 705.4 (a).

(b) Artificial reseeding.—For reseeding depleted range land, including mountain meadow land, with good seed of adapted varieties of range grasses, legumes, or forage shrubs: $0.20 per pound of seed sown, but not in excess of $2.00 per acre.

(c) Artificial sodding.—For reseeding depleted range land with adapted varieties of range grasses: $3.00 per acre.

(1) Spreader dams: $0.15 per cubic yard of material moved.

(2) Spreader terraces: $0.50 per 100 linear feet.

DEVELOPMENT OF STOCK WATER ON RANGE LAND

(g) Earthen tanks or reservoirs.—For constructing reservoirs or earthen tanks with spillways adequate to prevent dams from washing out, for the purpose of providing water for range livestock: $0.15 per cubic yard of material moved not in excess of 5,000 cubic yards, and $0.10 per cubic yard of material moved in excess of 5,000 cubic yards for each tank or reservoir.

(h) Concrete or rubble masonry dams.—For constructing concrete or rubble masonry dams in rough or broken areas (where earthern dams or reservoirs are impracticable and where there is no possibility of using the masonry dam for irrigation), for the purpose of providing water for range livestock: $6.00 per cubic yard of concrete or rubble masonry.

(i) Wells.—(1) For drilling or digging wells with casing not less than 4 inches in diameter, for the purpose of providing water for range livestock, provided a windmill or power pump is installed and the water is conveyed to a tank or storage reservoir. Payment will not be made for a well developed at any ranch headquarters: $2.00 per linear foot.

(2) For drilling or digging wells with casing less than 4 inches in diameter, for the purpose of providing water for range livestock, provided a windmill or power pump is installed and the water is conveyed to a tank or storage reservoir. An artesian well with casing less than 4 inches in diameter will qualify for payment, provided adequate stock water is made available during the grazing season and the water is conveyed to a tank or trough. Payment will not be made for a well developed at any ranch headquarters: $1.00 per linear foot.

(j) Development of natural watering places.—For developing springs or seeps for the purpose of providing water for range livestock, provided the source is protected from trampling, and at least 20 cubic feet of available water storage is provided: $0.30 per cubic foot in soil or gravel and $0.50 per cubic foot in rock formation for excavation of source, provided the minimum payment will be $20.00 and the maximum payment $100.00 for any single development.

PLANTING AND MAINTAINING A STAND OF TREES

(k) Tree planting.—Planting of trees on range land, provided that the trees are planted in 1939 prior to November 1; that the number, kind, and age of trees planted and methods of planting and growing of such trees are in accordance with approved specifications; and that the acreage planted to trees is fenced and the fence is maintained sufficiently to prevent entry of livestock: $7.50 per acre.

(l) Cultivating and maintaining a stand of trees.—Cultivating, protecting, and maintaining, by replanting if necessary a full stand of at least 500 trees per acre of forest planting, or 200 trees per acre of windbreak or shelter-belt plantings planted on range land between July 1, 1935 and July 1, 1939: $3.00 per acre.

(2) Medium infestation: $1.00 per acre.
(3) Heavy infestation: $1.50 per acre.

(p) Lechuguilla.—
(1) Heavy infestation: $0.50 per acre.

Provided, That if the county committee determines the elimination of destructive plants under any of practices (m) to (p), inclusive, will reduce the vegetative cover to such an extent as to encourage increased soil erosion, the use of practice (b), Artificial reseeding, shall also be required where soil and climatic conditions permit.

FIRE GUARDS

(q) Fire guards.—For the establishment on range land of fire guards not less than 10 feet in width by plowing furrows or otherwise exposing the mineral soil. Payment will not be made if any fire guard is used in connection with controlled burning within the ranching unit: $0.05 per 100 linear feet.* #

SEC. 705.4 Range-building allowance.—(a) Acreage and grazing capacity.—In Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, and California, the range-building allowance shall be 2 cents per acre of range land in the ranching unit plus $1.00 times the grazing capacity of the range land; and in Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and North Dakota, the range-building allowance shall be 3 cents per acre of range land in the ranching unit plus 75 cents times the grazing capacity of the range land: Provided, however, that in either area the grazing capacity item shall not be calculated on more than one animal unit for each 10 acres of range land in the ranching unit, and the acreage item shall not be calculated on more than 60 acres for each animal unit of grazing capacity established for the ranching unit.

(b) Mountain meadow land.—In addition, the range-building allowance shall include 35 cents times the number of acres of mountain meadow land in the ranching unit from which hay is normally harvested for feeding on the ranching unit to range livestock owned by the operator of the ranching unit. The counties in which this additional allowance is made shall be those mountain counties in the Western Region for which, upon the basis of the recommendations of the county and State committees, the regional director determines the reseeding and erosion control practices specified in Section 705.3 to be necessary and effective in promoting range conservation: Provided, however, the mountain meadow land for which this additional allowance is made shall not be considered in calculating the portion of the range-building allowance provided for in paragraph (a).* #

SEC. 705.5 Conditions of Payment.—(a) Promotion of conservation and good range management.—Payments for carrying out range-building practices are conditioned upon the adoption or maintenance of conservative range management practices designed to secure or maintain a good stand of grass or other palatable forage plants and in bringing about such use of the forage resources of the ranch as will most effectively carry out the purposes of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. Payments under the 1939 Range Conservation Program will be made only with respect to those ranching units on which the county committee certifies that such range management practices have been followed. The range-building practices approved by the county committee for any ranching unit shall be practices which the county committee finds are needed on the ranch in order to promote conservation and good range management.

(b) Payments limited to range-building allowance.—The range-building payment with respect to any ranching unit shall not exceed the range-building allowance for such ranching unit. Payment will be made only if range-building practices are carried out according to specifications recommended by the State committee and approved by the regional director. Payments made for carrying out range-building practices shall not be subject to the provisions of Section 701.9 of the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program Bulletin.

(c) State or Federal aid.—No payment will be made for practices carried out with labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished entirely by any State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, or for practices with respect to which a portion of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in carrying out such practices is furnished by a State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, if such portion represents one-half or more of the total cost of carrying out such practices. If a portion of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in carrying out any practice is furnished by a State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and such portion represents less than one-half of the total cost of carrying out such practice, payment will be made for such practice at one-half of the rate specified in Sec. 705.3. Provided, That labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished to a State, political subdivision of a State, or any agency thereof by an agency of the same State shall not be deemed to have been furnished by "any State * * * agency" within the meaning of this paragraph. Trees purchased from a Clark-McNary Cooperative State Nursery shall not be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency. No payment will be made for the planting and protection of forest trees planted under a cooperative agreement entered into with the Forest Service in connection with the Prairie States Forestry Project.* #

Sec. 705.6 Changes in leasing arrangements and other devices.—No payment will be made to any person who has for 1939 made any change from the 1938 leasing arrangements of range land for the purpose of, or which would have the effect of, diverting to such person any payment to which any lessee would be entitled if the 1938 leasing arrangements of such range land were in effect for 1939. If the State committee finds that any person who files an application for a payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1939 Range Conservation Program has made any change from the 1938 leasing arrangements of such range land or has employed any other scheme or device whatsoever for the purpose of, or which would have the effect of, depriving any other person of any payment or share therein to which such other person otherwise would be entitled, the secretary may withhold in whole or in part from the person participating in such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund in whole or in part, the amount of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to such person for performance in connection with the 1939 Range Conservation Program.* #

Sec. 705.7 Eligibility for payment.—(a) Persons eligible to file application.—Application for range-building payment may be made only by ranch operators. Range-building payments will be made to (1) a sole ranch operator, or (2) each ranch operator of a group of two or more ranch operators, provided they all signify in the application for the range-building payment a percentum of the total payment to be made to each ranch operator. In case there are two or more ranch operators, the application must be made by all of them, except that in cases where any ranch operator refuses to sign the application for payment the county committee shall determine the percentage share of each ranch operator and payment of his percentage share will be made to each ranch operator applying for payment in accordance with such determination.

(b) Time and manner of filing application and information required.—Payment will be made only upon application submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right (1) to withhold payment to any ranch operator who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any ranching unit in which such ranch operator is interested, and (2) to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the regional director. At least two weeks' notice to the public shall be given in advance of the expiration of a time limit for filing prescribed forms.

(c) Excess cotton acreage.—Any person who makes application for payment with respect to any ranching unit located in a county in which cotton is planted in 1939 shall file with such application a statement that the applicant has not knowingly planted or caused to be planted during 1939 cotton on land in any farm in which he has an interest in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for 1939 and that cotton was not planted in excess of such allotment by his authority or with his consent.

Any person who knowingly plants cotton on his farm in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm in 1939 shall not be eligible for any payment under the provisions of the 1939 Range Conservation Program. Any person having an interest in the cotton crop on a farm on which cotton is planted in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment for the farm for 1939 shall be presumed to have knowingly planted cotton on his farm on acreage in excess of such farm cotton acreage allotment if notice of the farm allotment is mailed to him prior to the completion of the planting of cotton on the farm, unless the farmer establishes the fact that the excess acreage was planted to cotton due to his lack of knowledge of the number of acres in the tract(s) planted to cotton. Such notice, if mailed to the operator of the farm, shall be deemed to be notice to all persons sharing in the production of cotton on the farm in 1939.* #

Sec. 705.8 Payment restricted to effectuation of the purposes of the program.—All or any part of any payments which otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 Range Conservation Program may be withheld (1) if he has adopted any practice which the Secretary determines tends to defeat any of the purposes of the 1939 or previous range conservation programs, (2) if, by means of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other device, or in any manner whatsoever, he has offset, or has participated in offsetting, in whole or in part, the performance for which such payment is otherwise authorized, or (3) if, with respect to forest land or woodland owned or controlled by him, he adopts any practice which the regional director finds is contrary to sound conservation practices.

No payment will be made to any person if it is determined in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration that, with respect to any ranch which he owns or operates, the stand of grass has been decreased or the forage, tree growth or watershed has been injured by overgrazing in 1939.* #

Sec. 705.9 Payments computed and made without regard to claims.—Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in Sec. 705.13), and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop or livestock, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.* #

All or any part of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program, including the Range Conservation Program, may be withheld or required to be returned if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device, including the dissolution, reorganization, or formation of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or by any other means, which was designed to evade, or would have the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.* #

No such assignment will be recognized unless the assignment is made in writing on Form ACP-69 in accordance with instructions (ACP-70) issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Nothing contained in this Sec. 705.13 shall be construed to give an assignee a right to any payment other than that to which the ranch operator is entitled nor shall the Secretary or any disbursing agent be subject to any suit or liability if payment is made to the ranch operator without regard to the existence of any such assignment.* #

RULE 1—PROCEEDINGS

There shall be one form of formal proceeding (to be known as a "proceeding") under Title IV and section 1002 (d)–(i) of the Act.

A proceeding may be instituted (1) by order to show cause or other process of the Authority, (2) by the filing with the Authority of a formal application, complaint or petition.

RULE 2—GENERAL REQUIREMENTS AS TO PAPERS IN PROCEEDINGS

(a) Informal complaints.—Complaints may be made to the Authority informally by letter or other writing and matters so presented may, if their nature warrants, be taken up by correspondence or conference with the person or persons complained of. Any matter not disposed of informally may be made the subject of a formal proceeding.

(b) Conformity to rules.—Any person wishing to institute a proceeding should consult the rules, regulations and orders of the Authority under the various sections of the Act. The Authority's rules, regulations and orders are numbered to correspond with the section numbers of the Act and any person wishing to proceed under any particular section of the Act may readily ascertain whether the Authority has issued any rules, regulations, or orders under such section.

(c) Requirements in absence of rules.—In case there is no rule, regulation or order of the Authority which prescribes the contents of the formal application, complaint or petition in a given case, the application, complaint or petition should contain a concise but complete statement of the facts relied upon as the basis for the relief sought. The names and addresses of the persons, if any, against whom relief is sought, should also be set forth in full.

(d) Insufficient allegations.—In any case where the Authority is of the opinion that a formal application, complaint or petition does not sufficiently set forth the material required to be set forth by any applicable rule, regulation or order of the Authority, or is otherwise insufficient, the Authority may advise the party filing the same of the deficiency and require that any additional information be supplied by amendment.

(e) Answers.—Answers to formal complaints, petitions and orders to show cause will not usually be required. In case the Authority deems an answer to be desirable, the parties will be notified.

(f) Protests and memoranda.—Nothing in these rules contained shall prevent the filing of a protest or memorandum in any case where this is specifically permitted by the Act. Any such protest or memorandum may be informal, but should be filed before the close of the hearing in the proceding in which it is filed.

RULE 3—FORM AND FILING OF DOCUMENTS

(a) Execution, number of copies, and service.—Unless otherwise required by applicable rule or regulation, every application, petition and formal complaint relating to any of the provisions of Title IV or of section 1002 (d)–(i) of the Act, and every answer or other formal document in any such proceeding, shall be signed by, or on behalf of, the person filing the same, and shall be verified by the person signing the same, in the manner required by paragraph (b) of this rule. Briefs and exceptions to reports of examiners shall be signed but need not be verified. Any general partner may sign on behalf of a partnership. Documents filed by a corporation, business trust or other similar organization must be signed by an officer who is duly authorized to take such action. An executed original copy of each such document, and nine true copies thereof, which need not be signed or verified, but which should have typed or facsimile signatures, shall be filed with the Authority. Each person filing any such document shall furnish such additional copies and shall make such service of the document on other persons as the Authority may at any time require. Such documents shall be delivered in person, through the mails, or otherwise, to the Civil Aeronautics Authority in Washington, D. C., and shall be deemed to have been filed on the date on which they are actually received by the Authority.

(b) Verification.—Every verification shall set forth that the person verifying the document has read and is familiar with the contents thereof and the attached exhibits, if any; that he intends and desires that in granting or denying the relief required, the Authority shall place full and complete reliance upon the accuracy of each and every statement therein contained; that he is familiar with the facts therein set forth; that to the best of his information and belief, every statement contained in the instrument is true and no such statement is misleading.

(c) Formal specifications of papers.—All papers filed in proceedings should be on strong, durable paper not larger than 8½" by 13" in size except that tables, charts and other documents may be larger, folded to approximately that size. The left margin should be at least 1½" wide and, if the document is bound, it should be bound on the left side.

Papers may be reproduced by printing or by any other process, provided the copies are clear and legible. Appropriate notes or other indications should be used, so that the existence of deficits and any other matters normally shown in color will be accurately indicated on photostatic copies.

(d) Waiver of strict compliance with rule.—The Authority may, in its discretion, waive strict compliance with any requirement of this rule.

RULE 4—APPEARANCES AND MEMORANDA BY THIRD PERSONS—FORMAL INTERVENTIONS

(a) Public bodies.—Any state, political subdivision thereof, state aviation commission, or other public body may appear at any hearing, present any evidence that is relevant to the issues, and otherwise participate in the hearing to the extent permitted to other persons by paragraph (b) of this rule.

If any such body desires to present its opinions with respect to any matter before the Authority without appearing at the hearing, it may do so by filing a memorandum of its views with the Authority not later than the close of the hearing. A copy of such memorandum should be furnished by the person filing the same to every person who is a party to the proceeding, and the document filed with the Authority should contain a statement giving the names and addresses of the persons to whom copies have thus been furnished. Any material contained in such memorandum shall be subject to objection and rebuttal.

(b) Other persons.—Any person other than a public body as described above, may appear at any hearing, and present any evidence that is relevant to the issues. Such persons may also suggest questions or interrogatories to be propounded by counsel for the Authority to witnesses called by other persons. With the consent of counsel for the Authority, such third persons may also cross-examine witnesses directly, and submit memoranda of their views or opinions, provided that copies of such memoranda are also served upon all parties to the proceeding.

(c) Formal interventions.—Any person having a substantial interest in the subject matter of any proceeding may ask leave to intervene in such proceeding and become a party thereto upon compliance with the provisions of this paragraph. In general, such motions will not be granted unless the Authority, or, in appropriate cases, the examiner, shall find,

(1) that such person has a statutory right to be made a party to such proceeding, or,

(2) that such person will or may be bound by the order to be entered in the proceeding, or,

(3) that such person has a property or financial interest which may not be adequately represented by existing parties, if such intervention would not unduly broaden the issues or delay the proceeding.

However, the denial of such a motion for leave to intervene shall not prevent the moving person from participating in the proceeding in the manner described in paragraphs (a) or (b) of this rule.

Except for good cause clearly shown, every motion for leave to intervene shall be filed with the Authority not less than five (5) days before the date set for the first hearing of the proceeding. Copies of the motion papers shall be mailed or delivered to each party to the proceeding prior to the filing of the motion. The Authority, however, may pass upon any such motion without receiving testimony or argument either from the moving person or from other parties to the proceeding. The motion papers shall clearly set forth the interest of the moving party, and shall otherwise comply with the requirements of Rule 3.

If adequate cause is shown for failure to comply with the preceding provisions of this rule, a motion for leave to intervene may be made within less than five (5) days before the date set for the hearing, and under extraordinary circumstances, such motion may be entertained by the Authority or an examiner at the time of the hearing. In the event that such motion is heard by an examiner, his determination shall be governed by the standards hereinabove set forth, but no decision by an examiner on such a motion shall be binding on the Authority. Interventions herein provided are for administrative purposes, and no decision to grant leave to intervene shall be deemed to constitute a finding or determination that the intervening party has such a substantial interest in the order that is to be entered in that proceeding as will entitle it to demand review of such order by the circuit courts of appeals of the United States or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

RULE 5—HEARINGS, ARGUMENT, EXAMINER'S REPORT AND PROCEEDINGS SUBSEQUENT THERETO

(a) Oral argument before examiner, proposed findings, briefs.—Upon request of any party, an examiner may permit oral argument at the close of the hearing. Oral argument shall be transcribed, but shall not constitute part of the record.

If a case presents unusually difficult questions of fact or law, the examiner may permit or require the submission of proposed findings of fact or conclusions of law, or of written briefs, to aid him in the preparation of his report.

(b) Examiner's report.—In each case heard before an examiner, an appropriate announcement will be made by the examiner prior to the close of the hearing as to whether or not an examiner's report will be made in the proceeding. Such report will ordinarily be made, except in cases where the examiner, with the consent of counsel for the Authority, and without objection by any other party, announces at the hearing that he will recommend the granting of the application or other relief under consideration in the proceeding. If an examiner's report is to be made in the proceeding, the examiner will also announce, or state in his report,

(1) the names of the persons who are to receive copies of the same;

(2) the time within which exceptions are to be filed and exchanged; and

(3) the time thereafter within which briefs relating to such exceptions are to be filed and exchanged, and may give other instructions relating to procedure after the hearing.

(c) Exceptions and briefs; service thereof.—The exceptions and briefs above referred to are to be filed with the Authority and not with the examiner. Exceptions may be taken either to the examiner's recommended findings of fact or conclusions of law. Exceptions to findings of fact shall designate, by exact and specific reference, the portions of the record which will be relied upon in support of such exceptions. Exceptions to conclusions of law shall briefly cite the statutory provisions or the principal authorities that will be relied upon in support of the exceptions to the conclusions of law.

After the filing and exchange of exceptions, each party should prepare a single brief supporting its own exceptions and covering any points which it wishes to raise in connection with exceptions filed by others. Except by special permission of the Authority, briefs shall not exceed 50 pages in length. Reply briefs will not be received except by special permission of the Authority.

Each set of exceptions and brief shall, when filed, be accompanied by proof of service thereof by mail upon all parties to the proceedings and other persons designated by the examiner to receive copies of his report. The number of copies to be filed is governed by paragraph (a) of rule 3.

(d) Oral argument before the Authority.—If any person desires to argue a case orally before the Authority he must request leave of the Authority to make such argument. Such request should be filed with the briefs for the Authority in the proceeding. The Authority will advise the persons making such request as to its decision and if such argument is to be allowed all persons who have filed briefs in the proceedings will be advised of the date and hour set for such argument and the amount of time allowed to each such person.

RULE 6—EXHIBITS

Wherever practicable, one copy of each exhibit (in addition to the original offered in evidence at the hearing) should be furnished for the use of each examiner and two copies should be furnished to counsel representing the Authority. One of such copies will be made available for inspection by all persons present at the hearing. One copy should also be furnished to each party and the examiner may, in his discretion, direct that any other person deemed by him to have a sufficient interest shall receive copies of designated exhibits.

Excerpts from lengthy documents or of portions of the record in other proceedings before the Authority should be offered in the form of exhibits and copies furnished as above provided. Such exhibits may be received in evidence, subject to objection and rebuttal by counsel for the Authority or others, after opportunity to examine the exhibit in question and the source from which the same was taken.

RULE 7—HEARINGS BEFORE THE AUTHORITY AND BEFORE BOARDS OF EXAMINERS

Provisions of these rules governing the conduct of hearings before single examiners shall also govern, with necessary changes, in cases where such hearings are held before the Authority, a member thereof, or a board of more than one examiner.

By the Authority.

Secretary.

PAR. 7. The effect of the discriminations in price set forth in Paragraph Six hereof may be substantially to lessen competition in the sale and distribution of the said commodities in the respective lines of commerce in which respondent and its customers are engaged, and has been and may be to injure, destroy or prevent competition in the sale and distribution of said commodities with the respondent and with its customers who receive the benefit of such discriminatory prices.

Count II

PARS. 1 to 5, inclusive. Paragraphs One to Five, inclusive of Count I of this complaint are hereby incorporated in this Count II, with the same respective numerical designations and to the same extent as if they and each of them were set forth in full and repeated verbatim in this Count.

PAR. 6. Since June 19, 1936, while engaged as aforesaid in commerce among the several states of the United States and the District of Columbia, the respondent has been and is now paying and contracting for the payment of valuable considerations in the form of credit memoranda to customers of The C. F. Sauer Company in the course of such commerce as compensation for advertising services furnished through such customers in connection with the sale and offering for sale of products manufactured and sold by The C. F. Sauer Company, which payment or consideration was and is not available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products. To illustrate:

In the form of credit memoranda, Thomas & Howard Company, Inc., is granted 5% and 2½% on Duke's Mayonnaise; on Sauer's Package Tea, 10%; Kwikdeth, 10%; Drugs, 10%; Thomas & Howard's Greenville, South Carolina branch alone receives 5% on extracts except on the No. 2 size. Dixie Home Stores receives 5% generally and 7½% on four ounce and one and one quarter ounce black pepper. J. Drake Eadens of Columbia, South Carolina receives nothing. The Miller Stores of Greenwood, South Carolina competitively engaged with the Dixie Home Stores receive nothing. Rose-Phillips Company receives 5% on Duke's Mayonnaise only. Nation Wide Service Grocers, Inc., Washington, D. C. receives 5% on net purchases. District Grocery Stores of Washington, D. C. formerly received $40.00 a month and at present receives $50.00 a month.

Many customers purchasing directly from The C. F. Sauer Company and competitively engaged with the aforesaid are not accorded any advertising allowances.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission on the 7th day of November, A. D. 1938, now issues this its complaint against said respondent.

Notice

Notice is hereby given you, The C. F. Sauer Company, respondent herein, that the 16th day of December, A. D., 1938, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said Act, to appear and show cause why any order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The Rules of Practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule VII) provide as follows:

In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense.

Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.

* * * * *

Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.

If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true, and if in the judgment of the Commission such facts admitted constitute a violation of law or laws as charged in the complaint, to make and serve findings as to the facts and an order to cease and desist from such violations. Upon application in writing made contemporaneously with the filing of such answer, the respondent, in the discretion of the Commission, may be heard on brief, in oral argument, or both, solely on the question as to whether the facts so admitted constitute the violation or violations of law charged in the complaint.

In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint to be signed by its Secretary, and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 7th day of November, A. D. 1938.

By the Commission.

(2) The conservation of the cropland not required in 1939 for the growing of soil-depleting crops, the restoration, insofar as is practicable, of a permanent vegetative cover on land unsuited to the continued production of cultivated crops; and the carrying out of soil-building practices that will conserve and improve soil fertility and prevent wind and water erosion.

(b) National and State acreage allotments and restoration land goals.—National and State acreage allotments of soil-depleting crops and restoration land goals will be established by the Secretary.* #

SEC. 701.4 County acreage allotments and goals.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration with the assistance of State committees and the approval of the Secretary shall establish county acreage allotments and restoration land goals as hereinafter set forth. The soil-depleting acreage allotments for all counties in each State shall not exceed the applicable acreage allotment established for the State by the Secretary except as otherwise provided herein.

(a) Total soil-depleting acreage allotment.—County acreage allotments of total soil-depleting crops shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of total soil-depleting crops among the counties in the State on the basis of the total soil-depleting acreage allotments established in connection with the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program (hereinafter referred to as the 1938 program), with due allowance for trends in acreage of soil-depleting crops, changes in area designations and crop classifications, the acreage of food and feed crops needed for home consumption in the county, and the relationship of the special crop acreage allotments established for 1938 to the special crop acreage allotments established for 1939.

(b) Cotton allotment.—(1) County cotton acreage allotments shall be established as follows: The State acreage allotment of cotton (less 2 percent for use in making allotments to farms on which cotton will be planted in 1939 but on which cotton was not planted in any of the years 1936, 1937, and 1938) shall be prorated among the counties in the State on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton plus the acreage diverted from cotton under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs during the five years 1933 to 1937, inclusive: Provided, That there shall be added to the acreage allotment so determined for each county the number of acres, if any, required to provide an acreage allotment in such county of not less than 60 percent of the acreage planted to cotton in such county in 1937, plus 60 percent of the acreage diverted from cotton in the county under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program (hereinafter referred to as the 1937 program).

(2) If the Agricultural Adjustment Administration finds, because of differences in types, kinds and productivity of the soil or other conditions, there are one or more administrative areas in any county which should be treated separately in order to prevent discrimination, the county acreage allotment shall be apportioned pro rata among such administrative areas on the basis of the acreage planted to cotton in 1937 plus the acreage diverted from cotton under the 1937 program, or, if the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines that conditions affecting the acreage planted to cotton were not reasonably uniform throughout the county in 1937, then on the basis of the cotton base acreages determined under the 1937 Cotton Price Adjustment Payment Plan. Allotments to the farms within each such administrative area shall be made in the manner provided in section 701.5 for the apportionment of county cotton acreage allotments among farms.

(c) Corn allotment.—County acreage allotments of corn for counties in the commercial corn-producing area shall be established by distributing the corn acreage allotment established for the commercial corn area within the State among such counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of corn plus the acreage diverted from corn under the agricultural adjustment and conservation programs in such counties during the ten years, 1928 to 1937, inclusive, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage in accordance with a procedure approved by the Secretary.

(d) Wheat allotment.—County acreage allotments of wheat shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of wheat among the counties in such State pro rata on the basis of the acreage seeded for the production of wheat plus the acreage diverted under agricultural adjustment and conservation programs in such counties during the ten years, 1928 to 1937, inclusive, with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and trends in acreage in accordance with a procedure approved by the Secretary.

(e) Tobacco allotment.—County acreage allotments for each kind of tobacco shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of such kind of tobacco among the counties in the State on the basis of the acreage allotments of such kind of tobacco established for such counties under the 1938 program, taking into consideration allotments for small farms, trends in acreage, and plant bed and other diseases.

(f) Potato allotment.—County acreage allotments of potatoes for counties in commercial potato-producing areas shall be established by distributing the State acreage allotment of potatoes among such counties in such State on the basis of the acreage allotments established under the 1938 program or, if counties are included for which acreage allotments were not established under the 1938 program, on the basis of the average acreage devoted to potatoes in such counties during the five years, 1933 to 1937, inclusive, taking into consideration trends in acreage on commercial potato-producing farms and also taking into consideration the acreage of potatoes on non-commercial potato-producing farms.

(g) Peanut allotment.—County acreage allotments of peanuts for market for counties in the commercial peanut-producing areas shall be established by distributing the State peanut acreage allotment among such counties in such State on the basis of the county acreage allotments established under the 1938 program, or, if counties are included in 1939 for which peanut acreage allotments were not established under the 1938 program, on the basis of the base acreages for peanuts established under the 1937 program for the counties in the commercial peanut-producing area and the 1937 acreage of peanuts, taking into consideration trends in acreage on commercial peanut-producing farms.

(h) Restoration land goals.—County goals for restoration land shall be established by distributing the applicable State restoration land goal among the counties in the areas designated by the Administrator as areas subject to serious wind erosion and areas containing large acreages unsuited to continued production of cultivated crops, on the basis of the amount of land in such counties which was cropped at least once since January 1, 1930, but on which, because of its physical condition and texture and because of climatic conditions, a permanent vegetative cover should be restored.

(i) Soil-building goal.—Insofar as practicable, county goals shall be established for particular soil-building practices which are not routine farming practices and which are most needed in the county in order to conserve and improve soil fertility and to prevent wind and water erosion.* #

SEC. 701.5 Farm acreage allotments and goals.—The county committee, with the assistance of other local committees in the county, shall establish acreage allotments, usual acreages, and goals in accordance with provisions contained herein and instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Except as otherwise provided herein the soil-depleting acreage allotments established for the farms in a county shall not exceed the applicable county acreage allotments established for the county, and the sum of the acreage allotments for farms with respect to which allotments are established shall not exceed their proportionate share of the county acreage allotments.

(a) Total soil-depleting acreage allotment.—The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be determined on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, degree of erosion, the acreage of all soil-depleting crops customarily grown on the farm, and in areas where the Administrator finds it applicable, the acreage of food and feed crops needed for home consumption on the farm, taking into consideration special crop acreage allotments determined for the farm. The total soil-depleting acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors. Total soil-depleting allotments will be established for all farms in Area A, farms for which a special crop acreage allotment is established in Area B in the Western and East Central Regions, and farms in Area B in the Southern Region, on which general crops or livestock are produced for market, and for which a special crop acreage allotment is established.

(b) Cotton allotment.—(1) County cotton acreage allotments shall be apportioned among the farms in the county on which cotton was planted in any one of the years 1936, 1937, and 1938 in a manner that will result in a cotton acreage allotment for each such farm which is a percentage (which shall be the same percentage for all farms in the county or administrative area) of the land in the farm in 1938 which was tilled annually or in regular rotation exclusive of the acres of such land normally devoted to the production of sugarcane for sugar, wheat, tobacco, or rice for market, or wheat or rice for feeding to livestock for market except that:

(i) For any such farm with respect to which the highest acreage planted to cotton and diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any one of the three years 1936, 1937, and 1938 is less than 5 acres the cotton acreage allotment for the farm shall be such highest number of acres if the county cotton acreage allotment is sufficient therefor;

(ii) For any such farm with respect to which the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any one of the three years 1936, 1937, and 1938 is 5 acres or more the allotment for the farm shall not be less than 5 acres if the county cotton acreage allotment is sufficient therefor;

(iii) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this sub-paragraph (1), a number of acres equal to not more than 3 percent of the county acreage allotment in excess of the allotments made to farms on which the highest number of acres planted to cotton plus the acres diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any of the years 1936, 1937, and 1938, was less than 5 acres and the number of acres required for allotments of 5 acres for each other farm in the county on which cotton was planted in 1936, 1937, or 1938 may be apportioned among farms in the county on which cotton was planted in 1936, 1937, or 1938, and for which the allotment otherwise provided is 5 acres or more, but less than 15 acres and less than the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any one of the years 1936, 1937, and 1938.

In making such allotments under subdivision (iii) in this sub-paragraph consideration shall be given to the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other facilities affecting the production of cotton, and such increases shall not be such as to increase the allotment to any farm above 15 acres. In no event shall the allotment for any farm under this sub-paragraph (1) exceed the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any one of the three years 1936, 1937, and 1938.

(2) In case the county allotment is insufficient to provide allotments to farms in the county which are determined, under instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, to be adequate and representative in view of their past production of cotton and their tilled land, there shall be apportioned to such farms, under instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, such part of a State reserve equal to 4 percent of the State acreage allotment as is necessary to give such farms allotments in conformity with subparagraph (1) which are as nearly adequate and representative as such 4-percent reserve will permit. Such additional allotment shall be used first to increase allotments to farms under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (1).

(3) If the cotton acreage allotments for any farms are substantially smaller than the cotton acreage allotments which would have been made without regard to the provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of sub-paragraph (1) above, the cotton acreage allotments for such farms shall be increased to the acreage which would have resulted in the absence of such provisions insofar as the remaining portion of the 4-percent State reserve will permit after making allotments under sub-paragraph (2) above.

(4) After allotments have been made from the 4-percent reserve as provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) above, one-half of the remainder, if any, of the 4-percent reserve shall be apportioned to farms for which the acreage allotment otherwise determined is less than 50 percent of the sum of the acreage planted in cotton in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton production in 1937 under the 1937 program, and the other one-half of the remainder, if any, of the 4-percent reserve shall be available for increasing the allotments for any farms which are determined in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to be inadequate and not representative in view of past production on the farm: Provided, That the cotton acreage allotment for any farm shall not be increased under this paragraph (4) above the highest number of acres planted to cotton and diverted from cotton under agricultural conservation programs in any one of the three years 1936, 1937 and 1938 nor above 40 percent of the acreage on such farm which is tilled annually or in regular rotation.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-paragraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4) above, the cotton acreage allotment for any farm shall be increased by such amount as may be necessary to provide an allotment of not less than 50 percent of the sum of the acreage as determined by the county committee to have been planted to cotton in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton under the 1937 program: Provided, That the cotton acreage allotment for any farm shall not be increased under this sub-paragraph to more than 40 percent of the acreage on such farm which is tilled annually or in regular rotation.

(6) That portion of the State acreage allotment not apportioned among the counties under section 701.4 (b) (1) shall be apportioned to farms in the State on which cotton will be planted in 1939 but on which cotton was not planted in any of the years 1936, 1937 and 1938, so as to result in comparable allotments to farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of cotton, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical facilities affecting the production of cotton. The acreage on the farm which will be tilled in 1939 or was tilled in 1938 shall, as a reflection of the several factors to be taken into consideration, be regarded as the basic index of the farm's capacity for cotton production. The county committee shall report, through the State committee, to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration the acreage required for the allotments to such farms in the county together with such substantiating data as may be required by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall allot to the county the proportion of that part of the State acreage allotment reserved for this purpose which it finds reasonable on the basis of the data so reported.

(c) Corn allotment.—Acreage allotments of corn shall be determined for farms in the commercial corn-producing area on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. The allotment for any farm shall be comparable to the allotments recommended for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors. For any farm with respect to which a corn acreage allotment of 8 acres or less is determined and, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the persons having an interest in the corn planted on the farm so elect, such farm shall be considered as a non-corn-allotment farm.

(d) Wheat allotment.—Acreage allotments of wheat shall be determined for farms on which wheat has been planted for harvest in one or more of the years 1936, 1937, and 1938, on the basis of tillable acreage and crop rotation practices as reflected in the usual acreage of wheat on the farm or the ratio of wheat acreage to cropland in the community or in the county, and on the basis of the type of soil and topography. Not more than 3 percent of the county wheat acreage allotment shall be apportioned to farms in such county on which wheat was not planted for harvest in any one of the three years 1936, 1937, and 1938, on the basis of tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil and topography. The wheat acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotment determined for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors. Wheat acreage allotments for 1939 will be established for all farms on which 100 bushels or more are normally produced for market. In addition, in areas designated by the Administrator as areas in which practically all wheat planted is for market, wheat acreage allotments may be established for all farms: Provided, That no allotment will be established for farms with respect to which the allotment determined for the farm is or would be 8 acres or less and, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the persons having an interest in the wheat planted on the farm elect to have such farm considered as a non-wheat-allotment farm; and Provided, further, That in no event shall a wheat acreage allotment be established for a wind erosion farm.

(e) Tobacco allotment.—Acreage allotments for each kind of tobacco shall be determined on the basis of past acreage and production of each kind of tobacco with due allowance for the effects of abnormal weather conditions and plant bed and other diseases; land, labor and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. The tobacco acreage allotment for any farm on which tobacco was grown in one or more of the years 1935 to 1938, inclusive, shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors: Provided, That in the case of flue-cured, Burley and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, special consideration shall be given to farms for which acreage allotments are small. The allotment for any farm on which tobacco is to be produced in 1939 for the first time since 1934 shall not exceed 75 percent of the allotment for other farms in the same community on which tobacco was produced since 1934 which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

(f) Potato allotment.—In counties included in the commercial potato-producing areas, potato acreage allotments shall be established for each farm for which the normal acreage of potatoes for market is determined to be three acres or more. Potato acreage allotments shall be established on the basis of good soil management, tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, topography, production facilities, and the acreage of potatoes customarily grown on the farm. The potato acreage allotment for any farm shall be comparable with the allotments for other farms in the same community which are similar with respect to such factors.

(g) Peanut allotment.—In counties included in the commercial peanut-producing area peanut acreage allotments shall be determined on the basis of the acreage of peanuts for market customarily grown and the tillable acreage on the farm, taking into consideration other special crop acreage allotments established for the farm.

(h) Rice allotment.—(1) A rice acreage allotment shall be determined by State and county committees for each producer who is participating in the production of rice in 1939 and who participated in the production of rice in one or more of the five years, 1934 to 1938, inclusive, on the basis of the past production of rice adjusted to the acreage adapted to the production of rice, taking into consideration crop rotation practices, soil fertility, the acreage diverted under previous agricultural adjustment and conservation programs, and other physical factors affecting the production of rice, including the labor and equipment available for the production of rice on the farm.

(2) An acreage not to exceed 3 percent of the State rice acreage allotment shall be apportioned among producers who are participating in the production of rice for the first time in 1939 since 1933 on the basis of the applicable standards of apportionment set forth in this paragraph (h): Except that the rice acreage allotment to any farm operated by any person(s) who is participating in the production of rice for the first time in 1939 since 1933 shall not exceed 75 percent of the rice acreage allotment that would have been made to the farm had such person(s) participated in the production of rice in one or more of the five years 1934 to 1938, inclusive.

(i) Commercial vegetable allotment.—In counties included in the commercial vegetable-producing areas commercial vegetable acreage allotments shall be established for each farm on which the average acreage of land planted to commercial vegetables in 1936 and 1937 was 3 acres or more. The commercial vegetable acreage allotment shall be the average acreage for 1936 and 1937 with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions and taking into consideration the tillable acreage on the farm, type of soil, and production facilities. The sum of the commercial vegetable acreage allotments established for such farms in a county shall not exceed the sum of the average annual acreages of land planted to commercial vegetables on such farms in 1936 and 1937, except upon approval of the Administrator where it is found that the acreages grown in 1936 and 1937 were substantially reduced because of abnormal weather conditions.

(j) Usual acreage of wheat.—Usual acreages of wheat shall be established for all farms (in the Southern and East Central Regions and in areas in the Western and Northeast Regions where wheat acreage allotments are established only for farms normally producing 100 bushels or more of wheat for market) for which a wheat acreage allotment is not established and on which the normal acreage of wheat for harvest as grain or hay is more than 8 acres. The usual acreage of wheat shall be determined on the basis of the past acreage with due allowance for the effects of abnormal weather conditions, tillable acreage, crop rotation practices, type of soil, and topography. The sum of the usual wheat acreages established for such farms in a county shall not exceed the sum of the 1937 acreages of wheat harvested for grain or hay on such farms, except upon approval by the Administrator, where it is found that the 1937 acreage was not representative because of abnormal weather conditions or marked shifts in cropping practices in the county.

(k) Usual acreage of corn for grain.—Usual acreages of corn for grain shall be established for all farms in Area C for which a special crop acreage allotment is established and on which the usual acreage of corn for grain is more than 8 acres. The usual acreage of corn for grain shall be determined on the basis of the average annual acreage of corn harvested for grain and diverted therefrom during the years 1936, 1937 and 1938, with adjustments for crop rotation practices. The sum of the usual acreages of corn for grain established for such farms in a county shall not exceed the sum of the average annual acreages of corn harvested for grain and diverted therefrom on such farms during the years 1936, 1937 and 1938.

(l) Restoration land goal.—Restoration land goals shall be determined on the basis of the land in the farm which was designated as restoration land under the 1938 program and any additional land in the farm which has been cropped at least once since January 1, 1930 but on which, because of its physical condition and texture and because of climatic conditions, a permanent vegetative cover should be restored.

(m) Soil-building goal.—The soil-building goal for any farm shall be one unit of soil-building practices for each $1.50 of the payment computed for the farm under section 701.8 (k): Provided, That in counties in the special wind erosion area the soil-building goal for any farm shall not be less than one unit for each $5.00 of the total payment computed for the farm under section 701.8 and, Provided, further, That for any wind erosion farm the soil-building goal shall not be less than one unit for each $2.00 of the total payment computed for the farm under section 701.8, and the total payment computed for a wind erosion farm under section 701.8 shall be considered as a payment in connection with soil-building practices. Insofar as practicable, the county committee shall determine for individual farms practices to be followed in meeting the goal which are not routine farming practices on the farm, but which are needed on the farm in order to conserve and improve soil fertility and prevent wind and water erosion, and which will tend to accomplish the goals, if any, established for the county with respect to particular soil-building practices.* #

SEC. 701.6 Normal yields and productivity indexes.—(a) Normal yields of special soil-depleting crops.—The county committee with the assistance of other local committees in the county shall determine for each farm for which a cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, peanut or potato acreage allotment is established or a deduction is computed a normal yield for each such crop in accordance with the provisions of this section and instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(1) Cotton.—(i) Where reliable records of the actual average yield of cotton per acre for the five years 1934 to 1938, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield for the farm shall be the average of such yields adjusted for abnormal weather conditions in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(ii) If for any year of such five-year period records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because cotton was not planted on the farm in such year, the normal yield for the farm shall be the yield which, on the basis of all available facts, including the yield customarily made on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices, and general fertility of the land, the county committee determines to be the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such five-year period.

(iii) The yields determined under subdivision (ii) of this sub-paragraph (1) shall be adjusted so that the average of the normal yields determined for all farms in the county or administrative area (weighted by the cotton acreage allotments established for such farms) shall conform to the county or administrative area average yield established by the Secretary.

(2) Corn and wheat.—(i) Where reliable records of the actual average yields per acre of corn or wheat, as the case may be, for the ten years 1928 to 1937, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or sub-paragraph (3) shall be reduced pro rata so that the average of such normal yields shall not exceed such state average yield.

ment of the soil-building goal to the extent indicated therein, when such practices are carried out in 1939 in areas designated by the Administrator and in ac-erosion farms shall not (by virtue of the use of such equipment) be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency.

lent in areas designated by the Administrator as areas in which the average cost of ground limestone to farmers is:

(applicable only on wind erosion farms in the special wind erosion area).

(c) Unit equivalents per acre — two per acre of corn or wheat, as the case may be, for the ten years 1928 to 1937, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield for the farm shall be the average of such yields adjusted for trends and abnormal weather conditions in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(ii) If for any year of such ten-year period reliable records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because the crop was not planted on the farm in such year, the normal yield for the farm shall be the yield which, on the basis of all the available facts, including the yield customarily made on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices, and general fertility of the land, the county committee determines to be the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such ten-year period. Where the productivity index most recently established for the farm in connection with the agricultural conservation programs is determined by the county committee to be an accurate reflection of the foregoing factors, the yield obtained by multiplying such index by the county average yield established by the Secretary shall be used as the normal yield for the farm.

(iii) The yields determined under subdivision (ii) of this sub-paragraph (2) shall be adjusted so that the average of the normal yields for all farms in the county (weighted by the respective corn or wheat acreage allotments established for such farms) shall conform to the county average yield established by the Secretary.

(3) Rice.—(i) Where reliable records of the actual average yield of rice per acre for the five years 1934 to 1938, inclusive, are presented by the farmer or are available to the committee, the normal yield of rice for the farm shall be the average of such yields.

(ii) If for any year of such five-year period records of the actual average yield are not available or there was no actual yield because rice was not planted on the farm in such year, the county committee shall ascertain from all the available facts, including the yield customarily made on the farm, weather conditions, type of soil, drainage, production practices, and general fertility of the land, the yield which was or could reasonably have been expected on the farm for such year, and the yield so determined shall be used as the actual yield for such year under subdivision (i) of this sub-paragraph (3).

(iii) If the average of the normal yields for all farms participating in the 1939 program in the State (weighted by the rice acreage allotments therein) exceeds the average yield per acre for the State during the five years 1934 to 1938, inclusive, established by the Secretary, the normal yields for such farms, determined under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this sub-paragraph (3) shall be reduced pro rata so that the average of such normal yields shall not exceed such state average yield.

(4) Tobacco, peanuts and potatoes.—The normal yield of tobacco, peanuts for market, or potatoes, as the case may be, for any farm shall be the yield which may reasonably be expected from the land devoted to the production of the crop in 1939 with due consideration for type of soil, production practices, general fertility of the land and the yield of such crop customarily made on the farm. The average yield for all farms in any county with respect to any such crop shall not exceed the county average yield for the crop established by the Secretary.

(b) Productivity indexes.—The Secretary shall establish for each county or portion of a county in Area A a county productivity index or per-acre rate which will vary among the counties as the productivity of the cropland in the county devoted to the production of general soil-depleting crops varies as compared with the productivity of cropland in the United States devoted to the production of such crops.

A productivity index or rate per acre shall be determined in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for each farm in Area A by the county committee, subject to the approval of the State committee. Such productivity index or rate per acre shall be based upon the normal yield per acre for the farm of the major soil-depleting crop in the county as compared with the normal yield per acre for such crop in the county. Where the yield of the major soil-depleting crop in the county does not accurately reflect the productivity of a farm, the yield of a crop that reflects the productivity of the farm may be used, provided that the productivity index or rate per acre for such farm shall be adjusted, if necessary, so as to be fair and equitable as compared with the productivity indexes or rates per acre for other farms in the county having similar soils or productive capacity, and as contrasted with other farms in the county having different soils or productive capacity.

The average productivity index or per-acre rate for all farms for which productivity indexes or per-acre rates are determined in the county shall not exceed 100 or the county per-acre rate, respectively, unless it is determined that farms for which such indexes or rates per acre are established are not representative of all farms in the county and a variation from 100 or the county per-acre rate is approved by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.*#

SEC. 701.7 Soil-building practices.—Such of the soil-building practices listed in the following schedule as the Administrator determines are adapted to any region and should be encouraged in such region shall count toward the achievement of the soil-building goal to the extent indicated therein, when such practices are carried out in 1939 in areas designated by the Administrator and in accordance with specifications issued by the regional director or by the State committee with the approval of the regional director. The areas designated for any soil-building practice shall be areas in which such practice is desirable and necessary as a conservation measure. The specifications issued shall be such as to assure that the soil-building practice will be performed in workmanlike manner and in accordance with good farming practice for the locality.

Practices carried out with labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished entirely by any State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal. If a portion of the labor, seed, trees, or other materials used in carrying out any practice is furnished by a State or Federal agency other than the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and such portion represents one-half or more of the total cost of carrying out such practice, such practice shall not be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal; if such portion represents less than half of the total cost of carrying out such practice, one-half of such practice shall be counted toward the achievement of the soil-building goal: Provided, That labor, seed, trees, and materials furnished to a State, a political subdivision of a State, or an agency thereof by an agency of the same State shall not be deemed to have been furnished by "any State . . . agency" within the meaning of this paragraph. No credit for meeting the soil-building goal shall be given for the planting and protection of forest trees planted under a cooperative agreement entered into with the Forest Service in connection with the Prairie States Forestry Project.

Full credit for meeting the soil-building goal will be given for any of the practices listed in the following schedule which are carried out under the Department's water facilities program if the entire cost of labor, materials and equipment used in carrying out such practices is paid by the owner or operator or covered by a loan agreement executed by him. If a portion of such cost is not paid by the owner or operator or covered by a loan agreement executed by him and such portion constitutes less than one-half of such cost, one-half credit will be given. If such portion constitutes one-half or more of such cost, no credit for meeting the soil-building goal will be given for such practices.

Wind erosion control practices and restoration land measures carried out with the use of equipment furnished by the Soil Conservation Service on wind erosion farms shall not (by virtue of the use of such equipment) be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency.

Trees purchased from a Clark-McNary Cooperative State Nursery shall not be deemed to be paid for in whole or in part by a State or Federal agency.

The unit credits listed below are the maximum units allowable, and the credit for any practice included may be adjusted downward by the State committee with the approval of the Administrator.

(ii) (Farms in the Southern and East Central Regions and in areas in the Western and Northeast Regions where wheat acreage allotments are established only for farms normally producing 100 bushels or more of wheat for market) 50 cents per bushel of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to wheat in excess of the wheat acreage allotment or, if the farm is a non-wheat-allotment farm, for each acre of wheat classified as soil-depleting acreage under section 701.2 (d) (6) (xix) and (xx) in excess of the larger of (1) eight acres, or (2) the usual acreage of wheat established for the farm.

(d) Tobacco.—8 cents per pound of the normal yield for the farm for each acre of tobacco harvested in excess of the applicable tobacco acreage allotment established for the farm.

(e) Potatoes.—(i) (Farms for which potato acreage allotments are established) 30 cents per bushel of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to potatoes in excess of the potato acreage allotment.

(ii) (Farms for which potato acreage allotments are not established in commercial potato-producing areas which are not also commercial vegetable-producing areas) 30 cents per bushel of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to potatoes for market in excess of 3 acres.

(f) Peanuts.—(Farms in commercial peanut-producing areas) $25.00 per ton of the normal yield for the farm for each acre of peanuts for market in excess of the peanut acreage allotment established for the farm.

(g) Rice.—80 cents per 100 pounds of the normal yield for the farm for each acre planted to rice in excess of the rice acreage allotment established for the farm.

(h) Commercial vegetables.—(Farms in commercial vegetable-producing areas) $20.00 per acre for each acre of land planted to commercial vegetables in excess of the larger of the commercial vegetable acreage allotment established for the farm or 3 acres.

(i) General soil-depleting crops.—(1) (Farms in Area A, except non-general-allotment farms) $8.00 per acre, adjusted for productivity, for each acre of the soil-depleting acreage in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment established for the farm plus the acreages with respect to which deductions are computed under paragraphs (a) to (h), inclusive, of this section 701.9.

(ii) (Non-general-allotment farms in Area A) $8.00 per acre adjusted for productivity for each acre of the soil-depleting acreage in excess of the sum of (1) 20 acres, (2) the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm and (3) the acreages with respect to which deductions are computed under paragraphs (a) to (h), inclusive, of this section 701.9.

(iii) (Farms in Area B for which a total soil-depleting acreage allotment is established) $5.00 for each acre classified as soil-depleting in excess of the larger of (1) the total soil-depleting acreage allotment established for the farm plus the acreages with respect to which deductions are computed under paragraphs (a) to (h), inclusive, of this section 701.9, or (2) the acreages on which cotton is planted or tobacco is harvested, plus 20 acres.

(j) Soil-building goal.—$1.50 for each unit by which the soil-building goal is not reached.

(k) Restoration land goal.—$1.00 for each acre of restoration land on which there are not carried out in 1939 conservation measures specified by the county committee in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

(l) Cropping restoration land.—$3.00 for each acre designated in 1938 or 1939 as restoration land which is plowed or tilled in 1939 for any purpose other than tillage practices to protect the land from wind erosion or tillage operations necessary for the seeding of an approved nondepleting cover crop of which the entire growth is left on the land.

(m) Failure to prevent wind and water erosion.—$1.00 for each acre of land other than restoration land in an area designated by the Administrator as subject to serious wind and water erosion hazards with respect to which there are not adopted in 1939 methods recommended by the county committee and approved by the State committee for the prevention of wind and water erosion.

(n) Breaking out native sod.—In areas designated by the Administrator as being areas subject to serious wind erosion or areas containing large acreages unsuited to continuing production of cultivated crops, $3.00 for each acre of native sod or any other land on which a permanent vegetative cover has been established, broken out during the period November 1, 1938, to October 31, 1939, inclusive, less the acreage broken out with the approval of the county committee as a good farming practice for which an acreage of cropland other than restoration land is restored to permanent vegetative cover.

SEC. 701.10 Division of payments and deductions.—(a) Payments and deductions in connection with commercial vegetables, general soil-depleting crops, crops for which special crop acreage allotments are established, and restoration land goals.—(1) The net payment or net deduction computed for any farm with respect to commercial vegetables, general soil-depleting crops, or any crop for which a special acreage allotment is established, shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the same proportion (as indicated by their acreage shares expressed in terms of either acreages or percentages) that such persons are entitled at the time of harvest to share in the proceeds (other than a fixed commodity payment) of such crop(s) grown on the farm in 1939; Provided, That if because of crop failure the harvested acreage of any such crop(s) is less than the planted acreage of such crop(s) and the county committee finds, in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, that use of the harvested acreage as a basis for the division of the net payment or net deduction would result in a materially different division from that which would result from the use of the planted acreage, such net payment or net deduction shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the proportion that the county committee determines that such persons would have shared in the proceeds of such crop(s) if the entire acreage planted to such crop(s) in 1939 had been harvested; Provided, further, that if any such crop(s) is not grown on the farm in 1939, the net payment or net deduction computed for such crop(s) shall be divided among the landlords, tenants, and sharecroppers in the proportion that the county committee determines that such persons would have shared in the proceeds of such crop(s) if the entire acreage in such acreage allotment had been planted and harvested in 1939; Provided, further, that upon the written agreement of all persons who are entitled to receive a landlord's share of the proceeds of any such crop(s), the share of each such person in the net payment or net deduction computed with respect to such crop(s) on any farm comprising separately owned tracts of land shall be determined on the basis of each such person's respective share (as indicated by their acreage shares expressed in terms of either acreages or percentages) in the acreage allotments which could have been established for such crop(s) on the land in which he has an interest.

(2) The net payment or net deduction computed with respect to the restoration land goal for any farm shall be divided equally between the owners and operators thereof unless the county committee determines that the owners and operators thereof did not contribute equally to the acreage in the restoration land goal and to the carrying out of restoration land measures thereon, in which event such payment or deduction shall be divided in the proportion that the county committee determines that such owners and operators contributed to the acreage in the restoration land goal and to the carrying out of restoration land measures thereon.

(3) In computing such net payments and such net deductions with respect to acreage allotments, general crops and restoration land goals, the deduction with respect to (1) corn for grain in Area C, (2) total soil-depleting crops in Area B, (3) failure to prevent wind and water erosion, (4) cropping restoration land, (5) breaking out of native sod, and (6) any net deduction computed with respect to the soil-building goal, shall be regarded as deductions with respect to general crops in Area A and shall be regarded as pro rata deductions with respect to the payments computed in connection with crop acreage allotments in Areas B and C.

(b) Payments in connection with soil-building practices.—The amount of net payment earned in connection with the soil-building goal for the farm shall be made to the landlord, tenant, or sharecropper who carried out the soil-building practices. If the county committee determines that more than one such person contributed to the carrying out of soil-building practices on the farm in 1939, such payment shall be divided in the proportion that the units contributed by each such person to such practices bears to the total units of such practices carried out on the farm in 1939. All persons contributing to the carrying out of any soil-building practice on a particular acreage shall be deemed to have contributed equally to the units of such practice unless such persons establish to the satisfaction of the county committee that their respective contributions thereto were not in equal proportion, in which event such units shall be divided in the proportion which the county committee determines each such person contributed thereto.

(c) Proration of net deductions.—If the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on a farm exceeds the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on such farm, the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on such farm shall be prorated among the persons on such farm for whom a net payment is computed, on the basis of such computed net payments. If the sum of the net deductions computed for all persons on a farm equals or exceeds the sum of the net payments computed for all persons on such farm, no payment will be made with respect to such farm and the amount of such net deductions in excess of the net payments shall be prorated among the persons on such farm for whom a net deduction is computed, on the basis of such computed net deductions.

SEC. 701.11 Increase in small payments.—The total payment computed under Sec. 701.8 to 701.10, inclusive, for any person with respect to any farm shall be increased as follows:

(1) Any payment amounting to 71 cents or less shall be increased to $1.00;

(2) Any payment amounting to more than 71 cents but less than $1.00 shall be increased by 40 percent;

SEC. 701.12 Payments limited to $10,000.—The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places located within a single State, territory, or possession, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000. The total of all payments made in connection with programs for 1939 under section 8 of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act to any person other than an individual, partnership, or estate with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico) shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

All or any part of any payment which has been or otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 program may be withheld or required to be returned if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device, including the dissolution, reorganization, or formation of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or by any other means, which was designed to evade, or would have the effect of evading, the provisions of this section.* #

SEC. 701.13 Deductions incurred on other farms.—(a) Other farms in the same county.—If the deductions computed under Section 701.9 with respect to any farm in a county exceed the payment for full performance on such farm computed under section 701.8, a landlord's or tenant's share of the amount by which such deduction exceeds such payments shall be deducted from such landlord's or tenant's share of the payment which would otherwise be made to him with respect to any other farms in such county.

(b) Other farms in the State.—If the deductions computed for a landlord or tenant with respect to one or more farms in a county exceed the payments computed for such landlord or tenant on other farms in such county, the amount of such excess deductions shall be deducted from the payments computed for such landlord or tenant with respect to any other farms in the State if the State committee finds that the crops grown and practices adopted on the farm with respect to which such deductions are computed substantially offset the contribution to the program made on such other farms.* #

SEC. 701.14 Deduction for association expenses.—There shall be deducted pro rata from the payments with respect to any farm all or such part as the Secretary may prescribe of the estimated administrative expenses incurred or to be incurred by the county agricultural conservation association in the county in which the farm is located.* #

SEC. 701.15 Materials furnished as grants of aid.—Wherever it is found practicable limestone, superphosphate, trees, seeds, and other materials, upon request of the producer, may be furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as grants of aid to be used in carrying out approved soil-building practices which shall be counted toward meeting the soil-building goal for the farm. Wherever such materials are furnished, a deduction from the payment for the farm shall be made in the amount of the approximate average cost of such material to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in any county, State, or other areas. Such deduction shall be applied first to the payment computed for the person to whom such materials are furnished, and the balance, if any, of such deduction shall be prorated among the payments to other persons sharing in the payment with respect to the farm on which such materials were used. In making a request for materials pursuant to this section, the producer to whom such materials are furnished shall agree that in the event the amount of the deduction for the materials exceeds the amount of the payment with respect to the farm, the amount of such difference shall be repaid by him to the Secretary.

Notwithstanding any other provisions herein for any farm, in areas designated by the Administrator, on which no performance is rendered under the 1939 program except the carrying out of practices through the use of materials furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the furnishing of such materials shall be in lieu of any payment which otherwise might be computed for the farm.* #

SEC. 701.16 General provisions relating to payments.—(a) Payment restricted to effectuation of purposes of the program.—(1) All or any part of any payment which otherwise would be made to any person under the 1939 program may be withheld (a) if he has adopted any practices which the Secretary determines tends to defeat any of the purposes of the 1939 or previous agricultural conservation programs, (b) if, by means of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other device, or in any manner whatsoever, he has offset, or has participated in offsetting, in whole or in part, the performance for which such payment is otherwise authorized, or (c) if, with respect to forest land or woodland owned or controlled by him, he has adopted any practice which the regional director finds is contrary to sound conservation practices.

(2) No payments other than payments in connection with the restoration land goal and in connection with soil-building practices shall be computed with respect to any farm which is idle in 1939.

(3) In areas designated by the Administrator as areas subject to serious wind erosion in 1939 no payment will be made to any person with respect to any farm which such person owns or operates in a county, if the county committee finds that such person has been negligent and careless in his farming operations by failing to carry out approved wind erosion control measures on land under his control to the extent that any part of such land has become a wind erosion hazard in 1939 to the community in which such farm is located.

(b) Payment computed and made without regard to claims.—Any payment or share of payment shall be computed and made without regard to questions of title under State law, without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section 701.16) and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

(c) Changes in leasing and cropping agreements, reduction in number of tenants, and other devices.—If on any farm in 1939 any change of the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1938 is made between the landlord and the tenants or sharecroppers and such change would cause a greater proportion of the payments to be made to the landlord under the 1939 program than would have been made to the landlord for performance on the farm under the 1938 program, payments to the landlord under the 1939 program with respect to the farm shall not be greater than the amount that would have been paid to the landlord if the arrangements which existed on the farm in 1938 had been continued in 1939, if the county committee certifies that the change is not justified and disapproves such change.

If on any farm the number of sharecroppers or share tenants in 1939 is less than the average number on the farm during the years 1936 to 1938, inclusive, and such reduction would increase the payments that would otherwise be made to the landlord, such payments to the landlord shall not be greater than the amount that would otherwise be made if the county committee certifies that the reduction is not justified and disapproves such reduction.

If the State committee finds that any person who files an application for payment pursuant to the provisions of the 1939 program has employed any other scheme or device, the effect of which would be or has been to deprive any other person of any payment under any agricultural conservation program to which such other person would normally be entitled, the Secretary may withhold in whole or in part from the person participating in or employing such a scheme or device, or require such person to refund in whole or in part, the amount of any payment which has been or would otherwise be made to such person in connection with the 1939 program.

(d) Assignments.—Any person who may be entitled to any payment in connection with the 1939 program may assign his interest in such payment as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1939. No such assignment will be recognized unless the assignment is made in writing on Form ACP–69 in accordance with instructions (ACP–70) issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Nothing contained in this section 701.16 shall be construed to give an assignee a right to any payment other than that to which the farmer is entitled nor shall the Secretary or any disbursing agent be subject to any suit or liability if payment is made to the farmer without regard to the existence of any such assignment.

(e) Excess cotton acreage.—Any person who makes application for payment with respect to any farm located in a county in which cotton is planted in 1939 shall file with such application a statement that he has not knowingly planted or caused to be planted during 1939 cotton on land in any farm in which he has an interest in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for 1939, and that cotton was not planted in excess of such allotment by his authority or with his consent.

Any person who knowingly plants cotton on his farm in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm for 1939 shall not be eligible for any payment under the provisions of the 1939 program. Any person having an interest in the cotton crop on a farm on which cotton is planted in 1939 on acreage in excess of the cotton acreage allotment for the farm for 1939 shall be presumed to have knowingly planted cotton on his farm on acreage in excess of such farm cotton acreage allotment if notice of the farm allotment is mailed to him prior to the completion of the planting of cotton on the farm, unless the farmer establishes the fact that the excess acreage was planted to cotton due to his lack of knowledge of the number of acres in the tract(s) planted to cotton. Such notice, if mailed to the operator of the farm, shall be deemed to be notice to all persons sharing in the production of cotton on the farm in 1939.

(f) Use of soil-conserving crops for market.—Payment will not be made with respect to any farm unless on such farm in 1939 an acreage of cropland or restoration land, not devoted to soil-depleting crops, is withheld from the production of soil-conserving crops for market, equal to the acreage by which the normal acreage of soil-depleting crops on such farm exceeds the larger of (1) the total soil-depleting acreage allotment for the farm, or (2) the acreage devoted to soil-depleting crops on the farm in 1939: Provided, That payment shall not be denied any farmer for using such soil-conserving crops for market (1) if in the county in which the farm is located the number of cows kept for the production of milk or products thereof for market does not exceed the normal number of such cows; (2) if on such farm the number of cows kept for the production of milk or the products thereof for market does not exceed the normal number of such cows; or (3) if the Agricultural Adjustment Administration determines either (a) that the farmer has substantially complied with the provisions of this paragraph, or (b) that the county, as a whole, is in substantial compliance with such provisions.

Any farmer shall be deemed to have substantially complied with the provisions of this paragraph either (1) if the increase above normal in the number of dairy cows on his farm does not exceed two cows; or (2) if none of the soil-conserving crops to which such provisions are applicable are used for market other than through the disposition of dairy livestock for slaughter or through the disposition of less than ten percent of the milk, or products thereof, produced on the farm. A county, as a whole, shall be deemed to be in substantial compliance with such provisions unless: (1) the number of cows kept for the production of milk in the county exceeds by more than five percent the normal number of such cows; (2) the acres retired from soil-depleting crops in the county exceed five percent of the normal acreage of such crops and exceed 1,000 acres; and (3) the average number of cows kept for the production of milk exceeds two cows per farm and exceeds two cows per 160 acres of farm land.

The normal acreage of soil-depleting crops and the number of cows kept for the production of milk or the products thereof for market shall be determined for any farm in accordance with instructions issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration shall determine from the latest available statistics of the Department, and shall announce, the counties not deemed to be in substantial compliance.

As used in this paragraph (f), the term "for market" means for disposition by sale, barter, or exchange, or by feeding (in any form) to dairy livestock which, or the products of which, are to be sold, bartered, or exchanged, and such term shall not include consumption on the farm. An agricultural commodity shall be deemed to be consumed on the farm if consumed by the farmer's family, employees, or household, or if fed to poultry or livestock other than dairy livestock on his farm, or if fed to dairy livestock on his farm and such dairy livestock, or the products thereof, are to be consumed by his family, employees, or household. As used in this paragraph (f), the term "soil-conserving crops" means grasses and legumes grown on cropland except those listed in the definition of soil-depleting acreage in section 701.2.*#

SEC. 701.17 Application for payment.—(a) Persons eligible to file applications.—An application for payment with respect to a farm may be made by any person for whom, under the provisions of section 701.10 a share in the payment with respect to the farm may be computed and (1) who at the time of harvest is entitled to share in the crops grown on the farm under a lease or operating agreement, or (2) who is owner or operator of such farm and participates thereon in 1939 in carrying out approved soil-building practices or in carrying out conservation measures designed to promote restoration of a permanent vegetative cover on restoration land.

(b) Time and manner of filing application and information required.—Payment will be made only upon application submitted through the county office. The Secretary reserves the right (1) to withhold payment from any person who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any farm which such person is operating or renting to another person for a share of the crops grown thereon, and (2) to refuse to accept any application for payment if such application or any other form or information required is not submitted to the county office within the time fixed by the regional director. At least two weeks' notice to the public shall be given of the expiration of a time limit for filing prescribed forms. Such notice shall be given by mailing the same to the office of each county committee and making copies of the same available to the press.

(c) Applications for other farms.—If a person has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops or proceeds therefrom, produced on more than one farm in a county and makes application for payment with respect to one of such farms, such person must make application for payment with respect to all such farms which he operates or rents to other persons. Upon request by the State committee any person shall file with the committee such information as it may request regarding any other farm in the State with respect to which he has the right to receive all or a portion of the crops or proceeds thereof.*#

SEC. 701.18 Appeals.—Any person may, within 15 days after notice thereof is forwarded to or available to him request the county committee in writing to reconsider its recommendation or determination with respect to any of the following matters affecting any farm in which he has an interest: (a) eligibility to file an application for payment; (b) any soil-depleting acreage allotment, usual acreage, or soil-building goal; (c) the division of payment; or (d) any other matter affecting the right to or the amount of his payment with respect to the farm. The county committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 15 days after receipt of such written request for reconsideration. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the county committee he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, appeal in writing to the State committee. The State committee shall notify such person of its decision in writing within 30 days after the receipt of the appeal. If such person is dissatisfied with the decision of the State committee, he may, within 15 days after such decision is forwarded to or made available to him, request the regional director to review the decision of the State committee.*#

SEC. 701.19 State and regional bulletins, instructions, and forms.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is hereby authorized to make such determinations and to prepare and issue such State and regional bulletins, instructions, and forms as may be required pursuant to the provisions hereof in administering the 1939 program.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 10th day of November, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

PART 29—THE TOBACCO INSPECTION ACT

ORDER OF DESIGNATION OF TOBACCO MARKETS

Abingdon, Virginia; Huntington, West Virginia; Knoxville, Tennessee; Maysville, Paris, and Springfield, Kentucky; and Ripley, Ohio

Whereas, The Act of Congress approved August 23, 1935 (49 Stat., 731; 7 U. S. C., Sup. I, Chap. 21A) entitled "The Tobacco Inspection Act" contains the following provisions:

SEC. 2. That transactions in tobacco involving the sale thereof at auction as commonly conducted at auction markets are affected with a public interest; that such transactions are carried on by tobacco producers generally and by persons engaged in the business of buying and selling tobacco in commerce; that the classification of tobacco according to type, grade, and other characteristics affects the prices received therefor by producers; that without uniform standards of classification and inspection the evaluation of tobacco is susceptible to speculation, manipulation, and control, and unreasonable fluctuations in prices and quality determinations occur which are detrimental to producers and persons handling tobacco in commerce; that such fluctuations constitute a burden upon commerce and make the use of uniform standards of classification and inspection imperative for the protection of producers and others engaged in commerce and the public interest therein.

SEC. 5. That the Secretary is authorized to designate those auction markets where tobacco bought and sold thereon at auction, or the products customarily manufactured therefrom, moves in commerce. Before any market is designated by the Secretary under this section he shall determine by referendum the desire of tobacco growers who sold tobacco at auction on such market during the preceding marketing season. The Secretary may at his discretion hold one referendum for two or more markets or for all markets in a type area. No market or group of markets shall be designated by the Secretary unless two-thirds of the growers voting favor it. The Secretary shall have access to the tobacco records of the Collector of Internal Revenue and of the several collectors of internal revenue for the purpose of obtaining the names and addresses of growers who sold tobacco on any auction market, and the Secretary shall determine from said records the eligibility of such grower to vote in such referendum, and no grower shall be eligible to vote in more than one referendum. After public notice of not less than thirty days that any auction market has been so designated by the Secretary, no tobacco shall be offered for sale at auction on such market until it shall have been inspected and certified by an authorized representative of the Secretary according to the standards established under this Act, except that the Secretary may temporarily suspend the requirement of inspection and certification at any designated market whenever he finds it impracticable to provide for such inspection and certification because competent inspectors are not obtainable or because the quantity of tobacco available for inspection is insufficient to justify the cost of such service: Provided, That, in the event competent inspectors are not available, or for other reasons, the Secretary is unable to provide for such inspection and certification at all auction markets within a type area, he shall first designate those auction markets where the greatest number of growers may be served with the facilities available to him. No fee or charge shall be imposed or collected for inspection or certification under this section at any designated auction market. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to prevent transactions in tobacco at markets not designated by the Secretary or at designated markets where the Secretary has suspended the requirement of inspection or to authorize the Secretary to close any market.

Whereas, pursuant to said Act referendums were held among growers who sold Burley tobacco at auction during the last season on the markets of Abingdon, Virginia; Huntington, West Virginia; Knoxville, Tennessee; Maysville, Paris, and Springfield, Kentucky; and Ripley, Ohio, in which referendums such growers were given an opportunity to vote for or against the designation of said markets as provided in Section 5 of the Act; and

Whereas, more than two-thirds of the growers voting in said referendums and who sold tobacco at auction on said markets during the last marketing season voted in favor of said designation,

SEC. 29.301 (k) Designation of tobacco markets.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by Section 5 of The Tobacco Inspection Act and the affirmative results of the referendums conducted thereunder, the auction tobacco markets of Abingdon, Virginia; Huntington, West Virginia; Knoxville, Tennessee; Maysville, Paris, and Springfield, Kentucky; and Ripley, Ohio are designated as markets where tobacco bought and sold thereon at auction, or the products manufactured therefrom, moves in commerce.

It is hereby ordered, That, effective 30 days from this date no tobacco shall be offered for sale at auction on the above-named markets until it shall have been inspected and certified by an authorized representative of the United States Department of Agriculture according to standards established under the Act; Provided, however, That the requirement of inspection and certification may be suspended at such times as it is found impracticable to provide inspection or when the quantity of tobacco available for inspection is insufficient to justify the cost of such service. No fee or charge shall be imposed or collected for the inspection and certification of tobacco sold or offered for sale at auction on the markets designated herein. (49 Stat. 731; 7 U. S. C. Sup. I, Chap. 21A.)

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, this 16th day of November 1938.

[SEAL] H. A. WALLACE,

BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY AND PLANT QUARANTINE

[BEPQ—Q. 52; Rev. of Reg. 3]

MODIFICATION OF PINK BOLLWORM QUARANTINE REGULATIONS

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

The following revision adds to the lightly infested area that part of Pinal County in Arizona not heretofore within the regulated area, all of Maricopa County in Arizona, and the Texas counties of Brooks, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, and Nueces. This action is taken with respect to all counties, except Kenedy, owing to the recent finding of light infestations of the pink bollworm of cotton. Kenedy County is included in the regulated area because there are no facilities in that county for ginning the small acreage of cotton grown therein which is normally ginned in the regulated area.

LEE A. STRONG,
Chief.

AMENDMENT NO. 5 TO REVISED RULES AND REGULATIONS SUPPLEMENTAL TO NOTICE OF QUARANTINE NO. 52

Under authority conferred by section 8 of the Plant Quarantine Act of August 20, 1912 (37 Stat. 315), as amended by the act of Congress approved March 4, 1917 (39 Stat. 1134, 1165), it is ordered that regulation 3 of the revised rules and regulations supplemental to Notice of Quarantine No. 52, on account of the pink bollworm of cotton, which were promulgated on October 13, 1936, as amended effective December 1, 1936, April 6, 1937, October 28, 1937, and January 3, 1938, be and the same is hereby still further amended to read as follows:

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

[T. D. 4874]

INCOME TAX, REVENUE ACT OF 1938

REGULATIONS RELATING TO NONRECOGNITION OF GAIN OR LOSS UPON EXCHANGES AND DISTRIBUTIONS MADE IN OBEDIENCE TO ORDERS OF THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION, AND THE BASIS OF PROPERTY ACQUIRED UPON SUCH EXCHANGES AND DISTRIBUTIONS

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

Pursuant to the provisions of section 62 and Supplement R of the Revenue Act of 1938, enacted May 28, 1938 (Public, No. 554, Seventy-fifth Congress, Chapter 289, third session), and other provisions of the internal revenue laws, the following regulations are hereby prescribed with respect to the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon exchanges and distributions made in obedience to orders of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the basis of property acquired upon such exchanges and distributions, as provided in sections 112 (b) (8), 113 (a) (17), 371, 372 and 373 of the Act, such subsections and sections being quoted in, and made a part of, such regulations:

PART I.—NONRECOGNITION OF GAIN OR LOSS

SEC. 112. Recognition of gain or loss.

* * * * * * *

(b) Exchanges solely in kind.—

* * * * * * *

(8) Exchanges and distributions in obedience to orders of Securities and Exchange Commission.—In the case of any exchange or distribution described in section 371, no gain or loss shall be recognized to the extent specified in such section with respect to such exchange or distribution.

SEC. 371. Nonrecognition of gain or loss.—(a) Exchanges of Stock or Securities Only.—No gain or loss shall be recognized to the transferor if stock or securities in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company are transferred to such corporation or to an associate company thereof which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company solely in exchange for stock or securities (other than stock or securities which are nonexempt property), and the exchange is made by the transferee corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

(b) Exchanges of property for property by corporations.—No gain or loss shall be recognized to a transferor corporation which is a registered holding company or an associate company of a registered holding company, if such corporation, in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission transfers property solely in exchange for property (other than nonexempt property), and such order recites that such exchange by the transferor corporation is necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which the transferor corporation is a member.

(c) Distribution of stock or securities only.—If there is distributed, in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, to a shareholder in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company, stock or securities (other than stock or securities which are nonexempt property), without the surrender by such shareholder of stock or securities in such corporation, no gain to the distributee from the receipt of the stock or securities so distributed shall be recognized.

(d) Transfers within system group.—(1) No gain or loss shall be recognized to a corporation which is a member of a system group (A) if such corporation transfers property to another corporation which is a member of the same system group in exchange for other property, and the exchange by each corporation is made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, or (B) if there is distributed to such corporation as a shareholder in a corporation which is a member of the same system group, property, without the surrender by such shareholder of stock or securities in the corporation making the distribution, and the distribution is made and received in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission. If an exchange by or a distribution to a corporation with respect to which no gain or loss is recognized under any of the provisions of this paragraph may also be considered to be within the provisions of subsection (a), (b), or (c), then the provisions of this paragraph only shall apply.

(2) If the property received upon an exchange which is within any of the provisions of paragraph (1) of this subsection consists in whole or in part of stock or securities issued by the corporation from which such property was received, and if in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission such stock or securities (other than stock which is not preferred as to both dividends and assets) are sold and the proceeds derived therefrom are applied in whole or in part in the retirement or cancellation of stock or of securities of the recipient corporation outstanding at the time of such exchange, no gain or loss shall be recognized to the recipient corporation upon the sale of the stock or securities with respect to which such order was made; except that if any part of the proceeds derived from the sale of such stock or securities is not so applied, or if the amount of such proceeds is in excess of the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of such exchange, the gain, if any, shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the proceeds which are not so applied, or in an amount not more than the amount by which the proceeds derived from such sale exceed such fair market value, whichever is the greater.

(e) Exchanges not solely in kind.—(1) If an exchange (not within any of the provisions of subsection (d) would be within the provisions of subsection (a) or (b) if it were not for the fact that property received in exchange consists not only of property permitted by such subsection to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, but also of other property or money, then the gain, if any, to the recipient shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the sum of such money and the fair market value of such other property, and the loss, if any, to the recipient shall not be recognized.

(2) If an exchange is within the provisions of paragraph (1) of this subsection and if it includes a distribution which has the effect of the distribution of a taxable dividend, then there shall be taxed as a dividend to each distributee such an amount of the gain recognized under such paragraph (1) as is not in excess of his ratable share of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913. The remainder, if any, of the gain recognized under such paragraph (1) shall be taxed as a gain from the exchange of property.

(f) Application of section.—The provisions of this section shall not apply to an exchange or distribution unless (1) the order of the Securities and Exchange Commission in obedience to which such exchange or distribution was made recites that such exchange or distribution is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, (2) such order specifies and itemizes the stock and securities and other property which are ordered to be transferred and received upon such exchange or distribution, and (3) such exchange or distribution was made in obedience to such order and was completed within the time prescribed therefor in such order.

(g) Non-application of other provisions.—If an exchange or distribution made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission is within any of the provisions of this section and may also be considered to be within any of the provisions of section 112 (other than the provisions of paragraph (8) of subsection (b)), then the provisions of this section only shall apply.

ART. 371-0. Terms used.—The following terms are defined in section 373 of the Revenue Act of 1938 and when used in these regulations shall have the meanings therein assigned to them: "Order of the Securities and Exchange Commission"; "registered holding company"; "holding-company system"; "associate company"; "majority-owned subsidiary company"; "system group"; "nonexempt property"; and "stock or securities". Any other term used in these regulations, which is defined in that Act, shall be given the respective definition contained in the Act.

The sections referred to in these regulations, unless otherwise stated, are sections of the Revenue Act of 1938. Supplement R, referred to in these regulations, is Supplement R of the Revenue Act of 1938 and includes sections 371-373, inclusive, of that Act.

ART. 371-1. Purpose and scope of exception.—The general rule is that the entire amount of gain or loss from the sale or exchange of property is to be recognized (see section 112 (a)) and that the entire amount received as a dividend is to be included in gross income (see sections 22 (a) and 115). Exceptions to the general rule are provided in section 112, one of which is that made by section 112 (b) (8) with respect to exchanges, sales, and distributions specifically described in section 371. Section 371 provides the extent to which gain or loss is not to be recognized on an exchange or sale, or the receipt of a distribution, made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, which is issued to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. Section 115 (c) provides that a distribution in liquidation of a corporation shall be treated as an exchange, and such a distribution is to be so treated under the provisions of Supplement R. The order of the Securities and Exchange Commission must be one requiring or approving action which the Commission finds to be necessary or appropriate to effect a simplification or geographical integration of a particular public utility holding-company system. For specific requirements with respect to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, see section 371 (f).

The requirements for nonrecognition of gain or loss as provided in section 371 are precisely stated with respect to the following four general types of transactions:

(1) The exchange that is provided for in section 371 (a), in which stock or securities in a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company are exchanged for stock or securities.

(2) The exchange that is provided for in section 371 (b), in which a registered holding company or an associate company of a registered holding company exchanges property for property.

(3) The distribution that is provided for in section 371 (c), in which stock or securities are distributed to a shareholder in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company.

(4) The transfer that is provided for in section 371 (d), in which a corporation which is a member of a system group transfers property to another member of the same system group.

Certain rules with respect to the receipt of nonexempt property on an exchange described in section 371 (a) or (b) are prescribed in section 371 (e).

These new exceptions to the general rule are to be strictly construed as in the case of the other exceptions in section 112. Unless both the purpose and the specific requirements of Supplement R are clearly met, the recognition of gain or loss upon the exchange, sale, or distribution will not be postponed under Supplement R. Moreover, even though a taxable transaction occurs in connection or simultaneously with a realization of gain or loss to which nonrecognition is accorded, nevertheless, as under the various provisions of section 112, nonrecognition will not be accorded to such taxable transaction. In other words, the provisions of section 371 do not extend in any case to gain or loss other than that realized from and directly attributable to a disposition of property as such, or the receipt of a corporate distribution as such, in an exchange, sale, or distribution specifically described in section 371.

The application of the provisions of Supplement R is intended to result only in postponing the recognition of gain or loss until a disposition of property is made which is not covered by such provisions, and the continuation of the basis as provided in section 372 is designed to effect this result. Although the time of recognition may be shifted, there must be a true reflection of income in all cases, and it is intended that the provisions of Supplement R shall not be construed or applied in such a way as to defeat this purpose.

ART. 371-2. Exchanges of stock or securities solely for stock or securities.—The exchange, without the recognition of gain or loss, that is provided for in section 371 (a) must be one in which stock or securities in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company are exchanged solely for stock or securities other than stock or securities which constitute nonexempt property. An exchange is not within the provisions of section 371 (a), unless the stock or securities transferred and those received are stock or securities as defined by section 373 (f). The stock or securities which may be received without the recognition of gain or loss are not limited to stock or securities in the corporation from which they are received. An exchange within the provisions of section 371 (a) may be a transaction between the holder of stock or securities and the corporation which issued the stock or securities. Also the exchange may be made by a holder of stock or securities with an associate company (i. e., a corporation in the same holding-company system with the issuing corporation) which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company. In either case, the nonrecognition provisions of section 371 (a) apply only to the holder of the stock or securities. However, the transferee corporation must be acting in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission directed to such corporation, if no gain or loss is to be recognized to the holder of the stock or securities who makes the exchange with such corporation. See also section 371 (b), in case the holder of the stock or securities is a registered holding company or an associate company of a registered holding company. An exchange is not within the provisions of section 371 (a) if it is within the provisions of section 371 (d), relating to transfers within a system group. For further limitations, see section 371 (f).

ART. 371-3. Exchanges of property for property by corporations.—The nonrecognition of gain or loss provided for in section 371 (b) is limited to an exchange by a transferor corporation which is (1) a registered holding company or (2) an associate company of a registered holding company. No restriction is imposed with respect to the class of property which may be transferred by the transferor corporation, but in order that all of the transferor corporation's gain from the exchange be nonrecognized (see section 371 (e)), no part of the property received by such corporation may consist of nonexempt property, though the receipt, in part, of nonexempt property by the transferor corporation does not prevent nonrecognition of all of its loss from the exchange under section 371 (e). It is essential to the nonrecognition either of gain or loss that in making the exchange the transferor corporation shall be acting in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission reciting that such exchange by the transferor corporation is necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which such corporation is a member. An exchange is not within the provisions of section 371 (b), if it is within the provisions of section 371 (d), relating to transfers within a system group. For further limitations, see section 371 (f).

Example.—The A Corporation, a registered holding company, is a member of holding-company system No. 1 which comprises an integrated utility system in region X, except for the fact that the A Corporation owns all of the voting stock of the B Corporation with transmission lines in region Y. The transmission lines of the B Corporation have an adjusted basis of $300,000 and a fair market value of $325,000. The C Corporation, a registered holding company, is a member of holding-company system No. 2 which comprises an integrated utility system in region Y, except for the fact that the C Corporation owns all of the voting stock of the D Corporation, an operating company with a generating plant and transmission lines in region X. The generating plant and transmission lines of the D Corporation have an adjusted basis of $275,000 and a fair market value of $325,000. In obedience to an appropriate order of the Securities and Exchange Commission relative to the integration of holding-company system No. 1, the B Corporation transfers its transmission lines in region Y to the D Corporation in exchange for the generating plant and transmission lines of the D Corporation in region X. Under section 371 (b), no gain is recognized to the B Corporation upon the exchange. However, the provisions of section 371 (b) do not apply to the disposition by the D Corporation of its generating plant and transmission lines in region X unless such disposition is made in obedience to an appropriate order of the Securities and Exchange Commission which relates to such disposition and recites that such disposition is necessary or appropriate to the integration of holding-company system No. 2.

ART. 371–4. Distribution solely of stock or securities.—If, without any surrender of his stock or securities as defined in section 373 (f), a shareholder in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company receives stock or securities in such corporation or owned by such corporation, no gain to the shareholder will be recognized with respect to the stock or securities received by such shareholder which do not constitute nonexempt property, if the distribution to such shareholder is made by the distributing corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission directed to such corporation. A distribution is not within the provisions of section 371 (c) if it is within the provisions of section 371 (d), relating to transfers within a system group. A distribution is also not within the provisions of section 371 (c) if it involves a surrender by the shareholder of stock or securities or a transfer by the shareholder of property in exchange for the stock or securities received by the shareholder. For further limitations, see section 371 (f).

ART. 371–5. Transfers within system group.—The nonrecognition of gain or loss provided for in section 371 (d) (1) is applicable to an exchange of property for other property (including money and other nonexempt property). In order for any exchange to come within such section, all the parties to the exchange must be corporations which are members of the same system group. The term "system group" is defined in section 373 (d).

Section 371 (d) (1) also provides for nonrecognition of gain to a corporation which is a member of a system group if property (including money or other nonexempt property) is distributed to such corporation as a shareholder in a corporation which is a member of the same system group, without the surrender by such shareholder of stock or securities in the distributing corporation.

As stated in article 371–1 of these regulations, nonrecognition of gain or loss will not be accorded to a transaction not clearly provided for in Supplement R, even though such transaction occurs simultaneously or in connection with an exchange, sale, or distribution to which nonrecognition is specifically accorded. Therefore, nonrecognition will not be accorded to any gain or loss realized from the discharge, or the removal of the burden, of the pecuniary obligations of a member of a system group, even though such obligations are acquired upon a transfer or distribution specifically described in section 371 (d) (1); but the fact that the acquisition of such obligations was upon a transfer or distribution specifically described in section 371 (d) (1) will, because of the basic provisions of section 372 (d), affect the cost to the member of such discharge or its equivalent. Thus, section 371 (d) (1) does not provide for the nonrecognition of any gain or loss realized from the discharge of the indebtedness of a member of a system group as the result of the acquisition in exchange, sale, or distribution of its own bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness which were acquired by another member of the same system group for a consideration less or more than the issuing price thereof (with proper adjustments for amortization of premiums or discounts).

Example.—Suppose that the A Corporation and the B Corporation are both members of the same system group; that the A Corporation holds at a cost of $900 a bond issued by the B Corporation at par, $1,000; and that the A Corporation and the B Corporation enter into an exchange subject to the provisions of section 371 (d) (1) in which the $1,000 bond of the B Corporation is transferred from the A Corporation to the B Corporation. The $900 basis reflecting the cost to the A Corporation which would have been the basis available to the B Corporation if the property transferred to it had been something other than its own securities (see article 372–4 of these regulations) will, in this type of transaction, reflect the cost to the B Corporation of effecting a retirement of its own $1,000 bond. The $100 gain of the B Corporation reflected in the retirement will therefore be recognized.

No exchange or distribution may be made without the recognition of gain or loss as provided for in section 371 (d) (1), unless all the corporations which are parties to such exchange or distribution are acting in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission. If an exchange or distribution is within the provisions of section 371 (d) (1) and also may be considered to be within some other provision of section 371, it shall be considered that only the provisions of section 371 (d) (1) apply and that the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon such exchange or distribution is by virtue of that section.

ART. 371–6. Sale of stock or securities received upon exchange by members of system group.—Section 371 (d) (2) provides that to the extent that property received upon an exchange by corporations which are members of the same system group consists of stock or securities issued by the corporation from which such property was received, such stock or securities may, under certain specifically described circumstances, be sold to a party not a member of the system group, without the recognition of gain or loss to the selling corporation. The nonrecognition of gain or loss is limited, in the case of stock, to a sale of stock which is preferred as to both dividends and assets. The stock or securities must have been received upon an exchange with respect to which section 371 (d) (1) operated to prevent recognition of gain or loss to any party to the exchange. Nonrecognition of gain or loss upon the sale of such stock or securities is permitted only if the proceeds derived from the sale are applied in retirement or cancellation of stock or securities of the selling corporation which were outstanding at the time the exchange was made. It is also essential to nonrecognition of gain or loss upon the sale that both the sale of the stock or securities and the application of the proceeds derived therefrom be made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission. If any part of the proceeds derived from the sale is not applied in making the required retirement or cancellation of stock or securities and if the sale is otherwise within the provisions of section 371 (d) (2), the gain resulting from the sale shall be recognized, but in an amount not in excess of the proceeds which are not so applied. In any event, if the proceeds derived from the sale of the stock or securities exceed the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of the exchange through which they were acquired by the selling corporation, the gain resulting from the sale is to be recognized to the extent of such excess. Section 371 (d) (2) does not provide for the nonrecognition of any gain resulting from the retirement of bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness for a consideration less than the issuing price thereof. Also, that section does not provide for the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon the sale of any stock or securities received upon a distribution or otherwise than upon an exchange.

Example.—The X Corporation and the Y Corporation, both of which make their income tax returns on a calendar year basis, are members of the same system group. As part of an exchange in which section 371 (d) (1) is applicable the Y Corporation on June 1, 1938, issues to the X Corporation 1,000 shares of class A stock, preferred as to both dividends and assets. The fair market value of such stock at the time of issuance is $90,000 and its basis to the X Corporation is $75,000. On December 1, 1938, in obedience to an appropriate order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the X Corporation sells all of such stock to the public for $100,000 and applies $95,000 of this amount to the retirement of its own bonds, which were outstanding on June 1, 1938. The remaining $5,000 is not used to retire any of the X Corporation's stock or securities. Of the total gain of $25,000 realized on the disposition of the Y Corporation stock only $10,000 is recognized, being the difference between the fair market value of the stock when acquired and the amount for which it was sold, since such amount is greater than the portion ($5,000) of the proceeds not applied to the retirement of the X Corporation's stock or securities.

If in the above example the stock required by the X Corporation had not been stock of the Y Corporation issued to the X Corporation or if it had been stock not preferred as to both dividends and assets, the full amount of the gain ($25,000) realized upon its disposition would have been recognized, regardless of what was done with the proceeds.

ART. 371–7. Exchanges in which money or other nonexempt property is received.—Under section 371 (e) (1), if in any exchange (not within any of the provisions of section 371 (d)) in which (a) stock or securities in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary are exchanged for stock or securities as provided for in section 371 (a), or (b) property of a corporation which is a registered holding company or an associate company of a registered holding company is exchanged for other property as provided for in section 371 (b), there is received by the taxpayer money or other nonexempt property (in addition to property permitted to be received without recognition of gain), then—

(1) The gain, if any, to the taxpayer is to be recognized in an amount not in excess of the sum of the money and the fair market value of the other nonexempt property, but

(2) The loss, if any, to the taxpayer from such an exchange is not to be recognized to any extent.

If money or other nonexempt property is received from a corporation in an exchange described in this article and if the distribution of such money or other nonexempt property by or on behalf of such corporation has the effect of the distribution of a taxable dividend, then, as provided in section 371 (e) (2), there shall be taxed to each distributee (1) as a dividend, such an amount of the gain recognized on the exchange as is not in excess of the distributee's ratable share of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, and (2) the remainder of the gain so recognized shall be taxed as a gain from the exchange of property.

ART. 371–8. Requirements with respect to order of Securities and Exchange Commission.—The term "order of the Securities and Exchange Commission" is defined in section 373 (a). In addition to the requirements specified in that definition, section 371 (f) provides that the provisions of section 371 shall not apply to an exchange or distribution unless each of the following requirements is met:

(1) The order of the Securities and Exchange Commission must recite that the exchange or distribution is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

(2) The order shall specify and itemize the stock and securities and other property (including money) which are ordered to be transferred and received upon the exchange or distribution, so as clearly to identify such property.

(3) The exchange or distribution shall be made in obedience to the order and shall be completed within the time prescribed in such order.

These requirements were not designed merely to simplify the administration of the provisions of section 371, and they are not to be considered as pertaining only to administrative matters. Each one of the three requirements is of the essence, and must be met if gain or loss is not to be recognized upon the transaction.

ART. 371–9. Non-application of other provisions of the Act.—The effect of section 371 (g) is that an exchange, sale, or distribution which is within section 371 shall, with respect to the nonrecognition of gain or loss and the determination of basis, be governed only by Supplement R, the purpose being to prevent overlapping of the provisions of such supplement and other provisions of the Act. In other words, if by virtue of section 371 any portion of a person's gain or loss on any particular exchange, sale or distribution is not to be recognized, then the gain or loss of such person shall be nonrecognized only to the extent provided in section 371, regardless of what the result might have been under section 112 if Supplement R had not been enacted; and similarly, the basis in the hands of such person of the property received by him in such transaction shall be the basis provided by section 372, regardless of what the basis of such property might have been under section 113 if Supplement R had not been enacted. On the other hand, if section 371 does not provide for the nonrecognition of any portion of a person's gain or loss (whether or not such person is another party to the same transaction referred to above), then the gain or loss of such person shall be recognized or nonrecognized to the extent provided for by other provisions of the Act as if Supplement R had not been enacted; and similarly, the basis in his hands of the property received by him in such transaction shall be the basis provided by other provisions of the Act as if Supplement R had not been enacted.

ART. 371–10. Records to be kept and information to be filed with returns.—(a) Every holder of stock or securities who receives stock or securities and other property (including money) upon an exchange shall, if the exchange is made with a corporation acting in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, file as a part of his income tax return for the taxable year in which the exchange takes place a complete statement of all facts pertinent to the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon such exchange, including—

(1) A clear description of the stock or securities transferred in the exchange, together with a statement of the cost or other basis of such stock or securities.

(2) The name and address of the corporation from which the stock or securities were received in the exchange.

(3) A statement of the amount of stock or securities and other property (including money) received from the exchange. The amount of each kind of stock or securities and other property received shall be set forth upon the basis of the fair market value thereof at the date of the exchange.

(b) Each corporation which is a party to an exchange made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission directed to such corporation shall file as a part of its income tax return for its taxable year in which the exchange takes place a complete statement of all facts pertinent to the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon such exchange, including—

(1) A copy of the order of the Securities and Exchange Commission directed to such corporation, in obedience to which the exchange was made.

(2) A certified copy of the corporate resolution authorizing the exchange.

(3) A clear description of all property, including all stock or securities, transferred in the exchange, together with a complete statement of the cost or other basis of each class of property.

(4) The date of acquisition of any stock or securities transferred in the exchange, and, if any of such stock or securities were acquired by the corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, a copy of such order.

(5) The name and address of all persons to whom any property was transferred in the exchange.

(6) If any property transferred in the exchange was transferred to another corporation, a copy of any order of the Securities and Exchange Commission directed to the other corporation, in obedience to which the exchange was made by such other corporation.

(7) If the corporation transfers any nonexempt property, the amount of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, to the time of the exchange.

(8) A statement of the amount of stock or securities and other property (including money) received upon the exchange, including a statement of all distributions or other disposition made thereof. The amount of each kind of stock or securities and other property received shall be stated on the basis of the fair market value thereof at the date of the exchange.

(9) A statement showing as to each class of its stock the number of shares and percentage owned by any other corporation, the voting rights and voting power, and the preference (if any) as to both dividends and assets.

(c) Each shareholder who receives stock or securities or other property (including money) upon a distribution made by a corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission shall file as a part of his income tax return for the taxable year in which such distribution is received a complete statement of all facts pertinent to the nonrecognition of gain upon such distribution, including—

(1) The name and address of the corporation from which the distribution is received.

(2) A statement of the amount of stock or securities or other property received upon the distribution, including (in case the shareholder is a corporation) a statement of all distributions or other disposition made of such stock or securities or other property by the shareholder. The amount of each class of stock or securities and each kind of property shall be stated on the basis of the fair market value thereof at the date of the distribution.

(3) If the shareholder is a corporation, a statement showing as to each class of its stock the number of shares and percentage owned by a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company of a registered holding company, the voting rights and voting power, and the preference (if any) as to both dividends and assets.

(d) Every corporation making a distribution in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission shall file as a part of its income tax return for its taxable year in which the distribution is made a complete statement of all facts pertinent to the nonrecognition of gain to the distributee upon such distribution, including—

(1) A copy of the order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, in obedience to which the distribution was made.

(2) A certified copy of the corporate resolution authorizing the distribution.

(3) A statement of the amount of stock or securities or other property (including money) distributed to each shareholder. The amount of each kind of stock or securities or other property shall be stated on the basis of the fair market value thereof at the date of the distribution.

(4) The date of acquisition of the stock or securities distributed, and, if any of such stock or securities were acquired by the distributing corporation in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, a copy of such order.

(5) The amount of the undistributed earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, to the time of the distribution.

(6) A statement showing as to each class of its stock the number of shares and percentage owned by any other corporation, the voting rights and voting power, and the preference (if any) as to both dividends and assets.

(e) Each corporation which is a member of a system group and which in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission sells stock or securities received upon an exchange (made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission) and applies the proceeds derived therefrom in retirement or cancellation of its own stock or securities shall file as a part of its income tax return for the taxable year in which the sale is made a complete statement of all facts pertaining to the nonrecognition of gain or loss upon such sale, including—

(1) A copy of the order of the Securities and Exchange Commission in obedience to which the sale was made.

(2) A copy of the order of the Securities and Exchange Commission in obedience to which the proceeds derived from the scale were applied in whole or in part in the retirement or cancellation of its stock or securities.

(3) A certified copy of the corporate resolutions authorizing the sale of the stock or securities and the application of the proceeds derived therefrom.

(4) A clear description of the stock or securities sold, including the name and address of the corporation by which they were issued.

(5) The date of acquisition of the stock or securities sold, together with a statement of the fair market value of such stock or securities at the date of acquisition, and a copy of all orders of the Securities and Exchange Commission in obedience to which such stock or securities were acquired.

(6) The amount of the proceeds derived from such sale.

(7) The portion of the proceeds of such sale which was applied in retirement or cancellation of its stock or securities, together with a statement showing how long such stock or securities were outstanding prior to retirement or cancellation.

(8) The issuing price of its stock or securities which were retired or cancelled.

(f) Permanent records in substantial form shall be kept by every taxpayer who participates in an exchange or distribution made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, showing the cost or other basis of the property transferred and the amount of stock or securities and other property (including money) received, in order to facilitate the determination of gain or loss from a subsequent disposition of such stock or securities and other property received on the exchange or distribution.

PART II—BASIS FOR DETERMINING GAIN OR LOSS

SEC. 113. Adjusted basis for determining gain or loss.

(a) Basis (unadjusted) of property.—The basis of property shall be the cost of such property; except that—

* * * * * *

(17) Property acquired in connection with exchanges and distributions in obedience to certian orders of Securities and Exchange Commission.—If the property was acquired in any manner described in section 372, the basis shall be that prescribed in such section with respect to such property.

SEC. 372. Basis for determining gain or loss.

(a) Exchanges generally.—If the property was acquired upon an exchange subject to the provisions of section 371 (a), (b), or (e), the basis shall be the same as in the case of the property exchanged, decreased in the amount of any money received by the taxpayer and increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss to the taxpayer that was recognized upon such exchange under the law applicable to the year in which the exchange was made. If the property so acquired consisted in part of the type of property permitted by section 371 (a) or (b) to be received without the recognition of gain or loss, and in part of nonexempt property, the basis provided in this subsection shall be allocated between the properties (other than money) received, and for the purpose of the allocation there shall be assigned to such nonexempt property (other than money) an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange. This subsection shall not apply to property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration in whole or in part for the transfer of the property to it.

(b) Transfers to corporations.—If, in connection with a transfer subject to the provisions of section 371 (a), (b), or (e), the property was acquired by a corporation, either as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, or in consideration for stock or securities issued by the corporation receiving the property (including cases where part of the consideration for the transfer of such property to the corporation consisted of property or money in addition to such stock or securities), then the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the transferor upon such transfer under the law applicable to the year in which the transfer was made.

(c) Distributions of stock or securities.—If the stock or securities were received in a distribution subject to the provisions of section 371 (c), then the basis in the case of the stock in respect of which the distribution was made shall be apportioned, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, between such stock and the stock or securities distributed.

(d) Transfers within system group.—If the property was acquired by a corporation which is a member of a system group upon a transfer or distribution described in section 371 (d) (1), then the basis shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor; except that if such property is stock or securities issued by the corporation from which such stock or securities were received and they were issued (1) as the sole consideration for the property transferred to such corporation, then the basis of such stock or securities shall be either (A) the same as in the case of the property transferred therefor, or (B) the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt, whichever is the lower; or (2) as part consideration for the property transferred to such corporation, then the basis of such stock or securities shall be either (A) an amount which bears the same ratio to the basis of the property transferred as the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt bears to the total fair market value of the entire consideration received, or (B) the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt, whichever is the lower.

ART. 372–0. Basis for determining gain or loss.—Section 113 (a) (17) provides that if property is acquired in any manner described in section 372, the basis shall be that prescribed in such section with respect to such property. Section 372 therefore expands section 113 (a) in order to make adequate provisions with respect to the basis of property acquired in a transfer made in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission in connection with which the recognition of gain or loss is prohibited by the provisions of section 112 (b) (8) and section 371 with respect to the whole or any part of the property received. In general, it is intended that the basis for determining gain or loss pertaining to the property prior to its transfer, as well as the basis for determining the amount of depreciation or depletion deductible and the amount of earnings or profits available for distribution, shall continue notwithstanding the nontaxable conversion of the asset in form or its change in ownership. The continuance of the basis may be reflected in a shift thereof from one asset to another in the hands of the same owner, or in its transfer with the property from one owner into the hands of another. See also article 371–1 of these regulations.

ART. 372–1. Basis of property acquired upon exchanges under section 371 (a), 371 (b), or 371 (e).—In the case of an exchange of stock or securities for stock or securities as described in section 371 (a), or an exchange of property for property as described in section 371 (b), if no part of the gain or loss upon such exchange was recognized under section 371, the basis of the property acquired is the same as the basis of the property transferred by the taxpayer with proper adjustments to the date of the exchange.

If, in an exchange of stock or securities as described in section 371 (a) or in an exchange of property for property as described in section 371 (b), gain to the taxpayer was recognized under section 371 (e), on account of the receipt of money, the basis of the property acquired is the basis of the property transferred (adjusted to the date of the exchange), decreased by the amount of money received and increased by the amount of gain recognized upon the exchange. If, upon such exchange, there were received by the taxpayer money and other nonexempt property (not permitted to be received without the recognition of gain), and gain from the transaction was recognized under section 371 (e), the basis (adjusted to the date of the exchange) of the property transferred by the taxpayer, decreased by the amount of money received and increased by the amount of gain recognized, must be apportioned to and is the basis of the properties (other than money) received on the exchange. For the purpose of the allocation of such basis to the properties received, there must be assigned to the nonexempt property (other than money) an amount equivalent to its fair market value at the date of the exchange.

Section 371 (e) provides that no loss may be recognized on an exchange of stock or securities for stock or securities as described in section 371 (a), or on an exchange of property for property as described in section 371 (b), although the taxpayer receives money or other nonexempt property from the transaction. However, the basis of the property (other than money) received by the taxpayer is the basis (adjusted to the date of the exchange) of the property transferred, decreased by the amount of money received. This basis must be apportioned to the properties received, and for this purpose there must be allocated to the nonexempt property (other than money) an amount of such basis equivalent to the fair market value of such nonexempt property at the date of the exchange.

Section 372 (a) does not apply in ascertaining the basis of property acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities as the consideration in whole or in part for the transfer of the property to it. For the rule in such cases, see section 372 (b).

ART. 372–2. Basis of property acquired by corporation under section 371 (a), 371 (b), or 371 (e) as contribution of capital or surplus, or in consideration for its own stock or securities.—If in connection with an exchange of stock or securities for stock or securities as described in section 371 (a), or an exchange of property for property as described in section 371 (b), or an exchange as described in section 371 (e), property is acquired by a corporation by the issuance of its stock or securities, the basis of such property shall be determined under section 372 (b). If the corporation issued its stock or securities as part or sole consideration for the property acquired, the basis of the property in the hands of the acquiring corporation is the basis (adjusted to the date of the exchange) which the property would have had in the hands of the transferor if the transfer had not been made, increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized under section 371 to the transferor upon the transfer. If any property is acquired by a corporation from a shareholder as paid-in surplus, or from any person as a contribution to capital, the basis of the property to the corporation is the basis (adjusted to the date of acquisition) of the property in the hands of the transferor.

ART. 372–3. Basis of stock or securities acquired by shareholder upon tax-free distribution under section 371 (c).—Under section 372 (c), if there was distributed to a shareholder in a corporation which is a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company stock or securities (other than stock or securities which are nonexempt property), and if by virtue of section 371 (c) no gain was recognized to the shareholder upon such distribution, then the basis of the stock in respect of which the distribution was made must be apportioned between such stock and the stock or securities so distributed to the shareholder. The basis of the old shares and the stock or securities received upon the distribution shall be determined in accordance with the following rules:

(1) If the stock or securities received upon the distribution consist solely of stock in the distributing corporation and the stock received is all of substantially the same character and preference as the stock in respect of which the distribution is made, the basis of each share will be the quotient of the cost or other basis of the old shares of stock divided by the total number of the old and the new shares.

(2) If the stock or securities received upon the distribution is in whole or in part stock in a corporation other than the distributing corporation, or is in whole or in part stock of a character or preference materially different from the stock in respect of which the distribution is made, or if the distribution consists in whole or in part of securities other than stock, the cost or other basis of the stock in respect of which the distribution is made shall be apportioned between such stock and the stock or securities distributed in proportion, as nearly as may be, to the respective values of each class of stock or security, old and new, at the time of such distribution, and the basis of each share of stock or unit of security will be the quotient of the cost or other basis of the class of stock or security to which such share or unit belongs, divided by the number of shares or units in the class. Within the meaning of the foregoing provisions stocks or securities in one corporation are different in class from stocks or securities in another corporation, and, in general, any material difference in character or preference or terms sufficient to distinguish one stock or security from another stock or security so that different values may properly be assigned thereto, will constitute a difference in class. As to the basis of stock or securities distributed by one member of a system group to another member of the same system group, see section 372 (d).

of stock or securities or other property | tion made in obedience to an order of | such corporation, then the basis of such

ART. 372–4. Basis of property acquired under section 371 (d) in transactions between corporations of the same system group.—If property was acquired by a corporation which is a member of a system group, from a corporation which is a member of the same system group, upon a transfer or distribution described in section 371 (d) (1), then as a general rule the basis of such property in the hands of the acquiring corporation is the basis which such property would have had in the hands of the transferor if the transfer or distribution had not been made.

Except as otherwise indicated in this article, this rule will apply equally to cases in which the consideration for the property acquired consists of stock or securities, money, and other property, or any of them, but it is contemplated that an ultimate true reflection of income will be obtained in all cases, notwithstanding any peculiarities in form which the various transactions may assume. See the example in article 371–5 of these regulations.

An exception to this general rule is provided for in case the property acquired consists of stock or securities issued by the corporation from which such stock or securities were received. If such stock or securities were the sole consideration for the property transferred to the corporation issuing such stock or securities, then the basis of the stock or securities shall be (1) the same as the basis (adjusted to the time of the transfer) of the property transferred for such stock or securities, or (2) the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt, whichever is the lower. If such stock or securities constituted only part consideration for the property transferred to the corporation issuing such stock or securities, then the basis shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the basis of the property transferred as the fair market value of such stock or securities on their receipt bears to the total fair market value of the entire consideration received, except that the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt shall be the basis therefor, if such value is lower than such amount.

Example.—Suppose the A Corporation has property with an adjusted basis of $600,000, and in an exchange in which section 371 (d) (1) is applicable, transfers such property to the B Corporation in exchange for a total consideration of $1,000,000, consisting of (1) cash in the amount of $100,000, (2) tangible property having a fair market value of $400,000 and an adjusted basis in the hands of the B Corporation of $300,000, and (3) stock or securities issued by the B Corporation with a par value and a fair market value as of the date of their receipt in the amount of $500,000. The basis to the B Corporation of the property received by it is $600,000, which is the adjusted basis of such property in the hands of the A Corporation. The basis to the A Corporation of the assets (other than cash) received by it is as follows: Tangible property, $300,000, the adjusted basis of such property to the B Corporation, the former owner; stock or securities issued by the B Corporation, $300,000, an amount equal to 500,000/1,000,000 of $600,000.

Suppose that the property of the A Corporation transferred to the B Corporation had an adjusted basis of $1,100,000 instead of $600,000, and that all other factors in the illustration in the preceding paragraph remain the same. In such case the basis to the A Corporation of the stock or securities in the B Corporation is $500,000 which was the fair market value of such stock or securities at the time of their receipt by the A Corporation, and not the amount established as 500,000/1,000,000ths of $1,100,000, or $550,000.

PART III—DEFINITIONS

As used in this supplement—

(a) The term "order of the Securities and Exchange Commission" means an order (1) issued after the date of enactment of this Act and prior to January 1, 1940, by the Securities and Exchange Commission to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, or (2) issued by the Commission subsequent to December 31, 1939, in which it is expressly stated that an order of the character specified in clause (1) is amended or supplemented, and (3) which has become final in accordance with law.

(b) The terms "registered holding company", "holding-company system", and "associate company" shall have the meanings assigned to them by section 2 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

(c) The term "majority-owned subsidiary company" of a registered holding company means a corporation, stock of which, representing in the aggregate more than 50 per centum of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation entitled to vote (not including stock which is entitled to vote only upon default or nonpayment of dividends or other special circumstances) is owned wholly by such registered holding company, or partly by such registered holding company and partly by one or more majority-owned subsidiary companies thereof, or by one or more majority-owned subsidiary companies of such registered holding company.

(1) At least 90 per centum of each class of the stock (other than stock which is preferred as to both dividends and assets) of each of the corporations (except the common parent corporation) is owned directly by one or more of the other corporations; and

(2) The common parent corporation owns directly at least 90 per centum of each class of the stock (other than stock which is preferred as to both dividends and assets) of at least one of the other corporations; and

(3) Each of the corporations is either a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company.

(e) The term "nonexempt property" means—

(3) Securities issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by a government or subdivision thereof (including those issued by a corporation which is an instrumentality of a government or subdivision thereof);

(5) Money, and the right to receive money not evidenced by a security other than an obligation described as nonexempt property in paragraph (2) or (3).

(f) The term "stock or securities" means shares of stock in any corporation, certificates of stock or interest in any corporation, notes, bonds, debentures, and evidences of indebtedness (including any evidence of an interest in or right to subscribe to or purchase any of the foregoing).

ART. 373–1. Definition.—(a) "Order of the Securities and Exchange Commission."—An order of the Securities and Exchange Commission as defined in section 373 (a) must be issued after May 28, 1938 (the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1938) and must be issued under the authority of section 11 (b) or 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of such Act (or must amend or supplement an order so issued and expressly state that it amends or supplements such an order). In all cases the order must have become final in accordance with law; i.e., it must be valid, outstanding, and not subject to further appeal. See further sections 373 (a) and 371 (f). Section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 provides:

(b) It shall be the duty of the Commission, as soon as practicable after January 1, 1938:

(1) To require by order, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that each registered holding company, and each subsidiary company thereof, shall take such action as the Commission shall find necessary to limit the operations of the holding-company system of which such company is a part to a single integrated public-utility system, and to such other businesses as are reasonably incidental or economically necessary or appropriate to the operations of such integrated public-utility system: Provided, however, That the Commission shall permit a registered holding company to continue to control one or more additional integrated public-utility systems, if, after notice and opportunity for hearing, it finds that—

(A) Each of such additional systems cannot be operated as an independent system without the loss of substantial economies which can be secured by the retention of control by such holding company of such system;

(B) All of such additional systems are located in one State, or in adjoining States, or in a contiguous foreign country; and

(C) The continued combination of such systems under the control of such holding company is not so large (considering the state of the art and the area or region affected) as to impair the advantages of localized management, efficient operation, or the effectiveness of regulation.

The Commission may permit as reasonably incidental, or economically necessary or appropriate to the operations of one or more integrated public-utility systems the retention of an interest in any business

(other than the business of a public-utility company as such) which the Commission shall find necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers and not detrimental to the proper functioning of such system or systems.

(2) To require by order, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that each registered holding company, and each subsidiary company thereof, shall take such steps as the Commission shall find necessary to ensure that the corporate structure or continued existence of any company in the holding-company system does not unduly or unnecessarily complicate the structure, or unfairly or inequitably distribute voting power among security holders, of such holding-company system. In carrying out the provisions of this paragraph the Commission shall require each registered holding company (and any company in the same holding-company system with such holding company) to take such action as the Commission shall find necessary in order that such holding company shall cease to be a holding company with respect to each of its subsidiary companies which itself has a subsidiary company which is a holding company. Except for the purpose of fairly and equitably distributing voting power among the security holders of such company, nothing in this paragraph shall authorize the Commission to require any change in the corporate structure or existence of any company which is not a holding company, or of any company whose principal business is that of a public-utility company.

The Commission may by order revoke or modify any order previously made under this subsection, if, after notice and opportunity for hearing, it finds that the conditions upon which the order was predicated do not exist. Any order made under this subsection shall be subject to judicial review as provided in section 24.

Section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 provides:

(e) In accordance with such rules and regulations or order as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers, any registered holding company or any subsidiary company of a registered holding company may, at any time after January 1, 1936, submit a plan to the Commission for the divestment of control, securities, or other assets, or for other action by such company or any subsidiary company thereof for the purpose of enabling such company or any subsidiary company thereof to comply with the provisions of subsection (b). If, after notice and opportunity for hearing, the Commission shall find such plan, as submitted or as modified, necessary to effectuate the provisions of subsection (b) and fair and equitable to the persons affected by such plan, the Commission shall make an order approving such plan; and the Commission, at the request of the company, may apply to a court, in accordance with the provisions of subsection (f) of section 18, to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of such plan. If, upon any such application, the court, after notice and opportunity for hearing, shall approve such plan as fair and equitable and as appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11, the court as a court of equity may, to such extent as it deems necessary for the purpose of carrying out the terms and provisions of such plan, take exclusive jurisdiction and possession of the company or companies and the assets thereof, wherever located; and the court shall have jurisdiction to appoint a trustee, and the court may constitute and appoint the Commission as sole trustee, to hold or administer, under the direction of the court and in accordance with the plan theretofore approved by the court and the Commission, the assets so possessed.

(b) "Registered holding company," "holding-company system," and "associate company."—Under section 5 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 any holding company may register by filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission a notification of registration, in such form as the Commission may by rules and regulations prescribe as necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers. A holding company shall be deemed to be registered upon receipt by the Securities and Exchange Commission of such notification of registration. The term "registered holding company" as used in these regulations means a holding company whose notification of registration has been so received and whose registration is still in effect under section 5 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. Under section 2 (a) (7) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, a corporation is a holding company (unless it is declared not to be such by the Securities and Exchange Commission), if such corporation directly or indirectly owns, controls, or holds with power to vote 10 percent or more of the outstanding voting securities of a public-utility company (i. e., an electric utility company or a gas utility company as defined by such Act) or of any other holding company. A corporation is also a holding company if the Securities and Exchange Commission determines, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that such corporation directly or indirectly exercises (either alone or pursuant to an arrangement or understanding with one or more other persons) such a controlling influence over the management or policies of any public-utility company (i. e., an electric utility company or a gas utility company as defined by such Act) or holding company as to make it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that such corporation be subject to the obligations, duties, and liabilities imposed upon holding companies by the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. An electric utility company is defined by section 2 (a) (3) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 to mean a company which owns or operates facilities used for the generation, transmission, or distribution to tenants, or employees of the other than sale to tenants or employees of the company operating such facilities for their own use and not for resale; and a gas utility company is defined by section 2 (a) (4) of such Act to mean a company which owns or operates facilities used for the distribution at retail (other than distribution only in enclosed portable containers, or distribution to tenants or employees of the company operating such facilities for their own use and not for resale) of natural or manufactured gas for heat, light, or power. However, under certain conditions the Securities and Exchange Commission may declare a company not to be an electric utility company or a gas utility company, as the case may be, in which event the company shall not be considered an electric utility company or a gas utility company.

The term "holding company system" has the meaning assigned to it by section 2 (a) (9) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and hence means any holding company, together with all its subsidiary companies (i. e., subsidiary companies within the meaning of section 2 (a) (8) of such Act, which in general include all companies 10 percent of whose outstanding voting securities is owned directly or indirectly by such holding company) and all mutual service companies of which such holding company or any subsidiary company thereof is a member company. The term "mutual service company" means a company approved as a mutual service company under section 13 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935. The term "member company" is defined by section 2 (a) (14) of such Act to mean a company which is a member of an association or group of companies mutually served by a mutual service company.

The term "associate company" has the meaning assigned to it by section 2 (a) (10) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and hence an associate company of a company is any company in the same holding-company system with such company.

(c) "Majority-owned subsidiary company."—The term "majority-owned subsidiary company" is defined in section 373 (c). Direct ownership by a registered holding company of more than 50 percent of the specified stock of another corporation is not necessary to constitute such corporation a majority-owned subsidiary company. To illustrate, if the H Corporation, a registered holding company, owns 51 percent of the common stock of the A Corporation and 31 percent of the common stock of the B Corporation, and the A Corporation owns 20 percent of the common stock of the B Corporation (the common stock in each case being the only stock entitled to vote), both the A Corporation and the B Corporation are majority-owned subsidiary companies.

(d) "System group."—The term "system group" is defined in section 373 (d) to mean one or more chains of corporations connected through stock ownership with a common parent corporation, if at least 90 percent of each class of stock (other than stock preferred as to both dividends and assets) of each of the corporations (except the common parent corporation) is owned directly by one or more of the other corporations and the common parent corporation owns directly at least 90 percent of each class of such stock of at least one of the other corporations; but no corporation is a member of a system group if it is not either a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company. It is to be observed that while the type of stock which must be at least 90 percent owned for the purpose of this definition (i. e., stock not preferred as to both dividends and assets) may be different from the voting stock which must be more than 50 percent owned for the purpose of the definition of a majority-owned subsidiary company under section 373 (c), yet as a general rule both types of ownership tests must be met under section 373 (d), since a corporation, in order to be a member of a system group, must also be a registered holding company or a majority-owned subsidiary company.

(e) "Nonexempt property."—The term "nonexempt property" is defined by section 373 (e) to include—

(1) The amount of any consideration in the form of a cancellation or assumption of debts or other liabilities (including a continuance of encumbrances subject to which the property was transferred). To illustrate, if in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission the X Corporation, a registered holding company, transfers property to the Y Corporation in exchange for property (not nonexempt property) with a fair market value of $500,000, the X Corporation receives $100,000 of nonexempt property if, for example,

(A) The Y Corporation cancels $100,000 of indebtedness owed to it by the X Corporation;

(B) The Y Corporation assumes an indebtedness of $100,000 owed by the X Corporation to another company, the A Corporation; or

(C) The Y Corporation takes over the property conveyed to it by the X Corporation subject to a mortgage of $100,000.

(2) Short-term obligations (including notes, drafts, bills of exchange, and bankers' acceptances) having a maturity at the time of issuance of not exceeding 24 months, exclusive of days of grace.

(3) Securities issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by a government or subdivision thereof (including those issued by a corporation which is an instrumentality of a government or subdivision thereof).

(4) Stock or securities which were acquired after February 28, 1938, unless such stock or securities were acquired in obedience to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission (as defined in section 373 (a)) and are not nonexempt property within the meaning of section 373 (e) (2) or (3).

(5) Money, and the right to receive money not evidenced by a security other than an obligation described as nonexempt property in section 373 (e) (2) or (3). The term "the right to receive money" includes, among other items, accounts receivable, claims for damages, and rights to refunds of taxes.

(f) "Stock or securities."—The term "stock or securities" is defined in section 373 (f) for the purposes of sections 371 to 373, inclusive. As therein defined the term includes voting trust certificates and stock rights or warrants.

The industry committee shall recommend such reasonable classifications as it determines to be necessary for the purpose of fixing for each classification within such industry the highest minimum-wage rate (not in excess of 40 cents an hour) which (1) will not substantially curtail employment in such classifications, and (2) will not give competitive advantage to any group in the industry, and shall recommend for each classification in the industry the highest minimum-wage rate which the committee determines will not substantially curtail employment in such classifications. In determining whether such classifications should be made in the industry, in making such classifications, and in determining the minimum-wage rate for such classifications, no classification shall be made and no minimum-wage rate shall be fixed solely on a regional basis, but the industry committee shall consider among other relevant factors the following:

(1) Competitive conditions as affected by transportation, living, and production costs;

Upon the application of the Attorney General of the United States, at the request of the commission, the district courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus commanding any person or corporation to comply with the provisions of this Act or any order of the commission made in pursuance thereof.

But no natural person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may testify, or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before the commission in obedience to a subpoena issued by it: Provided, That no natural person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

Any person who shall willfully make, or cause to be made, any false entry or statement of fact in any report required to be made under this Act, or who shall willfully make, or cause to be made, any false entry in any account, record, or memorandum kept by any corporation subject to this Act, or who shall willfully neglect or fail to make, or to cause to be made, full, true, and correct entries in such accounts, records, or memoranda of all facts and transactions appertaining to the business of such corporation, or who shall willfully remove out of the jurisdiction of the United States, or willfully mutilate, alter, or by any other means falsify any documentary evidence of such corporation, or who shall willfully refuse to submit to the commission or to any of its authorized agents, for the purpose of inspection and taking copies, any documentary evidence of such corporation in his possession or within his control, shall be deemed guilty of an offense against the United States, and shall be subject, upon conviction in any court of the United States of competent jurisdiction, to a fine of not less than $1,000 nor more than $5,000, or to imprisonment for a term of not more than three years, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

If any corporation required by this Act to file any annual or special report shall fail so to do within the time fixed by the commission for filing the same, and such failure shall continue for thirty days after notice of such default, the corporation shall forfeit to the United States the sum of $100 for each and every day of the continuance of such failure, which forfeiture shall be payable into the Treasury of the United States, and shall be recoverable in a civil suit in the name of the United States brought in the district where the corporation has its principal office or in any district in which it shall do business. It shall be the duty of the various district attorneys, under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States, to prosecute for the recovery of forfeitures. The costs and expenses of such prosecution shall be paid out of the appropriation for the expenses of the courts of the United States.

Any officer or employee of the commission who shall make public any information obtained by the commission without its authority, unless directed by a court, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Whereas, subsection (c) of section 301 of said act provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, as follows:

(c) That there shall not have been marketed (or processed) an amount (in terms of planted acreage, weight, or recoverable sugar content) of sugar beets or sugarcane grown on the farm and used for the production of sugar or liquid sugar to be marketed in, or so as to compete with or otherwise directly affect interstate or foreign commerce, in excess of the proportionate share for the farm, as determined by the Secretary pursuant to the provisions of section 302, of the total quantity of sugar beets or sugarcane required to be processed to enable the area in which such sugar beets or sugarcane are produced to meet the quota (and provide a normal carryover inventory) as estimated by the Secretary for such area for the calendar year during which the larger part of the sugar or liquid sugar from such crop normally would be marketed.

Now, therefore, pursuant to the foregoing sections of the said act, I, M. L. Wilson, Acting Secretary of Agriculture, do hereby determine:

A. That the "Determination of Proportionate Shares for Sugarcane Producers in Puerto Rico for the Crop Years 1938 and 1939, Pursuant to the Sugar Act of 1937", issued January 11, 1938,[1] be, and the same is hereby, amended as follows:

1. The 1939 proportionate share shall be calculated by multiplying the 1938 base (as defined in the said determination, or as may be established pursuant to the provisions of 2 and 3 below) of each grower by a fraction whose numerator shall be 845,739 and whose denominator shall be the sum of all the aforesaid 1938 bases.

2. Any grower who, under the said determination, received a 1938 proportionate share of less than 15 tons of sugar, raw value, shall be entitled, upon proper application, to increase his 1938 base to an amount equal to his 1938 production, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, but in no event shall such base be more than 15 tons of sugar, raw value.

3. Those growers who would have been entitled to an allotment under the 1935–36 production adjustment program if they had been producing sugar in those years, and who have sugarcane under cultivation in 1939, shall, upon proper application, be entitled to a 1938 base equal to:

(i) 33 percent of the best option available to such growers under the said 1935–36 production adjustment program, or

(ii) the lesser of either:

(a) 15 tons of sugar, raw value, or

(b) the number of short tons of sugar, raw value, obtained by multiplying the number of acres of sugarcane growing in 1939 by 3.

The option herein made available to such growers shall lapse if no part of the 1940 proportionate share resulting therefrom is filled during the crop year 1940.

B. That the proportionate shares for sugarcane producers in Puerto Rico for the crop year 1940 shall be established on the following bases:

I

1. For a producer for whom a 1939 proportionate share is established, pursuant to the provisions of the "Determination of Proportionate Shares for Sugarcane Producers in Puerto Rico for the Crop Years 1938 and 1939, Pursuant to the Sugar Act of 1937", issued January 11, 1938, as amended, such proportionate share shall constitute his 1939 base and his proportionate share for the 1940 crop year shall be calculated in terms of short tons of sugar, raw value, by multiplying such 1939 base by a fraction whose numerator shall be the sum of the initial sugar quotas established for Puerto Rico for the calendar year 1940, pursuant to sections 201 and 203 of the said act, plus (or minus) such adjustment as may be required to provide a normal carryover inventory for Puerto Rico, pursuant to section 302 (a) of the said act, and whose denominator shall be the total of all such 1939 bases, plus the total of the 1939 bases determined for new growers[1] as provided in 2 and 3 below.

A producer for whom a 1939 proportionate share is established as aforesaid, and who grows sugarcane on land covered by a 1939 proportionate share but from which no sugarcane was harvested during any one of the crop years 1931, 1932, 1934, or any subsequent crop year, may be considered as a new grower for 1940 with respect to such new production, and as such shall be entitled to increase his 1939 base in accordance with the provisions of 2 and 3 below.

2. For a producer for whom a 1939 proportionate share is not established as aforesaid, and whose 1940 production, as estimated by the Secretary of Agriculture, is 15 tons of sugar, raw value, or less, such production shall constitute his 1939 base, and the 1940 proportionate share of such producer shall be calculated, in terms of short tons of sugar, raw value, by adjusting his 1939 base in the manner specified in 1 above.

3. For a producer for whom a 1939 proportionate share is not established as aforesaid, and whose current production, as estimated by the Secretary of Agriculture, is more than 15 tons of sugar, raw value, the 1940 proportionate share shall be calculated in the manner specified in 1 above from a base determined as follows:

Fifteen tons, plus an amount determined by multiplying the first ton of such estimated production in excess of 15 tons by 98 per centum, and thereafter by multiplying each successive ton by a percentage figure which shall be progressively reduced by 2 per centum for every such ton.

II

1. In the event that a producer wishes to be considered as a new grower for 1940, application must be made at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

2. In the event that a proportionate share for 1940, established in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this determination, is not filled, the unfilled portion thereof shall be prorated, on the basis of the proportionate shares then in effect, among all of the producers within the same mill area who are able to supply such unfilled portion.

In addition to the foregoing, the following conditions shall be met:

1. That no change shall have been made in the leasing or cropping agreements for the purpose of, or which shall have the effect of, diverting to any producer any payment to which tenants or share-croppers would be entitled if the 1939 leasing or cropping agreements were in effect.

2. That there shall have been no interference by any producer with contracts heretofore entered into by tenants or share-croppers for the sale of their sugarcane.

IV

The Chief, or the Acting Chief, of the Sugar Division of the Department of Agriculture, and the Officer in Charge of the San Juan office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, or the Acting Officer in Charge thereof, are hereby designated to act, jointly or severally, as agents of the Secretary of Agriculture in administering the provisions of this determination.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of November 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

CONDITION OF THE APPORTIONMENT AT CLOSE OF BUSINESS TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1938

Important.—Although the apportioned classified civil service is by law located only in Washington, D. C., it nevertheless includes only about half of the Federal Civilian positions in the District of Columbia. Positions in local post offices, customs districts, and other field services outside of the District of Columbia which are subject to the Civil Service Act are filled almost wholly by persons who are local residents of the general community in which the vacancies exist. It should be noted and understood that so long as a person occupies, by original appointment, a position in the apportioned service, the charge for his appointment continues to run against his State of original residence. Certifications of eligibles are first made from States which are in arrears.

VOLUME 3 NUMBER 227

Washington, Tuesday, November 22, 1938

THANKSGIVING DAY—1938

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fourth of November, 1938, as a day of general thanksgiving.

Our Fathers set aside such a day as they hewed a nation from the primeval forest. The observance was consecrated when George Washington issued a Thanksgiving proclamation in the first year of his presidency. Abraham Lincoln set apart "a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens."

Thus from our earliest recorded history, Americans have thanked God for their blessings. In our deepest natures, in our very souls, we, like all mankind since the earliest origin of mankind, turn to God in time of trouble and in time of happiness. "In God We Trust."

For the blessings which have been ours during the present year we have ample cause to be thankful.

Our lands have yielded a goodly harvest, and the toiler in shop and mill receives a more just return for his labor.

We have cherished and preserved our democracy.

We have lived in peace and understanding with our neighbors and have seen the world escape the impending disaster of a general war.

In the time of our fortune it is fitting that we offer prayers for unfortunate people in other lands who are in dire distress at this our Thanksgiving Season.

Let us remember them in our families and our churches when, on the day appointed, we offer our thanks to Almighty God. May we by our way of living merit the continuance of His goodness.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this nineteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred [SEAL] and thirty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-third.

FRANKLIN D ROOSEVELT

By the President:

CORDELL HULL
Secretary of State.

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION

1938-39 COTTON CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 4

NOVEMBER 9, 1938.

Reports received by the Washington office of the Corporation indicate that there has been a material increase in the number of instances in which producers have obtained loans without disclosing the existence of prior liens upon the pledged cotton. A majority of the cases reported relate to crop mortgages, running to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, in connection with loans made through the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Offices.

The Farm Credit Administration is cooperating in this matter by undertaking to have the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Offices furnish all banks in their respective territories with an alphabetical list of their borrowers. Banks and other lending agencies will be expected to check against any such lists of producers which they may have been furnished as having outstanding liens against their 1938 crop before completing loans under the 1938-39 cotton loan program. Banks and other lending agencies making these loans should obtain these lists. Producers should also be questioned specifically concerning their status as landowner, landlord or tenant, as the Printed Instructions (1938-39 CCC Cotton Form 1) [1] require the execution of the lien waiver by the landlord in all instances in which the borrower is the tenant.

It has also been reported that in some instances cotton has been purchased from producers and loans obtained by forging the producer's signature on the note or the use of fictitious names. Attention of lending agencies is again called to their warranty as to the genuineness of signatures with respect to notes purchased by Commodity Credit Corporation.

Attention of banks and other lending agencies is also called to the provisions of the Printed Instructions and the Contract to Purchase which require the completion of the advice of loan slips and the prompt forwarding of same to the Washington office of Commodity Credit Corporation with respect to all loans made on 1938-39 CCC Cotton Form A.

Treasurer.

Section I is hereby amended to read as follows:

SECTION I. Rates of range-building payments.—Subject to the conditions set forth in subsection A-1 below, payments will be made for the performance of limited grazing on range land, if approved by the county committee for the ranching unit prior to its institution, during the year 1938. Within the limits of that part of the range-building allowance remaining after applying the provisions of subsection A-1 below, and subject to the conditions set forth in the remaining subsections, there will be paid for carrying out in 1938 on range land such of the range-building practices as are approved by the county committee for the ranching unit prior to their institution.

Practices and Conditions of Payment—Rate of Payment

PRACTICE A. Reseeding of range land.—A-1. Natural reseeding by limited grazing.

a. Ranches designated as not overgrazed.

(1) If no goal is established for the ranching unit by the county committee or if a goal is established by the county committee for the ranching unit and the operator fails to fully comply with the provisions thereof: 40% of the range-building allowance, computed under Section II, subsection A.

(2) If a goal is established for the ranching unit by the county committee and if the operator fully complies with the provisions thereof: 60% of the range-building allowance, computed under Section II, subsection A.

b. Ranches designated as overgrazed.

(1) If no goal is established for the ranching unit by the county committee or if a goal is established by the county committee for the ranching unit and the operator fails to fully comply with the provisions thereof: 60% of the range-building allowance, computed under Section II, subsection A.

(2) If a goal is established for the ranching unit by the county committee and if the operator fully complies with the provisions thereof: 75% of the range-building allowance, computed under Section II, subsection A.

c. For the purposes of this subsection A-1, the county committee shall determine the ranching units in the county which are overgrazed and those not overgrazed. In making such determination with respect to a ranching unit, the county committee shall give consideration to the following: Varieties, palatability, and density of forage growth; climatic fluctuations; distribution and character of watering facilities; topographic and cultural features, presence or absence of rodents and poisonous plants infestations; the number and classes of livestock currently grazed upon such ranching unit, and other similar factors.

d. The provisions of this subsection A-1, subparagraphs b and c, shall be applicable only during 1938 and 1939. In 1940, the rates for all ranches will be as prescribed under subparagraphs a (1) and a (2) above.

e. The goal provided for in this subsection A-1 shall be established by the county committee and shall consist of conditions and specifications other than those listed in this bulletin, and in addition to limited grazing, which the county committee determines are necessary on the ranch either to support and complement the effective conservation use to be made of the range in connection with such range-building practices as are contained in this bulletin or to assist in connection with limited grazing in bringing about on the ranching unit such use of the forage resources as will more effectively carry out the purposes of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act. The county committee's determination with respect to goals shall be based on conservative range management, forage and feed resources of the ranch, topographic and cultural features, utilization of forage by wildlife and the extent to which the resources of the ranch have been utilized in a conservative manner.

A-2. Artificial reseeding: $0.20 per pound of seed sown, but not in excess of $2.00 per acre.

PRACTICE C. Development of stock water on range land.—C-5. Earthen tanks or reservoirs: $0.15 per cubic yard of fill or excavation.

Payment will not be made for a well developed at ranching unit headquarters: $1.00 per linear foot.

C-8. Development of natural watering places. For developing springs or seeps, protecting the source from trampling and conveying the water in a trough or in a pipe not less than one inch in diameter to a tank, for the purpose of providing water for range livestock.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

[T. D. 4875]

INCOME TAX

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE RECOGNITION OF GAIN ON CERTAIN CORPORATE LIQUIDATIONS

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

PARAGRAPH A. Section 112 (b) (7) of the Revenue Act of 1938, enacted May 28, 1938 (Public No. 554, Seventy-fifth Congress, Chapter 289, third session), provides:

PAR. B. Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 62 and 112 (b) (7) of the Revenue Act of 1938, the following regulations are prescribed with respect to the recognition and treatment of gain or qualified electing shareholders upon the complete liquidation of a domestic corporation occurring within the month of December, 1938, the sections referred to therein being sections of the Revenue Act of 1938:

ARTICLE 112 (b) (7)–1. Corporate liquidations in December, 1938.—(a) General.—Section 112 (b) (7) provides a special rule, in the case of certain specifically described complete liquidations of domestic corporations occurring within the month of December, 1938, for the treatment of gain on the shares of stock owned by qualified electing shareholders on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation. The effect of such section is in general to postpone the recognition of that portion of a qualified electing shareholder's gain on the liquidation which would otherwise be recognized and which is attributable to appreciation in the value of certain corporate assets unrealized by the corporation at the time such assets are distributed in complete liquidation. Only qualified electing shareholders are entitled to the benefits of section 112 (b) (7). The determination of who is a qualified electing shareholder is to be made under section 112 (b) (7) (C) and article 112 (b) (7)–2 of these regulations. For the basis of property received on such liquidations, see section 113 (a) (18).

(b) Type of liquidation.—The liquidation must be in pursuance of a plan of liquidation adopted after May 28, 1938. Such plan may be adopted at any time after May 28, 1938, and before the first distribution under the liquidation occurs, even though the date of adoption falls in a taxable year of the liquidating corporation to which the Revenue Act of 1936 applies. The Act specifically requires that the distribution be in complete cancelation or redemption of all the stock of the corporation. The Act also requires that the transfer of all the property, both tangible and intangible, of the corporation under the liquidation occur entirely within the month of December, 1938, but if proper arrangements are made in good faith for the payment, after December 31, 1938, of unascertained or contingent liabilities and expenses, this requirement will be considered to have been complied with. The assets reserved for this purpose must be in cash and must be reasonable in amount. Though it is not necessary that the corporation dissolve in December, 1938, it is essential that a status of liquidation exist at the time the first distribution is made under the plan and that such status continue to the date of dissolution of the corporation. A status of liquidation exists when the corporation ceases to be a going concern and its activities are merely for the purpose of winding up its affairs, paying its debts, and distributing any remaining balance to its shareholders.

If a transaction constitutes a distribution in complete liquidation within the meaning of the Act and satisfies the requirements of section 112 (b) (7), it is immaterial that it is otherwise described under the local law.

ART. 112 (b) (7)–2. Qualified electing shareholder.—No corporate shareholder may be a qualified electing shareholder if at any time between April 9, 1938, and the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation, both dates inclusive, it is the owner of stock of the liquidating corporation possessing 50 percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote upon the adoption of the plan of liquidation. All other shareholders are divided into two groups for the purposes of determining whether they are qualified electing shareholders: (a) shareholders other than corporations, and (b) corporate shareholders. Any shareholder of either of such two groups (whether or not the stock he owns is entitled to vote on the adoption of the plan of liquidation) is a qualified electing shareholder if—

(1) His written election to be governed by the provisions of section 112 (b) (7) (which can not be withdrawn or revoked) has been made and filed as prescribed in article 112 (b) (7)–3 of these regulations; and

(2) Like elections have been made and filed by owners of stock possessing at least 80 percent of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock owned by shareholders of the same group on the date of, and entitled to vote upon, the adoption of the plan of liquidation.

Example.—The R Corporation has outstanding 20 shares of common stock on July 1, 1938, the date of the adoption of a plan of liquidation within the provisions of section 112 (b) (7), each entitled to one vote upon the adoption of such plan of liquidation. Ten of such shares are owned by the S Corporation, two each by the X Corporation and the Y Corporation, one by the Z Corporation, and one each by A, B, C, D, and E, individuals. There are also outstanding two shares of preferred stock, not entitled to vote on liquidation, one share being owned by F, an individual, and one share by the P Corporation. The S Corporation, being a corporate shareholder and the owner of 50 percent of the voting stock, may not be a qualified electing shareholder under any circumstances. In order for any other corporate shareholder to be a qualified electing shareholder, it is necessary that the X Corporation and the Y Corporation file their written elections to be governed by section 112 (b) (7). If this is done, the P Corporation will also be a qualified electing shareholder if it has filed a like election. Similarly, in the case of the individual shareholders, some combination of four of the individual holders of the common stock must have filed their written elections, before any individual shareholder may be considered a qualified electing shareholder, but if this is done, F will also be a qualified electing shareholder if he has filed a like election.

An election to be governed by the provisions of section 112 (b) (7) relates to the treatment of gain realized upon the cancelation or redemption of stock upon liquidation and can therefore be made only by or on behalf of the person by whom gain, if any, will be realized. Thus, the shareholder who may make such election must be the actual owner of stock and not a mere record holder, such as a nominee.

A shareholder is entitled to make an election relative to the gain only on stock owned by him at the time of the adoption of the plan of liquidation. The election is personal to the shareholder making it and does not follow such stock into the hands of a transferee.

ART. 112 (b) (7)–3. Making and filing of written elections.—An election to be governed by section 112 (b) (7) shall be made in duplicate under oath or affirmation on Form 964 in accordance with the instructions printed thereon and with these regulations. Such duplicate originals shall be filed by the shareholder or by the liquidating corporation with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., attention of the Income Tax Unit, Records Division, within 30 days after the adoption of the plan of liquidation. A copy shall also be attached to and made a part of the shareholder's income tax return for his taxable year in which the transfer of all the property under the liquidation occurs.

ART. 112 (b) (7)–4. Treatment of gain.—(a) Computation of gain.—As in the case of shareholders generally, for the purpose of computing gain, amounts received by qualified electing shareholders are treated as in full payment in exchange for their stock, as provided in section 115 (c), and gain from the receipt of such amounts is determined as provided in section 111. Gain or loss must be computed separately on each share of stock owned by a qualified electing shareholder on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation. The limited recognition and special treatment accorded by section 112 (b) (7) applies only to the gain on such shares of stock upon which gain was realized and not to net gain computed by setting off losses realized on some shares against gains on others.

(b) Recognition of gain.—Pursuant to section 112 (b) (7) only so much of the gain on each share of stock owned by a qualified electing shareholder on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation is recognized as does not exceed the greater of the following—

(1) Such share's ratable share of the earnings and profits of the corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, computed as of December 31, 1938, without diminution by reason of distributions made during the month of December, 1938; or

(2) Such share's ratable share of the sum of the amount of money received by such shareholder on shares of the same class and the fair market value of all the stock or securities so received which were acquired by the liquidating corporation after April 9, 1938. The mere replacement after April 9, 1938, of lost or destroyed certificates or instruments acquired on or before April 9, 1938, or the mere conversion of certificates or instruments into certificates or instruments of larger or smaller denominations will not constitute an acquisition within the meaning of the phrase "acquired after April 9, 1938". Nor will such an acquisition result from the issuance after April 9, 1938, of certificates of stock in connection with a subscription made and accepted on or before April 9, 1938.

(c) Treatment of recognized gain.—In the case of a qualified electing shareholder other than a corporation that part of the recognized gain on a share of stock owned on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation which is not in excess of its ratable share of the earnings and profits of the liquidating corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, determined as provided in section 112 (b) (7) (E) (i) is treated and taxed to him as a dividend. It retains its character as a dividend for all tax purposes. The remainder of the gain which is recognized is treated and taxed to him as a short-term or long-term capital gain, as the case may be. In the case of a qualified electing shareholder which is a corporation the entire amount of the gain which is recognized is treated and taxed as a capital gain.

Example.—The X Corporation has only one class of stock outstanding, owned in equal amounts by three shareholders. The basis of the stock owned by each shareholder is $50, each having bought his stock in a single bloc prior to the date of the adoption of a plan of liquidation conforming to the requirements of section 112 (b) (7). One of such shareholders is an individual and two are corporations and all are qualified electing shareholders. The X Corporation has earnings and profits accumulated after February 28, 1913, of $60, its assets consisting of property (other than stock or securities and money) with a fair market value of $240, cash of $75, and stock and securities acquired after April 9, 1938, with a fair market value of $90, all of which assets are distributed in December, 1938, to the shareholders pro rata in complete liquidation of the corporation, as provided in section 112 (b) (7). Each shareholder, therefore, receives, in cash and property, $135 and his gain is $85.

In the case of each shareholder $55 of this gain is recognized, since such amount represents the sum of the cash received by him and the fair market value of the stock and securities received by him which were acquired by the X Corporation after April 9, 1938, and is greater than his ratable share of the earnings and profits ($20). In the case of the corporate shareholders this amount is treated as capital gain. In the case of the individual shareholder, however, $20, being the amount of the shareholder's ratable share of the earnings and profits, is taxable to him as a dividend, and $35, being the difference between the shareholder's ratable share of the earnings and profits and the sum of the cash and stock and securities received by him, is recognized and treated as a short-term or long-term capital gain, as the case may be. The remainder of each shareholder's gain, $30, is not recognized. If the basis of each shareholder's stock had been $100, instead of $50, the corporate shareholders would be taxed on only $35 as capital gain and the individual shareholder on $20 as a dividend but only on $15 as a capital gain, since the total amount taxed is limited by the amount of gain realized by the shareholder upon the cancelation or redemption of his stock.

ART. 112 (b) (7)–5. Records to be kept and information to be filed with return.—Permanent records in substantial form shall be kept by every qualified electing shareholder receiving distributions in complete liquidation of a domestic corporation. Such shareholder shall file with his income tax return for his taxable year in which the liquidation occurs a statement of all facts pertinent to the recognition and treatment of the gain realized by him upon the shares of stock owned by him on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation, including—

(a) A statement of his stock ownership in the liquidating corporation as of the date of the distribution, showing the number of shares of each class owned on such date and the cost or other basis of each such share;

(b) A list of all the property including money received upon the distribution, showing the fair market value of each item of such property other than money on the date distributed and stating what items, if any, consist of stock or securities acquired by the liquidating corporation after April 9, 1938;

(c) A statement of his ratable share of the earnings and profits of the liquidating corporation accumulated after February 28, 1913, computed without diminution by reason of distributions made during the month of December, 1938; and

(d) A copy of such shareholder's written election to be governed by the provisions of section 112 (b) (7). (See article 112 (b) (7)–3 of these regulations.)

PAR. C. Treasury Decision 4809, approved June 8, 1938[1] [I. R. B. 1938–24, 2], relating to the determination of who is a qualified electing shareholder, and to the making and filing of elections under section 112 (b) (7) of the Revenue Act of 1938, is hereby superseded.

GUY T. HELVERING,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

IN THE MATTER OF DUNCAN COLLINS & COMPANY, INC., 5225 WILSHIRE BOULEVARD, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER SUSPENDING REGISTRATION

This is a proceeding pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, to determine whether the registration of Duncan Collins & Company, Inc., as a broker and dealer should be revoked or suspended.

On August 1, 1938, at a hearing held pursuant to the Commission's order of June 20, 1938, the registrant failed to appear personally or by counsel. Notice of the hearing had been sent to the person designated by the registrant as the person to receive notices at his business address and residence by registered mail on July 22, 1938, but had not actually been received by him because of his removal from those addresses. The trial examiner filed an advisory report in which he found that the license of the registrant to act as a broker in California had been suspended and that the registrant had failed to advise the Commission of this fact or of the fact that he had changed his address. On an independent review of the record we adopt the trial examiner's findings as accurate and further find that the registrant's failure to inform the Commission of the suspension of his license to act as a broker in California and of the change of address through a supplement to the application for registration filed within ten days after the occurrence of those events constituted a wilful violation of Rule X-15B-2 (referred to as Rule MB2 in the order for hearing, but since renumbered) of the Rules and Regulations under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

The sole remaining question is the effect of the failure to serve notice personally on the registrant. We follow our previous decisions in holding that, in the absence of personal service or service by registered mail based on previous consent to such service, we cannot order revocation. However, the registrant's registration should be temporarily suspended pending final disposition of the question of permanent revocation when the registrant comes in to be heard.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that the registration of Duncan Collins & Company, Inc., as a broker and dealer be and hereby is suspended pending final determination whether such registration shall be revoked.

By the Commission.

IN THE MATTER OF RALPH H. GIBBINS DOING BUSINESS AS GIBBINS BROKERAGE COMPANY, 202 CAROLINA LIFE BLDG., COLUMBIA, SOUTH CAROLINA

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER SUSPENDING REGISTRATION

This is a proceeding ordered by the Commission on June 22, 1938, pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, to determine whether the registration of Ralph H. Gibbins, doing business as Gibbins Brokerage Company, as a dealer, effective July 8, 1937, should be revoked or suspended.

Notice of a hearing to be held in this proceeding was duly given in accordance with the registrant's consent as embodied in Item 27 of his Form 3-M application for registration. A hearing was held before a trial examiner on July 25, and July 27, 1938. The registrant failed to appear personally or by counsel. The trial examiner has filed an advisory report in which he found that the registrant has wilfully violated Rule X-15B-2 (formerly Rule MB2) of the Rules and Regulations under the Securities Exchange Act in failing to inform the Commission that his license to sell securities in South Carolina had expired. The trial examiner also found that the registrant falsely stated his business address in his application for registration. Since the registrant did not appear and defend himself against these charges, we withhold our findings and final determination until he comes in to be heard. However, pending such final determination we think it clear from the record that it is necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors that the registrant's right to use the mails and instrumentalities of interstate commerce in securities transactions be suspended.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that the registration of Ralph H. Gibbins, doing business as Gibbins Brokerage Company, as a dealer be and is hereby suspended pending final determination whether such registration shall be revoked.

NATIONAL MARKETING QUOTA FOR FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A Proclamation

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides:

SEC. 312. (a) Whenever, on the 15th day of November of any calendar year, the Secretary [of Agriculture] finds that the total supply of tobacco as of the beginning of the marketing year then current exceeds the reserve supply level therefor, the Secretary shall proclaim the amount of such total supply, and, beginning on the first day of the marketing year next following and continuing throughout such year, a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the tobacco marketed during such marketing year. The Secretary shall also determine and specify in such proclamation the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the total quantity of tobacco which may be marketed, which will make available during such marketing year a supply of tobacco equal to the reserve supply level. Such proclamation shall be made not later than the 1st day of December in such year.

Whereas said Act contains, in section 301 (b), the following definitions of terms here pertinent:

"Total supply" of tobacco for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year plus the estimated production thereof in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins * * *.

"Carry-over" of tobacco for any marketing year shall be the quantity of such tobacco on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, which was produced in the United States prior to the beginning of the calendar year then current * * *.

"Marketing year" means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second date specified below:

"Tobacco (flue-cured), July 1–June 30 * * *.

"Reserve supply level" of tobacco shall be the normal supply plus 5 per centum thereof, to insure a supply adequate to meet domestic consumption and export needs in years of drought, flood, or other adverse conditions, as well as in years of plenty.

The "normal supply" of tobacco shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports plus 175 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and 65 per centum of a normal year's exports as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

"Normal year's domestic consumption," in the case of * * * tobacco, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

"Normal year's exports" in the case of * * * tobacco * * * shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was exported from the United States during the ten marketing years * * * immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

Whereas said Act provides, in section 301 (c), that "The latest available statistics of the Federal Government shall be used by the Secretary [of Agriculture] in making the determinations required to be made by the Secretary under this Act."; and

Whereas on the 15th day of November 1938, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, found, upon the basis of the latest available statistics* of the Federal Government,— that the "reserve supply level" of flue-cured tobacco was 1,727,000,000 pounds; and that the "total supply" of flue-cured tobacco for the marketing year for such tobacco beginning July 1, 1938, was 1,750,000,000 pounds and exceeded the reserve supply level of such tobacco:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, do hereby proclaim my findings aforesaid and do hereby determine and proclaim that the amount of the national marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed, which will make available during the marketing year beginning July 1, 1939, a supply of such tobacco equal to the reserve supply level, is 754,000,000 pounds.

Secretary of Agriculture.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING REFERENDA ON COTTON AND FLUE-CURED TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTAS

[Issued November 23, 1938]

In view of the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture has determined and proclaimed,[1] pursuant to the provisions of Section 345 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, that the total supply of cotton for the 1938–39 marketing year exceeds by more than 7 percent the normal supply thereof for such marketing year, a referendum, by secret ballot, of farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1938 will be held on December 10, 1938, pursuant to Section 347 of said Act and in accordance with the regulations herein set forth, to determine whether they favor or oppose cotton marketing quotas on the 1939 cotton crop. Such quotas will be in effect unless more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose them.

Likewise, in view of the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture has duly proclaimed,[2] pursuant to the provisions of Section 312 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, a national marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1939, a referendum of farmers who were engaged in production of the 1938 crop of flue-cured tobacco will be held on December 10, 1938, pursuant to the provisions of Section 312 (c) of said Act and in accordance with the regulations herein set forth, to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to such quota. If more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose the national marketing quota, such quota will not be in effect for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1939.

* Issued under authority of Sec. 32, 41 Stat. 450; 30 U. S. C. 189.

A. VOTING ELIGIBILITY

All farmers who were engaged in the production of cotton in 1938 are eligible to vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum (except as provided in the following paragraph) and all farmers who were engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco in 1938 are eligible to vote in the flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum. The fact that a farmer is eligible to vote in one referendum does not mean that he is eligible to vote in both referenda; however, he is eligible to vote in both referenda if in 1938 he was engaged in the production of both cotton and flue-cured tobacco. Any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1938 cotton crop as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper shall be considered as having been engaged in the production of cotton in 1938. Likewise, any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1938 flue-cured tobacco crop as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper is considered as having been engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco. Farmers who planted cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1938, but produced no cotton or flue-cured tobacco on such acreage for any reason except willful neglect to farm the planted acreage, or who made arrangements to plant cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1938 but were prevented from planting by flood, excessive rainfall, drought, or plant disease, shall be regarded as having been engaged in the production of cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1938 and therefore as eligible to vote in the respective referendum.

Since marketing quotas are not applicable to cotton the staple of which is 1½ inches or more in length, a person who was engaged in the production of such cotton in 1938 is not eligible to vote, unless in 1938 he was also engaged in the production of cotton the staple of which was less than 1½ inches in length.

No farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in either referendum, even though he may have been engaged in the production of cotton or flue-cured tobacco in two or more communities, counties, or States in 1938.

In the event several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1938 under a single rental or cropping agreement or lease, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the rental or cropping agreement or lease shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing cotton or flue-cured tobacco in 1938 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person is entitled to vote.

There shall be no voting by mail, proxy, or agent, but a duly authorized officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity, or a duly authorized member of a partnership, may cast its vote.

If a community referendum committee determines that a farmer residing within the jurisdiction of such committee at the time of the referendum is eligible to vote by reason of his having engaged in producing cotton or flue-cured tobacco in another community in 1938, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to vote, provided the committee also satisfies itself that such farmer has not previously voted in another community. If the committee cannot so satisfy itself and the farmer insists upon voting, it shall challenge the ballot in the manner hereinafter outlined.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEES

The county agricultural conservation committee (hereinafter referred to as the county committee) shall be responsible for the proper holding of the referenda in the county and shall:

1. Designate one readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting the applicable notice form at one or more places open to the public within each community at least five days in advance of the date of the referenda.

2. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including newspapers and radio, to give cotton and flue-cured tobacco farmers in the county full and accurate public notice of the day and hours of voting, the location of polling places, and the rules governing eligibility to vote. Such notice should be given as soon as practicable after the plans for holding the referenda in the county have been made, but must be given at least five days in advance of the date of the referenda.

3. Designate three local farmers residing in each community as members of the community referendum committee to conduct the referenda on cotton marketing quotas and on the national marketing quota for flue-cured tobacco in such community, and name one of the members chairman of the committee.

4. In counties with a combined total of less than 200 cotton and flue-cured tobacco farms, the county committee may treat the county as one community for the purpose of the referenda and hold the referenda and perform the duties both of county committee and community referendum committees.

5. See that each community referendum committee is provided with a suitable ballot box for the cotton marketing quota referendum and a separate ballot box for the flue-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum.

6. Execute form Cotton 303 for each community in the county, listing thereon the names and addresses of all persons who were engaged in the production of cotton in the community during 1938. Likewise, execute form Tobacco 303 for each community in the county, listing thereon the names and addresses of all persons who were engaged in the production of flue-cured tobacco in the community during 1938. If lists of such persons by communities are already available to the county committee, they may be turned over to the community referendum committees for their own preparation of forms Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303.

7. Deliver a supply of the forms Cotton 302 and Cotton 304 and Tobacco 302 and Tobacco 304, as well as the executed copies of Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303 (or a supply of blank forms Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303 and the required lists of cotton and flue-cured tobacco farmers in the community), to the chairman of the respective community referendum committee.

8. See to it that the community referendum committees understand their duties as to (a) issuing ballot forms, (b) recording votes, (c) tabulating ballots, and (d) certifying results of the referendum in the community.

9. See that appropriate measures are taken to insure that each referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

10. Notify the State committee by telephone, telegraph, or in person, as soon as possible after the closing of the polls, as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in each referendum held in the county.

11. Meet not later than 8:30 A. M., Monday, December 12, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from forms Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304 on forms Cotton 305 and Tobacco 305, respectively. Such meeting shall be open to the public. Cotton 305 and Tobacco 305, showing the results in the county, shall be prepared and certified in quadruplicate, the original and one copy of each shall be sent to the State agricultural conservation committee (hereinafter referred to as the State committee) not later than four calendar days after the date of the referenda, one copy of each posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the office of the county committee (hereinafter referred to as the county office), and one copy of each permanently filed in the county office. One copy of each executed form Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304 shall be posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the county office.

12. Notify the State committee as soon as possible by mail (on forms Cotton 305 and Tobacco 305) as to the final outcome of the referenda in the county.

13. Make an investigation in each case of controversy or dispute regarding eligibility of a voter. In each case where a ballot is found in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the community referendum committee and bearing the voter's name and a statement of the reason for the challenge, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined. If it is determined that such person is eligible, the envelope shall be opened and the ballot placed with the challenged ballot of every other person found to be eligible, and when all the challenged ballots shall have been passed upon by the committee those ballots found to be valid shall be tabulated in the county summary. If it is determined that such person is not eligible, the envelope shall not be opened but shall be preserved with the ballots, as provided in paragraph 15 of this section B.

14. Make an investigation in each case of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of either referendum in a community. No dispute shall be investigated by the county committee unless it is brought to its attention within three calendar days after the date on which the referendum in question was held. The county committee shall promptly decide the dispute and immediately report its findings to the State committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms, and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

15. Seal the voted ballots, challenged ballots found ineligible, register sheets, and community summary sheets for the county in one or more envelopes or packages (marked "Cotton Referendum 1939" or "Flue-Cured Tobacco Referendum 1939", as the case may be, followed by the name of the county) and place them under lock and key in a safe place under the custody of the secretary of the county agricultural conservation association for a period of sixty calendar days from the date of the referendum. If no notice to the contrary is received by the end of such time, the ballots shall be destroyed and the register and community summary sheets permanently filed in the county office.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

Each community referendum committee designated by the county agricultural conservation committee shall:

1. Arrange, with the assistance of the county committee, for conducting the referenda by secret ballot.

2. Assist the county committee in giving adequate public notice of the time and place for casting ballots at least five days in advance of the date on which the referenda will be held.

3. Provide a place where each eligible farmer can prepare and cast a ballot in secret and without interference.

4. Provide ballot boxes. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen and cannot be removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks and show that the seal has been tampered with.

5. Open the polls not later than 9:00 A. M., local standard time, on Saturday, December 10, 1938.

6. Hold the referenda in a fair and unbiased manner and see that appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referenda are conducted by secret ballot.

7. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except in the case of a challenged ballot). Instruct each voter, as he is handed a ballot form, as to the procedure to be followed in casting his ballot and instruct him to fold his ballot before he places it in the ballot box after he has marked it to show which way he votes.

8. Issue a ballot to each person who is eligible to vote and to each person who claims to be eligible to vote and insists upon voting even though his eligibility is challenged by the committee. Every unchallenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box by the person who voted it. In every case where the eligibility of the voter is challenged, his ballot, after being marked by the challenged person, shall be placed (by him, or by the committee if he refuses) in an envelope and shall be sealed and marked with his name, the word "Challenged", and a statement of the reason for the challenge, and the envelope shall then be placed in the ballot box. The letter "C" shall be entered with a red pencil on form Cotton 303 or Tobacco 303, whichever is applicable, immediately to the left of the name of each person whose vote is challenged.

9. Record on forms Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303, respectively, the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued if he is not already listed thereon prior to the time the ballot form is issued to him.

10. Enter an "X" in the designated column on forms Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303 beside the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued and who places his ballot in the ballot box (whether or not his ballot is challenged).

11. Close the polls and discontinue acceptance of ballots at 5:00 P. M., local standard time, on the date of the referendum or such later hour as is fixed by the State committee.

12. Immediately after closing the polls, open the ballot box and canvass the ballots cast, which canvass shall be kept open to the public.

13. Tabulate and record the results of the referenda on forms Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304, respectively. The number of challenged ballots cast shall be entered on forms Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304, respectively, in the space provided and will not, of course, be shown as being either for or against the marketing quotas. If any ballot is found to be mutilated or marked in such a way that it cannot be determined whether the voter approved or opposed marketing quotas, it shall not be counted as a ballot cast but the number of such spoiled ballots shall be entered in the space provided and such ballots placed in an envelope marked "Spoiled Ballots", followed by the designation of the community.

14. Certify to the accuracy of the executed forms Cotton 303 and Tobacco 303 and Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304 by signing in the spaces provided.

15. Notify the county committee by telephone, or in person, as soon as possible after the closing of the polls as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in the community.

16. Seal the voted ballots (including those challenged), the spoiled ballots, the register sheets, and the community summary sheets in one or more envelopes appropriately identified by the designation of the community and deliver them to the county committee not later than 8:30 A. M., Monday, December 12, 1938, with the unused ballots and other forms. The chairman of the community referendum committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of such reports, ballots, and forms to the county committee.

17. Post an executed copy of forms Cotton 304 and Tobacco 304, as soon as they are executed, at a conspicuous place at the polling place and see that it remains posted and accessible to the public for at least three calendar days after the date of the holding of the referendum.

D. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEE

The State committee shall be in charge of and responsible for the conducting of the referenda in the State and shall:

1. Notify the applicable regional director by telegraph as to the preliminary count in each referendum in the State of votes for and votes against marketing quotas.

2. Summarize on forms Cotton 306 and Tobacco 306, respectively, the information contained on the forms Cotton 305 and Tobacco 305 and forward via air mail special delivery two fully executed forms Cotton 306 and Tobacco 306 to the applicable regional director not later than seven calendar days after the date of the referenda. If one sheet proves insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional sheets properly numbered and identified and securely attached to the first sheet may be used for continuation, in which case totals and signatures should be entered only on the last sheet. One fully executed copy each of forms Cotton 305 and Cotton 306 and Tobacco 305 and Tobacco 306 shall be permanently filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

3. Complete the investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of summaries of the referenda, not later than seven calendar days after the date of the referenda, and forward its findings in such cases to the applicable regional director.

E. RESULTS OF REFERENDA

Final and official tabulation of the votes cast in the referenda will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the results of the referenda announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. The reports on Cotton 306 and Tobacco 306 and related papers shall be permanently filed with such tabulation and shall remain available for public inspection.

Each county committee is authorized to release to the public press and to other inquirers unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in the referenda in the county.

The State committee is authorized to release to the press and to other inquirers the unofficial results of the referenda for the respective State by counties as rapidly as the votes in the various counties are tabulated.

If the Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, the report of any community referendum committee, county committee, or State committee shall be reexamined and checked by such persons or agencies as may be designated.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of November 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

PART 706—1939 NAVAL STORES CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Bulletin NSCP–301, setting forth the terms and conditions of the 1939 Naval Stores Conservation Program, approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, November 9, 1938,[1] is hereby amended, as follows:

I. Paragraph (e) of Section 706.4, headed, "Conditions of Payment—Performance Required," is amended to read as follows:

(e) Each participating producer shall make a net reduction in the number of operating faces in 1939 to the extent and in the manner as hereinafter prescribed, using as 100 percent the number of faces operated by him in 1938; provided that where a producer has acquired from another producer (who, if operating in 1939, is a participant in the 1939 program) by lease, purchase or other form of control, prior to the filing of a work sheet, an additional turpentine farm or portion thereof, which had been worked by said other producer in 1938, he may use as his base (i. e., 100%) the number of faces represented by such acquisition, in addition to the number of faces which he worked in 1938, for the purpose of determining the percentage of reduction required under paragraph (g) of this section, and if such addition to the base is made and stated on a filed work sheet, together with evidence of the consent thereto by the producer from whom acquired, the same number of faces as acquired by the one producer shall be deducted from the base of the other producer. In cases where one producer secures faces from another producer who operated such turpentine farm or portion thereof in 1938, but who, if still operating in 1939, is not a participant in the 1939 program, said faces shall not become a part of the base of the operator who acquires them.

II. The concluding sentence of paragraph (g) of Section 706.4, headed, "Conditions of Payment—Performance Required," is amended to read as follows:

(g) • • •

The producer shall be permitted to discontinue operation on a larger net proportion, than is indicated above, of the total of those of his 1938 working faces that are less than 90 inches in height at the beginning of the 1939 season but will not receive payment for such net proportion of discontinued faces in excess of 40 per cent of his total of all 1938 working faces; provided that said 40 per cent limitation shall not apply to faces discontinued in 1939 on trees less than 9 inches d. b. h., and on trees between 9 and 14 inches d. b. h., as required by paragraphs (b) and (d) of this section; and provided further that payment shall be restricted to such discontinued faces on which the producer retains ownership, lease or other control throughout the period of the 1939 program.

NATIONAL ACREAGE ALLOTMENT OF RICE, CALENDAR YEAR 1939

BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, as amended, provides:

SEC. 352. The national acreage allotment of rice for any calendar year shall be that acreage which the Secretary determines will, on the basis of the national average yield of rice for the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year for which such national average yield is determined, produce an amount of rice adequate, together with the estimated carry-over from the marketing year ending in such calendar year, to make available a supply for the marketing year commencing in such calendar year not less than the normal supply. Such national acreage allotment shall be proclaimed not later than December 31 of each year.

SEC. 354. (a) Not later than December 31 of each year the Secretary shall ascertain from the latest available statistics of the Department and shall proclaim the total amount of rice which will be needed during the next succeeding marketing year to meet the requirements of consumers in the United States. Such amount is hereinafter referred to as the "domestic allotment of rice".

SEC. 355. (a) If at the time of any proclamation made under the provisions of section 354 (a) it shall appear from the latest available statistics of the Department that the total supply of rice exceeds the normal supply thereof for the current marketing year by more than 10 per centum of such normal supply, the Secretary shall also proclaim that, beginning on the first day of the marketing year next following and continuing throughout such year a national marketing quota shall be in effect for marketing of rice by producers: Provided, That no marketing quota shall be in effect for the marketing year commencing August 1, 1938. The Secretary shall also ascertain and specify in such proclamation the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the total quantity thereof which may be marketed by producers which shall be that amount of rice which the Secretary determines will make available during such marketing year a normal supply.

Whereas said act contains, in section 301 (b), the following definition of terms here pertinent:

"Marketing year" means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second dates specified below:

* * * * * * *

Rice, August 1—July 31; * * *.

"Carry-over," in the case of * * * rice, for any marketing year shall be the quantity of the commodity on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, which was produced in the United States prior to the beginning of the calendar year then current.

"Normal supply" in the case of * * * rice * * * shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports of the commodity, plus * * * 10 per centum in the case of rice, * * * of a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

"Normal year's domestic consumption," in the case of rice, shall be the yearly average quantity of rice produced in the United States that was consumed in the United States during the five marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

"Normal year's exports" in the case of * * * rice, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was exported from the United States during * * * the five marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

"Total supply" of * * *, rice, * * * for any marketing year shall be the carry-over of the commodity for such marketing year plus the estimated production of the commodity in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins.

Whereas said act provides, in section 301 (c), as follows:

The latest available statistics of the Federal Government shall be used by the Secretary [of Agriculture] in making the determinations required to be made by the Secretary under this Act;

Now, therefore, be it known that I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States of America, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Act of Congress known as the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, approved February 16, 1938, as amended, upon the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government, do hereby find, determine, and proclaim under sections 352, 354 (a), and 355 (a) of said Act:

(1) That the total amount of rice which will be needed during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1939, to meet the requirements of consumers in the United States (i. e., the "Domestic Allotment") is 10,920,000 barrels.

(2) That the "estimated production" of rice during the calendar year 1938 is 14,990,000 barrels.

(3) That the "carry-over" of rice for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, is 1,900,000 barrels.

(4) That the "total supply" of rice for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, is 16,890,000 barrels.

(5) That a "normal year's domestic consumption" of rice is 10,920,000 barrels.

(6) That a "normal year's exports" of rice is 1,670,000 barrels.

(7) That the "normal supply" of rice for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, is 13,849,000 barrels.

(8) That the "total supply" of rice for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1938, exceeds by more than 10 per centum the "normal supply" of rice for such marketing year.

(9) That the "estimated carry-over" of rice, as of August 1, 1939, is 2,110,000 barrels.

(10) That the amount of the national marketing quota of rice in terms of the total quantity thereof which may be marketed by producers which will make available during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1939, a normal supply is 11,974,000 barrels.

(11) That the "national average yield" of rice for the five calendar years 1934–1938, inclusive, is 13.62 barrels.

(12) That the "national acreage allotment" of rice for the calendar year 1939 is 862,000 acres.

DETERMINATION OF FAIR AND REASONABLE WAGES FOR PERSONS EMPLOYED IN THE PRODUCTION, CULTIVATION, OR HARVESTING OF SUGARCANE IN HAWAII DURING THE PERIOD JANUARY 1, 1938, TO DECEMBER 31, 1938

Whereas Section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937 provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, as follows:

That all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugar beets or sugarcane with respect to which an application for payment is made shall have been paid in full for all such work, and shall have been paid wages therefor at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing; and in making such determinations the Secretary shall take into consideration the standards therefor formerly established by him under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and the differences in conditions among various producing areas: Provided, however, That a payment which would be payable except for the foregoing provisions of this subsection may be made, as the Secretary may determine, in such manner that the laborer will receive an amount, insofar as such payment will suffice, equal to the amount of the accrued unpaid wages for such work, and that the producer will receive the remainder, if any, of such payment.

Whereas the Secretary of Agriculture has held a number of public hearings[1] in Hawaii for the purpose of receiving evidence likely to be of assistance to him in determining fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation or harvesting of sugarcane in Hawaii during the period January 1, 1938, to December 31, 1938; and

Whereas the evidence submitted indicates that the sugarcane growers in Hawaii have voluntarily increased average payments to labor in 1938 above the level prevailing during the calendar year 1937:

Now, therefore, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, after investigation and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the aforesaid hearings and all other information before me, do hereby determine that the wages which have been paid in Hawaii during the calendar year 1938 shall be deemed to be fair and reasonable, provided laborers (except those who are paid monthly salaries of $100 or more) shall have received for the calendar year 1938 not less than the wages they would have received if the bonus system in effect on September 1, 1938, had been continued to December 31, 1938: Provided, however, That in computing the resulting increment, conditional payments at the flat rate of 50 cents per hundred pounds of sugar shall be considered as part of the price of sugar: and provided further, That (1) the producer shall provide laborers free of charge with the perquisites customarily furnished by him, (2) all laborers shall have been paid in full for all work at not less than the rates agreed upon, such rates in the case of long term cultivation or irrigation agreements in effect or entered into during the period from January 1, 1938, to December 31, 1938, to be the amounts due and payable under such agreements in said period for such work, and (3) the producer shall not through any subterfuge or device whatsoever reduce the wage rates to laborers below those determined above.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of November, 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Washington, D. C., on October 25–26, 1938, for the purpose, among others, of amending Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, issued June 1, 1938,[2] by allotting among Puerto Rican processors of direct-consumption sugar the portion of the unallotted reserve established therein which was unfilled on November 15, 1938.

Section 205 (a) of the Sugar Act of 1937 (hereinafter referred to as the "act") provides, in part, as follows:

> The Secretary may also, upon such hearing and notice as he may by regulations prescribe, revise or amend any such allotment upon the same basis as the initial allotment was made.

In view of this provision of the act, it is necessary in allotting the unallotted reserve to apply the same basic formula as was used in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11.

The amount of the unallotted reserve set out in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, is 5,712 short tons of sugar, raw value. As of November 15, 1938, the records of the Department of Agriculture show that only 200 short tons of sugar, raw value, have been charged against this unallotted reserve.

The processors receiving an allotment under Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11 offered no testimony at the hearing in opposition to the allotment of the unallotted reserve, nor did they offer any testimony in support of a change in the basic figures underlying the allotments set forth in that order.[3] Therefore, employing the same basis of allotment as was applied in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, the per centum of the unallotted reserve applicable to each processor would be as follows: [4]

	Per centum
Porto Rico American Sugar Refinery	78.104
Aguirre	2.862
Carmen	0.052
Guanica	3.150
Igualdad	4.542
Roig	9.838
San Francisco	1.452

On the basis of the record of the hearing of October 25–26, 1938, and the official statistics of the Department of Agriculture, I hereby find:

(1) That as of November 15, 1938, the unfilled balance of the unallotted reserve established in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, was 5,512 short tons of sugar, raw value.

(2) That upon the basis of the formula used in establishing the allotments in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, the per centum of the said unfilled balance of the unallotted reserve for each Puerto Rican processor is as follows:

	Per centum
Porto Rico American Sugar Refinery	78.104
Aguirre	2.862
Carmen	0.052
Guanica	3.150
Igualdad	4.542
Roig	9.838
San Francisco	1.452

On the basis of the foregoing and after consideration of the briefs submitted by interested persons following the hearing of October 25–26, 1938, it is hereby ordered that the allotments set forth in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11 be, and they hereby are, increased as follows:

	Additional direct consumption allotment (short tons, raw value)
Porto Rico American Sugar Refinery	4,305
Aguirre	158
Carmen	3
Guanica	174
Igualdad	250
	5,512

In testimony whereof, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, has hereunto set his hand and caused the official seal of the Department of Agriculture to be affixed in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, this 25th day of November 1938.

ORDER IN THE MATTER OF ANNUAL REPORTS FROM SWITCHING AND TERMINAL COMPANIES OF CLASS III

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 4, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1938.

The subject of the requirement of annual reports from switching and terminal companies being under consideration:

It is ordered:

1. That the Order of this Commission dated December 6, 1937 [1] In the Matter of Annual Reports from Switching and Terminal Companies of Class III, is hereby annulled.

2. That all switching and terminal companies of Class III subject to the provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act be, and they hereby are, required to file an annual report for the year ending December 31, 1938, and for each succeeding year until further order, in accordance with Annual Report Form D (Small Switching and Terminal Companies), which is hereby approved and made a part of this order.[2]

It is further ordered, That the annual report shall be filed in duplicate in the Bureau of Statistics, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C., on or before March 31 of the year following the one to which it relates.

[2] The representative of Central Igualdad contended that the unallotted reserve should be allotted on a different basis from that used in establishing the initial allotments (R. p. 145), but such procedure would not comply with the provisions of section 205 (a) of the act.

[4] Expert testimony on behalf of the Camuy Sugar Company indicates a mill refining capacity for that company of 100 short tons of sugar per day (R. p. 65). Applying the basis used in Puerto Rico Sugar Order No. 11, this company would be entitled to 1.884 per centum of the unallotted reserve. However, in view of the statement of the representative of the Camuy Sugar Company that the company would be unable to market any direct-consumption sugar in 1938 (R. pp. 57, 58), no allotment can be made to it from the unallotted reserve.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR HOLDING REFERENDUM ON RICE MARKETING QUOTA FOR THE MARKETING YEAR BEGINNING AUGUST 1, 1939

Pursuant to Section 355 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to conduct a referendum by secret ballot of producers who would be subject to the national marketing quota for rice for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1939, which will be held on Saturday, December 10, 1938, in order to determine whether they favor or oppose such marketing quota. Such quota will be in effect unless more than one-third of the producers voting in the referendum oppose it.

A. VOTING ELIGIBILITY

1. Every producer (a) who was engaged in the production of rice in 1938 and who on the date of the referendum has available land or equipment suitable for the production of rice in 1939 and has not abandoned or signified his intention to abandon the production of rice in 1939 or (b) who at the time of holding the referendum has made definite arrangements for engaging in the production of rice in 1939 is entitled to vote. As used herein the term "producer" means an owner-operator, cash or standing-rent tenant, landlord of a share tenant, share tenant, or sharecropper, who is or will be entitled to the whole or a share of the 1939 rice crop or its proceeds.

2. No rice producer (whether an individual partnership, corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in the referendum, even though he may engage in 1939 in the production of rice in two or more communities, counties, or States.

3. If a community referendum committee determines that a producer residing in the community within the jurisdiction of that committee is eligible to vote in another community, the committee may issue a ballot to him and permit him to cast a ballot, provided the committee also determines that such producer has not previously cast a ballot in another community. If the committee cannot so determine, the committee shall "challenge" the ballot as hereinafter outlined.

4. There shall be no voting by proxy or agent, but a duly authorized member of a partnership or officer of a corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity shall be allowed to cast its vote.

5. In case several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, have made definite arrangements to engage together in the production of rice in 1939 under a lease or sharecropping agreement, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the lease or sharecropping agreement shall be eligible to vote.

6. If two or more persons have made definite arrangements to engage in producing rice in 1939 as joint tenants, tenants in common, or owner-operators of community property, each such persons is entitled to vote.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEE

The county agricultural conservation committee (hereinafter referred to as the county committee) shall be responsible for the proper holding of the referendum in the county on Saturday, December 10, 1938, and it shall:

1. Designate one readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting a notice on form Rice 301, "Notice—Rice Marketing Quota Referendum", at one or more places open to the public within each community at least 5 days in advance of the date of the referendum. In counties with less than 50 rice producers the county committee may treat the county as one community for the purpose of the referendum and hold the referendum and perform the duties both of county committee and of community referendum committee.

2. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including newspapers and radio, to give rice producers in the county full and accurate public notice of the day and hours of voting, the location of polling places, and the rules governing eligibility to vote. Public notice should be given as soon as practicable after the plans for holding the referendum in the county have been made, but must be given at least 5 days in advance of the date of the referendum.

3. Designate three farmers as members of the community referendum committee in each community to conduct the referendum in such community and name one of the members chairman of the committee. In those communities where the cotton referendum is being held, the county committee may designate one community referendum committee to conduct the referenda on both cotton and rice.

4. See that each community referendum committee is provided with a suitable ballot box.

5. Prepare for each community in the county a list of the names and addresses of all producers in such community who were engaged in the production of rice during 1938. If lists of such persons by communities are already available to the county committee, such lists may be turned over to the community referendum committees.

6. Deliver a supply of forms Rice 302, "1939 Rice Marketing Quota Referendum Ballot", and form Rice 304, "Community Summary of 1939 Rice Marketing Quota Ballots", as well as a supply of blank forms Rice 303, "Register of Ballots—1939 Rice Marketing Quota Referendum," to the chairman of the respective community referendum committee.

7. See to it that the community referendum committees understand their duties as to (a) issuing ballot forms, (b) recording votes on forms Rice 303, (c) tabulating ballots, and (d) certifying results of the referendum in the community.

8. See that appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

9. Notify the State committee by telephone or telegraph or in person as soon as possible after the closing of the polls as to the preliminary count of "yes" and "no" votes in the county.

10. Meet not later than 8:30 A. M. Monday, December 12, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from forms Rice 304 on form Rice 305, "County Summary of 1939 Rice Marketing Quota Ballots." Such meeting shall be open to the public. Four copies of Rice 305, showing the county results, shall be prepared and certified, two copies of which shall be sent to the State agricultural conservation committee (hereinafter referred to as State committee) not earlier than 4 calendar days or later than 6 calendar days after the date of the referendum, one copy posted for 60 days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the office of the county committee (hereinafter referred to as the county office), and one copy permanently filed in the county office. One copy of each executed form Rice 304 shall be posted for 60 days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the county office.

11. Notify the State committee as soon as possible by mail on form Rice 305 as to the final outcome of the referendum in the county.

12. Make an investigation in each case of controversy or dispute regarding eligibility of a voter to vote in the referendum. Where a ballot is contained in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the community referendum committee and bearing the voter's name and a statement of the reason for the challenge, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined. If it is determined that such person is eligible, the envelope shall be opened and the ballot placed with the challenged ballot of every other person found to be eligible and when all the challenged ballots shall have been passed upon by the committee those ballots found to be valid shall be tabulated in the county summary. If it is determined that such person is not eligible, the envelope shall not be opened but shall be preserved with the ballots as provided in paragraph 14 of this section B.

13. Make an investigation in each case of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of the referendum in a community. No dispute shall be investigated by the county committee unless it is brought to its attention within 3 calendar days after the date on which the referendum was held. The county committee shall promptly decide the dispute and immediately report its finding to the State committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms, and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

14. Seal the voted ballots, challenged ballots found ineligible, register sheets, and community summary sheets for the county in one or more envelopes or packages (marked "Rice Referendum 1939" followed by the name of the county), and place them under lock and key in a safe place under the custody of the secretary of the county agricultural conservation association for a period of 60 calendar days from the date of the referendum. If no notice to the contrary is received by the end of such time, the ballots shall be destroyed and the register and community summary sheets permanently filed in the county office.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

Each community referendum committee designated by the county committee shall:

1. Arrange, with the assistance of the county committee, for conducting the referendum by secret ballot.

2. Assist the county committee in giving adequate public notice of the time and place for casting ballots at least 5 days in advance of the date on which the referendum will be held.

3. Provide a place where each eligible producer can prepare and cast a ballot in secret and without interference.

4. Provide a ballot box. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen and cannot be removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks and show that the seal has been tampered with.

5. Open the polls not later than 9:00 A. M., local standard time, on Saturday, December 10, 1938.

6. Hold the referendum in a fair and unbiased manner and see that appropriate measures are taken to insure that it is conducted by secret ballot.

7. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except in the case of a challenged ballot), and instruct each voter as he is handed a ballot form as to the procedure to be followed in casting his ballot and to fold his ballot before he places it in the ballot box after he has marked it to show which way he votes.

8. Issue a ballot to each person who is eligible to vote and to each person who claims to be eligible to vote and insists upon voting even though his eligibility is challenged by the committee. Every unchallenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box by the person who voted it. In every case where the eligibility of the voter is challenged, his ballot, after being marked by the challenged person, shall be placed (by him, or by the committee if he refuses) in an envelope and shall be sealed and marked with his name, and the word "Challenged", and a statement of the reason for the challenge, and the envelope shall then be placed in the ballot box. The letter "C" shall be entered with a red pencil on form Rice 303 immediately to the left of the name of each person whose vote is challenged.

9. Enter an "X" in the designated column on form Rice 303 beside the name of each producer to whom a ballot is issued and who places his ballot in the ballot box (whether or not his ballot is challenged).

10. Record on form Rice 303 the name and address of each producer to whom a ballot is issued.

11. Close the polls and discontinue acceptance of ballots at 5:00 P. M., local standard time (unless a later hour is fixed by the State committee) on the date of the referendum.

12. Immediately after closing the polls, open the ballot box and canvass the ballots cast, which canvass shall be kept open to the public.

13. Tabulate and record the results of the referendum on form Rice 304. The number of challenged ballots cast shall be entered on form Rice 304 in the space provided and will not be shown as being either for or against the marketing quota. If any ballot is found to be mutilated or marked in such a way so that it cannot be determined whether the voter approved or opposed the marketing quota, it shall not be counted as a ballot cast, but the number of such spoiled ballots shall be entered in the space provided, and such ballots placed in an envelope marked "Spoiled Ballots", followed by the designation of the community.

14. Certify to the accuracy of the executed forms Rice 303 and 304 by signing in the spaces provided.

15. Notify the county committee by telephone or in person as soon as possible after the closing of the polls as to the preliminary count of "yes" and "no" votes in the community.

16. Seal the voted ballots (including those challenged), the spoiled ballots, the register sheet, and the community summary in one or more envelopes appropriately identified by the designation of the community and deliver them to the county committee not later than 8:30 A. NOTICE OF HEARING

Whereas, application has been made by the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, the Underwear Institute, and sundry other parties under Section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, 52 Stat. 1060, and Regulations—Part 522, as amended,—(Regulations Applicable to the Employment of Learners pursuant to Section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act)[1] issued by the Administrator thereunder for permission to employ learners in the knitted wear and hosiery industry at wages less than the applicable minimum wage specified in Section 6 of the Act;

C., to commence at 10 A. M., on December 14, 1938, to take testimony for the purpose of determining:

(a) What if any occupation or occupations in the knitted wear and hosiery industry require a learning period, and

(c) If such necessity is found to exist, at what wages lower than the minimum wage applicable under Section 6, such employment of learners shall be permitted, and with what limitations as to time, number, proportion and length of service.

At this hearing, learner applications will be considered and acted upon on the basis of the needs of the employees and the employers in the industry as a whole rather than on the basis of the needs of individual employees or employers of the industry. Opportunity will be afforded to interested parties to present evidence relevant to the foregoing inquiry. All persons or associations desiring to avail themselves of this opportunity should, if possible, notify the Administrator in advance by telegraph.

Pursuant to authority vested in the Administrator by the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, Mr. Merle D. Vincent is hereby designated as presiding officer to conduct the said hearing and to determine:

(a) What if any occupation or occupations in the knitted wear and hosiery industry require a learning period, and

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

NATIONAL MARKETING QUOTA FOR BURLEY TOBACCO

BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, A PROCLAMATION

Whereas the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, provides:

SEC. 312. (a) Whenever, on the 15th day of November of any calendar year, the Secretary [of Agriculture] finds that the total supply of tobacco as of the beginning of the marketing year then current exceeds the reserve supply level therefor, the Secretary shall proclaim the amount of such total supply, and, beginning on the first day of the marketing year next following and continuing throughout such year, a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the tobacco marketed during such marketing year. The Secretary shall also determine and specify in such proclamation the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the total quantity of tobacco which may be marketed, which will make available during such marketing year a supply of tobacco equal to the reserve supply level. Such proclamation shall be made not later than the 1st day of December in such year.

Whereas said Act contains, in section 301 (b), the following definitions of terms here pertinent:

"Total supply" of tobacco for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year plus the estimated production thereof in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins • • •

"Carry-over" of tobacco for any marketing year shall be the quantity of such tobacco on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, which was produced in the United States prior to the beginning of the calendar year then current • • •

"Marketing year" means, in the case of the following commodities, the period beginning on the first and ending with the second date specified below:

• • • • •

Tobacco (other than flue-cured), October 1–September 30 • • •.

"Reserve supply level" of tobacco shall be the normal supply plus 5 per centum thereof, to insure a supply adequate to meet domestic consumption and export needs in years of drought, flood, or other adverse conditions, as well as in years of plenty.

The "normal supply" of tobacco shall be a normal year's domestic consumption and exports plus 175 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and 65 per centum of a normal year's exports as an allowance for a normal carry-over.

"Normal year's domestic consumption", in the case of • • • tobacco, shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption.

"Normal year's exports" in the case of • • • tobacco • • • shall be the yearly average quantity of the commodity produced in the United States that was exported from the United States during the ten marketing years • • • immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

Whereas on the 15th day of November 1938, I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, found, upon the basis of the latest available statistics[1] of the Federal Government, that the "reserve supply level" of Burley tobacco was 1,014,000,000 pounds; and that the "total supply" of Burley tobacco for the marketing year for such tobacco beginning October 1, 1938, was 1,053,000,000 pounds and exceeded the reserve supply of such tobacco:

Now, therefore, be it known that I, H. A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, acting under and pursuant to, and by virtue of, the authority vested in me by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, do hereby proclaim my findings aforesaid and do hereby determine and proclaim that the amount of the national marketing quota for Burley tobacco in terms of the total quantity of such tobacco which may be marketed, which will make available during the marketing year beginning October 1, 1939, a supply of such tobacco equal to the reserve supply level, is 315,000,000 pounds.

In view of the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture has duly proclaimed, pursuant to the provisions of Section 312 (a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, national marketing quotas for (1) Burley tobacco, and (2) fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, for the marketing year beginning October 1, 1939, a referendum of farmers who were engaged in the production of the 1938 crop of Burley tobacco and a referendum of farmers who were engaged in the production of the 1938 crop of fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco will be held on December 17, 1938, pursuant to the provisions of section 312 (c) of the said act and in accordance with the regulations herein set forth to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to such quotas. A. VOTING ELIGIBILITY

All farmers who were engaged in the production of Burley tobacco in 1938 are eligible to vote in the Burley tobacco marketing quota referendum. All farmers who were engaged in the production of fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938 are eligible to vote in the fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum. The fact that a farmer is eligible to vote in one referendum does not mean that he is eligible to vote in the other. Any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1938 Burley tobacco crop as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper shall be considered as having been engaged in the production of Burley tobacco in 1938. Likewise, any person who shared in the proceeds of the 1938 fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco crop as owner (other than a landlord of a standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant), tenant, or sharecropper is considered as having been engaged in the production of fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938. Farmers who (1) planted Burley tobacco or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938 but produced no Burley tobacco or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco on such acreage for any reason except willful neglect to farm the planted acreage, or (2) who made arrangements to plant Burley tobacco or fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938 but were prevented from planting by flood, excessive rainfall, drought, or plant disease, shall be regarded as having been engaged in the production of (1) Burley tobacco or (2) fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco, respectively, in 1938 and, therefore, eligible to vote.

No farmer (whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity) shall be entitled to more than one vote in either referendum, even though he may have been engaged in the production of (1) Burley tobacco or (2) fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in two or more communities, counties, or States in 1938.

In the event several persons, such as husband, wife, and children, participated in the production of (1) Burley tobacco or (2) fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938 under a single rental or cropping agreement, lease, or other arrangement, only the person or persons who signed or entered into the rental or cropping agreement or lease, or the head of the family if no such agreement or lease obtains, shall be eligible to vote.

In the event two or more persons engaged in producing (1) Burley tobacco or (2) fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in 1938 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person is entitled to vote.

There shall be no voting by mail, proxy, or agent, but a duly authorized officer of an eligible corporation, firm, association, or other legal entity, or a duly authorized member of a partnership, may cast its vote.

If a community referendum committee determines that a farmer residing within the jurisdiction of such committee at the time of the referendum is eligible to vote by reason of his having engaged in producing (1) Burley tobacco or (2) fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in another community in 1938, the committee may issue a ballot form to him and permit him to vote, provided the committee also satisfies itself that such farmer has not voted in the pertinent referendum in another community. If the committee cannot so satisfy itself and the farmer insists upon voting, it shall challenge the ballot in the manner hereinafter outlined.

B. INSTRUCTIONS TO COUNTY COMMITTEES

The County Agricultural Conservation Committee (hereinafter referred to as the county committee) shall be responsible for the proper holding of the referenda in the county and shall:

1. Designate one readily accessible place for balloting in each community and give public notice of the time and place for balloting by posting the applicable notice form at one or more places open to the public within each community at least 5 days in advance of the date of the referenda.

2. Make use (without advertising expense) of all available agencies of public information, including newspapers and radio, to give (1) Burley tobacco farmers, and (2) fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco farmers in the county full and accurate public notice of the day and hours of voting, the location of polling places, and the rules governing eligibility to vote. Such notice should be given as soon as practicable after the plans for holding the referenda in the county have been made, but must be given at least five days in advance of the date of the referenda.

3. Designate three local farmers residing in each community as members of the community referendum committee to conduct (1) the Burley tobacco marketing quota referendum, and (2) the fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco marketing quota referendum in such community, and name one of the members chairman of the committee.

4. In counties with a total of less than 200 Burley tobacco and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco farms, the county committee may treat the county as one community for the purpose of the referenda and hold the referenda and perform the duties both of the county committee and community referendum committee.

5. See that each community referendum committee is provided with (1) a suitable ballot box for the Burley tobacco marketing quota referendum and (2) a separate ballot box for the fire-cured and dark air-cured marketing quota referendum.

6. Execute Form Tobacco 309 for each community in the county, listing thereon the names and addresses of all persons who were engaged in the production of Burley tobacco in such community during 1938. Likewise, execute Form Tobacco 315 for each community in the county, listing thereon the names and addresses of all persons who were engaged in the production of fire-cured or dark air-cured tobacco in such community during 1938. If lists of such persons by communities are already available to the county committee, they may be turned over the community referendum committees for their own preparation of Forms Tobacco 309 and Tobacco 315.

7. Deliver a supply of the applicable Forms Tobacco 308 and 310 and Tobacco 314 and 316, as well as the executed copies of Tobacco 309 and Tobacco 315 (or a supply of blank Forms Tobacco 309 and Tobacco 315 and the required lists of Burley tobacco and fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco farmers in the community), to the chairman of the respective community referendum committee.

8. See to it that the community referendum committees understand their duties as to (a) issuing ballot forms, (b) recording votes, (c) tabulating ballots, and (d) certifying results of the referendum in the community.

9. See that appropriate measures are taken to insure that each referendum is conducted by secret ballot.

10. Notify the State committee by telephone, telegraph, or in person, as soon as possible after the closing of the polls, as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in each referendum held in the county.

11. Meet not later than 8:30 o'clock a. m. Monday, December 19, 1938, for the purpose of receiving and tabulating the data from Forms Tobacco 310 and Tobacco 316 on Forms Tobacco 311 and Tobacco 317, respectively. Such meeting shall be open to the public. Forms Tobacco 311 and Tobacco 317, showing results of the vote in the county, shall be prepared and certified in quadruplicate, two copies of which shall be sent to the State Agricultural Conservation Committee (hereinafter referred to as the State Committee) not later than four calendar days after the date of the referenda, one copy of each posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public or in or near the office of the county committee (hereinafter referred to as the county office), and one copy of each permanently filed in the county office. One copy of each executed Tobacco 310 and Tobacco 316 shall be posted for sixty days in a conspicuous place accessible to the public in or near the county office.

12. Make an investigation in each case of controversy or dispute regarding eligibility of a voter. In each case where a ballot is found in a sealed envelope marked "Challenged" by the community referendum committee and bearing the voter's name, and a statement of the reason for the challenge, the eligibility of such person shall first be determined. If it is determined that such person is eligible, the envelope shall be opened and the ballot placed with the challenged ballot of every other person found to be eligible, and when all the challenged ballots shall have been passed upon by the committee those ballots found to be valid shall be unfolded and tabulated in the county summary. If it is determined that such person is not eligible, the envelope shall not be opened but shall be preserved with the ballots, as provided in paragraph 14 of this section B.

13. Make an investigation in each case of dispute regarding the correctness of the summary of either referendum in a community. No dispute shall be investigated by the county committee unless it is brought to its attention within three calendar days after the date on which the referendum in question was held. The county committee shall promptly decide the dispute and immediately report its findings to the State committee and send by registered mail or deliver in person to the State office all voted ballots, register forms, and community summary sheets involved in the dispute.

14. Seal the voted ballots, challenged ballots found ineligible, register sheets, and community summary sheets for the county in one or more envelopes or packages (marked "Burley Tobacco Referendum 1939", or "Fire-cured and Dark Air-cured Tobacco Referendum 1939", as the case may be, followed by the name of the county) and place them under lock and key in a safe place under the custody of the secretary of the county agricultural conservation association for a period of 60 calendar days from the date of the referendum. If no notice to the contrary is received by the end of such time, the ballots shall be destroyed and the register and community summary sheets permanently filed in the county office.

C. INSTRUCTIONS TO COMMUNITY REFERENDUM COMMITTEES

Each community referendum committee designated by the county agricultural conservation committee shall:

1. Arrange, with the assistance of the county committee, for conducting the referenda by secret ballot.

2. Assist the county committee in giving adequate public notice of the time and place for casting ballots at least five days in advance of the date on which the referenda will be held.

3. Provide a place where each eligible farmer can prepare and cast a ballot in secret and without interference.

4. Provide ballot boxes. Any container so arranged that ballots cannot be seen and cannot be removed without breaking seals on the container will be suitable. If strip adhesive paper or similar seals are used, such seals should be signed or initialed so that breaking or replacing the seal will affect or destroy the identifying marks and show that the seal has been tampered with.

5. Open the polls not later than 9 o'clock a. m., local standard time, on Saturday, December 17, 1938.

6. Hold the referenda in a fair and unbiased manner and see that appropriate measures are taken to insure that the referenda are conducted by secret ballot.

7. See that no device is used whereby any voter's ballot may be identified (except in the case of a challenged ballot). Instruct each voter, as he is handed a ballot form, as to the procedure to be followed in casting his ballot and instruct him to fold his ballot before he places it in the ballot box after he has marked it to show which way he votes.

8. Issue a ballot to each person who is eligible to vote and to each person who claims to be eligible to vote and insists upon voting even though his eligibility is challenged by the committee. Every unchallenged ballot shall be placed in the ballot box by the person who voted it. In every case where the eligibility of the voter is challenged, his ballot, after being marked by the challenged person, shall be placed (by him, or by the committee if he refuses) in an envelope and shall be sealed and marked with his name, the word "Challenged", and a statement of the reason for the challenge, and the envelope shall then be placed in the ballot box. The letter "C" shall be entered on (1) Form Tobacco 309 or (2) Tobacco 315, whichever is applicable, immediately to the left of the name of each person whose vote is challenged.

9. Record on Forms Tobacco 309 and Tobacco 315, respectively, the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued if he is not already listed thereon prior to the time the ballot form is issued to him.

10. Enter an "X" in the designated column on Forms Tobacco 309 and Tobacco 315 beside the name and address of each farmer to whom a ballot form is issued and who places his ballot in the ballot box (whether or not his ballot is challenged).

11. Close the polls and discontinue acceptance of ballots at 5 o'clock p. m., local standard time, on the date of the referendum or such later hour on such date as is fixed by the State Committee.

12. Immediately after closing the polls, open the ballot box and canvass the ballots cast, which canvass shall be kept open to the public.

13. Tabulate and record the results of the referenda on Forms Tobacco 310 and Tobacco 316, respectively. The number of challenged ballots cast shall be entered on Forms Tobacco 310 and Tobacco 316, respectively, in the space provided and will not, of course, be shown as being either for or against the national marketing quota. If any ballot is found to be spoiled or marked in such a way that it cannot be determined whether the voter approved or opposed the national marketing quota, it shall not be counted as a ballot cast but the number of such spoiled ballots shall be entered in the space provided and such ballots placed in an envelope marked "Spoiled Ballots", followed by the designation of the community.

14. Certify to the accuracy of the executed Forms Tobacco 309 and 310 and Tobacco 315 and 316 by signing in the spaces provided.

15. Notify the county committee by telephone or in person as soon as possible after the closing of the polls as to the preliminary count of "Yes" and "No" votes in the community.

16. Seal the voted ballots (including those challenged), the spoiled ballots, the register sheet, and the community summary sheets in one or more envelopes appropriately identified by the designation of the community and deliver them to the county committee not later than 8:30 o'clock a. m., Monday, December 19, 1938, with the unused ballots and other forms. The chairman of the community referendum committee shall be responsible for the safe delivery of such reports, ballots, and forms to the county committee.

17. Post an executed copy of (1) Forms Tobacco 310 and (2) Tobacco 316 as soon as they are executed, at a conspicuous place at the polling place and see that it remains posted and accessible to the public for at least three calendar days after the date of the holding of the referendum.

D. INSTRUCTIONS TO STATE COMMITTEE

The State committee shall be in charge of and responsible for the conducting of the referenda in the State and shall:

1. Report by wire the preliminary results of the referenda to the Regional Director as soon as possible.

2. Summaries on Forms Tobacco 312 and Tobacco 318, respectively, the information reported to it on the Forms Tobacco 311 and Tobacco 317 and forward via air mail special delivery two fully executed Forms Tobacco 312 and Tobacco 318 to the applicable Regional Director, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C., not later than seven calendar days after the date of the referenda. If one sheet proves insufficient for listing the information with respect to all counties in the State, additional sheets properly numbered and identified and securely attached to the first sheet may be used for continuation, in which case totals and signatures should be entered only on the last sheet. One fully executed copy each of Forms Tobacco 311 and 312 and Tobacco 317 and 318 shall be permanently filed in the State office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

3. Complete the investigation of any report from any county regarding controversies, irregularities, or the correctness of summaries of the referenda, not later than ten calendar days after the date of the referenda, and forward its findings in such cases to the applicable Regional Director.

E. RESULTS OF REFERENDA

Final and official tabulation of the votes cast in the referenda will be made by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the results of the referenda announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. The reports on Tobacco 312 and Tobacco 318 and related papers shall be permanently filed with such tabulation and shall remain available for public inspection.

Each county committee is authorized to give out unofficial reports of the total "Yes" and total "No" votes in its county to the public press and to other inquiries. The State Committee is authorized to release to the press and other inquirers the unofficial results of the referenda for the respective State by counties as rapidly as the votes in the various counties are tabulated.

If the Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the Secretary of Agriculture deems it necessary, the report of any community referendum committee, county committee, or State committee shall be reexamined and checked by such persons or agencies as may be designated.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of November 1938. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture.

APPLICATION OF DUTIES PROCLAIMED IN CERTAIN TRADE AGREEMENTS TO ARTICLES THE GROWTH, ETC., OF CERTAIN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, November 25, 1938

The Honorable HENRY MORGENTHAU, Jr.,
Secretary of the Treasury.

MY DEAR MR. SECRETARY: Pursuant to the authority conferred upon me by the Act to amend the Tariff Act of 1930, approved June 12, 1934 (48 Stat. 943), as extended by the Joint Resolution approved March 1, 1937 (50 Stat. 24), I hereby direct that the duties proclaimed on this date in connection with the trade agreements signed on November 17, 1938 with the United Kingdom and with Canada, and all other duties heretofore proclaimed in connection with trade agreements (other than the trade agreement with Cuba signed on August 24, 1934, and the trade agreement with Nicaragua signed on March 11, 1936) entered into under the authority of the said Act, as originally enacted or as extended, shall be applied on and after the effective date of such duties, or, as the case may be, shall continue to be applied on and from the date of this letter, to articles the growth, produce, or manufacture of all foreign countries, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, whether imported directly or indirectly, so long as such duties remain in effect and this direction is not modified.

Such proclaimed duties shall be applied to articles the growth, produce, or manufacture of Cuba in accordance with the provisions of the trade agreement with Cuba signed on August 24, 1934.

Because I find as a fact that the treatment of American commerce by Germany is discriminatory, I direct that such proclaimed duties shall not be applied to products of Germany.

My letter addressed to you on September 23, 1938[1] with reference to duties heretofore proclaimed in connection with trade agreements signed under the authority of the Act of June 12, 1934 is hereby superseded.

You will please cause this direction to be published in an early issue of the weekly Treasury Decisions.

Very sincerely yours,

[SEAL] FRANKLIN D ROOSEVELT

Rules, Regulations, Orders

TITLE 27—INTOXICATING LIQUORS

FEDERAL ALCOHOL ADMINISTRATION DIVISION

[Regulations No. 8]

REGULATIONS PRESCRIBING THE CREDIT PERIOD TO BE EXTENDED TO RETAILERS OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 2 (d) and 5 (b) (6) of the Federal Alcohol Administration Act, as amended, the following regulations, relating to the extension of credit to retailers of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages, are hereby prescribed and promulgated:

SEC. 1. Pursuant to clause 6, subsection (b), section 5, Federal Alcohol Administration Act, the credit period usual and customary to the industry is hereby ascertained to be thirty days from date of delivery in the case of all sales of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages.

SEC. 2. The extension of credit to a retailer, by any person engaged in business as a distiller, brewer, rectifier, blender, or other producer, or as an importer or wholesaler, of distilled spirits, wine, or malt beverages, or as a bottler, or warehouseman and bottler, of distilled spirits, for a period of time in excess of thirty days from date of delivery, is prohibited when the extension of such credit induces any retailer engaged in the sale of distilled spirits, wine, or malt beverages to purchase any such products from such person to the exclusion in whole or in part of distilled spirits, wine, or malt beverages sold or offered for sale by other persons in interstate or foreign commerce, if such inducement is made in the course of interstate or foreign commerce, or if such person engages in the practice of using such means to such an extent as to substantially restrict or prevent transactions in interstate or foreign commerce in any such products, or if the direct effect of such inducement is to prevent, deter, hinder or restrict other persons from selling or offering for sale any such products to such retailer in interstate or foreign commerce.

SEC. 3. For the purpose of these regulations, the period of credit shall be calculated as the time elapsing between the date of delivery of the merchandise and the date of full legal discharge of the retailer, through the payment of cash or its equivalent, from all indebtedness arising from the transaction.

SEC. 4. These regulations, in so far as they affect future sales transactions, shall take effect three months after the date of filing with the Division of the Federal Register, and in so far as they relate to the extension of credit upon deliveries of distilled spirits, wine, and malt beverages heretofore consummated, shall take effect twelve months after the date of filing with the Division of the Federal Register. Any accounts covered by these regulations and based upon transactions completed prior to the date of filing these regulations with the Division of the Federal Register, the liquidation of which has not been completed within one year thereafter, may be further liquidated under such terms as in the opinion of the Administrator would not conflict with the requirements of the Act.

[SEAL] W. S. ALEXANDER, Administrator.

Approved, this 29th day of November 1938.

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

United States of America—Before the Securities and Exchange Commission

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its offices in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1938.

[File No. 1-2964]

IN THE MATTER OF THE REGISTRATION OF TRANSAMERICA CORPORATION CAPITAL STOCK, $2 PAR VALUE

ORDER FOR HEARING AND DESIGNATING OFFICER TO TAKE TESTIMONY

It appearing to the Commission that Transamerica Corporation is the issuer of Capital Stock, $2 par value, and that said Transamerica Corporation registered 11,590,784 shares of such stock on the New York Stock Exchange, the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and, by amendment, on the San Francisco Stock Exchange, all national securities exchanges, by filing on or about August 7, 1937, an application on Form 24 signed for the Corporation by John M. Grant, President, with the said exchanges and with the Commission pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and pursuant to Rule JB1 (now Rule X-12B-1) as amended, promulgated by the Commission thereunder, which application became effective September 10, 1937; and

The Commission having reasonable grounds to believe that Transamerica Corporation has failed to comply with the provisions of Section 12(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, the rules, regulations, Form 24 and the Instructions thereto, promulgated by the Commission thereunder, in that the application for registration on Form 24 and the amendments thereto, filed by said Corporation contain false and misleading statements of material facts, including financial statements of said Corporation and its subsidiaries, which do not correctly reflect the true financial condition of the Corporation and its subsidiaries, all as hereinafter more particularly set forth;

The false and misleading statements which the Commission has reasonable grounds to believe exist in the application on Form 24 and the amendments thereto being more particularly as follows:

I. Item 4 (b) and Item 11, Col, G call for certain information with respect to all parents of the registrant. The Instructions to Form 24 define the term "parent" to include a person in control of the registrant and the term "control" is defined to mean "the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract, or otherwise."

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that in 1934 general proxies, to remain in full force and effect, unless revoked, for a term of seven years, were delegated to a Committee composed of A. P. Giannini, John M. Grant and L. M. Giannini, that such proxies were voted at the annual meeting of stockholders on March 29, 1934, and were in effect at the date of the application on Form 24, and that at such date these proxies conferred upon A. P. Giannini, John M. Grant and L. M. Giannini the power to direct the management and policies of the registrant. It therefore appears to the Commission that the failure in Item 4 (b) and Item 11, Col. G to disclose the committee composed of A. P. Giannini, John M. Grant and L. M. Giannini as a parent of the registrant constitutes an omission of a material fact.

II. Item 28 and Item 29 call for information with respect to the remuneration paid by the registrant and its subsidiaries to certain of its officers, directors and employees.

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that on January 20, 1930, the sum of $1,400,000 was placed on the books of Bankitaly Company of America (then a subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation) to the credit of A. P. Giannini; that of this $1,400,000 all but $792,000 had been paid to A. P. Giannini, by September, 1931, at which time counsel for the then existing management of Transamerica Corporation advised that further payment would be illegal; that thereafter subsequent to the change in management in 1932, A. P. Giannini withdrew from the balance of $792,000 the following sums:

1934	100,596.24
1935	251,952.03
1936	65,914.28

It appears to the Commission that the failure to disclose these facts in Items 28 and 29 renders registrant's response to these items materially misleading.

III. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Transamerica Corporation as of December 31, 1936—

A. In Schedule VI the figure $1,171,714.56 is set forth as a charge to "Paid-In Surplus" in 1936 under the caption "Charge resulting from cancellations and redistribution of capital stock."

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that of this amount $1,124,724.78 represents commissions and other monies paid by Transamerica Corporation to Associated American Distributors, Inc. (at that time a wholly-owned subsidiary of Inter-Continental Corporation which was itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation), in connection with the following activities:

From 1934 to April, 1937, Associated American Distributors, Inc. engaged in the business of soliciting orders to purchase Transamerica Corporation stock on the various stock exchanges on which such stock was listed. It does not appear that in any case Associated American Distributors, Inc. solicited orders for the purchase of capital stock held by Transamerica Corporation. The solicitations were effected by means of contracts entered into by Associated American Distributors, Inc. with independent dealers and through a large number of salesmen employed directly by Associated American Distributors, Inc. Associated American Distributors, Inc. paid commissions to the dealers and to its salesmen for the orders obtained and, to encourage retention of the stock so purchased, additional commissions were paid in proportion to the duration of "placements." To support these activities, Transamerica Corporation paid the following amounts to Associated American Distributors, Inc.: In 1934, $336,857; in 1935, $891,202.17; in 1936, $1,124,724.78. These payments were treated by Associated American Distributors, Inc. as current earnings and were set up on its books as income in the years received.

In the light of the facts set forth above, it appears to the Commission that the commissions and other monies paid to Associated American Distributors, Inc., in the amount of $1,124,724.78 in 1936, represent a current expense properly chargeable to profit and loss and that registrant's treatment of this item as a charge to "Paid-In Surplus" and its failure to reflect this item as a current expense with a consequent reduction in "Earned Surplus" renders the "Balance Sheet" and Schedule VI materially misleading.

IV. With respect to the "Profit and Loss Statement" of Transamerica Corporation—

A. Schedule VI sets forth as charges to "Paid-In Surplus" under the caption "Charge resulting from cancellations and redistribution of capital stock" the figures $495,152.72 in 1934, $891,202.17 in 1935 and $1,171,714.56 in 1936.

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that of these figures $336,857 in 1934, $891,202.17 in 1935, and $1,124,724.78 in 1936 represent commissions and other monies paid by Transamerica Corporation to Associated American Distributors, Inc. (then a wholly-owned subsidiary of Inter-Continental Corporation which was itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation) in connection with the activities described above in paragraph III–A. In the light of the facts and for the reasons set forth above in paragraph III–A, it appears to the Commission that registrant's treatment of these items renders the profit and loss statements for 1934, 1935, and 1936 materially misleading.

V. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Inter-America Corporation as of December 31, 1936—

A. Under the caption "Reserves—For liability and possible loss under outstanding contract of guaranty", and in Schedule V relating to additions and charges to "Reserves", there is set forth the figure $9,302,381.82. The accompanying Note states that this amount relates to a contract of guaranty given to Bank of America N. T. and S. A. in connection with certain assets of the Bank.

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that certain facts having a material bearing on this matter are as follows:

In 1931, in the course of an examination of Bank of America N. T. & S. A., the national bank examiners classified certain assets of the Bank in the face amount of approximately $35,214,000 as losses and doubtful accounts of such unsatisfactory character as to require their elimination from the Bank's balance sheet. Under three contracts dated June 26, 1931, December 31, 1931, and February 13, 1932, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and Corporation of America (both of which were at that time 99.65% owned by Transamerica Bank Holding Company, itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation), entered into agreements which provided that Bank of America N. T. & S. A. "agrees to sell, transfer and set over and does hereby sell, transfer and set over to the Corporation, and the Corporation agrees to purchase and does hereby purchase from the Bank" all such assets. As consideration for these assets, Corporation of America agreed to pay the face amount of $35,214,000. To secure performance Corporation of America pledged with the Bank the assets purchased together with additional collateral. Corporation of American failed to give effect on its books to the assets acquired by these contracts of purchase and sale or to reflect any direct liability thereunder, but apparently treated the obligation arising under the contracts as a guaranty by setting up a reserve from capital surplus in an amount approximately equal to the aggregate purchase price under the contracts.

In 1933, the three contracts were transferred to Transamerica Bank Holding Company, and Transamerica Bank Holding Company by a resolution of its Board of Directors, dated August 30, 1933, agreed to "assume all of the obligations of Corporation of America under those three certain contracts between said Corporation of America and Bank of America N. T. & S. A." In connection with this transfer, Corporation of America eliminated the reserve set up to cover its obligation under the contracts, then aggregating approximately $34,994,376.57, and a reserve in the same amount appeared on the books of Transamerica Bank Holding Company. At a "Special Stockholders Meeting" on April 20, 1935, the name of Transamerica Bank Holding Company was changed to Inter-America Corporation. From time to time Bank of America N. T. & S. A. reduced the item set up on its books to reflect the obligation of Inter-America Corporation under the three contracts by a write-up of unrelated assets and by various other means as set forth below under paragraphs VII to XI, and XV to XVII, both inclusive.

In the light of the facts set forth, it appears to the Commission that the items "Reserves—For liability and possible loss under outstanding contract of guaranty" together with the accompanying Note, Schedule V, and the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading:

1. In treating the contracts described and the obligation of Inter-America Corporation thereunder as a guaranty rather than as a purchase and sale which should have been recorded by setting up the assets purchased with a corresponding direct liability for the purchase price and, in view of the character of the assets, a reserve for the losses which would be borne by Inter-America Corporation;

2. In that amount set up as "Reserves" for this obligation does not reflect the true amount of the liability due nor the possible losses under the contracts;

3. In the use of the term "recoveries" in Schedule V as charges to the "Reserve" originally set up to cover Inter-America's obligation under the three contracts, in that the term "recoveries" fails to indicate and falsifies the true nature of the reduction of Inter-America's obligation by conveying the impression of actual cash recoveries on assets written down, whereas in fact the "recoveries" were accomplished by the write-up by Bank of America N. T. & S A. of unrelated assets as set forth below in paragraphs VII to XI and XV to XVII, both inclusive.

VI. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Transamerica General Corporation as of December 21, 1936—

A. Under the caption "Investments in Securities of Affiliates" and in Schedule II there is set forth the figure $8,982,-180.20 as the carrying value of the investment in the capital stock of Banca d'America e d'Italia.

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that certain restrictions imposed by the Italian Government upon the transfer of any profits or other funds from Italy to any other country materially affects this investment. It therefore appears to the Commission that it is materially misleading to set forth the figure $8,982,180.20 as the carrying value of the investment in the capital stock of Banca d'America e d'Italia without indicating the effect that the restrictions referred to above may have upon the investment.

VII. With respect to the "Combined Report of Condition" of Bank of America N. T. & S. A., First National Bank in Reno, Bank of America (California) as of December 31, 1936—

A. The item "Loans and discounts" under "Assets" and in Schedule E is stated to be $539,899,100.65. This figure includes, among other things, loans in the amount of $304,674,551.73 on "farm lands" and "other real estate." The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that the item of $539,899,100.65 includes estimated losses and doubtful accounts aggregating in excess of $8,000,-000 and slow accounts in excess of $125,-000,000 held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. Registrant has failed to disclose these losses, doubtful items and slow accounts in the "Report of Condition", either in Schedule E or elsewhere in the registration statement, has failed to provide any reserve for such losses and doubtful accounts, and, in the supplementary data furnished in accordance with paragraph I (5) of the Instructions as to Financial Statements in the Instruction Book for Form 24, has affirmatively stated that there are no losses on loans and discounts not provided for.

B. "United States Government obligations, direct and/or fully guaranteed" and "Other bonds, stocks and securities" are set forth under "Assets" and in Schedule F and Schedule G at $478,019,-771.38 and $175,078,108.60, respectively. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that these items include United States Government and Municipal securities held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. which were written up in 1935 and 1936 to the extent of approximately $14,000,000 and which at the date of the "Report of Condition" included an unrealized appreciation of approximately $9,000,000. The registrant has failed to disclose this fact in either Schedule F, Schedule G, the supplementary data furnished in accordance with paragraph I (5) of the Instruction Book for Form 24, or elsewhere in the registration statement.

C. The only provision for a reserve, captioned "Reserve for contingencies", is set at $2,049,928.01. The Commission has reason to believe that $1,971,058.48 of this figure is applicable to Bank of America N. T. & S. A., and that of this $1,971,-058.48, approximately $1,460,000 is a reserve for self-insurance. The Commission further has reason to believe that this reserve is misleading because of its inadequacy—

1. In failing to provide for losses and doubtful accounts of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. other than loans on "farm lands" and "other real estate" included in the "Assets" to the extent of approximately $8,000,000;

2. In failing to provide sufficient reserves for the $304,674,551.73 of loans on "farm lands" and "other real estate";

3. In failing to provide for losses on real estate other than bank premises held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. to the extent of approximately $1,600,000;

4. In failing to provide sufficient depreciation for bank premises, furniture, and fixtures of Bank of America N. T. & S. A.;

5. In failing to provide for losses on bonds and other securities held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. to the extent of approximately $400,000 and for losses on other asset items to the extent of approximately $300,000.

D. "Undivided profits—net" is set forth at $22,503,612.05. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that this figure is false and misleading—

1. In that it includes approximately $9,000,000 of unrealized appreciation resulting from the $14,000,000 write-up in 1935 and 1936 of United States and Municipal securities held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A.;

2. In failing to include a reserve for losses and doubtful accounts, losses on real estate, depreciation of bank premises, furniture and fixtures of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and losses on securities and other assets in excess of $13,000,000;

3. In that the total of (1) and (2) would wipe out that portion of the "Undivided profits—net" which may be attributed to Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and would require a reduction of the "surplus" account of Bank of America N. T. & S. A.

VIII. With respect to the "Combined Report of Earnings and Dividends" for Bank of America N. T. & S. A., First National Bank In Reno and Bank of America (California)—

A. For the year ended December 31, 1935—

1. The items "Recoveries on bonds, stocks and other securities" and "Profits on securities sold" are stated to total $14,942,992.67. The Commission has reason to believe that this figure includes unrealized appreciation of approximately $7,000,000 resulting from an approximately $8,000,000 write-up in 1935 of United States Government and Municipal securities held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A., and, in addition, includes a substantial amount of unrealized appreciation resulting from the write-up of certain Transamerica Corporation stock held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. as collateral for written off loans, and that the inclusion of this unrealized appreciation as income is false and misleading;

2. The provision for loss and depreciation on "banking house, furniture and fixtures" is set at $1,055,223.40. The Commission has reason to believe that this figure is inadequate;

3. The deficiencies set forth in (1) and (2) are reflected in the statement of net profits and undivided profits and render these items false and misleading to an amount in excess of $7,000,000. It appears that the dividends paid in 1935 by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. were more than $3,500,000 in excess of its actual current earnings.

B. For the year ended December 31, 1936—

1. The item "Recoveries on bonds, stocks and other securities" is stated to be $6,309,400.26. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that this figure includes unrealized appreciation of approximately $2,000,000 resulting from a $6,000,000 write-up in 1936 of United States Government and Municipal securities held by Bank of America, N. T. & S. A., and, in addition, includes a substantial amount of unrealized appreciation resulting from the write-up of certain Transamerica Corporation stock held by Bank of America, N. T. & S. A. as collateral for written off loans, and that the inclusion of this unrealized appreciation as income is false and misleading;

2. The report of Earnings and Dividends further appears misleading in that no provision from earnings has been made for doubtful accounts and uncollectible foreign credits held by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. which the Commission has reasonable grounds to believe aggregated approximately $3,700,000;

3. The provision for losses and depreciation on "banking house, furniture and fixtures". is set at $1,082,748.86. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that this figure is inadequate.

4. The deficiencies set forth in (1), (2) and (3) are reflected in the statement of net profits and undivided profits and render these items false and misleading to an amount in excess of $6,000,000. It appears that the dividends paid in 1936 by Bank of America N. T. & S. A. were more than $1,500,000 in excess of its actual current earnings.

IX. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of California Lands, Inc., as of December 31, 1936—

A. Schedule VII relating to "Surplus" sets forth as an addition to "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" the sum of $297,918.26. The accompanying Note states that this amount represents the excess of realization over the cost to California Lands, Inc. of an undivided one-half interest in certain notes, parts of notes, deficiency judgments, etc., theretofore written off on the books of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and purchased from the Bank by Inter-America Corporation and from Inter-America Corporation by California Lands, Inc.

The Commission has reason to believe that certain facts having a material bearing on this matter are as follows:

On February 1, 1933, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. sold to Corporation of America (both of which were at this time 99.65% owned by Transamerica Bank Holding Company, itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation), for a consideration of $250,000, all of the Bank's charged off assets, including those to be charged off up to July 1, 1933. This agreement was transferred for the same consideration to Transamerica General Corporation and then to Transamerica Bank Holding Company (both wholly-owned subsidiaries of Transamerica Corporation). On January 2, 1934, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. sold to Transamerica Bank Holding Company for a consideration of $50,000 all of the assets of the Bank charged off from July 1, 1933, to July 1, 1937. At a Special Stockholders Meeting on April 20, 1935, the name of Transamerica Bank Holding Company was changed to Inter-America Corporation.

On October 1, 1936, Inter-America Corporation transferred the charged off assets covered by the two aforementioned agreements to California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company (both wholly-owned subsidiaries of Transamerica General Corporation which corporation was 100% owned by Transamerica Corporation) for an aggregate consideration of $500,000.

On July 14, 1937, California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company transferred these same assets less $1,486,185.67 collected by Inter-America Corporation (for the account of California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company) to Bank of America N. T. & S. A. for a consideration of $6,500,000. Thus, in 1937, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. paid $6,500,000 for a portion of the same assets which the Bank had originally sold in 1933 and 1934 for $300,000.

As part of this same transaction, Transamerica Corporation entered into an agreement guaranteeing the Bank against loss to the extent of $6,500,000 on the charged off assets repurchased.

In the light of the facts set forth above, it appears to the Commission that the figure $297,918.26 set forth in Schedule VII as "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate", together with the accompanying Note, and the inclusion of this amount in the "Earned surplus—deficit" in the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading.

X. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Capital Company as of December 31, 1936—

A. Schedule VII relating to "Surplus" sets forth as an addition to "Earned Surplus" as "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" the sum of $297,919.23. The accompanying Note states that this amount represents the excess of realization over the cost to Capital Company of an undivided one-half interest in certain notes, parts of notes, deficiency judgments, etc., theretofore written off on the books of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and purchased from the Bank by Inter-America Corporation and from Inter-America Corporation by Capital Company.

In the light of the facts set forth above under paragraph IX–A, it appears to the Commission that the figure $297,919.23 set forth in Schedule VII as "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" together with the accompanying Note, and the inclusion of this amount as "Earned Surplus" in the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading.

It appearing to the Commission that pursuant to Section 13 (a) and (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and Rules KA1 and KA2 (now Rules X–13A–1 and X–13A–2) promulgated by the Commission thereunder, Transamerica Corporation filed on or about June 27, 1938, its annual report on Form 24–K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1937, signed for the Corporation by John M. Grant, President; and

The Commission having reasonable grounds to believe that said Transamerica Corporation has failed to comply with the provisions of Section 13 (a) and (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, the rules, regulations, Form 24–K and the Instructions thereto, promulgated by the Commission thereunder, in that the annual report on Form 24–K filed by said Transamerica Corporation contains false and misleading statements of material facts including financial statements of said Transamerica Corporation and its subsidiaries, which do not correctly reflect the true financial condition of the Corporation and its subsidiaries, all as hereinafter more particularly set forth;

The false and misleading statements which the Commission has reasonable grounds to believe exist in the annual report referred to above being more particularly as follows:

XI. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Transamerica Corporation as of December 31, 1937—

A. Note B referring to the items captioned "Marketable Securities" and "Investments in Securities of Affiliates" states that securities having a market value of $1,338,835 and investments in securities of affiliates having a carrying value of $5,636,576.32 were pledged as security "(1) in connection with a contract of guarantee and (2) on an option to purchase certain securities." Note I referring to "Contingent Liabilities" states that "At December 31, 1937, the Corporation was reported as being contingently liable [sic] under certain conditions of contract in the amount of $5,838,123.74."

1. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that certain additional facts having a material bearing on the "contract of guarantee" referred to in Note B are as follows:

In connection with the transactions described above under paragraph IX–A, in which a portion of the charged off assets of Bank of America N. T. & S. A., originally sold by the Bank in 1933 and 1934 for an aggregate consideration of $300,000, were repurchased by the Bank on July 14, 1937, from California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company for a consideration of $6,500,000, Transamerica Corporation entered into an agreement guaranteeing the Bank against loss to the extent of $6,500,000 on the assets repurchased. The reference in Notes B and I to a "contract of guarantee" apparently refers to this agreement.

In the light of the facts set forth above in this paragraph and in paragraph IX–A, and in the light of the apparent disparity between the actual value of the assets repurchased by the Bank and the amount of recovery guaranteed by Transamerica Corporation, it appears to the Commission that Notes B and I and the "Balance Sheet" are grossly inadequate to reflect the nature of Transamerica's obligation under the contract of guarantee.

2. The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that certain additional facts having a material bearing on the "option to purchase certain securities" referred to in Note B are as follows:

In July, 1937, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. purchased from Transamerica Corporation 56,600 shares of stock of National City Bank at the then market price of $48 per share. It appears that the stock purchased was set up on the books of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. at $2,716,800, the purchase price, and that payment was made by crediting $2,716,800 to Inter-America Corporation to reduce by that amount the balance of the $35,214,000 obligation originally undertaken by Inter-America Corporation under the circumstances set forth in paragraph V–A. As part of the contract of purchase and sale of National City Bank stock, Transamerica Corporation agreed to repurchase the stock at $48 per share over a period of 5 years at the rate of 11,320 shares each year, and pledged an additional block of 18,400 shares to secure this agreement. It further appears that on December 31, 1937, the market value of National City Bank stock was approximately $27 per share. The reference in Note B to "an option to purchase certain securities" apparently relates to this transaction.

It appears to the Commission that the foregoing transaction was a device employed in an attempt to reduce or eliminate the balance of the obligation originally undertaken by Inter-America Corporation, and that the designation and treatment of this transaction as an "option" and the failure to disclose the additional information set forth above and the circumstances surrounding this transaction render Notes B and I and the "Balance Sheet" materially misleading.

B. In Schedule VIII the figure $444,000 is set forth as a charge to "Paid-In Surplus" in 1937 under the caption "Contribution to Associated American Distributors (Incorporated) in connection with redistribution of capital stock."

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that this amount represents commissions and other monies paid by Transamerica Corporation to Associated American Distributors, Inc., (then a wholly-owned subsidiary of Inter-Continental Corporation which was a wholly owned subsidiary of Transamerica General Corporation, itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation), in connection with the activities described above in paragraph III–A.

In the light of the facts set forth above in paragraph III–A, it appears to the Commission that registrant's treatment of this item renders the "Balance Sheet" and Schedule VIII materially misleading.

XII. With respect to the "Profit and Loss Statement" of Transamerica Corporation—

A. In Schedule VIII the figure $444,000 is set forth as a charge to "Paid-In Surplus" in 1937 under the caption "Contribution to Associated American Distributors (Incorporated) in connection with redistribution of capital stock."

The Commission has reasonable grounds to believe that this amount represents commissions and other monies paid by Transamerica Corporation to Associated American Distributors, Inc. (then a wholly-owned subsidiary of Inter-Continental Corporation which was a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica General Corporation, itself a wholly-owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation), in connection with the activities described above in paragraph III–A.

In the light of the facts and for the reasons set forth in paragraph III–A, it appears to the Commission that registrant's treatment of this item renders the "Profit and Loss Statement" and Schedule VIII materially misleading.

XIII. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Inter-America Corporation as of June 30, 1937—

A. Under the caption "Reserves—For liability and possible loss under outstanding contract of guaranty", and in Schedule VI relating to additions and charges to "Reserves", there is set forth the figure $8,561,099.82.

In the light of the facts set forth above under paragraph V–A, it appears to the Commission that the items "Reserves—For liability and possible loss under outstanding contract of guaranty", Schedule VI, and the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading:

1. In treating the contracts described in paragraph V–A and the obligation of Inter-America Corporation thereunder as a guaranty rather than as a purchase and sale which should have been recorded by setting up the assets purchased with a corresponding direct liability for the purchase price, and, in view of the character of the assets, a reserve for the losses which would be borne by Inter-America Corporation;

2. In that the amount set up as "Reserves" for this obligation does not reflect the true amount of the liability due nor the possible losses under the contracts;

3. In the use of the term "recoveries" in Schedule VI as charges to the "Reserves" originally set up to cover Inter-America's obligation under the three contracts, in that such term fails to indicate the true nature of the reduction of Inter-America's obligation.

XIV. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Transamerica General Corporation as of December 31, 1937—

A. Under the caption "Investments in Securities of Affiliates—Banks" there is set forth the figure $9,374,148.06. In Schedule II it is stated that the investment in the capital stock of Banca d'America e d'Italia is carried on the balance sheet at the amount of $8,982,321.85.

In the light of the facts set forth above under paragraph VI–A, it appears to the Commission that it is materially misleading to set forth the figure $8,982,321.85 as the carrying value of the investment in the capital stock of Banca d'America e d'Italia without indicating the effect that the restrictions referred to in paragraph VI–A may have upon this investment.

XV. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of California Lands, Inc., as of December 31, 1937—

A. Schedule IX relating to "Surplus" sets forth as an addition to "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" the sum of $3,595,120.54. The accompanying Note states that of this amount $345,120.54 represents the excess of realization over the cost to California Lands, Inc. of an undivided one-half interest in certain notes, parts of notes, deficiency judgments, etc., theretofore written off on the books of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and purchased from the Bank by Inter-America Corporation and from Inter-America Corporation by California Lands, Inc., and that the remaining $3,250,000 represents the share of California Lands, Inc. in $6,500,000, which on July 14, 1937, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. agreed to pay to California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company for the right to future recoveries on these same assets. The Note further states that in connection with this purchase Transamerica Corporation entered into an agreement whereby it guaranteed that the Bank would recover the amount of $6,500,000 at an annual rate of $1,300,000.

In the light of the facts set forth above under paragraph IX–A, it appears to the Commission that the figure $3,595,120.54 set forth in Schedule IX as "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" together with the accompanying Note, and the inclusion of this amount as "Earned Surplus" in the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading.

XVI. With respect to the "Balance Sheet" of Capital Company as of December 31, 1937—

A. Schedule IX to "Surplus" sets forth as an addition to "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" the sum of $3,595,119.56. The accompanying Note states that of this amount $345,119.56 represents the excess of realization over the cost to Capital Company of an undivided one-half interest in certain notes, parts of notes, deficiency judgments, etc., therefore written off on the books of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. and purchased from the Bank by Inter-America Corporation and from Inter-America Corporation by Capital Company, and that the remaining $3,250,000 represents the share of Capital Company in $6,500,000 which on July 14, 1937, Bank of America N. T. & S. A. agreed to pay to California Lands, Inc. and Capital Company for the right to future recoveries on these same assets. The Note further states that in connection with this purchase Transamerica Corporation entered into an agreement whereby it guaranteed that the Bank would recover the amount of $6,500,000 at an annual rate of $1,300,000.

In the light of the facts set forth above under paragraph IX–A, it appears to the Commission that the figure $3,595,119.56 set forth in Schedule IX as "Earned Surplus" under the caption "Profit on sale of assets purchased from affiliate" together with the accompanying Note, and the inclusion of this amount as "Earned Surplus" in the "Balance Sheet" are materially misleading.

The Commission having reasonable grounds to believe that Transamerica Corporation has failed to comply with the provisions of Section 12 (b) and Section 13 (a) and (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, the rules, regulations, Form 24, Form 24–K, and the Instructions thereto, promulgated by the Commission thereunder, in that the application for registration on Form 24, the annual report on Form 24–K and the amendments thereto, filed by said Transamerica Corporation contain financial statements of Transamerica Corporation and its subsidiaries, which do not correctly reflect the true financial condition of Transamerica Corporation and its subsidiaries, as hereinafter more particularly set forth:

XVII. It appears to the Commission that the general policy of Transamerica Corporation and its subsidiaries with respect to the manner of creation and treatment of certain "reserves", and the adequacy thereof, is improper in the following respects:

A. In the elimination of "reserves" on the books of certain companies and the creation of fictitious "reserves" in similar or substantially similar amounts on the books of other companies in the Transamerica group for the purpose of utilizing such "reserves" to absorb losses with consequent distortion of the true financial condition of the separate corporate entities and of the entire group as a whole: in particular, with respect to the "reserves" set up on the "Balance Sheets" of Transamerica General Corporation as of December 31, 1936, and December 31, 1937, "for real estate losses and contingencies of controlled affiliates" in the amounts of $6,861,814.19 in 1936 and $1,700,050.22 in 1937, and $5,034,583.95 in 1936 and $1,168,002.25 in 1937, for Capital Company and California Lands, Inc., respectively;

B. In that the amount of the reserves provided on the books of the various companies in the Transamerica group is materially inadequate; in particular, the "Combined Report of Condition" of Bank of America N. T. & S. A., First National Bank in Reno, and Bank of America (California) as of December 31, 1936, shows "Loans and discounts" in the amount of $539,899,100.65 which includes, among other things, loans in the amount of $304,674,551.73 on "farm lands" and "other real estate." The only reserve in this "Combined Report of Condition" is designated as "Reserve for contingencies" and is set forth at $2,049,928.01, of which approximately $1,460,000 is a reserve for self-insurance, leaving a balance of $589,928.01. In its "Balance Sheet" as of December 31, 1936, Capital Company carried "Real Estate Held for Resale," at $51,379,652.11, which amount represented "Land, Buildings and Improvements", and as of the same date, California Lands, Inc. carried "Real Estate and Equipment Held for Resale" at $31,357,098.76, which amount included "Land, Buildings and Improvements" at $31,335,825.76, with no reserve on the books of either company applicable to such assets. As of the same date, Occidental Life Insurance Company (a wholly owned subsidiary of Transamerica General Corporation, itself a wholly owned subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation) showed on its books "mortgage loans on real estate" and "balance due on property sold under contract" in the amounts of $8,175,516.57 and $3,856,986.03, respectively, with no reserves applicable thereto. These various items of loans, discounts, and investments in real estate aggregate $634,668,354.12, against which there is an aggregate reserve of but $589,928.01.

In that because of the nature of the "reserves" referred to above under A, it was improper to charge losses and expenses against such "reserves";

D. In the treatment of losses and expenses which were not present at the date of a readjustment of accounts but resulted from events occurring subsequent thereto as charges to certain reserves created at the time of such readjustment.

XVIII. It further appears to the Commission that registrant, in its application for registration on Form 24 and in its annual report for 1937 on Form 24–K, has failed to file financial statements for itself and its subsidiaries certified in accordance with the requirements of paragraph II of the Instructions as to Financial Statements in the Instruction Books for Form 24 and Form 24–K, respectively.

It being the opinion of the Commission that the hearing herein ordered to be made is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended;

It is ordered, Pursuant to Section 19 (a) (2) of said Act, that a public hearing be held to determine whether Transamerica Corporation has failed to comply with Section 12 (b) and Section 13 (a) and (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, the rules, regulations and forms promulgated by the Commission thereunder, in the respects set forth above; and if so, whether it is necessary or appropriate for the protection of investors to suspend for a period not exceeding twelve months or to withdraw the registration of said Corporation's Capital Stock, $2 par value, on said New York Stock Exchange, Los Angeles Stock Exchange and San Francisco Stock Exchange;

It is further ordered, Pursuant to the provisions of Section 21 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that for the purposes of such hearing, Henry Fitts, an officer of the Commission, is hereby designated to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law;

It is further ordered, That the taking of testimony in this hearing begin on the 16th day of January, 1939, at 10:00 A. M. in Room 1101, Securities and Exchange Commission Building, 1778 Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. and continue thereafter at such time and place as the officer hereinbefore designated may determine.

in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm shall be entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota, his share of such tobacco; provided that, if the quota is less than the total amount of such tobacco, each producer shall be entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota, only that proportion of his share of such tobacco which the quota is of the total quantity of such tobacco. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.37 Successors in interest.—Any person who succeeds in whole or in part to the share of a producer in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm shall, to the extent of such succession, have the same rights as the producer in the quota. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

(Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

MARKETING OF TOBACCO AND PENALTIES

SEC. 726.40 A memorandum of sale to be obtained for every marketing.—Whenever any tobacco is marketed (whether the marketing is within the quota or not) the marketing card for the farm on which such tobacco was produced, together with the warehouse bill or other record of the marketing, shall be presented to the field assistant who is located most conveniently to the place of marketing for the purpose of obtaining a memorandum of sale (Form 38–Tobacco 55 in the case of warehouse sales, and Form 38–Tobacco 56 in the case of nonwarehouse sales) covering the tobacco marketed. A memorandum of sale shall then be issued by the field assistant; provided that, in the case of a nonwarehouse sale which is subject to penalty, the memorandum shall not be issued unless the certificate on Form 38–Tobacco 56 as to the facts of the marketing is signed by the dealer and the producer (or by the producer alone if the marketing is made directly to a person outside the United States). (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.41 When memorandum of re-sale to be obtained.—Whenever any tobacco is resold through a warehouse, the warehouse bill covering such resale shall be presented to the field assistant at the warehouse, and, upon representation by the warehouseman that the tobacco covered by the warehouse bill was tobacco the marketing of which was previously covered by a memorandum of sale, the field assistant shall issue a memorandum of resale covering such tobacco. (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.42 Purpose of memorandum of sale.—A memorandum of sale shall identify the tobacco covered by the memorandum as tobacco the marketing of which is subject to penalty, or tobacco the marketing of which is free of penalty, as the memorandum, on its face, may show, and if the marketing is subject to penalty, shall state the amount of the penalty upon the marketing.

It shall be the responsibility of the person liable for the payment of the penalty upon a marketing to check carefully the entries on the memorandum of sale issued to cover the marketing and the records upon which such memorandum is based. Any errors should be brought immediately to the attention of the field assistant for correction. Failure of the person liable for the payment of the penalty to have any errors corrected will not relieve such person of the payment of the penalty due upon the basis of the correct entries. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.43 Marketings free of penalty.—Any marketing of tobacco shall be free of penalty, and shall be so identified by the memorandum of sale covering the marketing, to the extent that

(a) such tobacco is marketed within the quota for the farm on which such tobacco was produced, as shown by a valid marketing card presented to obtain the memorandum of sale to cover such marketing; provided that if the producer and the person liable for the payment of the penalty shall designate any tobacco as tobacco marketed subject to penalty, then such tobacco shall be deemed to be marketed in excess of the quota, and the memorandum of sale shall not identify such tobacco as marketed free of penalty; or

(b) such tobacco is marketed solely for nicotine or other by-product uses and is so identified by a certificate made on Form 38–Tobacco 25 by the by-product manufacturer and the producer; or

(c) such tobacco was grown for experimental purposes only by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station and is so identified by a certificate made on Form 38–Tobacco 25 by an authorized representative of the experiment station and the producer. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.44 Marketings subject to penalty.—(a) Any marketing of tobacco shall be subject to penalty, and shall be so identified by the memorandum of sale covering the marketing, to the extent that the tobacco marketed cannot, as of the date of the issuance of the memorandum of sale, be identified pursuant to Sec. 726.43 of these regulations as tobacco the marketing of which was free of penalty.

(b) If a memorandum of sale or a memorandum of resale has not been obtained to cover a sale of tobacco through a warehouse, such sale shall be deemed to be a marketing which was subject to penalty.

(c) If a memorandum of sale has not been obtained to cover a nonwarehouse sale, such sale shall be deemed to be a marketing which was subject to penalty. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.45 Amount of penalty.—The penalty upon any marketing of tobacco subject to penalty shall be 50 percent of the market price of such tobacco on the date of marketing, or 2 cents per pound, whichever is higher. The sale price of any tobacco will be considered as evideince of the market price on the date of marketing where verified, in the case of warehouse sales, by a warehouse bill, or in the case of nonwarehouse sales, by the certificate (on Form 38–Tobacco 56) of the dealer and the producer. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48.)

SEC. 726.46 Persons to pay penalty, and deduction from purchase price.—(a) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer through a warehouseman (or cooperative marketing association or other agent who performs services comparable to the services performed by a warehouseman) the penalty shall be paid by the warehouseman (or such other agent), but the warehouseman (or such other agent) may deduct an amount equivalent to the penalty from the purchase price paid to the producer.

(b) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer directly to any person outside the United States, the penalty shall be paid by the producer.

(c) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer in a manner other than as described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the penalty shall be paid by the person who acquires the tobacco from the producer; but an amount equivalent to the penalty may be deducted by the buyer from the price paid to the producer in case such tobacco is marketed by sale. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48.)

SEC. 726.47 Payment of penalty.—Penalties upon the marketing of tobacco shall become due at the time of the marketing, and shall be paid by remitting the amount thereof to the Secretary of Agriculture (addressed for the attention of the Comptroller, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C.) not later than the end of the calendar week next following the week in which the penalties became due. The remittance shall be accompanied,

(a) in the case of a warehouseman, by his report on Form 38–Tobacco 58, or

(b) in the case of a dealer, by his report on Form 38–Tobacco 59, or

(c) in the case of a producer, by his statement showing the date of sale, the number of pounds sold, the grade, the sale price thereof, and the name of the person outside the United States to whom sold. The remittance may be made by draft, money order, or check, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, but any such draft, money order, or check shall be received subject to payment at par. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204.)

SEC. 726.48 Refund of penalty.—Whenever, pursuant to a claim filed with the Secretary of Agriculture within one year after payment to him of any penalty collected from any person pursuant to the Act, the Secretary of Agriculture finds that such penalty was erroneously, illegally, or wrongfully collected, the Secretary of Agriculture shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment to the claimant, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, such amount as the Secretary of Agriculture finds the claimant is entitled to receive as a refund of such penalty. Any claim filed with the Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to this Section shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by him. (Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204.)

MARKETING CARDS

SEC. 726.49 Form of card.—The marketing card (Form 38–Tobacco 45) shall contain the signature in ink of both the person authorized to issue the marketing card and the operator, and a statement of the following information:

(a) the State and county code and serial number of the farm for which the marketing card is issued;

(b) the number of the marketing card;

(c) the name and address of the operator;

(d) the amount of the marketing quota, or, if more than one marketing card is issued for the farm, the number of pounds for which the marketing card is issued, expressed in words on the face of the marketing card and expressed in figures on the inside of the marketing card in column 1 opposite the word "Quota";

(e) the date on which the marketing card is issued; and

(f) if more than one card is issued for any farm, the amount of the farm's transfer allotment apportioned to the card in accordance with Sec. 726.59 of these regulations. (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.50 Person authorized to issue card.—The county committee shall designate one of its members or the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association as the person authorized to issue marketing cards for farms in the county. Only one person shall be designated by the committee for this purpose, and in the absence of a specific designation the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association shall be deemed to be the person designated. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.51 Entries on card.—No person other than a field assistant, or a person designated by the Chief of the Tobacco Section or by the county committee, shall make any entry (except for the writing by the operator of his signature) on the marketing card; but every entry on the marketing card should be carefully checked by each interested person, and any error should be immediately reported for correction to a person authorized to make entries on the marketing card. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.52 Receipt for card.—After the marketing card has been duly prepared, it shall be delivered to the operator upon his receipt therefor. There shall be listed on the "Operator's Receipt for Marketing Card" (Form 38–Tobacco 44), in the appropriate spaces thereon, the following information:

(a) each marketing card issued for the farm and received by him, and the number of pounds for which each such marketing card was issued; and

(b) the names of all producers having a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm.

The receipt shall be retained in the county office and shall be available to any producer having a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm, whether the name of such person be listed on the receipt or not, either for inspection or for evidence as to any matter to which the receipt relates. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.53 Rights of producers in card.—Each producer who has a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm shall have the right to market, or to have marketed for him, under the marketing card issued for the farm, the quantity of such tobacco which he is entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota for the farm, as provided in Sec. 726.36 of these regulations. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.54 Invalid cards.—(a) A marketing card shall be invalid if the marketing card was not issued or delivered in the form and manner required in these regulations, but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when returned to the county office and reissued and delivered in the required form and manner.

(b) A marketing card shall be invalid if the entries on the marketing card with respect to the amount, portion, or balance of quota are incorrect, or if, because of the omission of any entry which should have been made on the marketing card, the balance of unused quota is incorrect; but if, subsequent to the time of invalidation, no transfer from the farm has been made, and no marketings have been made and entered on the marketing card which would have been subjected to penalty if the correct entries had been shown on the marketing card, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when the error has been corrected by a person authorized to make entries on the marketing card, or, in any other case, when the marketing card has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(c) A marketing card shall be invalid if the marketing card is credited with an amount of quota, any part of which has been transferred in violation of these regulations; but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when the marketing card has been forwarded to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(d) A marketing card shall be invalid if any entry is made on the marketing card by a person not authorized to make such entry; but such invalid marketing card, when returned to the county office, shall be replaced by a new marketing card issued for an amount of quota determined as provided in Sec. 726.57 of these regulations.

(e) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is presented and used to obtain a memorandum of sale covering the marketing of tobacco which was grown on a farm other than the farm for which the marketing card was issued; but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(f) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is lost or stolen, but if no entry has been made on the marketing card between the time of its loss or theft and its return to the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the operator; or if any entry has been made on the marketing card between the time of its loss or theft and its return to the operator of the farm for which it was issued, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction; provided that if such lost or stolen marketing card is not found or returned to the operator prior to the issuance of a duplicate marketing card, as provided for in Sec. 726.56 of these regulations, then such lost or stolen marketing card shall be permanently invalid.

(g) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is destroyed or becomes illegible; but a new marketing card shall be issued to replace such destroyed or illegible marketing card, as provided in Sec. 725.56 of these regulations, and such destroyed or illegible marketing card shall be permanently invalid. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.55 Invalid cards suspended.—If any field assistant or the county office shall learn of or ascertain the invalidity of any marketing card, such person shall immediately notify the Tobacco Section of the code and serial number, and the name and address of the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, and of the facts causing the invalidity of the marketing card, unless the marketing card is then in the possession of such person, in which case he shall retain and make disposition of the marketing card in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 725.54 of these regulations. Upon receipt of such notice, the Tobacco Section shall notify all field assistants, all county offices, and the operator of the farm, that the marketing card has been suspended for invalidity. If any such marketing card shall thereafter come into the possession of any field assistant or county office, such person shall retain and make disposition of the marketing card in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 726.54 of these regulations. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.56 Duplicate card to replace card which is lost, stolen, destroyed, or which becomes illegible.—Whenever any marketing card is lost, stolen, destroyed, or becomes illegible, the county office shall be notified of the code and serial number, the name of the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, the number of the marketing card, and, if known, the amount of the unused quota evidenced by the marketing card and the amount of quota which had been transferred to the card. Such notice shall be in writing, subscribed by the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued. If, in the case of a lost or stolen marketing card, the producer is at or near a warehouse where he believes the loss or theft occurred, he shall also notify the field assistant at the warehouse.

When such notice has been given to the county office and a period of two weeks has elapsed from the time of its receipt of such notice, a duplicate marketing card may be issued by the country office for an amount of quota determined as provided in Sec. 726.57 of these regulations.

Such marketing card shall bear the same number as the number of the marketing card which was lost, stolen, destroyed, or which became illegible, and shall have written under the card number, in large letters, the word "Duplicate". The person issuing the marketing card shall sign the card in the space provided for his signature and shall also sign below the word "Duplicate". (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.57 Amount of quota for duplicate cards.—Whenever the county office issues a marketing card to replace any marketing card which has become invalid, the amount of quota for which such card shall be issued shall equal whichever of the following amounts is the smaller:

(a) the unused quota as stated by the operator; or

(b) the unused quota as determined by subtracting the sum of—

(1) the total marketings within quota,

(2) the amount of quota transferred from the farm, and

(3) the total unused quota shown on all other marketing cards issued for the farm;

from the sum of—

(1) the quota established for the farm, and

(2) the amount of quota transferred to the farm; provided that, if no amount is stated by the operator, as provided under paragraph (a) of this section, the amount for which the card shall be issued shall be the amount determined under paragraph (b) of this section. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.58 Replacement of old cards.—Whenever the space for recording marketings on any card becomes inadequate, such marketing card shall be surrendered to the county office and a new marketing card shall be issued for the amount of unused quota remaining on the marketing card so surrendered. The new card shall bear the same number as the number of the surrendered card, and such number shall be preceded by the letter "R". An appropriate entry shall be made on the surrendered marketing card showing that a new card has been so issued. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66.)

SEC. 726.59 Apportionment of transfer allotment among cards. Every marketing card issued shall bear a statement of the amount of the transfer allotment (determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of Sec. 726.60 of these regulations) which has been apportioned to the card; except that where only one card is issued for the farm such card shall bear no such statement. This statement shall be written on the face of the card and below the words "Marketing Card (1938–39 fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco)", and shall be in the following words, or an appropriate abbreviation thereof: "Maximum Increase by Transfer", followed by the amount apportioned to the card, or "No Increase by Transfer" if no apportionment is made to the card, as the case may be.

The apportionment of the transfer allotment among cards shall be made in accordance with the following rules:

(a) If only one card is issued for the entire quota, no entry will be made, and the entire transfer allotment shall be deemed to be apportioned to the card;

(b) If the quota established for the farm is divided among two or more cards, the apportionment shall be made in accordance with the request of the operator; or, if the operator makes no request with respect to the apportionment, there shall be apportioned to each card that portion of the transfer allotment which the amount of quota for which the card is issued is of the quota established for the farm;

(c) If, after the issuance of the marketing card or cards for a farm, the quota for the farm is increased, the amount of transfer allotment which shall be apportioned to the card issued on account of such increase in the farm quota shall be the amount by which the transfer allotment is increased by the increase of the farm marketing quota.

(d) If an old card is replaced pursuant to Sec. 726.58, or if a duplicate card is issued pursuant to Sec. 726.56, the amount apportioned to the new card shall be the amount apportioned to the original card less the amount already transferred on account of such apportionment; provided that, if the amount apportioned to the original card cannot be determined from the county office records, the statement of the amount apportioned to the new card shall be "No Increase by Transfer", unless the operator of the farm shall present all other cards for the farm, and in that case the amount apportioned to the old card shall be deemed to be the amount by which the transfer allotment is greater than the total amount of the apportionments to such other cards. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586.)

TRANSFER OF QUOTA

SEC. 726.60 Amount of quota transferable.—(a) From a farm.—Quota may be transferred from a farm only to the extent and in the event that such quota exceeds the sum of: (1) the number of pounds of tobacco available for marketing from the farm which have not been marketed (or otherwise disposed of) at the time of the proposed transfer, (2) the number of pounds of tobacco marketed from the farm solely for nicotine or other by-product uses, and (3) the number of pounds of tobacco marketed from the farm which were grown for experimental purposes only by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station.

(b) To a farm.—The amount of quota which may be transferred to a farm shall be the larger of: (1) 10 percent of the quota established for the farm, or (2) 500 pounds; and such larger amount shall be the farm's transfer allotment. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586.)

SEC. 726.61 Duties of person authorized to make transfer.—Transfers may be made by a field assistant, or by a person authorized by the county committee to make transfers, and shall be made either directly between farms or through the county office transfer book. Any authorized person who makes a transfer of quota shall

(a) satisfy himself that the authorization for transfer has been duly executed by the operator of the farm from which the transfer is to be made; that the requested transfer is proper (i. e., that the amount of quota to be transferred from the one farm is available for transfer in accordance with these regulations, and that the transfer to the other farm will not exceed the amount of the unused transfer allotment apportioned to the card on which the transfer is to be entered);

(b) record the transfer by making the appropriate entries on the respective cards, in case of direct transfers, or on the cards, and in the county office transfer book, in case of transfers through a county office transfer book;

(c) when the appropriate entries have been made, execute the certificate on the authorization for transfer;

(d) after making a transfer to a farm through the county office transfer book, make a record of the transfer on Form 38–Tobacco 67. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586.)

SEC. 726.62 Direct transfers.—If the transfer is to be made directly from one farm to another, the marketing cards for the respective farms, together with the authorization (Form 38–Tobacco 66) of the operator of the farm from which the transfer is to be made, shall be presented, for appropriate entries, to a field assistant or person in the county office authorized to make transfers. Any person may, at any time more than ten days before the date scheduled for hearing, file with the Commission a petition to intervene.

PART 7. SUBSCRIPTION AND VERIFICATION

SEC. 7.02 Pleadings. All pleadings (not including applications or amendments thereto) filed by any party represented by an attorney, shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in his individual name, whose address shall be stated. A party who is not represented by an attorney shall sign his pleading and state his address. Except when otherwise specifically provided by rule or statute, pleadings need not be verified or accompanied by affidavit. The signature of an attorney constitutes a certificate by him that he has read the pleading; that to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay. If a pleading is not signed or is signed with intent to defeat the purpose of this rule, it may be stricken as sham and false and the action may proceed as though the pleading had not been served. For a wilful violation of this rule an attorney may be subjected to appropriate disciplinary action. Similar action may be taken if scandalous or indecent matter is inserted.

Service upon common carriers shall be made as provided in Section 413 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

In all other cases whenever under these rules service is required or permitted to be made upon a party represented by an attorney, the service shall be made upon the attorney unless service upon the party himself is ordered by the Commission. SEC. 10.01 Authentication of copy. An official record, or entries therein when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the officer having legal custody of the record, or by his deputy, and accompanied with a certificate that such officer has the custody. If the office in which the record is kept is within the United States or within a territory or insular possession subject to the dominion of the United States, the certificate may be made by the judge of a court of record of the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the court, or may be made by any public officer having a seal of office having official duties in the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of his office. If the office in which the record is kept is in a foreign state or country, the certificate may be made by a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent or by any officer in the foreign service of the United States stationed in the foreign state or country in which the record is kept, and authenticated by the seal of his office.

SEC. 10.02 Proof of lack of record. A written statement signed by an officer having the custody of an official record or by his deputy that after diligent search no record or entry of a specified tenor is found to exist in the records of his office accompanied by a certificate as above provided, is admissible as evidence that the records of his office contain no such record or entry.

SEC. 10.03 Other proof. This rule does not prevent the proof of official records or of entry or lack of entry therein by any method authorized by any applicable statute or by the rules of evidence at common law.

PART 11. SUBPOENAS

11.01 Who may sign and issue.
11.02 Requests; verifications and content.

Requests for subpoenas to compel witnesses to produce documentary evidence must be verified, in accordance with Section 7.02 and must specify with particularity the books, papers, or documents desired, and the facts expected to be proved thereby.

SEC. 11.03 Witness fees. Witnesses who are summoned and respond thereto are entitled to the same fees as are paid for like service in the courts of the United States, such fees to be paid by the party at whose instance the testimony is taken at the time the subpoena is served.

SEC. 11.04 Return of subpoenas; manner of service. Service may be made by a United States marshal or his deputy, or any person of legal age who is a citizen of the United States, and who is competent to be a witness. If service of subpoena is made by a United States marshall or his deputy, such service shall be evidenced by his return thereon. If made by any other person, such person shall make affidavit thereof, stating the date, time, and manner of service; and return such affidavit on, or with, the original subpoena in accordance with the form thereon. In case of failure to make service the reasons for the failure shall be stated on the original subpoena. In making service, the original subpoena shall be exhibited to the person served, shall be read to him if he is unable to read, and a copy thereof shall be left with him. The original subpoena, bearing or accompanied by the required return, affidavit, or statement, shall be returned forthwith to the Secretary of the Commission, or, if so directed on the subpoena, to the presiding officer before whom the person named in the subpoena is required to appear.

For such purposes it may summon witnesses and require the production of testimony as in formal hearings but the procedure to be followed shall be informal and such as in the opinion of the Commission will best serve the purposes of such hearing.

Formal hearings—Fixing of hearing date

SEC. 12.20 Joinder of issue; date for hearing. After issue is joined, the Commission shall designate the date on which a hearing shall be held: Provided, however, That this rule shall not apply to proceedings instituted upon the Commission's own motion.

In cases arising on applications under Title III of the Act where the Commission designates the case for hearing, the filing by the applicant of his appearance and notice of intention to prove the matters set forth in his application shall constitute a joinder of issue.

SEC. 12.21 Related matters. In fixing dates for hearings the Commission will, so far as practicable, endeavor to fix the same date for hearings on all related matters which involve the same applicant, or arise out of the same complaint or cause; and for hearings on all applications which by reason of the privileges, terms, or conditions requested present conflicting claims of the same nature, excepting, however, applications filed after any such application has been designated for hearing.

Notice of Hearing

SEC. 12.30 Under Part I of Title III. In cases arising under Part I of Title III of the Act, notice of applications received and of action thereon shall be given in the following manner:

(1) Where it appears that the granting of any application designated for hearing may cause objectionable interference to the satisfactory reception of any existing station within the limits prescribed by the empirical engineering standards of the Commission for a particular class of station, or with the facilities requested by any applicant whose application is on file at the time the application to be heard was designated for hearing, actual notice shall be given to such existing licensees or applicants;

(2) In addition, a list of all applications received and action taken by the Commission thereon shall be published weekly at the office of the Commission and posted in the office of the Secretary and such list shall be mailed to all persons who, in writing, request this service.

SEC. 12.31 Under Title II or Part II of Title III. In cases arising under Title II, or Part II of Title III of the Act, except where specific provision is made by statute or by these rules for actual or constructive notice, the Commission shall give or require reasonable notice.

CONTINUANCES; EXTENSIONS; POSTPONEMENTS

SEC. 12.40 Continuances and extensions. Continuance in respect to any proceeding or hearing pending before the Commission and extensions of time for making any filing or performing any act required or allowed to be done within a specified time may be granted for good cause shown, except where the time for performance or filing is limited by statute: Provided, however, That requests for continuance or extension of time shall be made in writing in the form of a verified petition which shall set forth reasons therefor and the additional time required, and shall show service as provided in Section 9.01 upon all parties of record. Provided, further, That in cases of emergency when such petition shall show that the party filing the same has given actual notice so far as possible to all parties of record, by telephone or other available means, the Commission may waive, for good cause shown, the requirement of service as provided in Section 9.01.

SEC. 12.41 Petitioner to show diligence. Petitions filed under Section 12.40 shall show diligence on the part of the petitioner and shall be made at such time and in such manner as to avoid unnecessary hardship or expense to the parties to the proceeding.

SEC. 12.42 Postponement or change of place. The Commission or the presiding officer at a hearing may after opening any hearing pursuant to notice, temporarily postpone the hour or date or change the place thereof when in its or his judgment the ends of justice will be better served.

At hearings on investigation and suspension proceedings under Title II of the Act, the respondent whose tariffs are under suspension shall open and close. At hearings under Title III of the Act on revocations and suspension of operator licenses or other like proceedings instituted by the Commission, the Commission shall open and close. In hearings upon a consolidated record, the Commission or presiding officer shall designate the order of presentation. Evidence

SEC. 12.60 Rules of evidence. Except as otherwise provided herein, the rules of evidence governing civil proceedings in matters not involving trial by jury in the courts of the United States shall govern formal hearings before the Commission: Provided, however, That the Commission reserves the right to relax such rules in any case where in its judgment the ends of justice will be better served by so doing.

SEC. 12.61 Cumulative evidence. The introduction of merely cumulative evidence shall be avoided, and the Commission reserves the right to limit the number of witnesses that may be heard in behalf of a party on any issue.

SEC. 12.62 Further evidence during hearing. At any stage of a hearing, the presiding officer may call for further evidence upon any issue, and may require such evidence to be presented by any party to the proceeding.

SEC. 12.63 Additional documentary evidence after hearing. Before the close of a hearing, the presiding officer may, at the request of a party or upon his own motion, require that a party furnish additional documentary evidence supplementary to the existing record, within a stated period of time. The record of such proceeding will be held open until the expiration of such fixed time, and such additional documentary evidence will be made a part thereof.

SEC. 12.64 Documents containing matter not material. Where material and relevant matter offered in evidence is embraced in a document containing other matter not material or relevant, and not intended to be put in evidence, such document will not be received, but the party offering the same shall present to opposing counsel, and to the Commission, the original document, together with true copies of such material and relevant matter taken therefrom, as it is desired to introduce. Upon presentation of such matter in proper form, it may be received in evidence, and become a part of the record: Provided, however, That opposing counsel shall be afforded an opportunity to introduce in evidence, in like manner, other portions of such document if found to be material and relevant.

SEC. 12.65 Exhibits in duplicate. No document, exhibit, or part thereof shall be received as, or admitted in, evidence unless offered in duplicate.

SEC. 12.66 Mechanical reproductions as evidence. Unless offered for the sole purpose of attempting to prove or demonstrate sound effect, mechanical or physical reproductions of sound waves shall not be admitted in evidence. Any party desiring to offer any matter alleged to be contained therein or thereupon shall have such matter typewritten on paper of the size prescribed by the Rules of the Commission, and the same shall be identified and offered in duplicate in the same manner as other exhibits.

SEC. 12.67 Tariffs as evidence. In case any matter contained in a tariff schedule on file with the Commission is offered in evidence, such tariff schedule need not be produced or marked for identification, but the matter so offered shall be specified with particularity (tariff and page number) in such manner as to be readily identified, and may be received in evidence by reference subject to check with the original tariff schedules so on file.

Depositions

SEC. 12.70 Request for orders to take; time of filing; contents. The Commission will either on its own initiative, or on formal notice of a party to a proceeding, issue an order to take a deposition. Motions to take depositions shall be filed with the Commission not less than twenty-five days before the proposed date for taking of the depositions, and shall set forth the names and addresses of the witnesses, a specific statement as to each witness of the matters and facts concerning which it is expected such witness will testify, the place where, the time when, the officer before whom, and the cause or reason why such deposition should be taken. Such motion shall be subscribed as provided in Section 7.02, and shall be accompanied by proof of service and by the proposed order in a sufficient number of copies to be served on all parties. If said order is allowed, the Secretary shall mail a copy thereof to all parties to the proceeding at least fifteen days prior to the date fixed for the taking of testimony.

SEC. 12.71 Contents of order. The order issued authorizing the taking of a deposition shall state the name and address of each witness, the matters and facts concerning which it is expected such witness will testify, the place where, the time when, and the designated officer before whom the witness is to testify as provided in Section 409 (e) of the Act.

SEC. 12.72 Record of examination; oath; objections. The officer before whom the deposition is to be taken shall put the witness on oath and shall personally, or by some one acting under his direction and in his presence, record the testimony of the witness. The testimony shall be taken stenographically and transcribed unless the parties agree otherwise. All objections made at the time of the examination to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, or to the manner of taking it, or to the evidence presented, or to the conduct of any party, and any other objection to the proceedings, shall be noted by the officer upon the deposition. Evidence objected to shall be taken subject to the objections. In lieu of participating in the oral examination, parties served with notice of taking a deposition may transmit written interrogatories to the officer, who shall propound them to the witness and record the answers verbatim.

SEC. 12.73 Submission to witness; changes; signing. When the testimony is fully transcribed the deposition of each witness shall be submitted to him for examination and shall be read to or by him. Any changes in form or substance which the witness desires to make shall be entered upon the deposition by the officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making them. The deposition shall then be signed by the witness, unless the parties by stipulation waive the signing or the witness is ill or cannot be found or refuses to sign. If the deposition is not signed by the witness, the officer shall sign it and state on the record the fact of the waiver or of the illness or absence of the witness or the fact of the refusal to sign together with the reason, if any, given therefor; and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed, unless on a motion to suppress the Commission holds that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require rejection of the deposition in whole or in part.

SEC. 12.74 Certification and filing by officer; copies. The officer shall certify on the deposition that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness, and that said officer is not of counsel or attorney to either of the parties, nor interested in the event of the proceeding or investigation. He shall then securely seal the deposition in an envelope endorsed with the title of the action and marked "Deposition of (here insert name of witness)" and shall promptly send the original and one copy thereof together with the original and one copy of all exhibits by registered mail to the Secretary of the Commission.

SEC. 12.75 Waiver of objections. Objections to the form of question and answer shall be made before the officer taking the depositions, and if not so made, shall be deemed waived: Provided, however, That if no representative of the Commission is present at the taking of the deposition of any witness, such deposition shall be received in evidence at the hearing when offered subject to such legal objection by the Commission as may be proper.

SEC. 12.76 Time of filing. All depositions shall be filed with the Commission not later than five days before the date of the hearing in which they are to be offered as evidence, and Section 1.10 shall not apply or in any wise serve to extend this time.

SEC. 12.77 Inclusion in record. No deposition shall constitute a part of the record in any proceeding until received in evidence at a hearing, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

Conduct of Hearings

SEC. 12.80[1] Conduct of hearings. Except for hearings before the Commission en banc the Commission will provide for the conduct of each hearing by a specific order of reference and unless otherwise specified in such order:

(a) Authority of presiding officer. The presiding officer at the hearing shall have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses, and receive evidence at any place in the United States designated by the Commission, and to rule upon the admissibility of evidence and other matters that normally and properly arise in the course of the hearing, but shall have no power to decide any motion to dismiss the proceeding or other motion which involves final determination of the merits of the proceeding.

(b) Transcript filed with Secretary. After the close of the hearing the complete transcript of testimony taken, together with any exhibits and any briefs or memoranda of law filed theretofore on behalf of any party, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commission.

(c) Corrections to transcripts. Suggested corrections to transcripts of records shall be considered only if offered within ten days after the date the transcript is filed with the Commission. Suggested corrections shall be served upon all other parties participating in the proceeding as provided in Section 9.01 prior to the filing with the Commission. The presiding officer at the hearing shall have authority to act upon motions to correct the record.

(d) Findings proposed by parties. Within twenty days from the filing of the transcript of record of the hearing, each party to the proceeding shall file with the Commission proposed findings of fact and conclusions which shall be served upon all parties participating in the hearing in the manner provided in the Section 9.01.

(e) Contents of findings proposed by parties. Such proposed findings of fact shall be set forth in serially numbered paragraphs and shall set out in detail and with particularity all basic evidentiary facts developed by the evidence, (with appropriate citations to the transcript of record or exhibits relied on) supporting the conclusions proposed by the party filing same. Proposed conclusions shall be separately stated. Proposed findings of fact and conclusions submitted by a person other than an applicant may be limited to those issues in connection with the hearing which affect the interests of such person. Such proposed findings and conclusions may be accompanied by briefs or memoranda of law.

(f) Proposed decision of Commission. The Commission will thereafter enter its proposed report or findings of fact and conclusions.

(g) Exceptions; oral argument. Within twenty days from the filing of the Commission's proposed report or findings of fact and conclusions the parties to the proceeding may file exceptions to the same which shall point out with particularity alleged errors in said report or findings of fact and conclusions and shall contain specific reference to the page of the transcript of hearing or exhibit on which the exception is based, such exceptions shall be accompanied by a memorandum brief in support thereof, and may request oral argument. If no request for oral argument is made within said twenty day period all parties will be considered as waiving any right thereto.

(h) Reply briefs. Reply memorandum briefs may be filed by any party to the proceeding within thirty days from the filing of the Commission's proposed report or findings of fact and conclusions.

(i) Service of exceptions or briefs. At or prior to the date fixed for the filing of any exceptions or memorandum brief the party filing the same shall serve at least one copy thereof, as provided in Section 9.01 upon all other parties to the proceeding, and no exceptions or memorandum brief will be accepted or considered by the Commission unless accompanied by an affidavit showing this requirement has been met.

(j) Number of copies. Fifteen copies of any proposed findings of fact and conclusions, exceptions, or memorandum briefs filed in connection with any hearing shall be filed with the Commission.

(k) Decision of Commission. After oral argument, or in the event oral argument is waived, after the expiration of the time for filing memorandum briefs the Commission will file its report or findings of fact and conclusions and its order.

SEC. 12.81[1] Hearings before more than one person. The authority to perform any act in connection with a hearing vested in a "presiding officer" under these rules shall be vested in a majority of the persons conducting the hearing if the hearing is conducted by more than one person.

disclosures with regard to the real party or parties in interest, and their legal, technical, financial and other qualifications, and as to all matters and things required to be disclosed by the application forms.

SEC. 15.04 Additional statements. In addition the Commission may require an applicant to submit such documents and written statements of fact, under oath, as in its judgment may be necessary.

SEC. 15.05 Installation or removal of apparatus. Applications for construction permit or modification thereof, involving removal of existing transmitting apparatus and/or installation of new transmitting apparatus, shall be filed at least sixty days prior to the contemplated removal and/or installation.

SEC. 15.06 Extension of time for construction. Any application for extension of time within which to commence and/or complete construction of a station shall be filed at least thirty days prior to the expiration date of such permit: Provided, however, That any such application filed within less than thirty days may be accepted upon satisfactory showing to the Commission of sufficient reasons for the delay in filing such application. No application for reinstatement of a permit already forfeited will be granted, except upon a satisfactory showing to the Commission of sufficient reasons for the delay in filing such application.

SEC. 15.07 License following construction permit. In all cases where a construction permit is required by Section 319 of the Act for the construction of a station, the application for station license (or for station license or modification thereof, if for station other than broadcast) shall be filed by permittee prior to service or program tests.

SEC. 15.08 Where construction permit not required. Each application for new license, except amateur, where a construction permit is not a prerequisite thereto, shall be filed at least sixty days prior to the contemplated operation of the station: Provided, however, That in emergency and for good cause shown, the Commission may waive the requirements of this rule.

SEC. 15.09 Modification of license. An application for modification of license, except amateur, and except as otherwise provided by these rules, may be filed for change in frequency, change in operating power where no construction is necessary, change in hours of operation, and for change in name of licensee where no change in ownership or control is involved. In case of a broadcast station, an application for modification of license may be filed for change in location of main studio. In case of all stations other than broadcast, an application for modification of license may be filed for change in points of communication, change in nature of authorized service, and to cover an outstanding construction permit where the station is already licensed. Except when filed to cover construction permit, each application for modification of license shall be filed at least sixty days prior to the contemplated modification of license: Provided, however, that in emergencies and for good cause shown, the requirements hereof may be waived in so far as time for filing is concerned.

SEC. 15.10 Renewal of license. Unless otherwise directed by the Commission, each application for renewal of license shall be filed at least sixty days prior to the expiration date of the license sought to be renewed. No application for renewal of license of a standard broadcast station will be considered unless there is on file with the Commission, the balance sheet and income statement currently required by Section 15.11, reference to which by date and file number shall be included in the application.

SEC. 15.11 Financial statements. Each licensee of a standard broadcast station shall file with the Commission on or before March 1 of each year on Forms 705 and 706, or such other forms as may be prescribed by the Commission, a balance sheet showing the financial condition of the licensee as of December 31 of the preceding year and an income statement for the preceding calendar year. Each such form shall be subscribed as provided in Section 7.01.

SEC. 15.12 Filing directed by Commission. Whenever the Commission regards an application for a renewal of license as essential to the proper conduct of a hearing or investigation, and specifically directs that it shall be filed by a date certain, such application shall be filed within the time thus specified. If the licensee fails to file such application within the prescribed time, the hearing or investigation shall proceed as if such renewal application had been received.

SEC. 15.13 Temporary extension of station licenses. Where there is pending before the Commission any application, investigation, or proceeding which, after hearing, might lead to or make necessary the modification of, revocation of, or the refusal to renew an existing license, the Commission may, in its discretion grant a temporary extension of such license: Provided, however, That no such temporary extension shall be construed as a finding by the Commission that the operation of any radio station thereunder will serve public interest, convenience, and necessity beyond the express terms of such temporary extension of license: And provided further, That such temporary extension of license will in no wise affect or limit the action of the Commission with respect to any pending application or proceeding.

SEC. 15.14 Assignment or transfer of control. (a) General. An application for consent to assignment of a construction permit or license, or for consent to transfer of control of a corporation holding a construction permit or license, shall be filed with the Commission at least sixty days prior to the contemplated effective date of assignment or transfer of control. If the assignment or transfer is voluntary, the appropriate application shall be fully executed by all parties and, if involuntary, by assignee or transferee only.

(b) Broadcast. With each such application, involving any standard broadcast station construction permit or license, there shall be submitted under oath or affirmation all information required to be disclosed by the application forms prescribed by the Commission, together with such other information under oath or affirmation as the Commission may require.

(c) Other than broadcast. In all classes of applications for consent to assignment of construction permit or license or for consent to transfer of control of a corporation holding a construction permit or license, other than those prescribed in paragraph (b), the Commission may require the furnishing of such information as in its discretion is deemed necessary.

SEC. 15.15 Special authorizations. (a) Operation which may be authorized. Upon proper request by the licensee of a broadcast station or by the licensee of, or applicant for, a service other than broadcasting, the Commission may grant special temporary authority for the operation of a station for a limited time, or in a manner and to an extent, or for a service other or beyond that authorized in its existing license: Provided, however, That if request is for a broadcast station it shall be limited to a definite and temporary period or periods for the transmission of programs or events which are not recurrent, and approval thereof may not be granted for a period in excess of thirty days.

(b) Filing of requests. No such request will be considered unless:

1. It is received by the Commission at least ten days previous to the date of proposed operation: Provided, however, That any such request received within less than ten days may be accepted upon due showing of sufficient reasons for the delay in submitting such request.

2. If the request is for broadcast operation upon a clear channel, it shall be supported by the consent of the dominant clear-channel station.

3. If the request is for broadcast operation on any frequency it shall be supported by the consent of each station licensed for operation upon the same and adjacent frequency, when the consenting station is located at a distance less than that given in the latest published table of recommended separations.

4. If the request is made by a sharing-time broadcast station it shall be supported by the consent of the station with which time is shared.

5. Full particulars as to the purpose for which the request is made are stated.

(c) Consents. Consent, when required under this rule shall be forwarded direct to the Commission by the consenting station and shall show whether the same is for simultaneous operation or whether consenting station is giving up the time sought by applicant.

SEC. 15.16 Inconsistent or conflicting applications. When an applicant has an application pending and undecided, no other inconsistent or conflicting application filed by the same applicant, his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of said applicant, will be accepted for consideration.

SEC. 15.17 Multiple applications; broadcast services. In the broadcast service, while there is one application for new or additional facilities pending for a standard, international, television, facsimile, high frequency or experimental broadcast station, the Commission will not consider another application for new or additional facilities for a station of the same class (as given above) to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest. Two such applications may not be filed simultaneously.

SEC. 15.18 Repetitious applications. (a) Broadcast services. In the broadcast service, where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new standard, international, television, facsimile, high frequency, or experimental broadcast station and the Commission has, after hearing or default, denied the application or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider another application for a station of the same class (as given above) to serve in whole or in part the same area, by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of twelve months.

(b) Other radio services. In any other radio service, where an applicant has been afforded an opportunity to be heard with respect to a particular application for a new station, or for an extension, or enlargement of service or facilities and the Commission has after hearing or default denied the application, or dismissed it with prejudice, the Commission will not consider a like application involving service of the same kind in the same area by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, until after the lapse of twelve months; Provided, however, That the Commission may waive the requirements of this rule in situations affecting safety of life or property.

SEC. 15.19 Pending appeal. Where an appeal has been taken from the action of the Commission in denying a particular application, another application for the same class of broadcast service and for the same area, in whole or in part, filed by the same applicant or by his successor or assignee, or on behalf or for the benefit of the original parties in interest, will not be considered until the final disposition of such appeal.

Action on Applications

SEC. 15.30 Partial grants. Where any application is granted in part, or with any privileges, terms, or conditions other than those requested, without a hearing thereon, the action of the Commission shall be considered as granting such application unless the applicant shall, within thirty days from the date on which public announcement of such grant is made, or from its effective date if a later date is specified, file with the Commission a written request for a hearing with respect to the part, or with respect to the privileges, terms, or conditions, not granted. Upon receipt of such request, the Commission will vacate its original action upon the application and set the application for hearing in the same manner manner as other applications are set for hearing, and the applicant and other parties in interest will be notified thereof.

SEC. 15.31 Designation for hearing. In cases where the application is proper upon its face but the Commission is unable to determine, without a hearing on the merits, that the granting of such application, either in whole or in part, would serve public interest, convenience, or necessity, and that the granting of such application, either in whole or in part, would not aggrieve or adversely affect the interest of any licensee, or any person having a pending application, the Commission will designate the same for hearing and the following procedure will govern:

(a) Notice of designation. The Secretary shall forthwith mail a written notice to the applicant setting forth the action of the Commission designating the application for hearing (together with such statement of the Commission's reasons therefor as shall be appropriate to the nature of the application), and a list of the other parties notified thereof.

(b) Appearances. In order to avail himself of the opportunity to be heard the applicant in person or by his attorney shall, within fifteen days of the mailing of the notice of designation for hearing by the Secretary, file with the Commission one additional copy of the application and all papers incorporated as a part thereof and a written appearance, under oath, stating that he will appear and present evidence in support of his application on such date as may be fixed for hearing. Copies of such written appearance (not including the application and supporting documents) shall be served upon all other parties named in the notice of designation for hearing and accompanied by proof of service as provided in Sec. 9.01.

Within twenty-five days of the mailing of the notice of designation for hearing by the Secretary, any respondent named in said notice who desires to participate in the hearing shall file in person or by his attorney with the Commission his written appearance, under oath, stating facts showing a substantial interest in the proceeding, the manner in which his interest may be aggrieved or adversely affected, and that he intends to appear at the hearing on the application on such date as may be fixed for the hearing. Copies of such appearance shall be served upon the applicant and accompanied by proof of service as provided in Sec. 9.01.

(c) Default for failure to file statement. In case no such statement is filed by the applicant within the time specified, the applicant will be deemed in default, his application denied, and the Secretary shall notify the applicant and other parties.

(d) Notice of time and place. In such case appearance is filed by the applicant within the time specified, the application will be entered upon the hearing docket and notice of the time and place for hearing shall be given by the Secretary.

(e) Default for failure to appear. If, at the date set for hearing, the applicant does not appear and offer evidence in support of his said application, a default will be entered, and the Commission will deny the application.

(f) Action by Commission. After a hearing has been held in accordance with the foregoing, the Commission may grant the application, deny it, or grant it in part, or deny it in part.

Answers to Notices of Violation

SEC. 15.40 Under Title III of the Act. Any licensee receiving official notice of a violation of the terms of the Communications Act of 1934, any legislative act, Executive Order, treaty to which the United States is a party, or the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Communications Commission, shall, within three days from such receipt, send a written answer direct to the Federal Communications Commission at Washington, D. C., and a copy thereof to the office of the Commission originating the official notice when the originating office is other than the office of the Commission in Washington, D. C.; Provided, however, That if an answer cannot be sent nor an acknowledgment made within such three day period by reason of illness or other unavoidable circumstances, acknowledgment and answer shall be made at the earliest practicable date with a satisfactory explanation of the delay. The answer to each notice shall be complete in itself and shall not be abbreviated by reference to other communications or answers to other notices. If the notice relates to some violation that may be due to the physical or electrical characteristics of transmitting apparatus, the answer shall state fully what steps, if any, are taken to prevent future violations, and if any new apparatus is to be installed, the date such apparatus was ordered, the name of the manufacturer, and promised date of delivery. If the installation of such apparatus requires a construction permit, the file number of the application shall be given, or if a file number has not been assigned by the Commission, such identification as will permit of ready reference. If the notice of violation relates to some lack of attention or improper operation of the transmitter, the name and license number of the operator in charge shall be given.

Revocation and Modification of Station Licenses

SEC. 15.50 Revocation. Whenever the Commission shall institute a revocation proceeding against the holder of any radio station construction permit or license under Section 312 (a), it shall initiate said proceeding by serving upon said licensee an order of revocation effective not less than fifteen days after written notice thereof is given the licensee. The order of revocation shall contain a statement of the grounds and reasons for such proposed revocation and a notice of the licensee's right to be heard by filing with the Commission a written request for hearing within fifteen days after receipt of said order. Upon the filing of such written request for hearing by said licensee the order of revocation shall stand suspended and the Commission will set a time and place for hearing and shall give the licensee and other interested parties notice thereof. If no request for hearing on any order of revocation is made by the licensee against whom such an order is directed within the time hereinabove set forth, the order of revocation shall become final and effective, without further action of the Commission. When any order of revocation has become final, the person whose license has been revoked shall forthwith deliver the station license in question to the inspector in charge of the district in which the licensee resides.

SEC. 15.51 Modification. (a) Order to show cause. Whenever the Commission shall determine that public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served, or any treaty ratified by the United States will be more fully complied with, by the modification of any radio station construction permit or license either for a limited time, or for the duration of the term thereof, it shall issue an order for such licensee to show cause why such construction permit or license should not be modified.

(b) Contents of order to show cause. Such order to show cause shall contain a statement of the grounds and reasons for such proposed modification, and shall specify wherein the said construction permit or license is required to be modified. It shall require the licensee against whom it is directed, to be and appear at a place and time therein named, in no event to be less than thirty days from the date of receipt of the order to show cause why the proposed modification should not be made and the order of modification issued.

(c) Failure to appear. If the licensee against whom the order to show cause is directed does not appear at the time and place provided in said order, a final order of modification shall issue forthwith.

Suspension of Operator Licenses

SEC. 15.60 Order of suspension. No order of suspension of any operator's license shall take effect until fifteen days' notice in writing thereof, stating the cause for the proposed suspension, has been given to the operator licensee who may make written application to the Commission at any time within said fifteen days for a hearing upon such order. The notice to the operator licensee shall not be effective until actually received by him, and from that time he shall have fifteen days in which to mail the said application. In the event that physical conditions prevent mailing of the application at the expiration of the fifteen-day period, the application shall then be mailed as soon as possible thereafter, accompanied by a satisfactory explanation of the delay. Upon receipt by the Commission of such application for hearing, said order of suspension shall be held in abeyance until the conclusion of the hearing which shall be conducted under such rules as the Commission shall deem appropriate. Upon the conclusion of said hearing the Commision may affirm, modify, or revoke said order of suspension.

SEC. 15.61 Proceedings. Proceedings for the suspension of an operator's license shall in all cases be initiated by the entry of an order of suspension. Respondent will be given notice thereof together with notice of his right to be heard and to contest the proceeding. The effective date of the suspension will not be specified in the original order but will be fixed by subsequent motion of the Commission in accordance with the conditions specified above. Notice of the effective date of suspension will be given respondent, who shall send his operator license to the office of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on or before the said effective date, or, if the effective date has passed at the time notice is received, the license shall be sent to the Commission forthwith.

Complaints Under Title II of the Act

SEC. 16.01 Formal or informal. Complaints filed under Title II of the Act may be either formal or informal.

SEC. 16.02 Informal complaints; substance. No form of informal complaint is prescribed, but it must be in writing, subscribed, and verified by the complainant. The complaint shall state the name and address of the complainant, the name of the carrier against whom the complaint is made, and shall state as definitely as possible the basis or reason for the complaint.

Communications to the Commission complaining of anything done, or omitted to be done, in contravention of the provisions of the Act, which do not fulfill the requirements herein prescribed for formal or informal complaints may, in the discretion of the Commission, be investigated or otherwise acted upon in any manner the Commission may deem expedient; but such communications shall not be deemed to be either formal or informal complaints within the meaning of these rules, irrespective of any action taken thereon by the Commission.

SEC. 16.03 Action on informal complaints. Upon receipt of an informal complaint properly drawn and executed, the Commission will, if its nature warrants, take the question up by correspondence with the carrier complained of in an endeavor to bring about satisfaction. Such correspondence with the carrier shall call upon it either to satisfy the complainant or advise the Commission of its refusal or inability to do so within such time as may be prescribed. If the carrier satisfies the complainant it shall immediately notify the Commission and file with it proof of satisfaction; whereupon the complaint will be dismissed. If the carrier refuses or is unable to satisfy the complainant within the time prescribed, it shall so notify the Commission, which decision the Commission will forthwith give notice of to the complainant.

SEC. 16.04 Resubmission; six months' rule. When an informal complaint has not been satisfied pursuant to the foregoing rule, the complainant may either file a formal complaint or resubmit his informal complaint within six months from the date of the Commission's notice: Provided, however, That such resubmitted informal complaint must contain new material matter upon the same cause of action. The procedure prescribed herein for the handling of informal complaints will be followed in case of resubmitted informal complaints. If such resubmitted informal complaint or a formal complaint is filed with the Commission within the six months' period, such resubmission or filing will be deemed to relate back to the date of the filing of the original informal complaint. But reference to the original date of the informal complaint must be made in such resubmission or in the formal complaint filed.

SEC. 16.05 Formal complaints; requirements. Formal complaints shall contain the names of all parties complainant and defendant in full, without abbreviations, the address of each complainant, and the name and address of his attorney, if represented by attorney, and shall be subscribed and verified by the complainant as provided in Section 7.02. (See Appendix No. 4 for form of formal complaint.)

SEC. 16.06 Statement of issues; joinder of causes of complaint. Formal complaints shall be so drawn as to advise the Commission and the defendant fully wherein the provisions of the Act, or an order, rule, or regulation of the Commission, have been violated, the facts claimed to constitute such violation, and the relief sought. Two or more grounds of complaint involving the same principle, subject, or state of facts may be included in one complaint, but should be separately stated and numbered.

SEC. 16.07 Notice of complaints. Upon receipt of any formal complaint against any common carrier subject to the Act, the Commission will forward a copy of the same to such carrier together with a notice of the filing thereof, which notice shall contain an order of the Commission calling upon the carrier to satisfy the complaint or answer the same in writing within the time specified in said notice, which in no event shall be less than thirty days.

SEC. 16.08 Charges, etc.; specific references. The several charges, classifications, regulations, or practices complained of shall be set out by specific references to schedules of charges and classifications, and also the particular regulations or practices whenever that is possible.

SEC. 16.09 Separate statement of each provision violated. When a violation of more than one provision of a section of the Act is alleged, such violation shall be separately stated with respect to each provision of the Act claimed to be violated.

SEC. 16.10 Allegations; certainty. In case recovery of damage is sought, the complaint should contain appropriate allegations showing such data as will serve to identify, with reasonable certainty, the communications or transmissions, or other services, in respect of which recovery is sought, and shall state (1) that the complainant makes claim for reparation; (2) the name and address of each individual claimant asking reparation; (3) the name and address of defendants against which claim is made; (4) the communications, transmissions, or other services rendered, the charge applied thereto, the date when charges were paid, by whom paid, and by whom borne; (5) the period of time within which, or the specific dates when such communications, transmissions, or other services were rendered; (6) points of origin and reception of such communications or transmissions, and if known, the routes over which such communications or transmissions were made or transmitted, and if the damages sought to be recovered are for services other than communications or transmissions, then the allegations of the complaint shall state the nature and extent of such services, the date or dates when rendered, when paid for, and by whom borne; (7) nature and amount of injury sustained by each claimant; (8) if reparation is sought on behalf of others than the complainant, in what capacity or by what authority complaint is made in their behalf; and (9) that claimant has not filed suit in any court on the basis of the same claim.

SEC. 16.11 Challenge of general radio adjustments; reparation. If a general rate adjustment is challenged in the complaint, or many communications and transmissions or points of origin and reception are involved, the Commission will find and determine in its report the issues as to violation of the Act, injury thereby to complainant, and right to reparation. The Commission will afford the parties opportunity to agree to make proof respecting the communications, transmissions, or other services, and amount of reparation due under its findings, before entering its order awarding reparation. In such cases, authenticated schedule of charges, receipts, statements, and other exhibits bearing on details of such communications, transmissions, or other services, for which reparation is claimed, and the amount claimed (separately stated with respect to each communication, transmission, or other service rendered), need not be produced at the hearing unless called for or needed to develop other pertinent facts.

SEC. 16.12 Discrimination specified. In case unjust or unreasonable discrimination is alleged, the charge, practice, classification, regulation, facility, or service complained of must be clearly specified.

SEC. 16.13 Preference or prejudice. In case undue or unreasonable preference, advantage, or prejudice is alleged, the particular person, company, firm, corporation, locality, or description of traffic affected thereby, and the particular preference or prejudice or disadvantage, relied upon as constituting a violation, shall be clearly specified.

SEC. 16.14 Reparation; prayer for. Reparation will not be awarded upon a complaint unless specifically prayed for, except under unusual circumstances and for good cause shown. Reparation may be awarded, however, upon a supplemental complaint based upon the finding of the Commission in the original proceeding.

SEC. 16.15 Limitations; damages pendente lite. The Commission will consider as in substantial avoidance of the statute of limitations, a complaint in which the complainant alleges that the matters complained of, if continued in the future, will constitute violations of the Act in the particulars and to the extent indicated, and prays reparation accordingly as to charges which shall be paid and borne by complainant on all communications, transmissions, or other services affected thereby occurring during the pendency of the proceeding.

SEC. 16.16 Supplemental complaints.—(a) General. Supplemental complaints may be tendered for filing by the parties complainant, against the parties defendant, setting forth any causes of action under the Act alleged to have accrued in favor of the complainants and against the defendants since the filing of the original complaint.

(b) Seeking damages. If recovery of damages is sought by supplemental complaint, it must be filed with the Commission within the statutory periods stated in Section 415 of the Act.

SEC. 16.17 Cross complaints. Cross complaints alleging violations of the Act by other carriers, parties to the proceedings, or seeking relief against them under the Act, may be tendered for filing by defendants with their answers and, upon leave granted, will be filed and served by the Commission in the manner provided for serving complaints.

SEC. 16.18 Answers to complaints and petitions. Any party upon whom a copy of a complaint, petition, or cross complaint is filed under Title II of the Act, shall file answer within thirty days after service of the complaint. Such answer shall be subscribed by the party answering as provided in Section 7.02, and shall be so drawn as to advise the parties and the Commission fully and completely of the nature of the defense, and shall admit or deny specifically and in detail all material allegations of the complaint. Collateral or immaterial issues shall be avoided in answers and every effort shall be made to narrow the issues. Matters alleged as affirmative defenses shall be separately stated and numbered. Any defendant failing to file and serve answer within the time and in the manner prescribed will be deemed in default, and the Commission will issue an appropriate order. (Counterclaims and set-offs against users of service supplied by carriers are not within the jurisdiction of the Commission.) This section does not apply to protests or applications seeking suspensions of proposed tariff schedules.

SEC. 16.19 Answers to petitions or amended complaints. In proceedings under Title II, answers to petitions for intervention, or to amended complaints filed and served upon leave granted, need not be separately made unless the defendant so elects, and defendant's answer to the complaint will be deemed its answer to the petition in intervention.

Extensions of Carrier Facilities

SEC. 16.30 Applications under Section 214 of the Act. Upon receipt of an application filed under Section 214 of the Act, the Commission will cause notice of the filing of such application, together with copies thereof, to be given to the Governor of each State in which the additional or extended line, or any part thereof, is proposed to be constructed or operated, and to the State commission or other regulatory authority having jurisdiction over the carrier, with the request that they advise the Commission if they desire to be heard in the matter. Such notice may also be given to any other person or party, and in any manner the Commission deems proper. If any party so notified, as provided herein, requests a hearing upon the application, the Commission will order a hearing and will give notice to all parties of the time and place thereof: Provided, however, That the Commission may, upon application, grant authority to furnish temporary or emergency service, or to supplement existing facilities, in whole or in part, and upon such terms as it may prescribe, without notice or hearing.

SEC. 16.31 Applications under Section 221 of the Act. Upon receipt of an application filed under Section 221 of the Act, the Commission will order a hearing thereon, and will give reasonable notice in writing of the time and place of such hearing to the Governor of each of the States in which the physical property affected, or any part thereof, is situated, and to the State commission or other regulatory authority having jurisdiction over telephone carriers in each of said States, and to such other person or party as it may deem advisable. A copy of the application will be furnished such parties together with the notice as above provided.

Orders to Show Cause

SEC. 16.40 Orders instituting action under Title II of the Act. Whenever the Commission shall institute a proceeding within its jurisdiction under Title II of the Act against any common carrier, it may commence such action by serving upon the carrier an order to show cause. Said order shall contain a statement of the particulars and matters upon which the Commission is inquiring, and the reasons for such action, and shall call upon the carrier to be and appear before the Commission at a place and time therein stated, and then and there answer and give evidence upon the matters specified in said order. The Commission may, however, require in said order, that the carrier file with the Commission its verified answer to the order to show cause, on or before a day certain, prior to the hearing date therein fixed, in no event less than thirty days after service of the order: Provided, however, That the Commission may include in an order to show cause any further provisions which it may deem necessary and which are within its jurisdiction under the Act. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to limit the authority of the Commission to institute or conduct any investigation or inquiry within its jurisdiction in any other manner or according to any other procedure which it may deem necessary or proper.

SEC. 16.41 Answer to order to show cause. Any carrier, upon whom an order to show cause has been served under Section 16.40 shall respond to the same by filing its answer within the time specified in said order. Such answer shall be subscribed in the manner provided in Section 7.02, shall be drawn so as specifically to admit or deny the charges or allegations which may be made in said order, and so as to advise the Commission fully and completely upon the matters and things inquired of.

Protests of Valuations

SEC. 16.50 Tentative valuations. Protests in opposition to a tentative valuation, under the provisions of Title II of the Act, shall be subscribed and verified by the protestant and shall contain a concise statement of the essential elements of the protest with particularity to the matters concerning which protest is made. Each object of protest shall be set up as a separate item in a separately numbered paragraph and the protest shall also include a statement of the protestant's interest in the matter in controversy.

Suspension of Tariff Schedules

SEC. 16.60 Under Section 204 of the Act. Suspensions of tariff schedules under Section 204 of the Act will not ordinarily be considered unless protest and application therefor is made in writing or by telegram at least 10 days before the effective date named in the schedule. Applications for suspensions must indicate the schedule affected by its Federal Communications Commission number and give specific reference to the items against which protest is made, together with a statement of the grounds thereof. If such application is made by telegram, the telegram must be followed and confirmed by application in writing and the telegram should succinctly state the substance of the matters to be set forth in the written application. Sixteen copies of each written application must be furnished to the Commission.

Service and Number of Copies

SEC. 16.70 Service by the Commission. Applications under Title II of the Act, formal complaints, supplemental complaints, cross complaints, and amended complaints, will be served by the Commission and copies of each shall be furnished in sufficient number so as to provide the Commission with 15 copies for its use, and a copy for each party to the proceeding.

Service by the Commission upon common carriers shall be by leaving a copy of any document requiring service with the designated agent of such carrier at his office or usual place of residence in the District of Columbia, and if no such agent is designated, then service may be made by posting such notice, process, order, decision, or pleading in the office of the Secretary of the Commission.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

AMENDING THE FOREIGN SERVICE REGULATIONS OF THE UNITED STATES

By virtue of and pursuant to the authority vested in me by Article II, section 2, of the Constitution of the United States of America and by section 1752 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (22 U. S. C. § 132), it is ordered that the Foreign Service Regulations[1] of the United States be, and they are hereby, amended by prescribing the following as Chapter XI thereof:

CHAPTER XI—NEGOTIATION OF TREATIES

XI-1. General provisions regarding the negotiation of treaties.—Bilateral treaties to which the United States is one of the parties may be negotiated and concluded either at Washington or at the capital of the foreign country. When circumstance or convenience makes it desirable to negotiate and conclude a treaty at the capital of the other contracting party, the American diplomatic agent will be furnished with a full power from the President authorizing him to negotiate, conclude, and sign the treaty. If the proposal originates with the United States, there will also be furnished to the diplomatic agent a tentative draft of the proposed treaty for submission by him to the other government for its consideration. The diplomatic agent shall submit to the Department any modification of the draft or counter-proposal made by the other government and shall await instructions from the Department. If the original proposal emanates from a foreign government, the diplomatic agent shall forward the proposal to the Department and await its instructions. In no case shall a diplomatic agent sign a treaty until finally advised by the Department to do so after an accord has been reached. The treaty should then be signed in two originals, one for each government.

XI-2. The principle of the "alternat".—In the preparation of a treaty for signature, after an accord has been reached, the principle of the alternat should be observed, that is to say:

(1) When English and a language other than English are both used, the texts in the two languages should be placed either in parallel vertical columns on the same page, half the width of the page, or on opposite pages of the document, the entire width of the page. The former style is preferred, as it lends itself more conveniently to the binding and sealing of the treaty. If the two languages are placed in parallel columns on the same page, the English text should occupy the left-hand column of each page and the foreign text the right-hand column, in the original to be retained by the United States; in the original to be retained by the foreign government, the foreign text should occupy the left-hand column and the English text the right-hand column. If the two languages are placed on opposite pages of the document, the English text should occupy the left-hand page and the foreign text the right-hand page, in the United States' original, and conversely in the foreign government's original.

In certain oriental countries where by its nature the written language is not adapted to contracted space, the expedient may be resorted to of making and signing two separate originals in each language, but in no other case is this desirable or advisable.

(2) In the original to be retained by the United States, the United States and the plenipotentiary of the United States should be named first in both the English and the foreign texts wherever the names of the countries or of the plenipotentiaries occur, and the signature of the plenipotentiary of the United States should appear above the signature of the foreign plenipotentiary. Conversely, in both texts throughout the original to be retained by the foreign government, that government and its plenipotentiary should be named first and the signature of the foreign plenipotentiary should ap-

XI–3. Conformity of texts.—Before signing the treaty, the diplomatic agent of the United States shall see that the texts in the two languages of both originals of the prepared treaty are in exact conformity with the texts of the two languages in the drafts agreed upon, and that the foreign text is essentially in accord with the English text. The punctuation of the two texts should be brought into substantial conformity.

XI–4. Exhibition or exchange of full powers.—Full powers may be either exchanged or exhibited by the plenipotentiaries at the time of signature as may be preferred by the foreign plenipotentiary. If exchanged, the original full power of the foreign plenipotentiary shall be forwarded to the Department with the United States' original of the signed treaty. If the plenipotentiaries retain their own full powers, the foreign plenipotentiary should be requested to furnish to the plenipotentiary of the United States a photostat or certified copy of his full power in lieu of the original. This is the practice in Washington.

XI–5. Ratification of treaties.—After the signature of a treaty, the original intended for the Government of the United States shall be forwarded by the diplomatic agent to the Secretary of State to be laid before the President and, if approved, to be transmitted by him to the Senate to receive the advice and consent of the Senate to ratification.

Since all treaties signed on the part of the United States are subject to ratification by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and as the time required for action on any particular treaty cannot be foreseen, it is preferred by this Government that it be provided in the treaties signed on its part that the exchange of ratifications shall be effected "as soon as possible" rather than within a specified period.

XI–6. Exchange of ratifications.—Exchange of ratifications is effected by the plenipotentiary of the United States handing to the plenipotentiary of the foreign government a copy of the United States' original of the treaty ratified by the President and the plenipotentiary of the foreign government handing to the plenipotentiary of the United States a copy of the foreign government's original of the treaty ratified by the head of the foreign government. A protocol attesting the exchange of ratifications should be signed by the two plenipotentiaries at the time the exchange is made. The protocol should be signed in duplicate originals, one for each government, in which the principle of the alternat is observed the same as in the treaty.

Before making the exchange of ratifications the diplomatic agent of the United States shall satisfy himself that the texts in the two languages as incorporated in the instrument of ratification of the foreign government are, with the exception of the observance of the alternat, in exact conformity with the two texts as contained in the President's instrument of ratification.

XI–7. Date of exchange to be cabled.—As most treaties stipulate for their going into effect on the day of the exchange of ratifications, the date of exchange and the date of the instrument of ratification of the foreign government shall be cabled to the Department of State at once in order that the treaty may be proclaimed by the President. The instrument of ratification of the foreign government and one original of the signed protocol of exchange shall be forwarded to the Department by the first following mail.

SEC. 724.36 Rights of producers in quota. Each producer having a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm shall be entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota, his share of such tobacco; provided that, if the quota is less than the total amount of such tobacco, each producer shall be entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota, only that proportion of his share of such tobacco which the quota is of the total quantity of such tobacco. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

MARKETING OF TOBACCO AND PENALTIES

SEC. 724.40. A memorandum of sale to be obtained for every marketing. Whenever any tobacco is marketed (whether the marketing is within the quota or not) the marketing card for the farm on which such tobacco was produced, together with the warehouse bill or other record of the marketing, shall be presented to the field assistant who is located most conveniently to the place of marketing for the purpose of obtaining a memorandum of sale (Form 38–Tobacco 53 in the case of warehouse sales, and Form 38–Tobacco 54 in the case of nonwarehouse sales) covering the tobacco marketed. A memorandum of sale shall then be issued by the field assistant; provided that, in the case of a nonwarehouse sale which is subject to penalty, the memorandum shall not be issued unless the certificate on Form 38–Tobacco 54 as to the facts of the marketing is signed by the dealer and the producer (or by the producer alone if the marketing is made directly to a person outside the United States). (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.41. When memorandum of resale to be obtained. Whenever any tobacco is resold through a warehouse, the warehouse bill covering such resale shall be presented to the field assistant at the warehouse, and, upon representation by the warehouseman that the tobacco covered by the warehouse bill was tobacco the marketing of which was previously covered by a memorandum of sale, the field assistant shall issue a memorandum of resale covering such tobacco. (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.42. Purpose of memorandum of sale. A memorandum of sale shall identify the tobacco covered by the memorandum as tobacco the marketing of which is subject to penalty, or tobacco the marketing of which is free of penalty, as the memorandum, on its face, may show, and if the marketing is subject to penalty, shall state the amount of the penalty upon the marketing.

It shall be the responsibility of the person liable for the payment of the penalty upon a marketing to check carefully the entries on the memorandum of sale issued to cover the marketing and the records upon which such memorandum is based. Any errors should be brought immediately to the attention of the field assistant for correction. Failure of the person liable for the payment of the penalty to have any errors corrected will not relieve such person of the payment of the penalty due upon the basis of the correct entries. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.43 Marketings free of penalty. Any marketing of tobacco shall be free of penalty, and shall be so identified by the memorandum of sale covering the marketing, to the extent that—

(a) such tobacco is marketed within the quota for the farm on which such tobacco was produced, as shown by a valid marketing card presented to obtain the memorandum of sale to cover such marketing; provided that if the producer and the person liable for the payment of the penalty shall designate any tobacco as tobacco marketed subject to penalty, then such tobacco shall be deemed to be marketed in excess of the quota, and the memorandum of sale shall not identify such tobacco as marketed free of penalty; or

(b) such tobacco is marketed solely for nicotine or other by-product uses and is so identified by a certificate made on Form 38–Tobacco 25 by the by-product manufacturer and the producer; or

(c) such tobacco was grown for experimental purposes only by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station and is so identified by a certificate made on Form 38–Tobacco 25 by an authorized representative of the experiment station and the producer. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.44 Marketings subject to penalty. (a) Any marketing of tobacco shall be subject to penalty, and shall be so identified by the memorandum of sale covering the marketing, to the extent that the tobacco marketed cannot, as of the date of the issuance of the memorandum of sale, be identified pursuant to Sec. 724.43 of these regulations as tobacco the marketing of which was free of penalty.

(b) If a memorandum of sale or a memorandum of resale has not been obtained to cover a sale of tobacco through a warehouse, such sale shall be deemed to be a marketing which was subject to penalty.

(c) If a memorandum of sale has not been obtained to cover a nonwarehouse sale, such sale shall be deemed to be a marketing which was subject to penalty. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.45 Amount of penalty. The penalty upon any marketing of tobacco subject to penalty shall be 50 percent of the market price of such tobacco on the date of marketing, or 3 cents per pound, whichever is higher. The sale price of any tobacco will be considered as evidence of the market price on the date of marketing where verified, in the case of warehouse sales, by a warehouse bill, or in the case of nonwarehouse sales, by the certificate (on Form 38–Tobacco 54) of the dealer and the producer. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48)

SEC. 724.46 Persons to pay penalty, and deduction from purchase price. (a) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer through a warehouseman (or cooperative marketing association or other agent who performs services comparable to the services performed by a warehouseman) the penalty shall be paid by the warehouseman (or such other agent), but the warehouseman (or such other agent) may deduct an amount equivalent to the penalty from the purchase price paid to the producer.

(b) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer directly to any person outside the United States, the penalty shall be paid by the producer.

(c) If the tobacco is marketed by the producer in a manner other than as described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the penalty shall be paid by the person who acquires the tobacco from the producer; but an amount equivalent to the penalty may be deducted by the buyer from the price paid to the producer in case such tobacco is marketed by sale. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48)

SEC. 724.47 Payment of penalty. Penalties upon the marketing of tobacco shall become due at the time of the marketing, and shall be paid by remitting the amount thereof to the Secretary of Agriculture (addressed for the attention of the Comptroller, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Washington, D. C.) not later than the end of the calendar week next following the week in which the penalties became due. The remittance shall be accompanied,

(a) in the case of a warehouseman, by his report on Form 38–Tobacco 58, or

(b) in the case of a dealer, by his report on Form 38–Tobacco 59, or

(c) in the case of a producer, by his statement showing the date of sale, the number of pounds sold, the grade, the sale price thereof, and the name of the person outside the United States to whom sold. The remittance may be made by draft, money order, or check, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States, but any such draft, money order, or check shall be received subject to payment at par. (Sec. 314, 52 Stat. 48; Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204)

SEC. 724.48 Refund of penalty. Whenever, pursuant to a claim filed with the Secretary of Agriculture within one year after payment to him of any penalty collected from any person pursuant to the Act, the Secretary of Agriculture finds that such penalty was erroneously, illegally, or wrongfully collected, the Secretary of Agriculture shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment to the claimant, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, such amount as the Secretary of Agriculture finds the claimant is entitled to receive as a refund of such penalty. Any claim filed with the Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to this section shall be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by him. (Sec. 372, 52 Stat. 65, 204)

MARKETING CARDS

SEC. 724.49 Form of card. The marketing card (Form 38–Tobacco 41) shall contain the signature in ink of both the person authorized to issue the marketing card and the operator, and a statement of the following information:

(a) the State and county code and serial number of the farm for which the marketing card is issued;

(b) the number of the marketing card;

(c) the name and address of the operator;

(d) the amount of the marketing quota, or, if more than one marketing card is issued for the farm, the number of pounds for which the marketing card is issued, expressed in words on the face of the marketing card and expressed in figures on the inside of the marketing card in column 1 opposite the word "Quota";

(e) the date on which the marketing card is issued; and

(f) if more than one card is issued for any farm, the amount of the farm's transfer allotment apportioned to the card in accordance with Sec. 724.59 of these regulations. (Sec. 373, 52 Stat. 65; Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.50 Person authorized to issue card. The county committee shall designate one of its members or the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association as the person authorized to issue marketing cards for farms in the county. Only one person shall be designated by the committee for this purpose, and in the absence of a specific designation the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association shall be deemed to be the person designated. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.51 Entries on card. No person other than a field assistant, or a person designated by the Chief of the Tobacco Section or by the county committee, shall make any entry (except for the writing by the operator of his signature) on the marketing card; but every entry on the marketing card should be carefully checked by each interested person, and any error should be immediately reported for correction to a person authorized to make entries on the marketing card. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.52 Receipt for card. After the marketing card has been duly prepared, it shall be delivered to the operator upon his receipt therefor. There shall be listed on the operator's receipt (Form 38–Tobacco 40), in the appropriate spaces thereon, the following information:

(a) each marketing card issued for the farm and received by him, and the number of pounds for which each such marketing card was issued; and

(b) the names of all producers having a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm.

The receipt shall be retained in the county office and shall be available to any producer having a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm, whether the name of such person be listed on the receipt or not, either for inspection or for evidence as to any matter to which the receipt relates. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.53 Rights of producers in card. Each producer who has a share in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm shall have the right to market, or to have marketed for him, under the marketing card issued for the farm, the quantity of such tobacco which he is entitled to market, or to have marketed for him, under the quota established for the farm, as provided in Sec. 724.36 of these regulations, or under any quota transferred to the farm as provided in Sec. 724.67 of these regulations. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.54 Invalid cards. (a) A marketing card shall be invalid if the marketing card was not issued or delivered in the form and manner required in these regulations, but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when returned to the county office and reissued and delivered in the required form and manner.

(b) A marketing card shall be invalid if the entries on the marketing card with respect to the amount, portion, or balance of quota are incorrect, or if, because of the omission of any entry which should have been made on the marketing card, the balance of unused quota is incorrect; but if, subsequent to the time of invalidation, no transfer from the farm has been made, and no marketings have been made and entered on the marketing card which would have been subjected to penalty if the correct entries had been shown on the marketing card, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when the error has been corrected by a person authorized to make entries on the marketing card, or, in any other case, when the marketing card has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(c) A marketing card shall be invalid if the marketing card is credited with an amount of quota, any part of which has been transferred in violation of these regulations; but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when the marketing card has been forwarded to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(d) A marketing card shall be invalid if any entry is made on the marketing card by a person not authorized to make such entry; but such invalid marketing card, when returned to the county office, shall be replaced by a new marketing card issued for an amount of quota determined as provided in Sec. 724.57 of these regulations.

(e) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is presented and used to obtain a memorandum of sale covering the marketing of tobacco which was grown on a farm other than the farm for which the marketing card was issued; but such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction.

(f) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is lost or stolen, but if no entry has been made on the marketing card between the time of its loss or theft and its return to the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the operator; or if any entry has been made on the marketing card between the time of its loss or theft and its return to the operator of the farm for which it was issued, then such invalid marketing card shall become valid when it has been returned to the Tobacco Section and the necessary corrections have been made under its direction; provided that if such lost or stolen marketing card is not found or returned to the operator prior to the issuance of a duplicate marketing card, as provided for in Sec. 724.56 of these regulations, then such lost or stolen marketing card shall be permanently invalid.

(g) A marketing card shall be invalid if it is destroyed or becomes illegible; but a new marketing card shall be issued to replace such destroyed or illegible marketing card, as provided in Sec. 724.56 of these regulations, and such destroyed or illegible marketing card shall be permanently invalid. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.55 Invalid cards suspended. If any field assistant or the county office shall learn of or ascertain the invalidity of any marketing card, such person shall immediately notify the Tobacco Section of the code and serial number, and the name and address of the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, and of the facts causing the invalidity of the marketing card, unless the marketing card is then in the possession of such person, in which case he shall retain and make disposition of the marketing card in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 724.54 of these regulations. Upon receipt of such notice, the Tobacco Section shall notify all field assistants, all county offices, and the operator of the farm that the marketing card has been suspended for invalidity. If any such marketing card shall thereafter come into the possession of any field assistant or county office, such person shall retain and make disposition of the marketing card in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 724.54 of these regulations. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.56 Duplicate card to replace card which is lost, stolen, destroyed, or which becomes illegible. Whenever any marketing card is lost, stolen, destroyed, or becomes illegible, the county office shall be notified of the code and serial number, the name of the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued, the number of the marketing card, and, if known, the amount of the unused quota evidenced by the marketing card and the amount of quota which had been transferred to the card. Such notice shall be in writing, subscribed by the operator of the farm for which the marketing card was issued. If, in the case of a lost or stolen marketing card, the producer is at or near a warehouse where he believes the loss or theft occurred, he shall also notify the field assistant at the warehouse.

When such notice has been given to the county office and a period of two weeks has elapsed from the time of its receipt of such notice, a duplicate marketing card may be issued by the county office for an amount of quota determined as provided in Sec. 724.57 of these regulations.

Such marketing card shall bear the same number as the number of the marketing card which was lost, stolen, destroyed, or which became illegible, and shall have written under the card number, in large letters, the word "Duplicate." The person issuing the marketing card shall sign the card in the space provided for his signature and shall also sign below the word "Duplicate." (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.57 Amount of quota for duplicate cards. Whenever the county office issues a marketing card to replace any marketing card which has become invalid, the amount of quota for which such card shall be issued shall equal whichever of the following amounts is the smaller:

(a) the unused quota as stated by the operator; or

(b) the unused quota as determined by subtracting the sum of—

(1) the total marketings within quota,

(2) the amount of quota transferred from the farm, and

(3) the total unused quota shown on all other marketing cards issued for the farm;

from the sum of—

(1) the quota established for the farm, and

(2) the amount of quota transferred to the farm; provided that, if no amount is stated by the operator, as provided under paragraph (a) of this section, the amount for which the card shall be issued shall be the amount determined under paragraph (b) of this section. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.58 Replacement of old cards. Whenever the space for recording marketings on any card becomes inadequate, such marketing card shall be surrendered to the county office and a new marketing card shall be issued for the amount of unused quota remaining on the marketing card so surrendered. The new card shall bear the same number as the number of the surrendered card, and such number shall be preceded by the letter "R". An appropriate entry shall be made on the surrendered marketing card showing that a new card has been so issued. (Sec. 375, 52 Stat. 66)

SEC. 724.59 Apportionment of transfer allotment among cards. Every marketing card issued shall bear a statement of the amount of the transfer allotment (determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of Sec. 724.60 of these regulations) which has been apportioned to the card; except that where only one card is issued for the farm such card shall bear no such statement. This statement shall be written on the face of the card and below the words "Marketing Card (1938–39 Burley tobacco)", and shall be in the following words, or an appropriate abbreviation thereof: "Maximum Increase by Transfer", followed by the amount apportioned to the card, or "No Increase by Transfer" if no apportionment is made to the card, as the case may be.

The apportionment of the transfer allotment among cards shall be made in accordance with the following rules:

(a) If only one card is issued for the entire quota, no entry will be made, and the entire transfer allotment shall be deemed to be apportioned to the card;

(b) If the quota established for the farm is divided among two or more cards, the apportionment shall be made in accordance with the request of the operator; or, if the operator makes no request with respect to the apportionment, there shall be apportioned to each card that portion of the transfer allotment which the amount of quota for which the card is issued is of the quota established for the farm;

(c) If, after the issuance of the marketing card or cards for a farm, the quota for the farm is increased, the amount of transfer allotment which shall be apportioned to the card issued on account of such increase in the farm quota shall be the amount by which the transfer allotment is increased by the increase of the farm marketing quota.

(d) If an old card is replaced pursuant to Sec. 724.58, or if a duplicate card is issued pursuant to Sec. 724.56, the amount apportioned to the new card shall be the amount apportioned to the original card less the amount already transferred on account of such apportionment; provided that, if the amount apportioned to the original card cannot be determined from the county office records, the statement of the amount apportioned to the new card shall be "No Increase by Transfer", unless the operator of the farm shall present all other cards for the farm, and in that case the amount apportioned to the old card shall be deemed to be the amount by which the transfer allotment is greater than the total amount of the apportionments to such other cards. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

TRANSFER OF QUOTA

SEC. 724.60 Amount of quota transferable—(a) From a farm. Quota may be transferred from a farm only to the extent and in the event that such quota exceeds the sum of: (1) the number of pounds of tobacco available for marketing from the farm which have not been marketed (or otherwise disposed of) at the time of the proposed transfer, (2) the number of pounds of tobacco marketed from the farm solely for nicotine or other by-product uses, and (3) the number of pounds of tobacco marketed from the farm which were grown for experimental purposes only by a publicly owned agricultural experiment station.

(b) To a farm. The amount of quota which may be transferred to a farm shall be the larger of: (1) 10 percent of the quota established for the farm, or (2) 500 pounds; and such larger amount shall be the farm's transfer allotment. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.61 Duties of person authorized to make transfer. Transfers may be made by a field assistant, or by a person authorized by the county committee to make transfers, and shall be made either directly between farms or through the county office transfer book. Any authorized person who makes a transfer of quota shall

(a) satisfy himself that the authorization for transfer has been duly executed by the operator of the farm from which the transfer is to be made; and that the requested transfer is proper (i. e., that the amount of quota to be transferred from the one farm is available for transfer in accordance with these regulations, and that the transfer to the other farm will not exceed the amount of the unused transfer allotment apportioned to the card on which the transfer is to be entered);

(b) record the transfer by making the appropriate entries on the respective cards, in case of direct transfers, or on the cards and in the county office transfer book, in case of transfers through a county office transfer book;

(c) when the appropriate entries have been made, execute the certificate on the authorization for transfer;

(d) after making a transfer to a farm through the county office transfer book, make a record of the transfer on Form 38–Tobacco 65. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.62 Direct transfers. If the transfer is to be made directly from one farm to another, the marketing cards for the respective farms, together with the authorization (Form 38–Tobacco 64) of the operator of the farm from which the transfer is to be made, shall be presented, for appropriate entries, to a field assistant or person in the county office authorized to make transfers. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.63 Transfers through a county office transfer book—(a) From a farm. If the operator of the farm desires to arrange for a transfer of quota from his farm through the county office transfer book, he shall present, for the appropriate entries, the marketing card for this farm, together with his authorization (Form 38–Tobacco 64), to a person in the county office (for the county in which the farm is located) authorized to make transfers. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

(b) To a farm. If a producer desires to arrange a transfer of quota to his farm through the county office transfer book, he shall present, for the appropriate entries, the marketing card for his farm, together with a deposit of the amount required to pay for the transfer (in the form of cash or a cashier's check, certified check, or money order payable to the County Agricultural Conservation Association) to a person in the county office authorized to make transfers.

(c) Order of transfer—(1) To farms. Transfers of quota to farms through the county office transfer book shall be made in the order in which requests for transfers, together with the marketing cards upon which such transfers are to be entered and the deposits to pay for such transfers, are received in the county office by a person authorized to make transfers.

(2) From farms. Transfers of quota from farms through the county office transfer book shall be made in the order in which authorizations for such transfers (Form 38–Tobacco 64) are received in the county office by a person authorized to make transfers.

(d) Expense of transfer. The county committee may adopt a schedule of charges (not exceeding 10 cents per 100 pounds, or major portion thereof, of quota transferred, or $1.00 for any one request) to cover the expense of making transfers of quota through the county office transfer book. Such schedule of charges, when approved by the State committee, shall be applied uniformly to all transfers through the county office transfer book, and shall be collected from the person requesting a transfer to his farm. The amount of any charge so collected shall be paid over to the Treasurer of the County Agricultural Conservation Association. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.64 County office transfer book. The county committee shall designate and authorize one person to make transfers in the county office, and in the absence of a specific designation, the person authorized to make transfers shall be the Secretary of the County Agricultural Conservation Association. The county committee may also designate an alternate person who, in the absence of the person authorized to make transfers in the county office, shall be authorized to make such transfers. The person so authorized shall be responsible for keeping the county office transfer book in which he shall record, with respect to each transfer, the following information:

(a) The code and serial number, and the name of the operator, of the farm from which quota is made available for transfer, the number of pounds, and the date on which made available, and the amount paid to the operator for the transfer.

(b) The code and serial number, and the name of the operator, of the farm to which a transfer is requested, the date of the request, the deposit or payment received and the number of pounds transferred. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.65 Consideration for transfer. (a) If a transfer is made directly between farms, the consideration for the transfer shall be whatever consideration is agreed upon by the operators of the respective farms; provided that no such transfer shall be made for a consideration which is less than 5 cents per pound for each pound of quota transferred, unless all the producers on the farm from which the quota is to be transferred have consented thereto.

(b) If the transfer is made through a county office transfer book, the consideration for the transfer shall be 5 cents per pound for each pound of quota transferred. (Sec. 313, 52 Stat. 47, 586)

SEC. 724.66 Distribution of consideration. The consideration received by the operator for the transfer of any portion of the quota for the farm shall be divided among the producers on the farm in proportion to their shares in the tobacco available for marketing from the farm; except as follows:

Article 371 (c) (J. R. 11c) is amended by deleting the last three sentences and substituting therefor the following:

If the articles shall be found to contain merchandise unconditionally free of duty and free of internal-revenue tax, or the aggregate value of the merchandise is not more than $1 and it is free of internal-revenue tax, it may be delivered to the addressee. If the articles shall be found to contain merchandise subject to duty (including conditionally free merchandise) with an aggregate value exceeding $1, or subject to internal-revenue tax irrespective of its value, such merchandise shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture as having been imported contrary to law. Under the authority contained in section 618 of the Tariff Act of 1930, any forfeiture so incurred is hereby mitigated to an amount equal to 10 percent of the duty (actual or potential) provided there is no evidence indicating to the collector that failure to label or indorse the package was due to wilful negligence or to an intent to defraud the revenue. (d) (J. R. 12d.) Sealed articles not endorsed or labeled as required by J. R. 8a, which are found after opening in accordance with J. R. 11c to contain merchandise valued at more than $100, shall be subjected to formal entry in accordance with J. R. 12a and 12b. In such cases, the customs officers preparing the notice to the addressee to make formal entry (customs Form 3509) shall note thereon that the shipment is subject to such duty and mitigated forfeiture as may be applicable thereto in accordance with the provisions in article 371 (c) (J. R. 11c), and that such amounts (except the duty, if entered conditionally free) must be deposited prior to the release of the merchandise. The collector of customs at the place where formal entry is made shall record the transaction on customs Form 5211 and schedule the penalty when collected on customs Form 5161–B. The duty shall be accounted for as such in the regular manner.

SUPPLEMENT TO PROCEDURE FOR THE DETERMINATION OF FIRE-CURED AND DARK AIR-CURED TOBACCO FARM MARKETING QUOTAS FOR 1938

Form 38-Tobacco-38, "Procedure for the Determination of Fire-Cured and Dark Air-Cured Tobacco Farm Marketing Quotas for 1938",[1] is amended as follows:

Paragraph (b) of section 1, part I, is amended to read as follows:

"(b) Base 1938 production means the number of pounds obtained by multiplying the farm yield by 200 percent of the 1938 tobacco acreage."

Item (ii) of paragraph (b) of section 3, part II is amended to read as follows:

"(ii) the amount of decrease shall not exceed the smaller of (A) 25 percent of the normal past marketings, or (B) the amount by which the normal past marketings exceeds the smallest of the three-year average, 2,400 pounds, or 63.75 percent of the base 1938 production; and"

Paragraph (c) of section 5, part II, is amended to read as follows:

"(c) A minimum allotment will be made to every old farm in the State for which there would be obtained, by taking the percentage determined pursuant to (b) above of the normal marketings for the farm, a number of pounds equal to or less than the smallest of (i) 2400 pounds, or (ii) the farm's three-year average, or (iii) 63.75 percent of the farm's base 1938 production. The minimum allotment for any such farm will be the smallest of (i) 2400 pounds or (ii) the farm's three-year average, or (iii) 63.75 percent of the farm's base 1938 production, and such allotment, unless increased pursuant to subsection (h) shall constitute the farm marketing quota."

Paragraph (g) of section 5, part II, is amended to read as follows:

"(g) There will be computed for each old farm in the State the difference by which the amount allotted pursuant to the foregoing subsections is less than the smaller of (i) 80 percent of the farm's three-year average, or (ii) 63.75 percent of the base 1938 production. The total of all such differences for all old farms in the State will be reduced to an amount equal to 2 percent of the State marketing quota. This reduction will be made by reducing the difference for each farm by the percentage which 2 percent of the State marketing quota is of the total of the differences for all farms. The amount of the farm's difference as so reduced will be added to the farm's allotment and the sum thereof will be the amount of the farm marketing quota unless further increased pursuant to subsection (h) below.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

[T. D. 4876]

REGULATIONS UNDER SECTION 909, TITLE IX, OF THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT, RELATING TO ALLOWANCE OF ADDITIONAL CREDIT AGAINST TAX UNDER THAT TITLE WHERE CONTRIBUTIONS TO STATE ARE AT REDUCED RATE

REGULATIONS 90 AMENDED

To Collectors of Internal Revenue and Others Concerned:

Regulations 90, approved February 17, 1936, as amended, relating to the excise tax on employers under Title IX of the Social Security Act, are further amended (1) by eliminating article 212 and (2) by inserting immediately after article 211 the following:

SECTION 909 OF THE ACT

SEC. 909. (a) In addition to the credit allowed under section 902, a taxpayer may, subject to the conditions imposed by section 910, credit against the tax imposed by section 901 for any taxable year after the taxable year 1937, an amount, with respect to each State law, equal to the amount, if any, by which the contributions, with respect to employment in such taxable year, actually paid by the taxpayer under such law before the date of filing his return for such taxable year, is exceeded by whichever of the following is the lesser—

(1) The amount of contributions which he would have been required to pay under such law for such taxable year if he had been subject to the highest rate applicable from time to time throughout such year to any employer under such law; or

(2) Two and seven-tenths per centum of the wages payable by him with respect to employment with respect to which contributions for such year were required under such law.

(b) If the amount of the contributions actually so paid by the taxpayer is less than the amount which he should have paid under the State law, the additional credit under subsection (a) shall be reduced proportionately.

(c) The total credits allowed to a taxpayer under this title shall not exceed 90 per centum of the tax against which such credits are taken.

SECTION 910 OF THE ACT

SEC. 910. (a) A taxpayer shall be allowed the additional credit under section 909, with respect to his contribution rate under a State law being lower, for any taxable year, than that of another employer subject to such law, only if the Board finds that under such law—

(1) Such lower rate, with respect to contributions to a pooled fund, is permitted on the basis of not less than three years of compensation experience;

(2) Such lower rate, with respect to contributions to a guaranteed employment account, is permitted only when his guaranty of employment was fulfilled in the preceding calendar year, and such guaranteed employment account amounts to not less than 7½ per centum of the total wages payable by him, in accordance with such guaranty, with respect to employment in such State in the preceding calendar year;

(3) Such lower rate, with respect to contributions to a separate reserve account, is permitted only when (A) compensation has been payable from such account throughout the preceding calendar year, and (B) such account amounts to not less than five times the largest amount of compensation paid from such account within any one of the three preceding calendar years, and (C) such account amounts to not less than 7½ per centum of the total wages payable by him (plus the total wages payable by any other employers who may be contributing to such account) with respect to employment in such State in the preceding calendar year.

(b) Such additional credit shall be reduced, if any contributions under such law are made by such taxpayer at a lower rate under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of subsection (a), by the amount bearing the same ratio to such additional credit as the amount of contributions made at such lower rate bears to the total of his contributions paid for such year under such law.

(c) As used in this section—

(1) The term "reserve account" means a separate account in an unemployment fund, with respect to an employer or group of employers, from which compensation is payable only with respect to the unemployment of individuals who were in the employ of such employer, or of one of the employers comprising the group.

(2) The term "pooled fund" means an unemployment fund or any part thereof in which all contributions are mingled and undivided, and from which compensation is payable to all eligible individuals, except that to individuals last employed by employers with respect to whom reserve accounts are maintained by the State agency, it is payable only when such accounts are exhausted.

(3) The term "guaranteed employment account" means a separate account, in an unemployment fund, of contributions paid by an employer (or group of employers) who

(A) guarantees in advance thirty hours of wages for each of forty calendar weeks (or more, with one weekly hour deducted for each added week guaranteed) in twelve months, to all the individuals in his employ in one or more distinct establishments, except that any such individual's guaranty may commence after a probationary period (included within twelve or less consecutive calendar weeks), and

(B) gives security or assurance, satisfactory to the State agency, for the fulfillment of such guaranties, from which account compensation shall be payable with respect to the unemployment of any such individual whose guaranty is not fulfilled or renewed and who is otherwise eligible for compensation under the State law.

(4) The term "year of compensation experience", as applied to an employer, means any calendar year throughout which compensation was payable with respect to any individual in his employ who became unemployed and was eligible for compensation.

ART. 212. Additional credit against tax.—(a) General. In addition to the credit against tax allowable under section 902 for contributions actually paid (see article 211), the taxpayer may be entitled to a further credit under section 909. This further or additional credit is allowable to the taxpayer with respect to the amount of contributions which he is relieved from paying to a State. Generally, an additional credit is available to an employer if, by reason of having stabilized the employment of his employees in any State, or for some other reason, he is granted a "merit rate" under the unemployment compensation law of the State and is therefore permitted to pay contributions to such State for the calendar year, or portion thereof, at a lower rate than the highest rate applicable under such law for the corresponding period. For the purposes of this article and article 213, the phrase "the highest rate applicable means the highest rate provided by or under the State law even though such rate is not actually applied to any employer. The computation of the additional credit and the limitations upon its allowance are set forth in the remaining paragraphs of this article.

(b) Amount of the additional credit allowable with respect to a State law—(1) Method of computation. In ascertaining the additional credit for a taxable year with respect to a particular State law, the taxpayer must first compute the following three amounts:

(A) The amount of contributions which the taxpayer would have been required to pay under the State law for the calendar year (whether or not such contributions are with respect to employment as defined in section 907 (c)) if, for each period for which contributions under such law were payable, he had been subjected to the highest rate applicable under such law for such period.

(B) 2.7 percent of the wages payable by the taxpayer with respect to employment (as defined in section 907 (c)), with respect to which contributions for such year were required under such law.

(C) The amount of contributions the taxpaper actually paid to such State, before the date the Federal return on Form 940 for such year is required to be filed, with respect to employment (as defined in section 907 (c)) in such calendar year.

The amount computed under (C) should then be subtracted from the amount arrived at under (A) or (B), whichever is the lesser, and the result will be the additional credit for the taxable year with respect to the law of that State. (For the amount of such additional credit allowable if State contributions are not paid in full, see (2) below. For the amount of such additional credit allowable if part of the contributions are paid at a lower rate under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of section 910 (a), see (3) below.)

Example.—A employs individuals in State X only, where contributions were payable monthly. For each month throughout the calendar year the highest rate applicable under the law of State X for such year was 3 percent of the wages payable. However, under the law of such State, A had obtained a merit rate of 1 percent and paid the entire amount of each month's contributions at that rate before the date on which his Federal return on Form 940 was required to be filed for the calendar year. The amount of wages payable by A for the year with respect to employment was $25,000 and the rate of Federal tax was 3 percent. A's additional credit under section 909 for the year is $425, computed as follows:

State contributions at 3 percent (highest rate)	750
2.7 percent of wages payable (with respect to employment)	675
Less:
State contributions (with respect to employment) actually paid at merit rate of 1 percent	250
Additional credit to A	425

Since the lesser amount in this example is 2.7 percent of the wages payable with respect to employment, it is from this amount that the State contributions actually paid at the merit rate ($250) are deducted to ascertain the additional credit ($425). Thus A is entitled to credit under section 902 of $250 for contributions paid to the State and an additional credit under section 909 of $425, or a total credit of $675 against the Federal Tax (such amount not being more than 90 percent of the Federal tax of $750).

(2) Reduction if State contributions are not paid in full. If before the date the Federal return on Form 940 for a calendar year is required to be filed, a taxpayer pays a State less than the total amount of contributions required of him under such State law with respect to employment (as defined in section 907 (c)) in such calendar year, the additional credit computed as provided in (1) above shall be reduced by an amount equal to the portion of such contributions not actually paid before the date upon which such return is required to be filed. (See section 909 (b).) The additional credit as so reduced shall be the amount of the additional credit allowable for the taxable year with respect to the law of that State. (But see (3) below if part of the contributions are paid at a lower rate under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of section 910 (a).)

Example.—B employs individuals in State Y only, where contributions were payable monthly, the amount of wages payable for the year being $25,000. For each month throughout the calendar year the highest rate applicable under the law of State Y for such year was 3.6 percent of the wages payable. Under the law of such State, B had obtained a merit rate of nine-tenths of one percent. His total required State contributions is, therefore, $225. However, before the date on which the Federal return on Form 940 was required to be filed, B actually paid State Y only one half, or $112.50, of the contributions with respect to employment at the merit rate. B's additional credit allowable under section 909 for the year is $450, computed as follows:

Total wages payable	$25,000.00
State contributions at 3.6 percent (highest rate)	900.00
2.7 percent of wages payable (with respect to employment)	675.00
Less:
State contributions (with respect to employment) actually paid at merit rate of .9 percent	112.50
Additional credit computed as provided in article 212 (b) (1)	562.50
Less:
Amount of State contributions (with respect to employment) not actually paid before date Federal return required to be filed	112.50
Additional credit allowable to B	450.00

(3) Where contributions are paid in part under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of section 910 (a). If a taxpayer claims an additional credit in accordance with the provisions of section 909 by reason of contributions paid to the State for a calendar year at a reduced rate under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of section 910 (a) of the Act as well as by reason of contributions paid to such State at a reduced rate under conditions fulfilling the requirements of section 910 (a), such additional credit shall be reduced by the amount bearing the same ratio to such additional credit as the amount of the taxpayer's contributions made at the reduced rate under conditions not fulfilling the requirements of such section bears to the total of his contributions paid for such year under such law.

(c) Amount of additional credit allowable where contributions are paid under more than one State law. If the taxpayer makes contributions at a reduced rate to more than one State in any one calendar year, the additional credit allowable with respect to each State law shall be computed separately (in accordance with (b) above), and the total additional credit allowable against the tax shall be the aggregate of the additional credits allowable with respect to each State law.

(d) Limitations on the allowance of the additional credit. The allowance of the additional credit under section 909 is subject to the following limitations—

(1) In no case is a taxpayer entitled to an additional credit unless under the State law he is permitted to pay contributions for a calendar year or portion thereof at a rate which is lower than the highest rate applicable under such State law for the corresponding period. If the State law does not make provision for such a lower rate no additional credit is available to the taxpayer and he can take only the credit allowable under section 902 for contributions actually paid. (See article 211.)

(2) No additional credit shall be allowed with respect to calendar years prior to the calendar year 1938.

(3) The aggregate of such additional credit and the credit under section 902 (see article 211) shall not exceed 90 percent of the tax against which credit is taken.

(4) No additional credit may be taken with respect to contributions under a State law for any calendar year unless the Social Security Board has found that a lower rate with respect to such contributions is permitted in conformance with the conditions specified in section 910 (a) of the Act.

ART. 213. Proof of credit—(a) Credit under section 902. Credit against the tax for contributions paid into State unemployment funds shall not be allowed unless there is submitted to the Commissioner:

(1) A certificate of the proper officer of each State (the laws of which required the contributions to be paid) showing, for the taxpayer—

(A) The total amount of required contributions with respect to employment during the calendar year (exclusive of penalties and interest) actually paid before the date the Federal return is required to be filed; and

(B) The amounts and dates of payment of required contributions with respect to employment during the calendar year (exclusive of penalties and interest) actually paid on or after the date the Federal return is required to be filed.

(2) An affidavit by the taxpayer that no part of any payment made by him into a State unemployment fund, which is claimed as a credit against the tax, was deducted or is to be deducted from the wages of individuals in his employ.

(3) Such other or additional proof as the Commissioner may deem necessary to establish the right to the credit provided for under section 902.

(b) Additional credit under section 909. Additional credit under section 909 of the Act shall not be allowed unless there is submitted to the Commissioner, in addition to the proof required by paragraph (a) above:

(1) A certificate of the proper officer of each State (with respect to the laws of which the additional credit is claimed) showing, for the taxpayer who pays contributions to such State at a rate which is lower than the highest rate applicable under the law of such State—

(A) The total remuneration, with respect to which contributions were required to be paid by the taxpayer under the State law, for each period during the calendar year for which contributions are payable;

(B) The highest rate of contributions applicable under the law of the State for each period for which contributions are payable during the calendar year; and

(C) The rate applied to the taxpayer for each period for which contributions are payable during the calendar year.

(2) Such other or additional proof as the Commissioner may deem necessary to establish the right to the additional credit provided for under section 909.

This Treasury Decision is prescribed under the authority contained in section 908 of the Social Security Act.

TITLE 31—MONEY AND FINANCE: TREASURY

[1938—Department Circular No. 598]

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA 2¾ PERCENT TREASURY BONDS OF 1960–65

DECEMBER 5, 1938.

I. OFFERING OF BONDS

1. The Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the authority of the Second Liberty Bond Act, approved September 24, 1917, as amended, invites subscriptions, at par and accrued interest, from the people of the United States for 2¾ percent bonds of the United States, designated Treasury Bonds of 1960–65. The amount of the offering is $400,000,000, or thereabouts, with the right reserved to the Secretary of the Treasury to increase the offering by an amount sufficient to accept all subscriptions for which Treasury Notes of Series C–1939, maturing March 15, 1939, are tendered in payment and accepted.

II. DESCRIPTION OF BONDS

1. The bonds will be dated December 15, 1938, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 2¾ percent per annum, payable semiannually on June 15 and December 15 in each year until the principal amount becomes payable. They will mature December 15, 1965, but may be redeemed at the option of the United States on and after December 15, 1960, in whole or in part, at par and accrued interest, on any interest day or days, on 4 months' notice of redemption given in such manner as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe. In case of partial redemption the bonds to be redeemed will be determined by such method as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. From the date of redemption designated in any such notice, interest on the bonds called for redemption shall cease.

2. The bonds shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes, or gift taxes, and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess-profits and war-profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. The interest on an amount of bonds authorized by the Second Liberty Bond Act, approved September 24, 1917, as amended, the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in clause (b) above.

3. The bonds will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys, but will not bear the circulation privilege and will not be entitled to any privilege of conversion.

4. Bearer bonds with interest coupons attached, and bonds registered as to principal and interest, will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. Provision will be made for the interchange of bonds of different denominations and of coupon and registered bonds, and for the transfer of registered bonds, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. The bonds will be subject to the general regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter prescribed, governing United States bonds.

III. SUBSCRIPTION AND ALLOTMENT

1. Subscriptions will be received at the Federal Reserve banks and branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally may submit subscriptions for account of customers, but only the Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies. Others than banking institutions will not be permitted to enter subscriptions except for their own account. Cash subscriptions from banks and trust companies for their own account will be received without deposit but will be restricted in each case to an amount not exceeding one-half of the combined capital and surplus of the subscribing bank or trust company. Cash subscriptions from all others must be accompanied by payment of 10 percent of the amount of bonds applied for. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to close the books as to any or all subscriptions or classes of subscriptions at any time without notice.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any subscription, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount of bonds applied for, to make allotments in full upon applications for smaller amounts and to make reduced allotments upon, or to reject, applications for larger amounts, or to adopt any or all of said methods or such other methods of allotment and classification of allotments as shall be deemed by him to be in the public interest; and his action in any or all of these respects shall be final. Subject to these reservations, subscriptions in payment of which Treasury Notes of Series C–1939 are tendered will be allotted in full. Allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment, and the basis of the allotment will be publicly announced.

IV. PAYMENT

1. Payment at par and accrued interest, if any, for bonds allotted on cash subscriptions must be made or completed on or before December 15, 1938, or on later allotment. In every case where payment is not so completed, the payment with application up to 10 percent of the amount of bonds applied for shall, upon declaration made by the Secretary of the Treasury in his discretion, be forfeited to the United States. Any qualified depositary will be permitted to make payment by credit for bonds allotted to it for itself and its customers up to any amount for which it shall be qualified in excess of existing deposits, when so notified by the Federal Reserve bank of its district. Treasury Notes of Series C–1939, maturing March 15, 1939, with coupon dated March 15, 1939, attached, will be accepted at par in payment for any bonds subscribed for and allotted, and should accompany the subscription. Accrued interest from September 15, 1938, to December 15, 1938, on the maturing notes ($3.770718 per $1,000) will be paid following acceptance of the notes.

V. GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make allotments on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks of the respective districts, to issue allotment notices, to receive payment for bonds allotted, to make delivery of bonds on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive bonds.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve banks.

2. The bonds shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes, or gift taxes, and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess-profits and war-profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. The interest on an amount of bonds authorized by the Second Liberty Bond Act, approved September 24, 1917, as amended, the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in clause (b) above.

3. The bonds will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys, but will not bear the circulation privilege and will not be entitled to any privilege of conversion.

4. Bearer bonds with interest coupons attached, and bonds registered as to principal and interest, will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. Provision will be made for the interchange of bonds of different denominations and of coupon and registered bonds, and for the transfer of registered bonds, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

5. The bonds will be subject to the general regulations of the Treasury Department, now or hereafter prescribed, governing United States bonds.

III. SUBSCRIPTION AND ALLOTMENT

1. Subscriptions will be received at the Federal Reserve banks and branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally may submit subscriptions for account of customers, but only the Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to close the books as to any or all subscriptions or classes of subscriptions at any time without notice.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any subscription, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount of bonds applied for, to make allotments in full upon applications for smaller amounts and to make reduced allotments upon, or to reject, applications for larger amounts, or to adopt any or all of said methods or such other methods of allotment and classification of allotments as shall be deemed by him to be in the public interest; and his action in any or all of these respects shall be final. Subject to these reservations, all subscriptions will be allotted in full. Allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment.

IV. PAYMENT

1. Payment at par for bonds allotted hereunder must be made or completed on or before December 15, 1938, or on later allotment, and may be made only in Treasury Notes of Series C–1939, maturing March 15, 1939, which will be accepted at par, and should accompany the subscription. Coupons dated March 15, 1939, must be attached to the notes when surrendered, and accrued interest from September 15, 1938, to December 15, 1938, ($3.770718 per $1,000), will be paid following acceptance of the notes.

V. GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make allotments on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks of the respective districts, to issue allotment notices, to receive payment for bonds allotted, to make delivery of bonds on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive bonds.

The amount of the offering is $300,000,000, or thereabouts, with the right reserved to the Secretary of the Treasury to increase the offering by an amount sufficient to accept all subscriptions for which Treasury Notes of Series C–1939, maturing March 15, 1939, are tendered in payment and accepted.

II. DESCRIPTION OF NOTES

1. The notes will be dated December 15, 1938, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 1⅛ percent per annum, payable semiannually on June 15 and December 15 in each year until the principal amount becomes payable. They will mature December 15, 1943, and will not be subject to call for redemption prior to maturity.

2. The notes shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation (except estate or inheritance taxes, or gift taxes) now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority.

3. The notes will be accepted at par during such time and under such rules and regulations as shall be prescribed or approved by the Secretary of the Treasury in payment of income and profits taxes payable at the maturity of the notes.

4. The notes will be acceptable to secure deposits of public moneys, but will not bear the circulation privilege.

5. Bearer notes with interest coupons attached will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. The notes will not be issued in registered form.

III. SUBSCRIPTION AND ALLOTMENT

1. Subscriptions will be received at the Federal Reserve banks and branches and at the Treasury Department, Washington. Banking institutions generally may submit subscriptions for account of customers, but only the Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury Department are authorized to act as official agencies. Others than banking institutions will not be permitted to enter subscriptions except for their own account. Cash subscriptions from banks and trust companies for their own account will be received without deposit but will be restricted in each case to an amount not exceeding one-half of the combined capital and surplus of the subscribing bank or trust company. Cash subscriptions from all others must be accompanied by payment of 10 percent of the amount of notes applied for. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to close the books as to any or all subscriptions or classes of subscriptions at any time without notice.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury reserves the right to reject any subscription, in whole or in part, to allot less than the amount of notes applied for, to make allotments in full upon applications for smaller amounts and to make reduced allotments upon, or to reject, applications for larger amounts, or to adopt any or all of said methods or such other methods of allotment and classification of allotments as shall be deemed by him to be in the public interest; and his action in any or all of these respects shall be final. Subject to these reservations, subscriptions in payment of which Treasury Notes of Series C–1939 are tendered will be allotted in full. Allotment notices will be sent out promptly upon allotment, and the basis of the allotment will be publicly announced.

IV. PAYMENT

1. Payment at par and accrued interest, if any, for notes allotted on cash subscriptions must be made or completed on or before December 15, 1938, or on later allotment. In every case where payment is not so completed, the payment with application up to 10 percent of the amount of notes applied for shall, upon declaration made by the Secretary of the Treasury in his discretion, be forfeited to the United States. Any qualified depositary will be permitted to make payment by credit for notes allotted to it for itself and its customers up to any amount for which it shall be qualified in excess of existing deposits, when so notified by the Federal Reserve bank of its district. Treasury Notes of Series C–1939, maturing March 15, 1939, with coupon dated March 15, 1939, attached, will be accepted at par in payment for any notes subscribed for and allotted, and should accompany the subscription. Accrued interest from September 15, 1938, to December 15, 1938, on the maturing notes ($3.770718 per $1,000) will be paid following acceptance of the notes.

V. GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions, to make allotments on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks of the respective districts, to issue allotment notices, to receive payment for notes allotted, to make delivery of notes on full-paid subscriptions allotted, and they may issue interim receipts pending delivery of the definitive notes.

2. The Secretary of the Treasury may at any time, or from time to time, prescribe supplemental or amendatory rules and regulations governing the offering, which will be communicated promptly to the Federal Reserve banks.

The farm unit plats referred to above were approved on the date of this notice and are on file in the office of the Construction Engineer, Bureau of Reclamation, Boise, Idaho, and in the local land offices at The Dalles, Oregon, and Blackfoot, Idaho.

2. Limit of acreage for which entry may be made or water rental secured.—For the farm units described above, and any other lands covered by this notice which may become subject to homestead entry the limit of area of public land per entry, representing the area which, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior, may be reasonably required for the support of a family upon such land, is fixed at the amounts shown upon the said farm unit plats for the respective farm units thereon. The maximum limit of area for which water rental application may be made for lands in private ownership shall be 160 acres of irrigable land for each landowner.

3. Filing of water rental applications.—Water rental applications for entered lands and lands in private ownership must be filed in the office of the Construction Engineer and such applications may be made on or after the date of this notice. For public land farm units the water rental applications must be made in accordance with the conditions hereinafter stated.

4. Preference rights to ex-service men.—Pursuant to the provisions of joint Public Resolution No. 35, 71st Congress, approved June 12, 1930 (46 Stat., 580), and until March 15, 1939, the farm units described above will be open to entry only by officers, soldiers, sailors, or marines who have served in the Army or Navy of the United States, in any war, military occupation, or military expedition, and have been honorably separated or discharged therefrom or placed in the regular Army or Naval Reserve. The same preference rights are applicable to those citizens of the United States who served with the allied armies during the World War and who were honorably discharged, upon their resumption of citizenship in the United States, provided the service with the allied armies was similar to the service with the Army of the United States for which recognition is granted in the aforesaid Public Resolution No. 85; Provided, however, That they must be qualified to make entry under the homestead laws and also possess the qualifications as to industry, experience, character, and capital required of all applicants under this notice.

5. Applicants must be qualified.—No entry shall be accepted by the local land office until the applicant therefor has satisfied the Examining Board appointed for the Owyhee Project to consider such matters, that he is possessed of such qualifications (in addition to the qualifications required under the homestead laws) as to industry, experience, character, and capital, as in the opinion of the board are necessary to give reasonable assurance of success by the prospective settler.

6. Requirements as to industry, experience, character and capital.—Each applicant must possess good health and have had at least two years' actual experience in farm work and farm practice. He must have at least $2,000 in money free of liability, or the equivalent thereof in livestock, farming equipment, or other assets deemed by the Examining Board to be as useful to the applicant as money.

7. Examining Board.—An Examining Board of three members has been appointed by the Secretary of the Interior, to consider the fitness of each applicant to undertake the development and operation of a farm on the Owyhee project. Each applicant, except those described in paragraph 13 (a), must appear in person before the Examining Board, and the Construction Engineer, who is the member representing the United States, and who will act as Secretary of the board, will notify each applicant of the period of time set for his appearance and examination. The members of the board will be present at the project office when the opening is being held, and interested applicants, and particularly non-residents, will be examined at such times as it is convenient for them to be present. There must be, of course, some limit of time covering this feature, and the board will fix this limit, and will also announce such other incidental rules as will necessitate one appearance only by each applicant. Careful investigation shall be made to verify the statements and representations made by applicants, to the end that no misunderstanding may prevail, either regarding the applicant's fitness or his appreciation of the problem before him.

8. Determination of relative standing of applicants.—The relative standings of the applicants will be based upon a percentage rating with the following maximum weights given to the four prescribed qualifications:

Character	15%
Industry	20%
Capital	30%
Farm Experience	35%

Applicants will be rated according to the following schedules and no applicants will be considered eligible who fall below the minimum named in any one of the headings of these schedules, or who do not, in the opinion of the board, possess the health and vigor necessary for active farm work:

Character	Per Cent
Fair	5
Good	6 to 10
Excellent	11 to 15
Industry	Per Cent
Fair	5
Good	6 to 10
Excellent	11 to 20
Capital	Per Cent
$2,000 to $2,999	27
$3,000 to $3,999	28
$4,000 to $4,999	29
$5,000 or above	30
Farm Experience	Per Cent
A. In farming other than irrigation:
2 years, any time	10
Additional credit of 2% to be allowed for each year in farming other than irrigation for more than 2 years, up to a total of 12 years (10% for 2 years, plus 2% per year up to 10 additional years), or a maximum of	30
B. In irrigation farming:
2 years, any time	15
2 years, in last 4 years	20
2 years, in last 2 years	25
3 years, in last 4 years	30
3 or more years in responsible charge of irrigation farm in last 4 years	35

In determining the percentages to be given for experience under irrigated farming, the members of the examining board may reduce the percentages from 1 to 5 per cent, if, in their judgment, the experience indicated by the applicant as having been gained in other irrigated areas is not of the type that would justify his being rated for farming under the particular conditions on the Owyhee project, at any of the percentages above listed.

9. When, and how to apply for a farm unit.—Any person desiring to acquire any of the farm units described in paragraph 1 must, as a first step, secure from the Construction Engineer, Boise, Idaho, or from the Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, Washington, D. C., a farm application blank. The blanks will be available on and after the date of this notice, and full answer must be made to each question propounded therein. The farm application must designate in the first paragraph the particular farm desired. If the applicant claims a preference right on account of military service, he shall attach to this application an affidavit setting forth such military service. The affidavit shall state the applicant's time of service, the unit of which he was a member, the date on which he was honorably discharged, or separated, or transferred to the regular Army or Naval Reserve, and that he did not refuse to wear the uniform of such service or to perform the duties thereof. If the applicant claims a preference right on account of military service with the allied armies during the World War, the affidavit should also state, if true, that the service with the allied armies was similar to the service with the Army of the United States for which recognition was granted in the said Public Resolution No. 85. There shall be attached to said affidavit a copy of such honorable discharge or separation from the service, or the order of transfer to the regular Army or Naval Reserve, as the case may be, which copy shall be certified by a notary public to be a true copy of the original. In the event that the original of an applicant's honorable discharge or of such order of transfer has been lost or otherwise is not readily available, a record of his military service and of his discharge, separation or transfer under the seal of the War Department may be furnished in lieu of the certified copy of the aforementioned original, and shall be attached to said affidavit.

10. When and where to file the farm application.—The farm application with the proof to be furnished by the ex-service man, must be filed with the Construction Engineer at Boise, Idaho, in person, if convenient, or by mail, or otherwise, prior to December 15, 1938, if the applicant desires to qualify under paragraph 11 below. No advantage will accrue to an applicant presenting his application in person rather than by mail, and, if the applicant does not reside at Boise, his application should be mailed. Farm applications received on or after December 15, 1938 will be filed and noted in the order of their receipt.

11. Simultaneous filing of farm applications.—All applications received prior to December 15, 1938, the date of opening, will be held and treated as simultaneously filed.

12. Preference rights for ex-service men not filing in accordance with Paragraph 11.—In order that ex-service men may take advantage of the preference right as provided in Paragraph 4 of this notice, in the event that they fail to file prior to December 15, 1938, as set forth in Paragraph 11 above, their applications together with the proof to be furnished by them, must be filed in the Office of the Construction Engineer, Boise, Idaho, on or prior to March 15, 1939, the day before the date upon which the farm units herein described, except those units for which applications of ex-service men have been accepted, become open to entry by the general public. No advantage will accrue to an applicant presenting his application in person rather than by mail.

13. Showing of applicants and selection thereof.—(a) Where the applicant fails to make a prima facie case—that is, where the applicant does not possess good health or does not show at least two years' farm experience, and the assets required in Paragraph 6, the application shall be rejected and the applicant notified thereof by registered mail, and of his right to appeal to the Secretary of the Interior within 10 days from receipt of notice. Like action shall be taken where the evidence of military service is defective or not furnished. All appeals allowed under this order must be filed in the office of the project Construction Engineer at Boise, Idaho, and within 10 days from receipt of notice.

(b) Each applicant who makes a prima facie case and has not been previously examined by the board shall be notified by the board, by registered mail, of the time within which he must appear before it. After such personal examinations, and after consideration of the showing made in the application, the board will rate the applicant in accordance with the scale set forth above, and place such rating in red ink, with the initials of each member of the board upon the face of the farm application blank. Should the applicant fail to appear for examination after due notice, his application will receive no further consideration by the board at that time. Should he later appear his application may be considered for any farm then remaining unassigned. The date of receipt of his application shall then be considered as being the day he actually appeared before the board. The rating necessary to establish qualification is the minimum named in Paragraph 8 of this order, and the applications of all who fail to attain this minimum shall be rejected and the applicants notified thereof by registered mail, and of the right of appeal to the Secretary within 10 days from receipt of notice. After the expiration of the appeal period and in the absence of any pending appeals, the board shall select the 29 applicants (there being 29 farm units described in paragraph 1 subject to entry) with the highest ratings and the Secretary of the examining board will issue to each of the selected applicants a certificate stating that the qualifications of such applicant to enter public lands, as required by Subsection C of Section 4 of the Act of December 5, 1924 (43 Stat., 702), have been passed upon and approved by the examining board and giving the applicant's ratings. Immediately following the selection of the successful applicants the board shall notify each of the other applicants that since the number of qualified applicants exceeds the number of available farms, it is necessary to reject all applications below the first 29 in qualification ratings. Each rejected applicant may appeal to the Secretary within 10 days. In the event that the number of qualified applicants is less than the number of available farm units, and also if in such case there are several applications for the same farm unit, the board shall assign a farm unit to each of such applicants. Whenever practicable, the board shall allow the applicants to exercise a choice of farms; and if it is found practicable to do so, the applicants will be given the right of selection, regardless of other applications, in the order of their ratings. The intent of the law is to select the best qualified applicants for the farms available, and the Government reserves the right to assign the farms regardless of individual preferences. Where two or more applicants have received identical ratings a drawing shall be made by the examining board to determine the order in which the available farms shall be awarded.

14. Notification of applicant that he has been selected.—After the expiration of the appeal periods in all of the contingencies named above, or any other that may arise, and in the absence of any pending appeals, the board shall notify each applicant selected for a farm, by registered mail, and enclose a water rental application for the farm selected, which must be filled in by the applicant and returned to the Construction Engineer within 10 days from receipt of notice with payment of the water rental charges, as specified in Paragraph 21 hereof. Upon receipt by the Construction Engineer of the water rental application, executed by the applicant and accompanied by the required payment, the board shall make appropriate notation on a copy of said water rental application, which will entitle the applicant to file homestead application at the local land office, and the board will return said copy by registered mail to the applicant, together with the certificate mentioned in paragraph 13 (b) relative to the applicant's qualifications and the filing of a water rental application, which certificate must be attached by the applicant to his homestead application when he files such application at the local land office. Such homestead application shall be made within 15 days from the date of receipt of the approved water rental application. Failure to make homestead entry within the period named will render the application subject to rejection.

15. Failure of selected applicant to complete transaction.—If the applicant fails to comply with any of the requirements named above the board will select the next highest in qualification rating, and when the list has been exhausted, and if there still remain lands unallotted, the board will consider applications filed thereafter in the order filed, and such applications will otherwise be handled by the board as prescribed in Paragraph 13.

16. General entry.—On and after March 16, 1939 any farm units described in Paragraph 1 above which remain unentered, shall be subject to entry under this notice by any person having the necessary qualifications. If, on March 16, 1939, prior to 2 p. m., the number of applications filed exceeds the number of available farm units, then the right to make entry for any such farm unit shall be determined in accordance with Paragraph 13 of this order, the provisions of which shall continue in effect in a similar manner in the future if the number of applications at any time exceeds the number of remaining available farm units.

17. Warning against unlawful settlement.—No person shall be permitted to gain or exercise any right under any settlement or occupation of any of the public lands covered by this notice except under the terms and conditions prescribed by this notice: Provided, however, That this shall not affect any valid existing right obtained by settlement or entry while the land was subject thereto.

18. All land to be included in an irrigation district.—Substantially all of the lands covered by this public notice are within the Gem Irrigation District organized under the laws of the State of Idaho, or the Owyhee Irrigation District organized under the laws of the State of Oregon. For any of the lands covered by this notice which are not within those districts, the water rental applicant will be required to execute a water rental application in which the following clause shall be inserted:

"I agree to the inclusion of my land in the ---------- Irrigation District". (The name of the district to which the land should properly be joined to be inserted by the project office.)

19. Contracts with irrigation districts.—(a) A contract was entered into October 14, 1926, and a supplementary contract on March 16, 1936, between the United States and the Gem Irrigation District, providing for payment of charges and operation of works. (b) A contract was entered into October 14, 1926, and a supplementary contract on March 16, 1936 between the United States and the Owyhee Irrigation District, providing for payment of charges and operation of works.

20. Construction charges.—The construction cost shall be paid in accordance with the contracts dated October 14, 1926, and the supplementary contract dated March 16, 1936, between the United States and the Gem Irrigation District and the Owyhee Irrigation District, which contracts are on file in the office of the Construction Engineer, Bureau of Reclamation, Boise, Idaho, where they may be examined.

21. Water rental and other charges.—Water rental charges shall be payable as follows:

(a) Each successful applicant for any of the farm units described above in the Gem Irrigation District, and each prospective entryman on any other farm unit covered by this notice which may become subject to homestead entry in that district, shall, before making homestead entry, pay to the United States one dollar ($1.00) for each irrigable acre in the farm unit, as an advance initial payment for the rental of water for the season of 1939. Such payment will entitle him to two and six-sevenths (2⅔) acre feet of water per irrigable acre. UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

CONDITION OF THE APPORTIONMENT AT CLOSE OF BUSINESS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1938

Important.—Although the apportioned classified civil service is by law located only in Washington, D. C., it nevertheless includes only about half of the Federal Civilian positions in the District of Columbia. Positions in local post offices, customs districts, and other field services outside of the District of Columbia which are subject to the Civil Service Act are filled almost wholly by persons who are local residents of the general community in which the vacancies exist. It should be noted and understood that so long as a person occupies, by original appointment, a position in the apportioned service, the charge for his appointment continues to run against his State of original residence. Certifications of eligibles are first made from States which are in arrears.

[Special Order 401-A-11]

AMERICAN AIRLINES, INC., STOP AT SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

At a session of the Civil Aeronautics Authority held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 5th day of December 1938.

The Post Office Department having approved certain schedules of American Airlines, Inc., which provide that the aircraft of such carrier shall make landings at Springfield, Massachusetts, on airmail route A. M. 18 between Boston, Massachusetts, and Newark, New Jersey, with various other intermediate stops, said American Airlines, Inc., having requested an exemption from the provisions of section 401 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 with respect to such schedules, and it appearing to the Authority:

1. That the original airmail contract dated May 9, 1934, between the Post Office Department and American Airlines, Inc., as amended on October 11, 1934, provided that airmail route A. M. 18 flown by such air carrier should include a stop at Springfield, Massachusetts, and that thereafter said air carrier rendered service to Springfield until on or about June 3, 1935, at which time the Bureau of Air Commerce determined that the airport used at Springfield by such air carrier was unsafe for aircraft of the size and character flown by such air carrier; and

2. That since the date last mentioned the aircraft of said air carrier flying between Newark, New Jersey, and Boston, Massachusetts, by way of New Haven and Hartford, Connecticut, and Providence, Rhode Island, have omitted the stop at Springfield; and

3. That no substantial improvements have been made in the airport at Springfield, Massachusetts, but that the Westfield Municipal Airport at Westfield, Massachusetts, which is approximately ten miles distant from Springfield, has been so improved that the aircraft of said air carrier can use it with safety; and that said airport can thus be used advantageously to serve Springfield as well as Westfield; and

4. That Airline Feeder System, Inc., has heretofore engaged in the air transportation of passengers and express between Westfield, Massachusetts, and Newark, New Jersey, with various intermediate stops, but that the route of such air carrier does not extend beyond such terminal points, and that at the present time it is operating only one round-trip schedule per week between such points, and

The Administrative Committee consists of the Archivist or Acting Archivist, an officer of the Department of Justice designated by the Attorney General, and the Public Printer or Acting Public Printer.

The daily issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, for $1 per month or $10 per year; single copies 10 cents each; payable in advance. Remit by money order payable to Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

5. That American Airlines, Inc., filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under section 401 (e) of the Act, by which it requests, among other things, a right to stop at Springfield, Massachusetts, on the route aforesaid, which application has not yet been passed upon by the Authority; and

6. That it is in the public interest that Springfield, Massachusetts, shall have, as nearly as possible, direct passenger and express service, as well as mail service, from that city to Boston, Massachusetts, and Newark, New Jersey, and other intermediate cities pending the determination of the Authority on the application aforesaid, or pending the filing by American Airlines, Inc., within a reasonable time, of such other applications as may prove necessary in that connection, and the final determination of the Authority on such applications; and

7. That the enforcement of the provisions of section 401 (a), with respect to such service to Springfield, Massachusetts, during the time while such applications as aforesaid are under consideration by this Authority would be an undue burden upon American Airlines, Inc., by reason of the unusual circumstances affecting the operations of such air carrier, and that such enforcement would not be in the public interest;

Now, therefore, it is ordered that American Airlines, Inc., be exempted from the provisions of section 401 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, in so far as the provisions of that section would otherwise be applicable to an intermediate stop at Springfield, Massachusetts (Westfield Municipal Airport, Westfield, Massachusetts) on the route between Boston, Massachusetts, and Newark, New Jersey, with intermediate stops at Springfield, Massachusetts, Providence, Rhode Island, and New Haven and Hartford, Connecticut, subject, however, to the following conditions:

1. American Airlines, Inc., shall promptly serve, or cause to be served, a copy of this order upon the trustee in bankruptcy, and upon at least one of the managing officers, of Airline Feeder System, Inc. Within three weeks after receiving a copy of such order such trustee and such managing officer shall each have a right to file with the Authority a request for reconsideration of this order and to accompany such request with such memoranda of protests or objections and such statements of facts as such trustee or officer may deem necessary or desirable. A copy of such request, memoranda and statements shall be served on American Airlines, Inc., and proof of such service shall be delivered to the Authority, and American Airlines, Inc., may, within two weeks after such service, serve on the Authority and on Airline Feeder System, Inc., such statements of fact or memoranda in support of this order as it may deem necessary or desirable. Upon consideration of such statements and memoranda the Authority may amend, suspend or revoke this order.

2. Unless thus amended, suspended or revoked, the exemption provided by this order shall continue in effect until the Authority shall have issued to American Airlines, Inc., a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to the application now on file with the Authority under subsection (e) of section 401 of the Act, for the transportation of mail, passengers and property on said route A. M. 18, including a stop at Westfield Municipal Airport, Westfield, Massachusetts, for the purpose of serving Springfield, Massachusetts, or until the Authority shall have entered an order denying such application; Provided, That if the Authority shall determine that such air carrier is entitled to such certificate pursuant to the provisions of subsection (e) of section 401 of the Act, but is not entitled pursuant to that subsection to stop at Westfield Municipal Airport, Westfield, Massachusetts, for the purpose of serving Springfield, Massachusetts, then and in such event the exemption provided by this order shall continue until the thirtieth day following the entry of an order by the Authority evidencing such determination, and if, before the expiration of said thirtieth day, American Airlines, Inc., shall file with the Authority an application requesting an amendment or modification of its certificate of public convenience and necessity to authorize such stop, then and in that case this exemption shall further continue until the Authority shall have issued a certificate of public convenience and necessity or an amendment or modification of the one then held by American Airlines, Inc., authorizing such stop or until the Authority shall have entered an order denying such application, whichever of such events shall first occur.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS AUTHORITY

[Regulation 400-1, as amended 12-7-38]

Acting pursuant to the Authority vested in it by sections 205 (a) and 416 (b) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 and finding that its action is consistent with the provisions of said Act and necessary to carry out such provisions and further finding that the facts and circumstances existing with respect to non-scheduled operations of a commercial character have not changed since the date of the issuance of Regulation 400-1, but that such Regulation requires clarification in certain respects, the Civil Aeronautics Authority hereby amends Regulation 400-1[1] so that hereafter such Regulation shall read as follows:

"(a) Until the authority shall adopt further rules, regulations or orders with respect to such matter, every air carrier which engages solely in non-scheduled operations shall be exempt from the provisions of section 401 and all other provisions of Title IV of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 (except as provided in paragraph (b) of this regulation). Within the meaning of this regulation any operation shall be deemed to be non-scheduled if the air carrier does not hold out to the public by advertisement or otherwise that it will operate one or more airplanes between any designated points regularly or with a reasonable degree of regularity upon which airplane or airplanes it will accept for transportation, for compensation or hire, such members of the public as may apply therefor or such express or other property as the public may offer.

"(b) The exemptions provided by this regulation shall not be applicable to the provisions of subsection (L) of section 401 of the Act or to the reporting requirements of section 407 of the Act; provided, That no provision of any rule, regulation or order that may be adopted by the Authority requiring reports pursuant to section 407 of the Act shall be deemed applicable to any non-scheduled operator unless such rule, regulation or order expressly provides that such provision is to be applicable to air carriers who are exclusively engaged in non-scheduled operations."

A bushel shall be determined by using not less than 2½ cubic feet of ear corn testing not more than 15½ percent in moisture content. A deduction from the number of bushels so computed will be made for moisture content in excess of 15½ percent in accordance with the following schedule:

Moisture content (percent):	Deduction (percent)
16½ to 17½	4
17½ to 18½	6
18½ to 19½	8

(b) Shelled corn.—Loans will be made at the rate of forty-three cents (43¢) per bushel on warehouse receipts representing shelled corn which was produced in the "Southern Noncommercial Corn Area" (listed in section 2 (c) hereof) and which is stored in a warehouse which has executed an agreement with Commodity Credit Corporation. No allowance will be made for freight on shelled corn by Commodity Credit Corporation. If and when any of the pledged shelled corn in the above-mentioned area is shipped by Commodity Credit Corporation an allowance will be made for the reshipping value of any paid freight bills duly registered for transit privileges which are made available for use by Commodity Credit Corporation.

4. Maturity and Interest rate.—Loans will be available from December 1, 1938, to March 31, 1939, inclusive, will mature on August 1, 1939, and will bear interest at the rate of four percent (4%) per annum. Producers must agree to store the pledged corn until October 1, 1939, in the case of farm storage.

5. Farm storage.—The County Agricultural Conservation Committees will supervise the inspection of storage structures, measuring, and sealing the corn by an inspector, and will arrange for moisture testing of samples. Chattel mortgages covering the corn must be executed, and filed in accordance with the applicable State law. Producers may obtain information and assistance from the County Agricultural Conservation Committee in regard to the execution and filing of such chattel mortgages. Where the borrower is a tenant, the expiration date of the lease must be given in section 2 (c) of the chattel mortgage. If the expiration date of the lease is prior to October 1, 1939, the landlord shall execute the Consent for Storage, section 12 of 1938–39 C.C.C. Corn Form A–1. The consent agreement must also be signed by any other party or parties entitled to possession of the farm prior to October 1, 1939. Each producer must agree to shell and deliver the mortgaged corn to a shipping point designated by the holder of the mortgage which is reasonably convenient to the producer.

6. Execution and filing of chattel mortgages.—All chattel mortgages must be executed and filed for record in accordance with the following requirements. The mortgage forms have been prepared in triplicate and the following instructions provide for filing the original or a duplicate copy of the mortgage. The receipt of the recorder, register of deeds, county clerk, auditor, or similar county official, must be completed and executed on the original mortgage or the duplicate copy thereof tendered to Commodity Credit Corporation to indicate the date of filing or recordation. In those instances in which chattel mortgages must be filed in both the county in which the mortgagor resides and in the county in which the corn is stored, the triplicate copy of the mortgage must be used for this purpose and an additional receipt from the county official typed or stamped on the copy of the mortgage tendered to Commodity Credit Corporation. Each duplicate copy of a chattel mortgage submitted to Commodity Credit Corporation must have completed thereon the Certification of True Copy by a Notary Public or the recording official. Except where required for filing, the triplicate copy of the mortgage with the duplicate copy of the note should be delivered to the mortgagor. In case the triplicate copy is used for filing, the mortgagor should be given a copy of the mortgage which may be completed on any one copy of the form. A separate mortgage must be completed for corn stored on each quarter section.

All documents must be carefully examined as to compliance with the following requirements:

Colorado.—The mortgage must be executed and acknowledged by the mortgagor. The original or a duplicate copy thereof must be filed for record in the office of the clerk and recorder of the county in which the corn is stored.

The original or a duplicate copy of the mortgage must be filed for record within 10 days from the date of execution in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county in which the corn is stored. Commodity Credit Corporation will not accept any notes secured by a mortgage filed for record later than 10 days from the date of the note and mortgage. In acknowledging the chattel mortgage, the spouse should be examined apart from her husband and the acknowledgment form should contain this additional language:

"and said_____,
being at the same time privately examined by me apart from her husband acknowledged that she executed the said chattel mortgage willingly, without compulsion or threats, and free of her husband's displeasure."

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

CHAPTER II.—GENERAL SUBSTANTIVE RULES

PART 23. TECHNICAL REGULATIONS

The Commission amended the following section to read:

SEC. 23.12 Classification of emissions; Communication band width. (a) Emissions shall be classified according to the purpose for which they are used; assuming their modulation or their possible keying to be only in amplitude, as follows:

1. Continuous waves:

Type A0.—Waves the successive oscillations of which are identical under fixed conditions.[1]

Type A1.—Telegraphy on pure continuous waves. A continuous wave which is keyed according to a telegraph code.

Type A2.—Modulated telegraphy. A carrier wave modulated at one or more audible frequencies; the audible frequency or frequencies or their combination with the carrier wave being keyed according to a telegraph code.

Type A3.—Telephony. Waves resulting from the modulation of a carrier wave by frequencies corresponding to the voice, to music or to other sounds.

Type A4.—Facsimile. Waves resulting from the modulation of a carrier wave by frequencies produced at the time of the scanning of a fixed image with a view to its reproduction in a permanent form.

Type A5.—Television. Waves resulting from the modulation of a carrier wave by frequencies produced at the time of the scanning of fixed or moving objects.[2]

2. Damped waves:

Type B.—Waves composed of successive series of oscillations the amplitude of which, after attaining a maximum, decreases gradually, to wave trains being keyed according to a telegraph code.

(b) Authorization for other types of emission may be issued and will be termed "special" in the instrument of authorization. When special emissions are authorized they will be described and limited as to band width by the instrument of authorization.

[2] "Objects" is used here in the optical sense of the word.

(c) The frequency bands authorized to be occupied by the above types of emission are as shown in the following table:

Type of transmission	Total width of the band in cycles. For transmission with two sidebands
A–0 Continuous waves, no signaling.
A–1 Telegraphy, pure, continuous wave: Morse code, Baudot code, Stop-start printer.	Numerically equal to the telegraph speed in bauds for fundamental frequency, 3 times this width for the 3rd harmonic, etc. (For a code of 8 time elements (dots or blanks) per letter and 48 time elements per word, the speed in bauds shall be equal to 0.8 times the speed in words per minute.)
Scanning-type printer	300–1,000, for speeds of 50 words per minute, according to the conditions of operation and the number of lines scanned (for example, 7 or 12). Harmonics are not considered in the above values.
A–2 Telegraphy modulated to musical frequency.	Figures appearing under A–1, plus twice the highest modulation frequency.
A–3 Commercial telephony	Twice the number indicated by the CCIF Opinions (about 6,000 to 8,000).[1]
Broadcasting	15,000 to 20,000.
A–4 Facsimile	Approximately the ratio between the number of picture components[2] to be transmitted and the number of seconds necessary for the transmission.
A–5 Television	Approximately the product of the number of picture components[2] multiplied by the number of pictures transmitted per second.

[1] It is recognized that the band-width may be wider for multiple-channel radiotelephony and secret radiotelephony.

[2] Two picture components, one black and one white, constitute a cycle; thus, the modulation frequency equals one-half the number of components transmitted per second.

(d) The band width described herein is the maximum permissible for the type of emission indicated. In no case shall the band width emitted exceed the frequency separation band width as shown in the table of frequency allocations.[1] (Sec. 4 (i), 48 Stat. 1066; 47 U. S. C. 154 (i) [Rule 225, F. C. C., Dec. 5, 1938]

CHAPTER VIII. RULES GOVERNING SHIP RADIO SERVICES

PART 80. IN GENERAL

The Commission amended the following section to read:

SEC. 80.44 Damped waves. (a) Licenses, or any other instruments of authorization for the operation of any radio station using, or proposing to use, transmitting apparatus employing damped-wave emission, will not be issued after December 31, 1939.

(b) Prior to January 1, 1940, a license will be issued for the operation of any ship radio station using, or proposing to use, transmitting apparatus employing damped-wave emission only if such apparatus was installed on board the ship prior to January 1, 1930. Subject to this limitation a license will be issued authorizing the operation of damped-wave transmitting apparatus aboard a ship station on the following frequencies:

375 kilocycles, 410 kilocycles, 425 kilocycles, 454 kilocycles, and 500 kilocycles, provided, however, that after September 1, 1939 no license will authorize the operation of a damped-wave transmitter on 454 kilocycles and, except for use on the Great Lakes, on 410 kilocycles.

(c) Nothing contained in the rules and regulations of the Commission shall prevent a ship station in distress from using any means available to it for drawing attention, signaling its position and obtaining help.

(d) These regulations supersede any authorization contained in existing ship station licenses issued by the Commission that may be in conflict therewith. (Sec. 4 (i), 48 Stat. 1066; 47 U. S. C. 154 (i)) [Rule 293, F. C. C., Dec. 5, 1938]

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

SUBSTITUTED FREIGHT SERVICE

ORDER IN THE MATTER OF SUBSTITUTION OF MOTOR VEHICLE SERVICE FOR RAIL OR WATER SERVICE AND OF RAIL OR WATER SERVICE FOR MOTOR VEHICLE SERVICE

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of December, A. D. 1938.

It appearing, That outstanding special permission No. 170824, R-M No. 1370, of October 11, 1938, authorizes rail and water carriers subject to Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act to publish in their tariffs, for interstate application, the following rule:

(a) Substitution of Highway Vehicle Service for Rail Service Between Stations Served by Rail Carriers

Wherever as to less-than-carload freight an originating or delivering railroad, party to this tariff, substitutes at its option highway vehicle service for actually available service by railroad between stations on its line, the rates and charges as published in this tariff, or as amended, will apply to the through service; the highway vehicle service in all cases to be limited to the most practicable highway routing nearest to the line of railroad making the substitution.

(b) Substitution of Highway Vehicle Service for Water Service Between Ports Served by Water Carriers Named in Note 1

Wherever as to less-than-carload freight a water carrier named in Note 1 below, substitutes at its option highway vehicle service for actually available service by its boats between ports on its line, the rates and charges as published in this tariff, or as amended, will apply to the through service; the highway vehicle service in all cases to be limited to the most practicable highway routing nearest to the route of the water carrier between the ports where the substitution is made.

It is further appearing, That certain other outstanding special permissions authorize certain common carriers by motor vehicle subject to Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act to publish in their tariffs, for interstate application, the following rule:

Substitution of Rail Service for Motor Carrier Service Between Points Served by Motor Carriers

(Applicable only on interstate traffic and limited to apply between points where there is actually available service by the motor carrier which substitutes rail for motor service.)

The rates and charges published in this tariff, as amended, will apply for the through joint service whenever any originating or delivering motor carrier, party hereto, substitutes at its option rail service for its own road-haul motor vehicle service. In all cases rail service may be substituted for motor carrier service only between points from and to which the motor carrier substituting rail for motor carrier service lawfully operates.

It further appearing, That certain common and contract carriers by motor vehicle substitute rail service for motor carrier service without providing for such substitution of service in their lawfully filed tariffs or schedules of minimum charges.

And it further appearing, That said special permissions provide that the tariff rules published pursuant thereto shall bear an expiration date "with December 6, 1939, unless sooner canceled" and that they are not to be construed as expressing any opinion as to the lawfulness of said rules; and the Commission having under consideration the matters and things involved in said special permissions and the practices of respondents herein:

It is ordered, That an investigation be, and it is hereby, instituted by the Commission, upon its own motion, into the lawfulness of the tariff rules published pursuant to said special permissions and the lawfulness of the practices of respondents herein in connection with the substitution of motor vehicle service for rail or water service and of rail or water service for motor vehicle service, with a view to making such decisions and orders in the premises as the Commission may find necessary or appropriate.

It is further ordered, That all common carriers of property by rail and by water subject to Part I of the Interstate Commerce Act and all common and contract carriers of property by motor vehicle subject to Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act be, and they are hereby, made respondents to this proceeding.

It is further ordered, That said respondents be, and they are hereby, directed to respond in writing on or before February 10, 1939, to the questions set forth in the Appendix attached hereto and made a part hereof, showing cause, if any cause there be, why the Commission should not find that the said special permissions should be rescinded and that the said practices are unlawful.

It is further ordered, That responses filed in compliance with the preceding paragraph hereof shall conform to Rule XXI of the Rules of Practice, and twenty copies of each of such responses shall be furnished for the use of the Commission.

And it is further ordered, That a copy of this order be served upon each of said respondents and that notice of this proceeding be given to the public by depositing a copy of this order in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C.

By the Commission.

APPENDIX

Questionnaire To Be Responded to in Writing On or Before February 10, 1939, by Respondents in the Above Entitled Proceeding

1. Should not special permissions and each of them which are referred to in the order of which this Appendix is a part, be rescinded?

2. Should not the tariff rules permitted to be published under the authority of said special permission be condemned as amounting to a declaration by the carriers that at their option they will breach their contract with the shipper for a particular form of transportation and that, although not furnishing such transportation, they will assess their tariff charge applicable to such transportation?

3. Why, when such through transportation is performed in fact partly by a common carrier subject to Part I, and partly by a common carrier subject to Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, should it not be performed only under duly filed joint rates in accordance with the provisions of Section 216 (c) of Part II of the Act and of Rule 31 of the Commission's Tariff Circular No. 20, as amended?

4. Why, when such through transportation is performed in fact partly by a common carrier subject to Part I and partly by a contract carrier by motor vehicle subject to Part II of the Act, should it not be prohibited as being the performance of a common carrier service and thus beyond the authority of the contract carrier to perform under its operating authority?

5. Why, if it be assumed that a contract carrier by motor vehicle may perform a part of such through common carrier service as the agent of a common carrier subject to Part I of the Act, should not the latter carrier be held to be engaging, as principal, in common carrier transportation by motor vehicle?

6. Why should not the operating authority of a common or contract carrier by motor vehicle who substitutes rail service for its own road-haul motor vehicle service in lieu of the latter, be revoked in whole or in part, whether the motor carrier is operating

(a) under a certificate or permit duly issued to it by the Commission, or

(b) under the provisions of Section 206 (a) or 209 (a) of the Motor Carrier Act which permit the continuance of lawful operations pending the determination of an application for operating authority duly filed with the Commission?

(a) That the approval herein granted shall not become final until the court having jurisdiction over the 77B proceedings shall have approved the transactions proposed by said application;

(b) That the maximum amount to be used for the purposes of this application shall be $9,000,000, and that the privilege of tendering, within the limit of such maximum amount, shall be extended to all holders of claims of the same rank as the debentures, as well as to holders of debentures (except as stated in (g) below), at the same price and under the same conditions; without prejudice, however, to the right of the Commission to authorize, by further order and on the basis of the record in this proceeding, the use of an additional amount not to exceed $3,000,000 for such purposes;

(c) That after the 77B court authorizes the soliciting of tenders, the trustee shall mail to every known holder of debentures and claims a letter advising him of the privilege of tendering, and shall make or cause to be made to the debenture holders and claimants prior to or simultaneously with the sending of such letters, such disclosures as may be necessary or desirable for the purpose of enabling the holders of debentures and claimants to determine whether or not to tender, including data designed to show the effect of the contemplated acquisitions upon the creditors who do not tender and upon stockholders of the debtor: Provided, however, that the trustee shall submit to the Commission at least three days prior to the inviting of tenders, true copies of the letter inviting such tenders, and within said period the Commission reserves the right to order the trustee to make such changes as it considers necessary in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers;

(d) That no tenders shall be accepted after fifteen days from the date of mailing the letter inviting tenders, and the letter shall so provide;

(e) That the price at which debentures, with accrued interest thereon, and claims, with interest thereon, shall be tendered and purchased shall be 70% of the principal amount;

(f) That if the price of 70 is not paid on any debenture or claim, the tender of which has been accepted, within 30 days after the closing date for tenders, the amount payable therefor in accordance with the terms of the call for tender, shall bear interest from such closing date at 3%;

[1] 3 F. R. 2434, 2880 DI.

(g) That in the event more debentures and claims shall be tendered than the amount available for that purpose (in accordance with (b) above) will suffice to purchase, each lot tendered shall first be purchased up to $5,000 principal amount of the debentures and/or claims tendered, and purchases of any remaining amounts shall, to the extent practicable, be made pro rata: Provided, however, that no tender of debentures by Atlas Corporation or any subsidiary thereof shall be accepted until all other tenders of claims and debentures made within the fifteen day period within which tenders may be made have been accepted;

(h) That any debenture holder may tender all or any part of the debentures held by him, but tenders in more than one lot of debentures having the same beneficial owner shall not be permitted;

(i) That if tenders are received from holders of debentures or claims, to which any complete or partial defense has been established or is pending undetermined in legal proceedings, then the sum payable to such debenture holders or claimants shall be placed in escrow pursuant to an agreement which shall provide for payment to such debenture holders or claimants only when (1) such proceeding questioning his rights shall have been decided by the proper court, and all rights of review shall have been waived or terminated, or (2) the dispute settled by a compromise entered into by the debenture holder or claimant and the trustee for the estate of the debtor, and satisfactory to the 77B court. If the proceeding or dispute questioning the rights of the debenture holder or claimant shall be successful, and his claim ultimately allowed by the court be in a sum less than principal and accrued interest, the sum payable to such debenture holder or claimant on tender shall be reduced proportionately and the balance of the sum shall be released from escrow. Any debenture or claim placed in escrow shall not draw interest during the escrow period except as follows:

(i) If it is ultimately determined that the debenture or claim is entitled to share on the same basis with other debentures or claims tendered, the amount due on such debenture or claim at the tender price shall bear interest in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (f) above;

(ii) If it is ultimately determined that the debenture or claim is not entitled to share on the same basis with other debentures or claims tendered, the right of such debenture or claim to interest shall be determined in accordance with law as if it had not been placed in escrow;

(j) That the trustee shall submit to the Commission the name or names of the proposed depository with whom tenders shall be lodged, which shall be the depositary for that purpose unless the Commission within three days after the receipt of this information informs the trustee that depositary is unacceptable;

(k) That the applicant and intervening applicant shall file a statement with the 77B court waiving all rights, if any, to vote, or cause to be voted the debentures or claims acquired in accordance with this order in respect to any plan of reorganization of the debtor;

(l) That the Commission reserve jurisdiction for the purpose of passing upon the matters by the foregoing conditions required to be passed upon, and for the purposes of passing upon any other questions subject to its jurisdiction that may arise in connection with the tenders or acquisitions pursuant thereto.

It is further ordered, That the record in the second application, as amended (File No. 46-70) be, and the same hereby is, reopened to permit the applicant and the intervening applicant to supply by amendment such details as are necessary to enable the Commission to make findings under Section 10 of the Act.

By the Commission.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD.

NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING CONCERNING EFFECT OF CHANGE IN OREGON UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION LAW

Whereas, on the 23d day of December, 1935, the Social Security Board, pursuant to the provisions of section 903 (a) of the Social Security Act, approved the unemployment compensation law of the State of Oregon (Sp. Sess. Laws, 1935, Ch. 70, as amended Laws of 1937, Chs. 364, 398); and

Whereas, section 903 (b) of the Social Security Act provides that:

On December 31 in each taxable year the Board shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury each State whose law it has previously approved, except that it shall not certify any State which after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to the State agency, the Board finds has changed its law so that it no longer contains the provisions specified in subsection (a) or has with respect to such taxable year failed to comply substantially with any such provision;

and

Whereas, on the 8th day of November, 1938, the State of Oregon enacted into law an act, known as "An Act Regulating Picketing and Boycotting by Labor Groups and Organizations," which act provides in part as follows:

Whenever in any statute or other law of this State the term "labor dispute" is used, such term is hereby defined for all purposes to mean and include only an actual bona fide controversy in which the disputants stand in proximate relation of employer and the majority of his or its employees and which directly concerns matters directly pertaining to wages, hours, or working conditions of the employees of the particular employer directly involved in such controversy. Disputes between organizations or groups of employees as to which shall act for the employees in dealing with the employer shall not be classed as labor disputes, and the refusal of an employer to deal with either party to any such jurisdictional controversy shall not operate to make the dispute a labor dispute within the meaning of this act;

Whereas, the above-quoted provisions of said act appear to change the provisions of the unemployment compensation law of the State of Oregon, as previously approved by the Board;

Now, therefore, Pursuant to the provisions of section 903 (b) of the Social Security Act, notice is hereby given that an opportunity for hearing will be provided to the State agency, to wit, the Oregon Industrial Commission, and to other interested persons and organizations, beginning at ten o'clock on the 19th day of December, 1938, at the offices of the Social Security Board, 1712 G Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., on the question of whether or not the State of Oregon has so changed its law that it no longer contains the provisions specified in subsection (a) of section 903 of the Social Security Act, and that upon the basis of the evidence adduced at said hearing and such other evidence as may be presented to the Board by the State and other interested persons and organizations the Board will determine whether or not the unemployment compensation law of the State of Oregon may be certified to the Secretary of the Treasury, as provided in subsection (b) of section 903 of the Social Security Act.

Any persons other than representatives of the State of Oregon who desire to appear in person and be heard at said hearing, shall file with the Board, on or before December 16, 1938, a written or telegraphic request for an opportunity to be heard, setting forth his name, and the persons or groups, if any, whom he represents.

At a session of the National Bituminous Coal Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C. on the 9th day of December, 1938.

The Commission, on the 25th day of May, 1938,[1] having instituted the above-entitled proceedings for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of Subsections (a) and (b) of Section 4, Part II, of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937,[2] and having on the 30th day of July, 1938, by its Order No. 244,[3] directed the District Boards for Districts Nos. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 to propose reasonable rules and regulations incidental to the sale and distribution of coal by the code members of the respective districts in conformity with the provisions of Section 4, II (a) of the Act,

And each of the aforesaid District Boards having submitted such proposed rules and regulations together with the reasons upon which they were predicated, to the Commission in accordance with the provisions of said Order No. 244, the Commission did on the 29th day of August, 1938[4] direct that a hearing on said proposals be held in the Hearing Room of the Commission in the Albany Hotel in the City of Denver, Colorado at 10:00 A. M. commencing on the 14th day of September, 1938, for the purpose of receiving evidence to enable the Commission to approve such proposed marketing rules and regulations, or to enable the Commission to modify the proposed marketing rules and regulations as provided in Section 4, II, (a) of the Act in order that such proposed marketing rules and regulations, as approved or modified, as the case may be, may serve as the basis for the coordination provided by Section 4, II, (b) of the Act, and

After reasonable public notice having been given thereof, said hearing was commenced at the time and place stated and concluded on the 22nd day of September, 1938, at which time all interested parties were afforded a full opportunity to be heard, and the evidence being adduced, the Commission being fully advised in the premises has made Findings of Fact and Conclusions[5] relating to the proposals of each of said districts, which Findings of Fact and Conclusions are on file at the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D. C., and which are by this reference incorporated herein and made a part hereof, and

The Commission having determined that the rules and regulations as set forth in the said Findings of Fact and Conclusions for each of the respective districts are reasonable and are not inconsistent with the requirements of Section 4 of the Act, and do conform to the standards of fair competition established by Section 4 of the Act, and form a proper basis for the coordination provided for by Section 4, II, (b) of the Act,

Now, therefore, Pursuant to the provisions of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, the National Bituminous Coal Commission hereby approves, for the purpose of coordination, the "Rules and Regulations incidental to the sale and distribution of coal by code members", as the same are set forth in the "Findings of Fact and Conclusions" by the Commission for each of Districts Nos. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 filed this date in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D. C.

The Secretary of the Commission is hereby directed to cause a copy of this Order to be published forthwith in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and to cause a copy hereof, together with the "Findings of Fact and Conclusions" of the Commission, above referred to, to be mailed to the Consumers' Counsel, to the Secretary of each District Board, to all parties who have filed their appearances in the hearing relating to the aforesaid proposals, and to cause copies thereof to be made available for inspection by interested parties at the office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D. C., and at the office of each Statistical Bureau of the Commission.

By order of the Commission.
Dated this 9th day of December, 1938.

Secretary.

[Docket No. 15]

MINIMUM PRICES AND MARKETING RULES AND REGULATIONS AS PROPOSED AND SUBMITTED TO THE NATIONAL BITUMINOUS COAL COMMISSION BY THE DISTRICT BOARDS FOR DISTRICTS 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 AND 23 WITHIN MINIMUM PRICE AREAS 6, 7, 9 AND 10

FINDINGS AS TO THE FACTS AND CONCLUSIONS OF THE COMMISSION

Pursuant to the provisions of an Act of Congress approved April 26, 1937, entitled "An Act to regulate interstate commerce in bituminous coal and for other purposes" (Public No. 48, 75th Congress, 1st Sess.), known as the "Bituminous Coal Act of 1937,"[1] and hereinafter referred to as the "Act," the National Bituminous Coal Commission, hereinafter referred to as the "Commission," under and by virtue of the authority granted in Section 4–II (a) of the Act, on the 30th day of July, 1938, issued its Orders No. 244 and No. 245 ordering and directing the District Boards for Districts 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10, to propose to the Commission reasonable rules and regulations incidental to the sale and distribution of coal by code members within said districts and minimum prices of kinds, qualities and sizes of coal produced in said districts, said proposals to be submitted to the Commission on or before the 24th day of August, 1938.

Said orders were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER under date of August 2, 1938,[2] and copies of said orders were mailed to each of the code members within said districts and to each of the Secretaries of the District Boards within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10, as directed in said orders.

Order No. 245 directed each of the aforesaid District Boards to propose to the Commission minimum prices f. o. b. transportation facilities at the mines for kinds, qualities and sizes of coal produced by the code members in their respective districts, and to propose such classification of coal and price variations as to mines, consuming market areas, values as to uses and seasonal demand, as might be deemed proper and within the authority conferred by the Act. This order further provided that each district board should transmit its schedule of proposed minimum prices to each code member in the district before filing such schedule with the Commission in order to give code members an opportunity of protesting any proposed price classification.

Said Order No. 245 further directed that the minimum prices proposed by the several district boards should conform to the following standards therefor set out in Section 4–II (a) of the Act:

(a) The proposed minimum prices for each of the aforesaid districts shall yield a return, per net ton, for such districts, equal as nearly as may be to the weighted average of the total costs, per net ton, of the tonnage of the minimum price area within which such district is located, as said weighted average heretofore has been determined by orders of the Commission dated July 30, 1938, and August 1, 1938, in this proceeding.

(b) They shall reflect, as nearly as possible, the relative market value of the various kinds, qualities and sizes of coal to which they are applicable.

(c) They shall be just and equitable as between producers within the district.

(d) They shall be just and equitable as between producers within the district, for any kind, quality or size of coal for shipment into any consuming market area.

(e) They shall not permit dumping.

Said Order No. 245 further directed that each schedule of proposed prices submitted by the district boards should include the following clause:

"NOTE.—The prices in this schedule are not the final minimum prices that will be established on coal for shipment by code members within this district into consuming markets of this district. In the ultimate establishment of the effective minimum prices, pursuant to subsection (b) of Part II, Section 4 of the Act, the minimum prices as proposed in such schedule, or as modified, are subject to such increase or decrease, respectively, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of Part II, Section 4 of the Act."

Order No. 244 directed each of the aforesaid District Boards to propose to the Commission reasonable rules and regulations incidental to the sale and distribution of coals by the code members of their respective districts, such rules and regulations not to be inconsistent with the requirements of Section 4 of the Act and to conform to the standards of fair competition therein established. Said order directed the District Boards to transmit such proposed rules and regulations to all code members in order that they would be afforded an opportunity of studying such proposed rules and regulations and of protesting to any of such proposals and to suggest whatever added rules or regulations such code members deemed necessary to properly effectuate the purposes of Section 4 of the Act.

Upon receipt of said orders by the several District Boards within Minimum

Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10, said District Boards, as directed in said orders, proceeded to propose such minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations as in their judgment conformed to the requirements of said orders. Schedules evidencing such proposals were prepared by said District Boards and copies of same were transmitted to each code member within the respective districts in order that such code members, after due consideration of such schedules, might present to their respective District Boards whatever objections, if any, they might have to said schedules, and in order that the respective District Boards, after due consideration of such objections, if any, might revise such schedules in such manner as, in their judgment, would better conform to the requirements of Orders No. 244 and No. 245, as issued by the Commission, and to the requirements of Section 4–II (a) of the Act.

The schedules of minimum prices, as revised, together with the data upon which same were computed and the schedules of marketing rules and regulations, together with the reasons supporting same, were transmitted to the Commission as directed in said orders.

Subsequent to the receipt of said schedules, by the Commission, the Commission, on the 29th day of August, 1938,[3] issued its order giving notice to all interested parties of a hearing to be held upon the proposals of minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations as proposed and submitted to the Commission by the District Boards for Districts 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23, said hearing to be held on the 14th day of September, 1938, at the Albany Hotel, Denver, Colorado. As expressed in the face of said order, said hearing was to be held for the purpose of receiving evidence relating to the aforementioned proposals of minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations in order to enable the Commission to approve or modify such proposals to the end that such proposals, as approved or modified, may serve as the basis for the coordination of same as provided in Section 4–II (b) of the Act.

Said order giving notice of said hearing directed the Secretary of the Commission to cause copies of said proposals to be made available for inspection by interested parties at the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and at the office of each Statistical Bureau of the Commission within each of the districts within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10; to cause a copy of said order to be published forthwith in the FEDERAL REGISTER and in two consecutive issues of a newspaper having a general circulation in each of the districts within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10; to cause a copy of said order to be mailed to each of the code members within said districts, to the office of Consumers' Counsel, Washington, D. C., and to the Secretaries of each of the District Boards for the districts within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10. A copy of said order was directed to be made available for inspection at each of the Statistical Bureaus of the Commission within said districts.

The aforesaid directions in said order were complied with. A copy of said order was made available for inspection at the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and at the office of each of the Statistical Bureaus of the Commission within each of the districts within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10. A copy of said order was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of date, August 31, 1938, and copies of said order were mailed to each of the code members within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10; to the office of Consumers' Counsel, Washington, D. C.; to each of the Secretaries of the District Boards within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10. A copy of said order was published two times consecutively in the Denver Post, Denver, Colorado; the Daily Sentinel, City of Grand Junction, Colorado; the Albuquerque Journal, Albuquerque, New Mexico; the Casper-Herald Tribune, Casper, Wyoming; the Great Falls Daily Tribune, Great Falls, Montana; and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Seattle, Washington, newspapers having a general circulation in each of the respective districts within Minimum Price Areas 6, 7, 9 and 10.

Due and reasonable notice of said hearing having been given all interested parties, said cause came on for hearing before the Commission on the 14th day of September, 1938, at the hour and place as specified in said order, to wit, at 10 A. M., at the Albany Hotel, Denver, Colorado; and, after said hearing had been duly and formally opened and all interested parties desiring to appear had entered their appearances in said cause, the Commission proceeded to receive evidence relative to the proposals of minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations as proposed to the Commission by the District Boards for Districts 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23. The hearing concluded on the twenty-second day of September, 1938.

At said hearing all interested parties were afforded full opportunity to be heard on the proposals of minimum prices and marketing rules and regulations which had been submitted by each of the aforesaid District Boards and each of said District Boards adduced evidence relating to such proposals and placed into this record as exhibits all of the data which such Boards had used as a basis for such proposals and each of the Boards by competent witnesses testified as to the factors which the Boards had considered in determining the marketing rules and regulations and the price relationships which had been proposed by the Boards in their respective schedules.

Each of the schedules of proposed minimum prices offered in evidence by the District Boards contained the clause previously quoted from Order No. 245 and thereby clearly indicated that the District Boards were proposing minimum prices free on board transportation facilities at the mines for kinds, qualities, and sizes of coal produced in each of the aforesaid districts without taking into consideration those additional factors and standards which are set forth in Section 4, Part II, Subsection (b) of the Act. The minimum prices so proposed as hereafter approved or modified will serve as a basis for coordination as provided in said Section 4–II (b) of the Act. Such proposals of minimum prices do not take into account differences in transportation methods and charges and their effect upon a reasonable opportunity to compete on a fair basis, nor competitive relationships between coal and other forms of fuel and energy as such matters constitute a part of the coordination of minimum prices and are properly a subject of consideration under said Section 4–II (b) of the Act.

The evidence adduced at said hearing having been duly reported and filed with the Commission, the Commission, after due consideration of same and being fully advised in the premises, makes this its findings as to the facts and its conclusions drawn therefrom:

MINIMUM PRICE AREA NO. 6—DISTRICT NO. 16

PROPOSED MINIMUM PRICES

In compliance with Order 245 of the Commission, directing the District Board for District 16 to propose minimum prices, free on board transportation facilities at the mines for kinds, qualities and sizes of coal produced in said District, and classification of coal and price variations as to mines, consuming market areas, values as to uses and seasonal demand, the District Board for District 16 held a number of meetings for the purpose of properly classifying the coals of each mine in relation to the coals of other mines in the District. As a result of said meetings a schedule of proposed minimum prices was drafted by said District Board and forwarded to each of the Code Members within District 16. Accompanying said schedule was a letter directed to the Code Members within District 16 informing such Code Members that they would be allowed a period of seven (7) days in which to file objections to said schedule of proposed minimum prices.

On August 20, 1938, a meeting was held by the District Board for District 16 for the purpose of considering protests to said schedule.

One complaint from El Paso County requested that the schedule provide a price for 3" x 2½" nut coal for the reason that mines in that County had built up a considerable business in such coal. The District Board agreed that such request was well taken and the tentative schedule of proposed minimum prices was amended accordingly. This amendment appears in Size Group No. 7 in the amended Schedule.

A request from one operator in the LaSalle Subdistrict, asking that provision be made in the Schedule for 1½" lump in said Subdistrict, same to take a lower price than 2½" lump, was denied.

Susequent to said meeting certain revisions were made in the classification schedule. Size Group No. 7 in the amended schedule was adopted as heretofore stated and two mines in Jackson County were reclassified as shown in the amended schedule to bring them more nearly in line with other mines producing coal of a comparable quality.

After said meeting had concluded and all protests and objections to the tentative schedule of proposed minimum prices had been considered and passed upon, a revised schedule of proposed minimum prices to be submitted to the Commission was drafted by the District Board for District 16. Said schedule of proposed minimum prices, together with the data upon which said schedule was computed, was submitted to the Commission and appears in the record as Exhibit No. 145.

In the preparation of the schedule of proposed minimum prices as submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16, twenty-one meetings of the District Board were held. In addition to numerous informal committee meetings, one member meeting and thirteen stated committee meetings were also held.

The schedule of proposed minimum prices as amended and finally submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16 was approved by the District Board and a copy thereof, together with the amendments thereto was transmitted to each of the Code Members within the district.

Testimony in support of minimum prices proposed by District Board 16 was adduced by two expert witnesses; one a statistician employed by the Board, and the other a member of the Board, both of whom were thoroughly familiar with the marketing and distribution of coals in District 16. Their knowledge of the coals in said District was based upon years of experience in the District. It appears that the members of the District Board of District 16 are all experienced coal men, familiar with producing and marketing coal in said District.

The schedule of proposed minimum prices as submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16 contains thirteen (13) size groups. These size groups were determined in the following manner: As far back as the year 1904, the mines in what is now known as District 16, with one exception, made only two screen sizes—lump over 2½" screens and slack through 2½" screens. There was considerable demand for straight mine run at that time. The one exception was a newly opened mine which started making a 4" x 2½" nut coal. Through the ensuing years, due to competition, one mine would put in a large lump screen, and others would be forced to follow suit. Eventually 6" x 2½" egg was prepared and has become a most popular size with the domestic consumers. In time, the practice of making pea size was started and the demand for them has steadily grown, especially with the increased use of small stokers. The preparation of these pea sizes resulted in the making of two slack sizes. The sizes shown in the schedule, as amended, were arrived at by including all these various sizes for which a considerable demand has arisen in said District and all of such sizes have a proper place in the schedule.

The District Board for District 16 determined to divide said District into 12 subdistricts, namely: 1—Louisville; 2—Lafayette; 3—Marshall No. 1; 4—Marshall No. 2; 5—Marshall No. 3; 6—Erie; 7—Marshall No. 4; 8—Frederick; 9—El Paso; 10—Jefferson; 11—Jackson, and 12—LaSalle, a particular description of each subdistrict being set forth on pages 5 and 6 of Exhibit 145 to which reference is made.

The boundaries of the Louisville, Lafayette, Erie and Frederick Subdistricts, as determined are the result of long years of marketing experience which has shown that the consuming public would not buy certain of the coals unless a proper price differential exists.

The other subdistricts lie further away from the above four subdistricts, except the four Marshall Subdistricts. The coals mined in them are fairly uniform in relation to each other and their classification and price differentials have been worked out by long marketing experience.

The four Marshall Subdistricts lie within the described boundaries of Louisville and Lafayette Subdistricts. The mines in these Subdistricts are all small truck mines and have intricate marketing problems which require separate classification in order to avoid price exceptions in the price schedule.

The coals produced in District 16 are subbituminous, soft, subject to rapid disintegration in handling and storing. High moisture content causes rapid air slacking after mining and the coals are subject to spontaneous combustion. Such coals consume rapidly under draft and hold fire well, and when once well ignited will not go out until entirely consumed. They are clean burning, have a lower B. t. u. content and tend to disintegrate in fire with considerable loss of heat in the ash.

The coals produced in the Louisville Subdistrict are the best in quality of those produced in Boulder County. The coal is bright, hard and brittle. Lying within the disturbed area, the coals have been cracked in the seam which causes them to break relatively smaller than in other subdistricts.

The coals produced in the Lafayette Subdistrict rank next to Louisville coals. They are bright, fairly hard, break large, some of the seams containing some grey coal. They are popular for domestic and industrial use.

The coals produced in the Marshall Subdistrict No. 1 compare favorably with Subdistriot No. 2—Lafayette, but are grouped separately because of location. The coals are bright, fairly hard, break large and there is some grey coal. The mines in this group are truck mines.

The coals produced in the Marshall Subdistrict No. 2 compare in most respects with Subdistrict No. 1—Louisville, but location and excessive brittleness require separate classification. The mines in this group are truck mines.

The coals produced in the Marshall Subdistrict No. 3 are quite good in quality, but location and other factors require separate classification. The mines in this group are truck mines.

The coals produced in Erie Subdistrict generally have a good appearance, though not so bright as the preceding group. Such coals are firm in structure and break large.

The coals produced in Marshall Subdistrict No. 4 are from truck mines only. The heat content would rank them with Louisville, but slow ignition, appearance, location and other factors require a lower classification.

The coals produced in Frederick Subdistrict rank slightly under Erie coals. They generally carry alkaline discoloration in vertical cracks, and break somewhat smaller than Erie coals, average higher in moisture and lower in heat content and are softer.

The coals produced in El Paso Subdistrict are all quite similar in most respects. The mines lie close to Colorado Springs, their principal market, and compete with other District No. 16 coals only in the Denver market and that to a very limited extent. Their main competition is from District 17 coals, natural gas and other competitive fuels.

The coals produced in Jefferson Subdistrict classify considerably under the Frederick District and are priced accordingly to enable them to compete in the Denver market. Their appearance, slower ignition, lower heat content, and other characteristics of performance require a lower price.

The coals produced in Jackson Subdistrict compete with other District 16 coals to a very limited extent. The two mines in this group are located in Jackson County in north central Colorado, the only rail outlet being north through Wyoming where District 19 coals are predominant.

The coals produced in LaSalle Subdistrict are poor in quality and require a very low price to market. The mines in this subdistrict are entirely truck mines.

The District Board for District 16 established market areas. A geographical description of such areas, together with their assigned numbers, is particularly set forth at pages 13–17, inclusive, of Exhibit 145. These market areas are, with but one exception, exactly the same as promulgated by the Commission in 1937. The one exception is Lyman, Nebraska (143–A). This additional market area was necessary to avoid a price exception in the schedule since a price on slack coal to this one point from only one mine will appear in the final price schedule.

The District Board for District 16 classified the coals of the Code Members within said district. This classification was arrived at in this manner. All Code Members within the district were grouped into subdistricts. Mines with comparable coals in quality, analyses, physical characteristics, characteristics of performance, market acceptability are grouped together to take a common price on each as a rule. These groupings are the result of long marketing experience and were determined by the reaction of the consuming public. The two mines in Jackson County were grouped together by reason of their location being far removed from all the other mines in District 16.

The District Board for District 16 took the Louisville Subdistrict as a base for the reason that such subdistrict had been recognized as the base for many years. The letter "A" appearing in the classification was used to designate the price for each size of coal produced in said subdistrict. Any mine in any subdistrict in the alphabetical list of Code Member mines having the Letter "A" appearing under any size group for that mine will use the Louisville price for that size. This indicates that all mines producing such sizes will take the Louisville subdistrict prices for said sizes.

Long marketing experience has proven that the majority of mines in District 16 can compete on an equal basis on slack coals. This for the reason that most of these sizes are used in industrial plants where the individual characteristics that make price differentials so necessary for domestic use do not materially affect their efficiency.

Exhibit 149 shows the price differentials in cents per ton that apply between the coals in the various subdistricts using the Louisville Subdistrict as the base. This exhibit shows in cents per ton how much under Louisville Subdistrict prices each size will take for each subdistrict or individual mine. Certain mines in certain subdistricts were listed specifically in said Exhibit. Such specific listing is due to the fact that such mines have a price differential on certain sizes which varies from that of the particular subdistrict as a whole. The specific listing was made in order to avoid price exceptions in the schedule. In such cases marketing experience has shown that the sizes in question will not move in satisfactory volume at the subdistrict price for various reasons.

The Black Diamond Mine listed specifically on Exhibit 149 has a price differential on Size Group 2 for the reason that this mine contains considerable grey coal which breaks large and, therefore, occurs mostly in such size group. Such coal is not popular with domestic consumers and its presence in Size Group 2 requires a price differential.

The Morrison and Grant mines as shown by Exhibit 149 have a price differential on size groups 1 to 6, inclusive, due to individual characteristics of these two coals making them less popular with retail dealers and consumers and requiring a differential to enable same to compete.

The Marr and Moore mines (Jackson Subdistrict) are grouped together in one subdistrict but priced differently due to differences in the quality of coal produced by them.

The price differentials were arrived at in this manner. Long marketing experience has shown that a price differential is necessary on most sizes in District 16 to enable the mines in question to market their coals on a fair competitive basis. Many factors, such as appearance, comparative hardness, fracture, comparative rate of ignition, amount of ash, tendency to clinker, heat value, loss of heat in the ash and dustiness, render such differentials necessary. Domestic consumers, as well as retail dealers, also have very distinct ideas of what they prefer in coals and buy accordingly.

The reason for the varying differentials on the different sizes of coal is due to the purpose for which the various sizes are used. Lump and egg coal are largely used for the same purpose, to-wit, domestic heating, and will readily sell at the same price generally. Nut and pea coals are used for small heaters and cook stoves to a large extent. Nut coal will take a somewhat higher price than pea coal on account of its larger size and less fines. Modified pea is largely used in domestic stokers. Its size makes it ideal for that purpose and, having had the fines removed, it will make much less fly ash. Slack coals are largely used for industrial purposes.

Marketing experience over many years has shown that should any size of coal be priced too high, such coal will not move and must be repriced or the making of such size discontinued. Such process in District 16 has continued through many years and price differentials have been changed many times. Domestic consumers in District 16 using the large sizes of coal demand coal as free of fines as possible. This forces the screening out of slack sizes at the mines. Lack of sufficient market for these small sizes has forced the sale of slack at far below cost of production. Increasing use of stokers and of 2½" pea coal has made it possible to bring prices on large and small sizes gradually closer together.

These differentials, with but few exceptions, have existed for several years in District 16. The exceptions referred to are that the rapidly increasing demand for egg coal and the consequent falling off in demand for 6" lump coal has made it necessary to price 6" lump, 2½" lump and 6" x 2½" egg at the same level in most cases. The demand for egg coal makes it necessary to make 6" lump and experience in recent years has proven that the 6" lump will no longer take a premium price as many dealers, as well as consumers, do not want large coal. 2½" lump still continues in good demand largely through small retail dealers whose smaller sales make it impractical to have a car each of lump and egg on hand at the same time due to rapid air slacking. They take their egg coal out of the 2½" lump.

The schedule of proposed minimum prices, as amended, and submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16 contains a schedule of prices for coals for shipment into market areas. This appears at page 11 of Exhibit No. 145. These prices were arrived at in this manner: The present selling prices on Louisville lump, both rail and truck sales, were taken as the base and the weighted average realization on the same was used as the base price using 1937 reported tonnage. The remaining sizes on Louisville coals were priced by deducting the established differentials from the base price on each other size. Next the prices on the various sizes in the Lafayette Subdistrict were determined by subtracting the established differentials from the base Louisville prices and so on in the same manner for each of the other Subdistricts.

As shown on page 12 of Exhibit No. 145, the District Board proposed minimum prices reflecting the relative values of the various kinds, qualities and sizes of coals produced therein when used for railroad locomotive fuel. This exhibit shows that all kinds, qualities and sizes shall take the same price for that use, to wit, $2.57 per net ton f. o. b. transportation facilities at the mines, with the exception of mine run size which, when substituted for prepared sizes for the convenience of the producers, shall be priced at $2.20. The District Board proposed that, except when so substituted, mine run sizes be priced the same as other sizes, to wit, $2.57 when used for locomotive fuel in view of the possibility that improvements might be made in locomotive burning equipment that would cause that size to be of the same value for locomotive fuel use as the prepared sizes. At the present time mine run size is not desirable for locomotive fuel use in this district, however, the railroads in this district, in order to be of service to the producers when they are unable to load prepared sizes have in the past accepted mine run size in lieu of prepared sizes provided the price for such mine run was relatively lower than the price for the prepared sizes. The relative price for such substituted mine run to the prepared sizes was determined by the district board to be $2.20 as compared to $2.57.

As shown in Exhibit 147, pages 16 to 19 inclusive, the minimum prices proposed by the District Board for District No. 16 would yield $2.761 per ton as an average for the production of District No. 16. This realization was arrived at in this manner. The District Board for District No. 16 used the Commission's Form D–1 reports from rail mines which constituted 85.25 per cent of the total production of District 16. In addition to the above reports the monthly reports of the State Coal Mine Inspector for the State of Colorado were used as to truck mine tonnage. The total 1937 production of code members for all mines in District 16, as shown by said reports, was 2,443,790 tons, or 97.26 per cent of the entire production for District 16 in 1937.

Such tonnage was broken down into sizes as to each of the Subdistricts and then applied to the proposed prices for each size. Using the proposed prices for each kind and size, the realization for the entire district was arrived at by multiplying the 1937 tonnage for each size group and kind by its price. After making deductions of 15¢ per ton on coal shipped to the Great Western Sugar Company the realization computed in Exhibit No. 147 for District 16 is $2.761 per ton. The weighted average cost of production of Price Area 6 as determined by the Commission is $2.758. The difference, therefore, between realization computed in Exhibit No. 147 and cost is $.003 per ton.

The District Board for District 16 is composed of members thoroughly experienced in the production and sale of coals in District 16. In the judgment of the District Board and in the opinion of the expert witness for the Board the minimum prices as they appear in the amended schedule conform to all of the requirements of Order 245 of the Commission and to the provisions of Section 4–II (a) of the Act.

And now upon the record in this cause, upon the evidence both documentary and otherwise, and upon the above and foregoing facts found to exist, the Commission finds:

That the schedule of minimum prices, as amended, and submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16 should be corrected and revised in order that same may better conform to Order 245 of the Commission and to the provisions of Section 4–II (a) of the Act, and said schedule is in the following respects modified:

Item 1, on page 3 of the schedule, should be revised to read: "The prices listed herein are in cents per net ton of 2,000 pounds, f. o. b. transportation facilities at the mines."

Item 3, on page 3 of the schedule, should be deleted entirely as same is a matter for the coordination proceedings under Section 4–II (b) of the Act and improperly appears in the schedule of minimum prices proposed under Section 4–II (a) of the Act.

Item 4, on page 3 of the schedule, should be revised to read: "All size designations herein are for round hole screens, or their equivalent. When other types of screens are used, the District Board shall determine the actual size designation of the coal so prepared, with the approval of the Coal Commission."

Item 7, on page 3 of the schedule, should be deleted entirely. This clause is commonly referred to as a so-called "sugar differential." This appears as a matter to be properly considered in coordination proceedings provided for in Section 4–II (b) of the Act and same at this time improperly appears in the schedule. By deleting this clause the realization for District 16 experiences a slight change. The realization is thereby increased from $2.761 to $2.777.

Page 4 of the schedule should be revised by deleting the words in parenthesis (or 1¼") as the maximum bottom size in Size Groups 7 and 8 and the same language in maximum top size in Size Groups 9 and 11 for the reason that such is unnecessary and confusing.

Page 4 of the schedule should be further revised, in that, the note appearing at the bottom of the page should be revised to read: "When any size of coal is sold, in which the maximum top or bottom size exceeds the sizes scheduled, then such coal must be included in the next higher priced group and priced accordingly."

That the District Board for District 16, as directed in Order 245 of the Commission, proposed minimum prices free on board transportation facilities at the mines for kinds, qualities and sizes of coal produced within the district, and classification of coal and price variations of coal as to mines and consuming market areas.

That the District Board for District 16, as directed in Order 245 of the Commission, submitted to the Commission a schedule of such proposed minimum prices, together with the data upon which same were computed, including, but without limitation, the factors considered in determining the price relationships.

That the minimum prices proposed by the District Board for District 16, as herein modified, reflect as nearly as possible, the relative market value of the various kinds, qualities, and sizes of coal produced within the district, are just and equitable as between producers within the district, have due regard to the interests of the consuming public, and do not permit dumping.

That the minimum prices proposed by the District Board for District 16, for any kind, quality or size of coal for shipment into any consuming market area, as herein modified, are just and equitable between producers within the district.

That the minimum prices proposed by the District Board for District 16, as herein modified, yield a return per net ton for the district equal as nearly as may be to the weighted average of the total costs, per net ton, of the tonnage of Minimum Price Area 6, the Price Area in which District 16 is placed under the Act.

That the schedule of proposed minimum prices, as amended, and submitted to the Commission by the District Board for District 16, as amended, corrected, modified, and revised, as hereinabove set forth, conforms to Order 245 of the Commission and to the requirements of Section 4–II (a) of the Act, and as so amended, corrected, modified, and revised, said schedule should be and the same is hereby approved by the Commission to serve as a basis for the coordination provided for in Section 4–II (b) of the Act. A copy of said schedule, as amended, corrected, revised and modified, appears in the Appendix for District 16.

APPENDIX FOR DISTRICT NO. 16

Schedule of Minimum Prices, as Modified and Approved, to Serve as a Basis for Coordination

Note: The prices in this schedule are not the final prices that will be established on coal for shipment by Code Members within this district into consuming markets of this district. In the ultimate establishment of the effective minimum prices, pursuant to subsection (b) of Part II, Section 4 of the Act, the minimum prices in this schedule are subject to such increase or decrease respectively, as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) of Part II, Section 4 of the Act.

F. W. McCULLOUGH,
Secretary.

Minimum Price Area No. 6—District No. 17

PROPOSED MINIMUM PRICES

District Board No. 17 prepared a schedule of proposed minimum prices which was, in its best judgment, a compliance with Commission's Order No. 245. It then transmitted a copy of these proposed prices to each code member within the District. Thirteen protests were received to these proposed prices. Thereafter, the District Board held meetings, at which time the original protests were considered, and such modifications as were deemed proper by the District Board were made, and are now contained in the proposed schedule. After making these corrections they filed a copy of the proposed schedule of minimum prices, together with the data upon which it was computed, with the Commission, which schedule was received in evidence as Exhibit No. 150.

Testimony in support of the minimum prices proposed by District No. 17 was adduced by expert witnesses, to wit: the chairman and the secretary and treasurer of the District Board, who were thoroughly familiar with the marketing and distribution of coals in District No. 17. Their knowledge of the coals in the District was based upon years of experience in the District.

It appears that the District Board consists of nine members who, with the exception of the labor member, have each had many years of experience in the producing and marketing of coals produced within District 17, and are thoroughly representative of all the coals of that District. They are men who, by reason of their intimate knowledge of these coals, are fully conversant with the price relationships that should exist between the various kinds, qualities and sizes of such coals. The expert witnesses and the other members of the District Board prepared a schedule of proposed prices.

The schedule of minimum prices proposed by District No. 17 divides the District into twenty-one sub-Districts, as follows, to wit:

These sub-Districts are determined by the coal deposits in the State and represent substantially all of the different producing areas within the State. District No. 17 embraces the major portion of the State of Colorado and one northern county in New Mexico. These sub-Districts have been generally known by the names used by the Board for many years, and are recognized and accepted by the producers within the District as suitable coal-producing sub-Districts.

The total tonnage produced in the year 1937 in these sub-Districts was 5,459,831 tons. Of this amount 5,045,447 tons were produced by code members. In other words, during the year 1937 the code members produced 92.4 per cent of the entire production, and the non-code members produced 7.6 per cent.

The evidence shows there is a wide variety in the quality and characteristics of the coals produced in these twenty-one sub-Districts. Generally speaking, domestic sizes of the free-burning coals are the most popular for domestic use. There are, however, exceptions in the case of some of the semi-coking coals enumerated. The semi-coking coals are better adapted to steam and railroad uses. Coking coals are generally found in the extreme southern and southwestern part of Colorado and the northern part of New Mexico. The semi-coking coals are produced on the western slope of Colorado, in the Aguilar District of southern Colorado and from the Sugarite Mine in northern New Mexico.

It appears from the evidence and from Exhibits Nos. 150 and 154 that District Board No. 17 classified all of the coal in the District by placing the same in seven grade classifications ranging from Grade "A" to Grade "F," with a sub-class "C–1". These classifications resulted from this study of the quality of each size of the coal produced, and from this study it was found that the maximum range of seven prices was adequate to cover the variations in quality. In making these classifications, the Board took into consideration the appearance, structure, friability, marketability, based on past experience, consumers' acceptance, plant performance, the way the coal had withstood transportation en route to destination, the manner in which it stores in the hands of the trade, and, in a very few cases, they took into consideration analyses of the coal. However, analysis of coal was given little or no weight in such determination. In the schedule of proposed prices the letter "A" represents the highest price in each size group.

District No. 17 in its schedule of proposed prices sets up seventeen size groups, as will be shown in Exhibit No. 154. These size groups were determined by the Board from the past experience of the members in meeting consumers' demands over a long period of years. These size groups compare almost identically with the size groups established under prior regulated prices.

The evidence shows that District Board No. 17 used as a basis, to establish the proposed f. o. b. mine prices set forth in the schedule, standard 3'' lump, listed as "B" coal, from the Walsenburg District, as a starting point in deciding upon the price for this 3'' standard lump coal in this sub-District, and related all other size differentials to that price. The prices proposed for the various kinds, qualities and sizes of coal above or below the price of the standard 3'' lump, were arrived at by taking into consideration the kinds and qualities of each coal in each of the sizes prepared in each sub-District, applying thereto the standard differentials which had been recognized and accepted for a period of many years. In making these determinations the District Board took into consideration the appearance, structure, friability, marketability, based on past experience, consumers' acceptance, past performance, the way the coal withstands transportation en route to destination, the manner in which it stores in the hands of the trade, and, in rare instances, considered chemical analyses.

It appears from the evidence that District Board No. 17 sent out questionnaires to all the known producers of coal within the District who produced coal during the year 1937, to ascertain the total tonnage produced for that year. The Commission had previously determined the average weighted cost for minimum price area No. 6 to be $2.758 per ton. The District Board computed the total realization that would be derived from the sale of the tonnage of the various kinds, qualities and sizes of coal that were known to be sold in the year 1937, at the prices proposed in the schedule. This realization as shown in Exhibits Nos. 153, 154 and 154–A, yields an average weighted cost of $2.78 per ton, which amount was determined by the Board to be as nearly as may be to the average weighted cost of the minimum price area.

The evidence shows that the price between the various sizes, kinds and qualities of coal as reflected in the proposed price schedule, as amended, represents the combined judgment of all of the members of the District Board, and that said differentials are the ones that have prevailed for the most part for many years.

Items 10 and 11, as contained on page 4 of Exhibit No. 150, are commonly referred to as so-called "sugar differentials". The language contained in the item does not refer specifically to sugar companies, but states that all industries in certain specified counties containing certain specific storage facilities and placing those facilities at the disposal of the producers, may purchase coal at a certain stated price reduction below the list price in the price schedule. It appears from the evidence that most of the industries of this description in the specified counties, however, are sugar companies. It appears from the record that the sugar companies operate only two or three months in the fall after the beets are harvested, and consume their annual requirements of coal within this period. It also appears that it is impossible to furnish the requisite tonnage of slack coal in this particular period. The companies maintain storage facilities in certain cases under water and purchase surplus slack from the operators during the winter months after the active production season of sugar is over, and also gives the coal producers the privilege of shipping their surplus slack during other periods of the year. From the evidence it appears that in a certain sense this practice is a seasonal one. Due to the fact that natural gas is available to most of the sugar plants, it is thought by some of the producers that it is necessary to keep the coal price sufficiently low so that coal can compete with other forms of fuel. This being the state of the record, it appears that these special differentials are not proper differentials to be considered in this hearing, but are such differentials as should be considered in accordance with Section 4, part II (b), of the Act, under coordination.

The Canon Black Diamond Coal Company, the Nushaft Canon Coal Company, Rex Carbon Coal Company, Caldirola Coal Company and Douglas Corley, Jr., producers in sub-District No. 2 of Canon City filed protest before District Board No. 17 and subsequently before the Commission at this hearing. The protests filed and heard were to classification and minimum prices proposed by District Board No. 17.

It appears from the evidence in this record that it was admitted by both, protestants and District Board, that a difference in quality between Canon No. 1 and Canon No. 2 coals exists. The only point in controversy is the exact determination of this difference reflected in cents per ton.

The evidence shows that District Board No. 17 recognized and admitted a difference in the quality between these two coals and, according to their Exhibit #150, proposed differentials of 40¢ per ton for Size Groups 1 to 4, inclusive; 25¢ per ton for Size Group 5; 20¢ per ton for Size Group 6; 10¢ per ton for Size Group 8, with no differential for Size Groups 9 to 17, inclusive.

The record shows that the differentials obtaining in the past periods of nonregulation varied from $1.25 to $1.50 per ton on lump coal.

The evidence of the protestants indicates that a differential of 50¢ to 75¢ per ton on lump coal, Size Groups Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4; 25¢ per ton on Size Groups 5 and 6, and 10¢ per ton on Size Group 8, would be proper. There is no evidence showing any differential for Size Groups 9 to 17, inclusive.

The Commission finds upon the evidence in the record that the coals produced in Canon No. 2 District should have a differential below Canon No. 1 District, as follows:

25¢ per ton on Size Groups 5, 6.
10¢ per ton on Size Group 8.

with no differential approved for Size Groups 9 to 17, inclusive.
